The herculean efforts of the men of labor to arouse the people of the country to a realization of the danger which threatens our constitutional liberties will go down in the annals of history as one of the great crusades for the maintenance and advancement of human rights.

A complete summary of the case in all its technical and legal detail will form a portion of this report, so that it may be available as a historical record.

At the time I made my report to the convention last year, John Mitchell, Frank Morrison, and I had been cited to appear before the court and show cause why we should not be punished for contempt of the injunction because we had continued to exercise the rights of free press and free speech after they had been enjoined and forbidden by the Buck's Stove and Range Company's injunction issued by Justice Gould of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.

It is a matter of history and of common knowledge that on December 23, 1908, Justice Wright sentenced "Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, and Frank Morrison" to one year, nine months, and six months imprisonment respectively for alleged violation of the injunction and that the decision accompanying the sentence was most virulent and unjust in its terms.

It is also a matter of the history of this year that the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, in May, 1909, upon our appeal, rendered a decision modifying the terms of the original injunction.

This decision was fully discussed in the American Federationist, April, 1909, and as the limits of this report will not permit a full review of the editorial opinions there expressed it is to be hoped that all those who are interested in the preservation of our liberties will familiarize themselves with this and other editorial matter in relation to this case which has been published in the American Federationist since the injunction was obtained by the Buck's Stove and Range Company.

Through efforts of our officers and members, through our own magazine the American Federationist, and through the labor press, through the great mass meetings and public speeches which voiced our protest there was kindled throughout the country among all the people the spirit of liberty, the spirit of patriotism, the spirit of protest which demands that there shall be no tampering with our constitutional liberties by the courts, whether under the guise of injunction order or of prejudiced judicial decree and sentence.

I say advisedly that the whole people of our country are aroused to the seriousness of the situation. They realize that this attack upon free press and free speech among the workers is only the insidious beginning of the entire withdrawal of those rights from the whole people whenever it might suit the plans of those who desire to profit by injustice and tyranny.

The response of the masses of the people to the campaign of the American Federation of Labor for the preservation of constitutional rights shows how thoroughly our labor movement is in harmony with the spirit of liberty and the love of justice and right which makes a nation great.

The struggle is far from ended. Eternal vigilance ever was and always will be the price of the liberties of a people.

Let no one doubt my great respect for the judiciary of our country; I have confidence in their integrity, no matter what their decision, still they are human beings and as such liable to err. I say this with respect not only to the three justices of the District Court of Appeals, but with reference to the Judiciary generally.

Court of Appeals' Decision.

It was generally expected that the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia would hand down its decision early in October, 1909. Indeed, it was to meet the issue, whatever it might be, that I was careful to be within the jurisdiction of the court when the decision would be handed down. The decision was rendered Tuesday, November 2d—that is, on Election Day throughout the country. The court stood two to one in affirming Justice Wright's decision and sentences of one year, nine months, and six months' imprisonment for "Gompers, Mitchell, and Morrison," respectively, on the ground that they had violated the terms of Justice Gould's injunction. Chief Justice Shepard dissented from the decision and opinion of the court, and declared that Justice Wright's decision and sentences should be reversed, on the ground that he issued an order entirely beyond the power vested in him, and that the order was therefore void.

Concretely stated, the decision of the court declares that no matter whether the injunction of Justice Gould was right or wrong, valid or void, we were compelled to obey. Against that concept, at least for myself, I enter a most emphatic protest. When a judge so far transcends his authority, and assumes functions entirely beyond his power and jurisdiction, when a judge will set himself up as the highest authority in the land, invading constitutionally guaranteed rights of citizens, when a judge will go so far in opinion, decision, and action, that even judges of the Court of Appeals have felt called upon to characterize his action "unwarranted" and "foolish," under such circumstances it is the duty of the citizen to refuse obedience and to take whatever consequences may ensue.

It is common knowledge that a judge has issued an injunction against municipal officers enjoining them from performing their duties in the enactment of laws. Assume that a judge will so far forget himself as to issue an injunction prohibiting a legislature, or Congress itself, from enacting laws. Will it be contended that obedience must follow? Let a judge issue an injunction enjoining the President of the United States from performing the duties of his office. Does it follow that the Chief Executive of our nation must yield obedience, and perhaps thereby fail to perform the duties of his great office, to the injury of the people of the country? Were the matter involved merely material, or of such a character that time would not destroy, the situation would be vastly different. All realize that for the orderly continuance and development of civilized society, obedience to the orders of the court is necessary, and to that there would be no dissenting voice.

I repeat and emphasize this fact, that the doctrine that the citizen must yield obedience to every order of the court, notwithstanding that order transcends inherent, natural, human rights guaranteed by the constitution of our country, is vicious and repugnant to liberty and human freedom, and that it is the duty, the imperative duty, to protest.

The history of the human race has been full of tyranny and the denial to the people of the right of expressing freely by speech or in the press their opinions. After our people established a government they recalled that they had omitted to safeguard this vital right in framing our constitution. Therefore, the first amendment to that instrument was that guaranteeing the right of freedom of speech and press.

That means something. We do not need this right to please those entrusted with the authority of government. Free press and free speech were guaranteed that men might feel free to say things that displeased. Demand for reform coming from the people is generally distasteful to those entrenched in power and privilege.

It was not necessary that we be given the privilege for the purpose of singing the praises of the powers that be. No Russian needs constitutional guarantee of the right to sing the praises of the Czar.

We must have the right to freely speak and print for the wrongs that need resistance and the cause that needs assistance.

There is no persecution, no injustice, to a great movement but if met in the right spirit bears its harvest of good. In this case the tremendous popular indignation at the attempt to abolish the right of free press and free speech brings our union members into closer relations and more in sympathy with each other throughout the country, and, more than that, it brings to the attention of the people as a whole the noble aspirations and the splendid achievements of the labor movement in behalf of right, justice, and humanity.

Out of this attempt to seal the lips of the men of labor I believe will come good.

We know that the people of our country and the labor movement will be found united in patriotic protest against any curtailment of the liberties for which our forefathers struggled in order that we might be free.

We have come too far in the march of human progress for any set of influences to drive us back into slavery.

I see a silver lining to the clouds and a bright star of hope in the heavens, and I see ultimately the spirit of humanity, justice, and the brotherhood of man obtaining in the minds and hearts of the people of the country. Like Jefferson, I am willing to trust the people, and I have a certainty of their final triumph.

Legislation—Anti-Trust Law—Injunction.

Congress has thus far failed to pass any amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law relieving the labor organizations from the operations of that law as interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States in the suit of Loewe & Co., hat manufacturers of Danbury, Conn., against the United Hatters of North America for threefold damages claimed by Loewe—that is, $240,000.

Though it is true that since this decision has been rendered but few suits have been instituted against organized labor under the provisions of the new interpretation placed upon the law, yet it is also true that every labor organization and every individual member of the organization are menaced by the present status.

Now any action taken by our voluntary organizations of labor for the protection and the furtherance of the interests of the workers makes them amenable to the law with its penalties of imprisonment and threefold damages which anyone may allege he has suffered by reason of a strike by men withholding their labor from employers or their patronage from business men.

There are different contentions as to what Congress had in mind when the Sherman Anti-Trust Law was enacted. From the assurances given the representatives of labor and the declarations made upon the floor of Congress at the time when the bill, now a law, was under consideration, the workers were justified in believing that the Sherman Anti-Trust Law was the result of an aroused indignation among the people against the combinations of great corporations which prey upon the public. And that, as the very title of the bill conveys it is a law contemplated to reach, regulate, and deal with the trusts whose operations are not with labor, but with the products of labor; that as the organizations of the working people concerned themselves, not with the labor products, but with human beings, the law ought not and could not properly have application to them. But the Supreme Court of the United States has decided that the law applies to the workers' organizations instituted for their own physical and moral protection and advancement, and from that decision there is but one appeal—to the people of our country.

The Sherman Anti-Trust Law is not what it is now superficially supposed to be, but is indeed, a re-establishment of the oldest laws proclaimed by tyrants more than a thousand years ago, laws which had for their effect the prohibition of associations and organizations of the people of whatsoever kind.

The Sherman Anti-Trust Law, as it now exists, may more appropriately be styled an anti-coalition law. Under the anti-coalition laws of the dim, distant past every association or organization of the people was disrupted and disbanded; their liberties were destroyed, and ignorance, darkness, misery, and demoralization enveloped the people for a thousand years; a period when the arts, the sciences, industry, and progress were strangled and inanimate, when but one in every five hundred of the people could either read or write.

Take away the right and opportunity of the workers, the masses of the people, to associate themselves for their common protection against oppression, whether by king or industrial potentate; curb the power of the workers, the people, for effective protest, and a new era of blighted life will have been inaugurated. Against the possibility of such a condition of affairs America's workers must not only protest, but they must make that protest effective and complete.

There is no factor in all our public life so potent to maintain and perpetuate the liberties of the people as a well organized movement of the workers.

In all times and under all forms of government wherever slavery existed, the workers were the slave class. Other portions of society may have been deprived of rights and liberties, but only in degree and in proportion as the workers were driven into the forms of slavery. And particularly under modern industrial conditions with wealth concentration, if from the workers is flinched by government the right to associate peacefully and voluntarily and in their association and organization to exercise the natural, normal functions of such organizations to protect their rights and interests against greed, avarice, and overbearing tyranny, then the first elements of slavery have been injected into our lives and future.

The rights and the liberties of the people have never been, and will never be, taken from them with one fell swoop. Oppressors are more adroit. The invasion of rights is gradual, and by specious assurances the people are often lulled into a fancied security only to find themselves enmeshed, circumscribed and almost crushed, requiring ages of struggle and travail for their awakening and their rehabilitation.

Today our wage-workers' organizations existence legally considered is by the sufferance of the powers that be. Such a condition of affairs is intolerable.

It has been, and is, the aim of the American labor movement to be in fullest accord with the American concept of gradual, rational progress and development, and by natural evolutionary process peacefully to work out labor's emancipation. For one, I feel assured that we shall secure both by law and by the public conscience the full lawful right to carry on the work and the necessary functions of our organizations as time, industry, and conditions afford. Of one fact I am fully persuaded and have no hesitancy in asserting: it is that the labor organizations of America will live, be maintained, grow, toll, and struggle for the amelioration of the conditions of the workers, the improvement of their standard of life and citizenship, and to work out their salvation for a higher and better manhood, womanhood, and childhood, all the bitter antagonistic elements to them to the contrary notwithstanding. Rapacity, greed, tyranny, and ignorance can not and will not subjugate or enslave America's workers.

In order that all the blessings of civilization may keep pace with industrial development the toilers of the United States have repeatedly urged Congress and the State legislative bodies to grant certain specific remedial economic reforms which the toilers are unable to obtain in any other way, than by legislation at the hands of the representatives of the people.

If the wage-earners could have obtained these reforms through the regular channels of economic force as expressed in their trade organizations or in any other way by their own efforts, relief and protection would have been successfully secured years ago.

In response to the instructions of the Norfolk and Denver conventions legislative measures were presented to the 60th Congress, asking for relief from the exactions of the so-called Sherman Anti-Trust Law, but that Congress adjourned without daring to assert its own power, even after an overwhelming majority of its members had individually pledged themselves in favor of the measure, which after much deliberation was prepared and which was introduced by the Hon. William B. Wilson, member of the United Mine Workers, and representative of the 15th Congressional District of Pennsylvania. That bill, known as H. R. 20584, did not ask for, nor would it have added, any special privilege to laborers' or farmers' organizations. There was no semblance of class legislation in this proposed measure when fairly and honestly analyzed. Its purpose was and is to carry out the premeditated and emphatically expressed intent of the framers of the original Sherman Anti-Trust Law. The mental giants who debated that measure in its course through the United States Senate were better informed in modern economics than to confuse property rights with human rights, and they almost unanimously agreed that no court in the land would ever construe a law designed to curb grad-grinds and money-mongers into a scheme to persecute the wealth producers, the bread winners of the nation.

When the representative government of the United States was demanded by the colonists and established, it had for its basis the government of, by and for the people, they having their respective property and property rights. In its very concept and declaration of independence, it placed first, and recognized, man above the products of man. It had for its purpose the affirmation and maintenance for all time of the rights of living, breathing, liberty-loving man. The decision of the United States Supreme Court has affirmed that in the law as it now stands, there is no distinction between the combinations formed for the manipulation, control, and sale of the products of human labor and the voluntary organizations of the working people formed for the protection and advancement of the physical, material, moral, and social welfare of the masses of the people.

It would seem that the Congress of the United States, the representatives of the people, would have afforded the relief from the onerous conditions brought about by the Supreme Court decision. If the 60th Congress had possessed in the slightest degree the conception of its duties, if it had observed the commonest rules of legislative independence and the simplest methods of self-assertive honesty, it would not have permitted the first session to daily its time away while one man (Mr. Charles E. Littlefield) went through the questionable farce of "subcommittee hearings" on the merits and demerits of the Wilson Bill. When that gentleman became thoroughly saturated with the grim humor of his transparent hold-up scheme, he resigned his seat in the House in the middle of the term without sufficient respect for the Judiciary Committee, which he was presumed to represent, even to make a formal report to it. In the second session of the 60th Congress Mr. Charles Q. Tirrell, of the Fourth Massachusetts Congressional District, who succeeded Mr. Littlefield as chairman of the subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee, having charge of such measures, played a game of battledore and shuttlecock with Mr. John L. Jenkins, chairman of the full committee. Together they contrived so to shift the responsibility (under the plausible guise of parliamentary courtesy), that they effectively denied our Executive Council and myself an opportunity to make a brief statement in order to have a complete record on the subject in the printed hearings before the committee.

For full details concerning this peculiar parliamentary transaction, I refer you to the Legislative Committee's report on page 375, American Federationist for April, 1909, and I urge every delegate and all others interested to again read it and bring it to the attention of every organization and every citizen of every congressional constituency. In connection therewith should be read the report of Labor's Legislative Committee published in the August, 1908, issue of the American Federationist under the heading "Congress and Labor."

This illustration is a glaring example of how to avoid duty and responsibility, and is merely one instance of the subservency of Congress to the absolute will of its dictator, Speaker Cannon. He is the potential instrument of every predatory interest that infests the halls of Congress, whose tactics are and whose motto should read: "They shall take who have the power, and they shall keep who can."

In connection with the present status of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, the Executive Council had an extended conference with the President of the United States and had the opportunity of fully discussing the subject with him. He freely expressed his judgment that the law required change, particularly for definiteness to accomplish the purposes for which the law was enacted, and he suggested that he would be pleased to confer later with any representative of the Executive Council and also with Judge Parker, our attorney. Later, by direction of the Executive Council, I had an extended interview with the President and the subject-matter was again discussed. Then I had an interview with Judge Parker, and conveyed to him the President's suggestion, to which he gladly assented. The following letter in connection with the matter is of interest:

"Blackpool, England, July 1, 1909.

To the Honorable William H. Taft,
President of the United States, Washington,
D. C., U. S. A.

Sir: When I had the honor of an interview with you in Washington, in June, you suggested that when you had discussed with the members of your Cabinet the subject of the amendment of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, and particularly in reference to its present application to the labor organizations, that a conference with the Honorable Alton B. Parker would be agreeable to you.

I left Washington within two days after our interview for New York, and brought the matter to Judge Parker's attention. He expressed himself as in entire accord with the suggestion, and authorized me to say that he would be glad to call upon you at any time and place when so advised by you.

The few days I had in New York prior to my departure for this side of the Atlantic on June 19th were so taken up by a meeting of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, that I could not get to write to you in regard to this matter. Then, again, I was aware that there existed no necessity for immediate haste. I take great pleasure, however, in communicating the above to you at this, my earliest opportunity. I have the honor to remain,

Yours very respectfully,

Samuel Gompers,

President, American Federation of Labor."

A copy of this letter was sent to Judge Parker. Though the interview has thus far not taken place there is no doubt that it will in the very near future.

Injunctions.

We asked the 60th Congress for relief from the abuse and misuse of the writ of injunction; we asked for a restoration of the ancient and cherished right of a trial by jury, so that the people may be safeguarded from the absolutism of judicial tyranny; but in spite of all hitherto accepted rules of procedure and of evidence, one man, a judge, presiding in an equity court may disregard all such established methods and absolutely set his own opinion as a finality, in spite of the fact that no written statute in this or any other land grants him such extraordinary authority.

Instead of the beneficent injunction writ being a safeguard of human liberty as it was originally intended, it has been so wilfully perverted that it has been made an instrument of coercion and tyranny and is wielded for the sole purpose of those who not only possess wealth but arrogate power never legally granted or intended in order to hold and keep the men of labor and the masses of the people in awe and subjection.

The American people have fondly nursed the sentiment in their hearts that the government of our Republic was founded upon the inherent principles of justice and right, and that these righteous principles are adhered to by their representatives; but such chicanery as this record shows should arouse every citizen in the land to a sufficient sense of the danger that threatens the very life of a free government that a renewed public energy and vigilance should and must be exerted to correct existing evils.

To do this the American Federation of Labor and all its members should bend their efforts and take the lead. No men are more loyal to the fundamental institutions of our Republic or more jealous of their maintenance than those who are enrolled in the American labor movement; to foster and spread the growth of intelligence, to instill character, to improve and elevate the general standard of life among all our people, to cultivate a sterling manhood and self-reliant spirit, and to establish a recognition of the interdependence of one man with his fellows are some of the praiseworthy purposes of our unions, and we have faith that all liberty-loving, clean-thinking American citizens will not only extend us their sympathy but will in every honorable and lawful way possible, actively assist us in securing these justifiable and commendable results.

The congressional record heretofore given on the Wilson Bill, H. R. 20584, for the purpose of restoring to the workers the rights which were so summarily taken from them by the United States Supreme Court is so identical to that on the Pearre Anti-Injunction Bill, H. R. 94, that it would be tedious to repeat it, but a word on another phase of the situation is very essential as a warning to many of our zealous members, especially those of our members who are officials in central labor unions, state federations, or national and international organizations.

During the life of the 60th Congress it almost became a fad to introduce a bill, ostensibly to regulate the issuance of injunctions and restraining orders, limiting the meaning of "conspiracy" in certain cases, authorizing the right of trial by jury in contempt cases, direct or indirect, change of venue, etc., etc.

The number of such bills introduced was legion; they became so numerous, in fact, that our legislative committee dubbed them "life savers." They were invariably introduced by members for the purpose of popularity among their constituents, who are members of labor organizations and others whose love of justice is still alive. In a few cases there was a spasmodic effort by the member introducing it to make it appear there was going to be some genuine consideration given it; but in the majority of instances such bills were merely introduced and printed copies franked to constituents at home—for a purpose.

There were other instances where members, usually first-termers, drafted an "anti-injunction bill" and endorsements from the organizations in their district were solicited purely on the strength of the title of the bill and not because of the merits or efficiency of the bill itself.

These tactics are already in evidence preparatory to the regular session of the 61st Congress, and it is a fact that already some of these spurious drafts of so-called "anti-injunction bills" have been unsuspectingly favored by certain organizations. To all of such I strongly advise that no endorsements be given to any bill "anti-injunction," or other subject affecting vital fundamental rights and principles unless it has been given the approval of the American Federation of Labor, or, in the interim of conventions, the Executive Council. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

Congressman Wilson, of Pennsylvania, has introduced a bill, H. R. 3058, which has been approved by the Executive Council and which clearly covers the issues we are making.

During the last year it has been observed that the agitation against the wilful misuse of injunction orders in labor disputes is bearing fruit.

In August, Judge Baker of the United States Circuit Court in Indiana refused to grant a petition made by the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company against the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. Another Judge in Newcastle, Pa., refused to enjoin picketing and peaceable persuasion on petition of the same company. Even in Judge Alston G. Dayton's United States Circuit Court of West Virginia, there is a tendency to be less sweeping, and he does not draw the line on "inducing or persuading" as on former occasions.

In state courts there is a noticeable reluctance to go to the extremes they formerly did. What must be most vigilantly guarded against now is the legalizing of the injunction process in industrial disputes when they would not be issued where no industrial dispute existed. Labor men must now more than ever be alert and ever active and absolutely loyal to their own best interests.

With regard to the other subjects of legislation considered by the Denver Convention, the legislative committee made its report which was duly published in the April issue of the American Federationist. I commend it to your careful consideration. It is advisable, however, to make additional special reference to some of the subjects in which we are particularly interested.

Eight Hour Bill.

Many strenuous efforts have been made to obtain an amendment to the Federal Eight Hour Law so as to extend its beneficent provisions to all government employes and employes of contractors and subcontractors doing work for or on behalf of the government.

This subject was an interminable one in the House Committee on Labor during the first session of the 60th Congress and a bulky volume of the hearings was duly recorded. The responsible members of the party responsible for legislation or the lack of it again availed themselves of dilatory tactics, and instead of meeting the issue squarely by reporting it favorably or adversely and getting it before the House, they resorted to the much abused question of "constitutionality," and referred the bill with the hearings to a subcommittee of lawyers for their "constitutional opinions," but inasmuch as the 60th Congress expired, the committee can never receive the "opinion" of its defunct subcommittee. The constituents of Mr. Haskins, a member of the subcommittee, regarded his services so highly that they preferred to keep him home, and the world may never know the acumen of this gentleman's insight on the constitutionality of an eight hour law.

Some considerable argument was made by attorneys for the interests against the bill because of its possible "limitation of output." In the examination of the United States Census Statistics I find by a careful analysis that in the year 1850 the average per capita production of wealth in the manufacturing industries of the United States was $1.064 and fifty years later in 1900 it had increased to $2.451 or an increase in production of 130 per cent. In 1850 the average annual wage in the same industries was $247, or an equivalent of 23.21 per cent of the product. Fifty years later in 1900 wages had risen to $437, an increase of only 77 per cent in wages as against 130 per cent increase in production.

No more conclusive argument can be made in behalf of the need of an eight hour day than these cold blooded but eloquent figures, coupled with the astounding fact that in industries like the building trades and others where the eight hour day has prevailed for some years the wages have increased from 25 to 100 per cent.

With the complete specialization of labor and the enormous increase in production, the wage-earner should by every logical reason reap the benefits of labor-saving machines and labor-saving systems so he could participate in the industrial progress and the blessings of civilization with fewer hours of daily toil and more hours for leisure and opportunities for recuperation, study, and resection to better fit the workers for the highest thought and activity of citizenship.

We should press the demands for a bill for an eight hour day to cover the field here described and hasten the time when the long, unnecessary and uneconomic 10 hour day will have forever passed in our wonderfully productive work shops, bearing ever in mind that "reducing the hours increases the pay," adds longer and happier years to life, reduces disease, and is a never failing preventative or cure for the great white plague.

Employers' Liability and Automatic Compensation Laws.

This important problem is now receiving serious and careful attention. The workers have contended for it for a long period of time, but in the recent past many other thoughtful persons have given this subject a special study, and, from the many sympathetic utterances which now reach me, show an active consideration. I am hopeful that legislation of this character will soon take a uniform and definite character.

The old fallacies like "assumption of risk," "contributory negligence," "fellow servant" responsibility, and recognition by courts of the validity of "waiving rights" in order to obtain employment, are fast becoming obnoxious to right-thinking men. Instead of the wage-earner and his family being compelled to endure all the mental and financial as well as the physical, suffering due to accidents in industry, it is now becoming more acceptable to the minds of those who would conserve the interests of the working forces as the pre-eminent and most logical of all public questions, that the industry should bear the financial burden of accidents to the human factor, exactly as it does now to the mechanical accidents, or accidents through natural elements.

This view of the subject is becoming so pronounced that the conviction is fast growing that there should be speedily enacted uniform laws by our states for intra-state employments together with a comprehensive federal statute covering all interstate and foreign commerce that will provide for, and guarantee to, those who are injured during employment an automatic compensation for accidents instead of undertaking expensive and wearisome litigation before the courts to recover damages.

This plan has become almost universal in European countries, so much so that the last President felt so keenly on the subject that he practically rebuked Congress because of the inhuman conditions tolerated in the United States and its multiplicity of industries.

It has become an additional source of gratification to have so many inquiries made as to our definite position on this phase of the solution of the problem, and for the purpose of aiding the convention to formulate a plan of action that may be generally supported in the Federal Congress and the various state legislatures, and all of a uniform character, it has been considered advisable to prepare four bills covering the various features of these questions. They are as follows:

No. 1. A bill to amend the law relating to the liability of employers for injuries to their employes within the states.

No. 2. A bill to provide compensation (automatically) for accidents occurring to employes of the United States Government.

(Note: On May 30, 1908, a bill of this nature—though very limited in its provisions—was approved and became a federal law, and this was obtained wholly and solely through the activities, and at the expense of the American Federation of Labor.)

No. 3. A bill to provide compensation (automatically) for accidents in dangerous occupations subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, and without the necessity of litigation therefor.

No. 4. A bill to regulate all interstate and foreign commerce in relation to accidents and to provide compensation (automatically) without the necessity of litigation therefor.

In presenting this subject to your thoughtful consideration, it may not be amiss to impress upon all the need of uniformity in the enactment of these laws. It has been the bane of our peculiar form of dual government that state laws differed so widely as well as in some cases almost outrageously, and then again the most of them differed from, and, some in fact almost opposed, federal statutes. It is therefore necessary again to urge, that the legislative committees of city central bodies, state federations, etc., act in harmony and with the advice of the American Federation of Labor in the work of securing labor legislation of an effective character. In enumerating the bills to which reference has just been made it should be stated that the Executive Council gave several days to the discussion of these various measures and the subject in its entirety.

Department of Labor.

In my report to the convention of the American Federation of Labor at Boston, in 1903, I said that "a law was enacted creating a new department of government, known as the Department of Commerce and Labor, with a secretary as its chief officer, who is a member of the President's Cabinet. Under the law several departments and bureaus were detached from other departments of the federal service and were placed under its jurisdiction. Among the departments transferred was the Department of Labor, which was independent from any other department and is now designated as a bureau."

The committee having this subject under consideration expressed its regret that the Department of Labor was absorbed in the new Department of Commerce and Labor.

The American Federation of Labor adopted the following:

"Resolved, That the American Federation of Labor, through its Executive Council, devise means and put into execution some plan whereby the incoming national administration and the Congress may be urged to consider the advisability of establishing a department of labor and the merging of the bureaus alleged to be in the interest of American citizens who are, or desire to be, employed as tradesmen, artisans, mechanics, and laborers, and that, if necessary to accomplish this result, a committee, geographically selected, be hereafter appointed by the president to assist in advancing this and other approved measures."

"Resolved, That each general and local organization embraced in the American Federation of Labor be requested to promote the plans agreed upon in this connection, and make appeals to their representatives in Congress to favorably consider and advocate through this means an aid to peace, prosperity, and patriotism."

The committee to which this report was referred made the following recommendation, which was unanimously adopted by the convention:

"We indorse the views of the President upon the desirability of establishing a department of labor, with a secretary having a seat in the President's Cabinet."

This demand for a department of labor, independent of any other department under the government, with a secretary at its head, has been the unanimous declaration of the organized labor movement of our country time and again. It was at the urgent insistence of organized labor that the Department of Labor as it was primarily constituted was created, which was afterwards bereft of its individual function by the law merging it with the Department of Commerce and Labor. The labor forces and labor interests are of so vast and comprehensive a character that a department devoted entirely to the many questions and problems so intimately associated with it, the secretary at the head of that department having an intelligence of and sympathy for the duties involved, a secretary who will be at the council table of the President's Cabinet to give advice and counsel, and to speak the right word at the right time, is one of the growing, important necessities of our great industrial development. I therefore recommend that the convention again express its judgment upon this matter in a resolution properly considered and formulated.

Ship Subsidy Bill.

The special interests and prospective beneficiaries of this vicious and mercenary "special class legislation" are active on this proposition; in fact, they never sleep. When this bill was supposed to be quietly resting in the pigeon holes of the committee room, during the closing days of the 60th Congress, it surprised the members when the "interests" which would be benefited by the enactment of the bill made a vigorous effort to muster strength enough to pass it through the House as the Senate had passed it in the first session, but the opposition which we aided in mustering against it was sufficient to prevent the iniquitous features of this bill, with its odious contemplated conscriptive features from being at this time foisted upon the American people.

It is necessary to be very alert on this subject, because of the adroitness of its advocates. They are now trying to foster public sentiment in favor of a "mail subsidy" in order to have the principle of "subsidy" established. Once a measure reaches that stage it will be less difficult to amend the original law and saddle upon it all the vicious clauses affecting labor, particularly our seamen.

See that your congressional representatives all understand that you are actively and positively opposed to it, or to any bill of that character which proposes to take public funds for private gain. It is one of the most vicious pieces of "favored class" legislation that is possible to devise.

Asiatic Exclusion.

The Committee on Foreign Affairs did not take this matter under consideration or give any hearings on the subject, but a large number of bills dealing with this grave evil were introduced and referred to the committee.

Census Bill.

Just before the close of the 60th Congress the Census Bill passed both Houses. It provided for the printing of the census reports outside of the Government Printing Office, the award to be given to the lowest bidder. President Roosevelt vetoed the bill, and it failed of passage over his veto. The President, among other reasons given for his veto, stated that the bill did not provide for the printing of the census reports upon an eight hour work-day basis.

The bill was introduced early in the special session of this, the 61st Congress, and passed the House with the feature of having the reports printed by contract outside of the Government Printing Office, omitted. Learning that an effort was being made by interests hostile to having the work done in the Government Printing Office, our legislative committee and I had a number of interviews with the members of Congress and executive officers for the purpose of securing the passage of the bill as passed by the House.

The legislative committee co-operated with the officers of the Typographical Union of Washington, and succeeded in having the census reports printed and bound in the Government Printing Office as against the effort to have the work done by outside contractors.

There was another feature we succeeded in having included in the Census bill, and that was providing for an enumeration of the unemployed, and the causes and period of their unemployment.

Convict Labor.

The House Committee on Labor again evaded the issue, and did not even keep faith with themselves on this subject. On the adjournment of the first session it was the declared intention of the committee to hear the report of the subcommittee having this bill in charge immediately upon the convening of the second session.

Only one call was made for the committee to meet to hear the report; there was not a quorum present then, and no further effort was made by the committee to again obtain an expression on this subject. Representatives of such a plastic mold, who neither dare to do nor dare to openly deny, should be kept home among their neighbors, and labor should see to it that men from its own ranks go to Congress, men who understand what labor is and what laborers want, and who will have enough American grit to assert themselves for the bone, brain, and brawn of their constituents.

The average congressman either does not know or he does not care, or he does not dare. Give us men who do know, who do care, and who will dare, and labor legislation will then come as a natural sequence.

The wage-earners of our land have all these subjects in the hollow of their hands, and when they show an intelligent determination to assert themselves, senators, congressmen, judges, and president will all be very, very eager to come nearer to the determinedly expressed public judgment.

Child Labor.

The most precious heritage of a nation is its children. This truth is scarcely yet fully realized. One of the greatest dangers to the health and patriotic life of a country has been the exploitation of our helpless children. Children are the wards of the nation, the responsibility of which can not and must not be shifted. The century past was noted for many remarkable discoveries, but none was greater than that of the great economic and social power of woman. Our present century will be noted for much greater and more significant advance, the importance of the discovery of child nurture, the value of childhood. The science of raising and training children has only just begun to appeal to the great mass of the people as a serious proposition. When the young heads, hearts, and minds are trained in an intelligent, scientific and humane course, the era of the industrial slaughter of the innocents will have been obliterated, and they will in their innocence be preserved, cultivated and developed to their fullest mental, moral, and social welfare.

Due to the patient and persistent efforts of the men and women in the great army of organized labor, the dawn of the emancipation of children from the workshop, in all its forms, where their tender bodies are stunted to satisfy rapacity, is now clearly discernible.

In 42 states and the District of Columbia laws now obtain to control and protect children in some form or other, particularly in reference to their employment. The tendency of legislation on this subject is to effectiveness.

In connection therewith it is necessary that your attention, and through you the attention of the great rank and file of the workers and the people generally, be called to the need not only of improved laws upon the subject of children, but that every effort be made so that as near as possible greater uniformity in the laws of the states may be obtained. In the past it was the policy of our opponents to play the backwardness of one state against another, and under the plea of hindrance to economic and industrial progress, the road to success was made doubly difficult. What now is required is to raise the level of the poorest laws in the most backward states to the standard of the best laws in the most progressive states. Let the efforts of all be directed to follow this suggestive plan systematically, and the evil of child labor will be more readily and effectively eradicated from our entire industrial and commercial life.

The child labor law for the District of Columbia went into effect March 28, 1908, and I reported to the last convention that it was deficient because of the failure of Congress to make an appropriation to maintain inspectors to rigidly enforce the law. The last convention urged that such an appropriation should be made. The Senate agreed thereto, but the House of Representatives failed to concur, and it was defeated. Representatives Nichols and Wilson deserve much credit for their efforts in connection with this matter. The Commissioners in the District of Columbia have, in the meantime, detailed two police officers from the regular force for the special duty of enforcing the child labor law. My information is that the law is being fairly well enforced, but the two police officers assigned to this, first, are insufficient in number; and, second, it is merely an assignment dependent upon the will of the Commissioners. I am strongly persuaded, and the Denver Convention so went on record, that an appropriation should be made for the maintenance of a sufficient number of inspectors to enforce the law thoroughly, and the policy and purpose of the law shall have no element of doubt in regard to enforcement. We should again endeavor to secure an appropriation from Congress for the enforcement of the Child Labor Law in the District of Columbia.

Immigration.

A most vigorous effort to obtain legislation covering this subject was made, but the employing interests were so intrenched that they prevented the House Committee on Immigration from making a favorable report on the bill. From recent industrial developments especially the widely discussed strike at the Pressed Steel Car Company at McKees Rocks, Pa., and from other emphatic revelations of recent date, it is becoming more apparent that members of Congress will not be held in check by the power of the speaker and his allied influences, but that they will insist upon some better regulation of immigrants.

Litigation.

In connection with the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the suit brought under the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, by Loewe & Company against the United Hatters of North America, it will be remembered that the original suit for $240,000 damages was remanded for trial. The Federal court for the circuit of Connecticut authorized the taking of depositions, then the attorneys for the Loewe Company led the representatives of the hatters and their attorneys a "merry chase" around the country, going as far as California and covering a period of several months. The trial of the case before a jury began Monday, October 11th, and has continued up to the present time on the part of the plaintiff, the Loewe Company. All indications point that the case will be drawn out and that it may not be concluded much before the end of the year.

Of course, it is not difficult to fathom the reason for such litigation and the purpose of its prolongation. The whole proceedings were instituted at the instance of the worst elements of the capitalist class—the National Association of Manufacturers and its allies. The creation and collection of a war fund of a million and a half dollars, under the presidency of James W. Van Cleave by the National Association of Manufacturers discloses at once the financial ability to insure the expense of this suit by the plaintiff, the Loewe Company. It is the evident hope of labor's opponents to harass the men engaged in our movement by litigation; to exhaust our energies and resources in defending our organizations and our men before the courts.

There is a remedy for the outrageous course pursued by those who antagonize our every effort, that is, the more thorough organization of the workers and in the quickening conscience of the people by which relief may be secured at the hands of Congress.

The Boycott—Judicial Opinion.

While the discussion of greater issues in the past year has tended to regulate to the background such rights as that of the boycott, yet I should be recreant in my duty were I to remain silent upon that subject, and thus, perhaps, strengthen an impression which has been assiduously given out by our opponents, that the boycott—that is, the right to withdraw patronage, to bestow it upon whom we please—has been withdrawn from the workers of the country during the legal proceedings in relation to the injunction secured by the Buck's Stove and Range Company.

It will be remembered that the injunction was sought primarily to restrain the people in their right to quit buying Buck's stoves and ranges. It over-reached itself so far that the right to freedom of speech and press became involved. However, no consideration of the injunction has been possible by the courts without taking up the principle involved in the boycott.

We have always held, and we still hold, that the workers, or any of the people, have the right to withhold or to bestow their patronage as they choose; that they have the right to advise friends and sympathizers of this action and of the reasons therefor. It is hardly necessary to state that in the case of the workers the unfair attitude of the dealer in question has always been the reason for withdrawal of patronage. It has been made clear that he refused to pay the standard rate of wages and to agree to other equitable conditions which the workers seek through their organizations, and hence the withdrawal of patronage. The boycotts declared by other citizens have sometimes been placed for other reasons, and they can safely be left to a defense of their own actions. I only wish to point out in passing that the boycott is by no means a weapon used by the workers alone. It is one of those inalienable rights which are at times used by all people. The right to withhold or bestow patronage is one of those things which can neither be enjoined, forbidden, nor punished.

Upon the workers and their organization, however, was made the attempt to have the boycott declared unlawful and a conspiracy, and hence, subject to judicial decree and punishment.

In connection with the decree rendered by the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia greatly modifying the original injunction issued by Justice Gould in response to the petition of the Buck's Stove and Range Company, the following judicial opinions on the boycott should receive especial attention. It is not that they enunciate anything new or different from the views held and declared by our Federation, but it is a marked step in advance when a judge here and there shows by his opinion that he has escaped from the shades of medievalism and has given to modern industrial conditions the reasonable and logical study which they require.

Justice Van Orsdel, in speaking of the boycott, says in his decision modifying the Buck's Stove and Range Company injunction:

"I conceive it to be the privilege of one man, or a number of men, to individually conclude not to patronize a certain person or corporation. It is also the right of these men to agree together, and to advise others, not to extend such patronage. That advice may be given by direct communication or through the medium of the press, so long as it is neither in the nature of coercion or a threat.

"As long as the actions of this combination of individuals are lawful, to this point it is not clear how they can become unlawful because of their subsequent acts directed against the same person or corporation."

Again he says:

"It is not unlawful for citizens to organize together for any of the main purposes for which the American Federation of Labor exists. It is not unlawful for that order to have an official organ; it is not unlawful for that organization, through the medium of that organ, to express freely its opinion as to the fairness or unfairness with which certain employers deal with their employees; and it is not unlawful for the paper to contain advice to the friends of labor not to patronize such employer.

"Again, we do not assume that it will be contended that a citizen has not perfect freedom to deal with whom he pleases, and withhold his patronage for any reason that he may deem proper, whether the reason be one originating in his own conscience, or through the advice of a neighbor, or through the reading of an article in a paper. Neither would it be unlawful for such citizen to advise another not to deal with a person with whom he has concluded not to continue his patronage. If this advice may extend to one, it may to a hundred; and the thing done will not be actionable so long as it is an expression of honest opinion and not slanderous, however much the intercourse between this citizen and his neighbor may operate to injure the person against whom the advice is directed. As long as confined to a mere expression of opinion as to the fairness or unfairness of a business transaction, it is not actionable."

In another portion of his opinion he says:

"So long, then, as the American Federation of Labor, and those acting under its advice, refused to patronize complainant, the combination had not arisen to the dignity of an unlawful conspiracy or a boycott."

It is to be regretted that the whole opinion can not be quoted here. The extracts are given, not with any desire to detach them from the accompanying text of the opinion, but in order to call attention to some of the more important remarks in regard to the use of the boycott. And it must be borne in mind that the opinions just quoted are from the judge who voted to sustain the injunction, though in modified form.

Justice Shepard dissented from his colleagues in that he believed that the right to boycott should be conceded to the following extent:

"I can not agree to the terms of the decree as modified. In my opinion, it should be modified so as to restrain the acts, only, by which other persons have been, or may be coerced into ceasing from business relations with the Buck's Stove and Range Company; but so as not to restrain the publication of the name of that company in the 'We Don't Patronize' columns of the American Federationist, no matter what the object of such publication may be suspected or believed to be.

"One person may not only cease to labor for another without liability to action, but may also cease to decline to further purchase his goods, or to have any business relations with him.

"This being lawful for one person to do, does not become unlawful when two or more persons, impelled by a like motive, voluntarily agree to do the same thing. Consequently, the persons composing the organization of the Federation of Labor had a legal right to agree together not to purchase the goods of the Buck's Stove and Range Co. Refusing to purchase those goods does not constitute a 'boycott' in the legal sense.

"So long, therefore, as the members of the Federation of Labor contented themselves with refusing to purchase the goods of the Buck's Stove and Range Co. from it or from others their combination was not illegal."

It is regrettable that, although expressing opinions like these quoted, so in harmony with all principles of justice and right, all three justices of the Court of Appeals seemed not to have informed themselves as to the facts relating to the boycott in question. They all assumed wrongly that there had been "conspiracy" or "coercion" in order to force innocent, timid parties against their will to cease dealing with a firm. It is well-known to all men of labor that such tactics have never been used; had they been attempted our Federation would be the first to call a halt and to endeavor by every means in its power to punish such action and to dissuade those mistaken from attempting such a course; but the general public has been misled and some portion of it at least made to believe in the bugaboo of "conspiracy" in relation to a concerted withdrawal of patronage.

It is necessary that our members should take pains to inform the general public of this judicial expression of opinion. It should be given the widest possible circulation.

The fight must continue to uphold the right to boycott not because the workers have any particular love for the boycott. Indeed, they have no more love for the boycott than for the strike. Both are extreme measures of defense forced upon the workers by unjust conditions. The workers fully realize that the boycott and the strike are means to be used to maintain their rights and promote their welfare when seriously threatened by hostile, greedy, and unfair employers when no other remedy seems available. It is not the strike or the boycott itself which matters so much, as the recognition of the lawful right to employ either or both when necessary.

With the boycott, cleared of wrongful charges and misapprehension and recognized as a lawful right, we will find its use diminishing. It will be a power held in reserve and used only when no other remedy is adequate.

Labor's Practical Political Action.

Naturally, during the present year, there has been some lull in the political activities of the country because there has been neither an immediate presidential nor congressional election to stir the minds of the people. The need for adequate remedial, definitive, and protective legislation, both state and national, is, however, as great as when I had the honor to submit to you my report a year ago. At that time we had barely emerged from the throes of a presidential election. It was difficult to estimate to what extent our political powers as workers had been exercised. It was not possible then to ascertain many encouraging facts which have since been verified. We know that at least 6,000,000 votes were cast for the principles espoused by labor, particularly in reference to the remedy from the abuse of the writ of injunction, to trial by jury and to the full and free legal right of existence of the workers' organizations. That so large a number of citizens as stated expressed their sentiments by their votes is conceded even by our opponents. I may add that I have had statements from some of the leaders of the political party which for the time being at least made our cause its own that the votes of the workers alone saved that party from utter, crushing oblivion. It is my belief, and that of those qualified to judge, that at least 80 per cent of organized labor's forces voted in accordance with the recommendations of our Federation. It will never be known to what extent coercion and trickery prevented the registry of a still larger vote of those who believed with us and who desired to stand with us.

During the past year this subject was most earnestly discussed and every possible forward step taken in the definition and assertion of labor's political as well as economic power. Our conventions have asserted this whenever opportunity presented itself. I take from a number of quoted declarations of the American Federation of Labor, contained in the report I had the honor to submit to you to the last convention, a few as follows:

In 1895 the New York Convention declared: "That the American Federation of Labor most firmly and unequivocally favors the independent use of the ballot by the trade unionists and workmen, united regardless of party, that we may elect men from our own ranks to make new laws and administer them along the lines laid down in the legislative demand of the American Federation of Labor, and at the same time secure an impartial judiciary that will not govern us by arbitrary injunctions of the courts, nor act as the plant tools of corporate wealth.

"That as our efforts are centered against all forms of industrial slavery and economic wrong, we must also direct our utmost energies to remove all forms of political servitude and party slavery to the end that the working people may act as a unit at the polls at every election."

In 1896 the Cincinnati Convention reaffirmed that declaration.

At the 1899 Detroit Convention the following was adopted:

"Resolved, That this Federation recommend that the various central and local bodies of labor in the United States take steps to use their ballots, their political power, on independent lines, as enunciated in the declaration of principles of the American Federation of Labor."

Another declaration of the American Federation of Labor is as follows:

"The American Federation of Labor is not partisan to a political party; it is partisan to a principle, the principle of equal rights and human freedom."

At Denver last year the convention adopted the following:

"In commenting upon this statement of the president, we feel that he has gone to his fullest limit, physically and mentally, in carrying out the mandates of the previous conventions of the American Federation of Labor, as well as the conclusions reached by the conferences of the representatives of the national and international unions held in the city of Washington, D. C., in the years of 1906 and 1908, and we agree with the president when he says that the campaign as carried on by the American Federation of Labor was on a high plane; that the educational features are bound to be of lasting benefit, and that a greater moral victory has been won.

"We recommend that the policy be continued and that every effort be made to bring the principles for which we contended and for which we shall continue to contend, not only to all members of the labor movement, but to all friends and adherents of popular government."

In accordance with the above instructions I made the following recommendations to the meeting of the Executive Council in April this year and they were endorsed:

"In connection with the subject of legislation I beg to suggest that inasmuch as there appears to be little disposition on the part of Congress, particularly in its present make-up, to give the relief that we should have from the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in so far as concerns the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, relief from the abuse of the writ of injunction, or to enact legislation for the extension of the Eight-Hour Law, for the protection of seaman's rights, or for the regulation of convict labor, etc., I recommend that we urge upon organized labor and all reform forces to begin an agitation and to organize so as to be prepared to take action in the next congressional election. In centering the effort of labor and its friends upon congressional and state legislative action, we shall be following the direct instructions of a number of conventions of the American Federation of Labor, emphasized by the direction of the Denver Convention."

It is encouraging to be able to state that our reports from organizers in many sections of the country show that such activity is already manifested, and with excellent results, in local and state affairs. I would most earnestly urge that our members and friends endeavor to make the utmost use of their economic and political power.

We must be partisan for a principle and not for a party, but we must make manifest the fact that we have political power and that we intend to use it; otherwise the ballot will become an impotent weapon. Our members and friends can not expect that the officers of the Federation can impress either upon political parties or upon Congress the demands of the workers for justice and right unless those workers themselves have shown sufficient interest in the use of their political power as to make it clear that they are the potent force behind their chosen officers and representatives. The potency of the ballot begins in the primary, independent or a party, and there the workers must begin to assert their adherence to labor's principles and demands. There the workers make of themselves an educational force. They must endeavor to draw with them those unorganized, perhaps, or who have not yet become familiar with the legislation which is needed.

Let us restate that there can be no coercion of any man along party lines. Labor must learn to use parties to advance our principles, and not allow political parties to manipulate us for their own advancement. The distinction is easily understood and readily carried into effect. If each worker as an individual uses the ballot for the advancement of the principles for which labor stands and has declared there will be no question in future as to the power of labor to achieve its just demands; political apathy and partisan adherence will weaken; political activity and partisanship for labor's principles will bring strength and success. The activity, the loyalty of the workers in every part of the country is what we need in order that our political power may be used harmoniously with our economic efficiency. The time is now for emphatic declaration and positive, practical preparation for action.

Industrial Education.

The American labor movement is in line with, and has given expression to, the best thought for the education of all the people in all the elements of learning. It is especially interested in the further education of the wage-workers of America. Industrially. At several conventions the American Federation of Labor has gone on record upon these subjects, and at Denver last year the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That the President, in conjunction with the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, be and is hereby authorized to appoint a special committee of at least fifteen, to be composed of a majority of trade union members of this convention, who will serve without compensation and incur no expenses other than necessary and legitimate expenditure within the judgment of the President and Executive Council, to investigate the methods and means of industrial education in this country and abroad, and to report its findings, conclusions, and recommendations to the next annual meeting of the American Federation of Labor."

In accordance with this instruction the Executive Council with me endeavored to constitute a committee, but there was some difficulty in accomplishing that result by correspondence. Later, and during my absence from the country, the committee was completed, detailed report of which will be communicated to you in the report of the Executive Council.

Two meetings of the Committee on Industrial Education have been held: one in New York city during the summer, the other at Washington, D. C., last month. The latter I was privileged to attend. Prior to my departure the Executive Council directed that I make an effort to learn some of the present conditions of industrial education in European countries as well as the position which organized labor there takes toward the subject. With the important duties devolving upon me while abroad, there was little time to make a careful study of the systems in vogue, but the best that has been said and printed upon the subject has been gathered in printed form. Nowhere in all the countries that I visited has there been an expression of organized labor other than in full endorsement of the best methods to educate the workers industrially as well as along lines of the arts and sciences; and thus there is the universal declaration of the organized workers upon this great question.

It may not be uninteresting here to call attention to the ignorant, reckless and vindictive hostility which the Post-Van Cleave-Parry-Kirby National Association of Manufacturers has manifested toward the American labor movement. When our conventions declared in favor of industrial education, and particularly since the authorization at Denver for the creation of a special committee to pursue the study of the problem and to report, the most malignant misrepresentations of our purposes and aspersions upon our character were the utterances of these men who, judging us from their own narrow standpoint charged us with perverting the purpose of industrial education. Our own work in this and other fields of activity, the results achieved and yet to be achieved, must and will stand as our best answer.

The American labor movement appreciates the fact that experience has shown that education industrially is but one phase of the growing recognition of labor's rights, and that in this respect it is closely related to all the general work of the trade union movement, the movement which has since its inception stood for constantly increasing better opportunities, better factory and labor conditions, better home life, and the protection of the young and the innocent children from exploitation.

Organized labor has always been and is now deeply concerned with the well-being of the human family, and all the influences that so to make for the advancement of the industrial workers. In our principles and purposes are comprised the fullest scope of human activity. Labor has always manifested its human interest in the welfare of children; it realizes that industrial education has the same purpose and aims—that is, to secure co-operation of all human agencies which make for the betterment of mankind.

Industrial education, the raising of the age limit of child workers, and compulsory school attendance are necessarily a part of the one great beneficial scheme. Organized labor has always stood for, and has been the pioneer in, the demand for free schools, free text-books, compulsory education in the elementary grades and for the fullest and freest opportunity in all lines of learning, technology included.

The subject of education, industrially, concerns not only the wage-earners themselves but every inhabitant of the nation. It is, therefore, necessary and eminently proper that it be administered by the same authority and agency which administers our public school systems and such other institutions as are concerned in the public welfare.

Already reference has been made to the false position in which some elements of employers would place our movement upon this subject. All we ask of fair-minded men is a comparison of the utterances of our opponents with our own. We contend that education in America must be free, democratic, conducted by, of, and for the people, and that it must never be consigned to, or permitted to remain in, the power of private interests where there is sure to be the danger of exploitation for private profits and wilful rapacity. Under the pretense of industrial education private agencies for personal profits have perverted the term, resulting in a narrow and specialized training to the detriment of the pupils, the workers, and people generally.

Modern methods of manufacturing with their division and subdivision and specialization have, to a large extent, rendered nearly superfluous and therefore largely eliminated the all-around skilled worker. Some so-called modern apprenticeship systems are narrow, producing a line of trained "specialists." It has been well said that specialists in industry are vastly different from specialists in the professions. In the professions specialists develop from the knowledge of all the elements of the science of the profession. Specialists in industry are those who know but one part of a trade and absolutely nothing of any other part of it. In the professions specialists are possessed of all the learning in their professions; in industry the specialists are bereft, and denied the opportunity, of learning the commonest elementary rudiments of industry other than the same infinitesimal part performed by them perhaps thousands of times over each day.

Our movement in advocating industrial education protests most emphatically against the elimination from our public school system of any line of learning now taught. Education, technically, or industrially, must be supplementary to and in connection with our modern school system. That for which our movement stands will tend to make better workers of our future citizens, better citizens of our future workers.

European Tour.

For two succeeding conventions the fraternal delegates from the British Trade Union Congress, on behalf of their movement, extended an invitation to me to visit their congress and make an investigation of labor conditions in England. We had some correspondence with the International Secretariat relative to participation in the International Trade Union Conference. Because of the pending elections of 1908 I requested the convention not to direct me to accept the invitation.

At the Denver convention one of the committees took cognizance of the matter and presented the following report, which was unanimously adopted by a rising vote of the convention:

G. P. Bradford received 5,360 votes, and was elected Seventh Vice President. Majority of 495 votes.

The vote of the following unions was received after the polls closed on November 10th: 269, 188, 113, 499, 263, 63, 169, 120, 203, 469, 416.

Their votes, however, would have made no difference in the result.

The following unions failed to return votes: 1, 3, 43, 50, 57, 65, 68, 78, 93, 94, 110, 119, 132, 139, 151, 152, 178, 187, 218, 226, 233, 236, 255, 256, 264, 270, 293, 298, 309, 320, 324, 307, 339, 349, 350, 356, 364, 366, 371, 374, 378, 382, 384, 385, 386, 390, 392, 401, 418, 421, 423, 429, 433, 434, 436, 448, 458, 473, 485 and 498.

REPORT OF SPECIAL FINANCIER.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 27, 1909.

Pursuant to instructions I examined the accounts of Union 57, Champaign, and found them with but slight difference as reported to International office.

The records showed balance on hand Oct. 26, 1909, $294.61. Errors on account of wrong footings and omissions $3.20, making a total of $297.81. There was in bank $270.50 and $27.31 in possession of Secretary Dukes, which he turned over to successor, C. A. Brooks.

The stamp account showed on hand and turned over to C. A. Brooks: 127 50c initiation; 984 30c dues; 159 20c dues; 44 15c dues; 9 10c assets.

Vouchers were on hand for all expenditures but not all properly signed up as they should be by the recipients of the money reported as expended. Considerable ill-feeling exists among the members owing to the imposition of a $100 fine on one of its active members, which was imposed one meeting and rescinded the next. The imposition of fines without due consideration is generally a source of detrimental friction, especially so where the merits or demerits of a charge rests upon such disputable grounds that a verdict may be shifted from guilt to innocence from one meeting to another, or vice versa. When a local union asks the Ex. Board to sustain a fine on an active working associate member of a local union, there should at least be practical unanimity in that request.

F. G. Hopp,

Acting Financier.

A TYPICAL TRUST TRICK.

That big bloodsucker known as the American Tobacco company, better known as the tobacco trust, has been caught perpetrating a typical slave-driving trick. Upon complaint of the New York Central Federated Union, the United States immigration officials got busy.

It seems that the combine has been publishing glowing advertisements in German, Bohemian, Slavish and Jewish newspapers offering to teach immigrants the trade of cigar-makers and pay women $3 per week and men $1 per day while learning. When the foreigners applied for work in New York they were rushed off to a trust factory at Columbia, Pa., and paid the munificent sum of 30 to 40 cents a day. The foreigners quit work and the mayor of Columbia, to his credit, threatened the concern with publicity if it did not keep its promise. The trust officials took the hint and agreed to pay the wages promised and transported its workers to another factory in Harrisburg, Pa., where more skin games were practiced. The immigration officials decided to carry the case to their superiors in Washington and endeavor to stop the practice.—Ex.

UNIDAD DE ACCION.

¿Cuando se darán cuenta los obreros que aventajan al mismo enemigo al llevar sus diferencias de opinión sobre los mejores métodos de proceder al extremo de retirarse de la asociación regular y de esforzarse de formar ó hacerse parte de una organización dual? Si hay miembros que piensan que la asociación no está manejada como se debe, ¿es que ellos ayudarán al mejoramiento retirándose de ella? ¿Reforzan ellos el movimiento al proceder así, ó lo debilitan? Notamos que en varios cuerpos de artesanos se han elevado pendenencias que amenazan de dislocar las filas del partido obrero con mucha más eficacia que la que pudieran alcanzar jamás los procedimientos enemistosos de un patrón. Tenemos al contrario el gusto de notar que en otros cuerpos de diferente labor en los cuales han existido organizaciones separadas amparando líneas de demarcación no muy bien definidas, ha habido una marcada solidificación del movimiento debida á la amalgamación de las labores bajo la dirección de una única cabeza. Estas fuerzas probablemente forman contrapeso las unas para las otras en su entidad, pero parece que ya es tiempo para los obreros de darse cuenta que ninguna acción arbitraria hecha por una parte cualquiera del movimiento será una mejora de las condiciones actuales. Es la opinión nuestra que las causas de tales cosas son nada más ni menos que satisfacción es otorgadas á la ambición personal de descontentados ó derrotados candidatos, privados de honores que no eran capaces ó dignos de llevarse. Es la opinión nuestra que el movimiento obrero no ha de ser estorbado en su marcha progresiva y su trabajo efectivo en favor de las masas que trabajan por el político unionista con sus mañas, cuyo solo objeto es muchísimas veces su personal ventaja. El verdadero funcionario unionista es el que acepta su puesto como un cargo de confianza que le confían para que lo dirija lo mejor que pueda en favor de los que le han hecho su porta-estandarte, y no para su propia y personal ventaja.

No nos olvidemos, pues, del antiguo mote: "Unidos vencemos, desunidos nos vencen." Hagamos todo lo posible como individuos y como funcionarios para cementar en union más estrecha todos los elementos del movimiento para el fin que podamos realizar el progreso.—The Artisan.

Las uniones obreras van tan lejos hacia el ajuste de la cuestión del labor como lo permite su fuerza natural. Ellas aumentarán en fuerza y en utilidad en proporción exacta de la aumentación de sus miembros y la inteligente impulsión de su potencia inherente.

LA ACTUCIA ES EL MEJOR CURSO.

La experiencia y la lógica aplicadas a los sucesos demuestran que el movimiento obrero ha de ser dirigido a lo largo de las líneas que menor resistencia. Es un trabajo mucho más fácil de obtener que los artesanos de un cuerpo cualquiera de labor se junten para proteger sus intereses mutuos, alcanzar mejores sueldos y reducir las horas de trabajo por medio de una habil política, que de obtener que todos los obreros piensen y procedan según un plan dado de acción. La organización obrera que se da cuenta de su fuerza y de su debilidad y mide sus demandas y dirige su acción según la situación, será idónea de hacer más adelantos con el tiempo que la organización que se impacienta del poco progreso realizado y trata de efectuar más que el que su habilidad propia y las condiciones presentes lo permiten. Si se consideran las dificultades que se presentan al movimiento obrero, se verá que este ha hecho muchísimos progresos en el pasado y continuará mejorando la condición del obrero en el futuro con un paso mucho más rápido. El adelanto se hará en proporción exacta con la fuerza real de la organización. Cada uno debe, pues, prestar la espalda a la rueda y contribuir personalmente al esfuerzo común dándose cuenta que si se hace poco a la vez lo que se haya hecho sumará mucho en ganancias materiales.

SIGUASE ADELANTE.

La Union Internacional, durante la crisis, se ha mantenido poco más o menos tal cual, lo que es digno de reparo al mismo tiempo que de satisfacción. No hay porqué seguir adelante ahora y lo haremos, con un poco más de actividad de parte de todos los trabajadores de buena voluntad. Mucho depende también de los manufactureros, quienes si desean obtener éxito, deben adoptar métodos modernos y mantener siempre por encima la calidad de sus mercancías. La etiqueta por si sola no hará que los cigarros se vendan, para obtener las ventas, se necesita energía, animo y perseverancia de parte del patron y un surtido de artículos que sea siempre de par con lo mejor. Las uniones deben contribuir a la obra común ayudando a los manufactureros para el rechazo del peligro de la formación de un "trust" gigantesco en nuestra labor. Los métodos, estilos y prácticas de hace 25 ó 30 años no sirven en esta lucha y han de ser botados a un lado y deben ser abandonados por los que cuentan. Quedarse en la lucha y alcanzar la victoria.

Que ninguno se espante, se desaliente ó se deje botar del camino. El pasado histórico demuestra plenamente que el movimiento obrero es lógicamente correcto. No importa cuanto todos nosotros deseamos que se alcance un estado industrial mejor de un solo brinco; las condiciones generales que tenemos delante, así como el desarrollo del movimiento en el pasado, indican claramente que la mejor manera de alcanzar condiciones mejores y permanentes es seguir el camino de las uniones de labores. El plano también tiene la ventaja de obtener el mejoramiento de la condición de los miembros, pues todos esperamos unidos y combatimos unidos por la emancipación final.

UNIONS DES MÉTIERS.

L'avènement et le développement du système d'organisation des métiers sont basés sur l'histoire du passé. Ce système est logique, démocratique; il pratique la tolérance envers les opinions de ses propres membres et celles des autres, avec qui il n'a aucune querelle aussi longtemps que les autres ne se mêlent pas de ses affaires. Il borne sagement ses efforts dans une sphere d'action légalement défendable. Il s'occupe du présent et de l'immédiat avenir. Il tend à obtenir ce qu'il est possible d'obtenir et ce qui est à la portée de la main. Il s'occupe des situations telles qu'elles se présentent; il extrait de ces situations les meilleurs résultats possibles en ce qui concerne l'augmentation de la liste de ses membres. Il se rend fort bien compte des conditions d'inégalité qui se présentent sur la route du labour et il les regrette, et il est regrettable qu'il ne puisse plus rapidement renverser les barrières qui empêchent l'accès d'un état des choses idéal et parfait dans la vie sociale. Mais il se rend aussi compte par l'étude de l'histoire que l'univers ne peut être transformé en un clin d'oeil, que "Paris ne s'est pas fait en un jour" et que les esprits, pensées, espoirs et aspirations de la grande majorité du peuple qui forment l'entité de la race humaine ne peut être ébranlée par des résolutions et par la dénonciation énergique des affaires en général. L'Union des Métiers croit fermement qu'il faut commencer à bâtir par la base et continuer ainsi vers le haut, pas à pas, pierre à pierre, donnant un fondement solide à l'édifice afin de graduellement élever dans les airs le monument qui un jour sera le prototype d'un parfait et complet système industriel, un système dans lequel l'ouvrier recevra les fruits de son labour avec équité, où il n'y aura ni freons ni non-producteurs. L'impatience que certains éprouvent d'atteindre à cet état idéal les choses, les a poussés à recommander l'adoption de toutes sortes de plans solidisant des lignes à nous faire atteindre plus tôt cette terre promise. Mais celle-ci, hélas! ne pourra être atteinte qu'après une dure lutte et par les étapes accomplies grâce efforts des travailleurs eux-mêmes et encore faut-il qu'ils s'y maintiennent. Regardons la question en face et cherchons quelle est la route à suivre. Le mouvement ouvrier réclame l'augmentation des salaires, la diminution des heures de travail, l'élargissement des consciences de ses membres par la dispersion des superstitions religieuses et des préjugés de races et de caste, réunissant ainsi leurs forces en faisceau et apprenant à s'en servir avec avantage. Ainsi et par ce plan, les Unions hâteront le jour de la délivrance. Elles, au moins, présentent donc un plan d'action tangible, un plan qui, s'il n'atteint pas (mais il l'atteindra) le but qu'on se propose, au moins fait quelque chose pour ses membres en cours de route. Que l'état futur s'occupe de lui-même et consacrons nos meilleurs le meilleur de nos efforts à obtenir les meilleures conditions possibles de travail. Nous en avons grandement besoin.

L'unioniste inconsistent dans cette ville et en fait, dans toute autre ville du monde, est le frein d'arrêt qui bloque le progrès du unionisme des métiers. Nos commerçants remarquent les unionistes qui achètent parfois des marchandises non-unionistes faites dans les prisons et alors ils se moquent de votre journal unioniste. Exigez des marchandises unionistes et vous verrez que les commerçants vous respecteront alors, tout au moins pour votre montre de principes. Si votre boutiquier n'a pas de marchandises portant l'estampille de l'union et vous déclare qu'il lui est impossible d'en obtenir riez-lui au nez et allez dépenser votre bon argent chez le marchand qui désire être dans le mouvement. Les marchands faites dans les prisons et celles non-unionistes dénotent des conditions qui, si vous désirez qu'on les maintienne, vous forceront à faire la concurrence à des produits anti-hygiéniques et émanant du travail forcé infligé aux enfants.

UNE JOURNÉE DE TRAVAIL PLUS COURTE.

Si l'on avait diminué les heures de travail pendant la crise industrielle de façon à ce que tout le monde pût être employé, même si l'on avait dû réduire le nombre des heures de travail à quatre par jour, aurait réduit la durée de la crise, qui atteint maintenant deux ans et demi, à pas plus de six mois en tout. Sans entrer dans le détail des influences économiques qui occasionnent la stagnation industrielle, nous dirons qu'une des causes de la continuation de la crise est que les sans-travail cessent de consommer. Ceci commence par un arrêt général dans toutes les branches. Si, au contraire, tout le monde pouvait travailler, ne fût-ce que quelques heures par jour, tout le monde continuerait à consommer en proportion directe des salaires acquis. Ceci aurait permis de tourner aux roues de l'industrie, d'abord lentement, il est vrai, mais sans arrêt et en augmentant de vitesse jusqu'à ce que le train habituel ait été de nouveau atteint, ce qui, d'après notre plan, serait arrivé au moins deux ans plus tôt qu'il n'est possible de l'espérer si l'on persiste dans la présente attitude, qui peut se définir par le fameux "Va comme je te pousse." Il est possible que si l'on avait adopté le plan de réduire les heures de travail jusqu'à ce que tout le monde ait été employé, la crise aurait été si courte qu'elle serait passée sans attirer l'attention.

Celui qui ne peut voir que la question des salaires dans l'unionisme des métiers, risque fort de se montrer froid, calculateur et sans intérêt aucun pour les autres affaires de la vie. Il y a maintes excellentes raisons qui militent en faveur de l'existence des unions ouvrières: la question des salaires n'est qu'une d'elles. Dire que l'unionisme est basé sur les salaires seuls, ce serait comme dire que la religion chrétienne est basée sur la seule bourse de quête. Les deux assertions seraient également fausses l'une et l'autre, excepté pour les "icebergs" humains dont toutes les pensées sont concentrées sur le tout-puissant dollar.

Luttez pour l'étiquette. N'ayez donc pas peur de la tenir élevée hors de la boue. Maintenez ce grand emblème des salaires équitables et de l'unionisme au-dessus de tous et toujours au premier rang. Luttez pour l'étiquette! Luttez pour toutes les étiquettes!

Le réformateur moyen généralement se montre prêt à réformer tout le monde excepté lui-même, et neuf fois sur dix, il aurait besoin de la réforme bien plus encore que celui qu'il voudrait réformer.

Kdyby byly výrobní třídy důkladně zorganizovány v náležitě dělnické unie v mezích jejich lotyšských řemesel, nebylo by průmyslové tísně a čtyry pětiny nedostatku, bídy a starostí mezi námezdními dělníky by zmizely. Jedna příčina průmyslové stagnace leží v tom, že dělník nejsovo organizován nenúže požadovat a obdržet na mzde spravedlivý podíl bohatství, jež vyrobí. Následkem toho přidáváme k bohatství této země stále více nežli můžeme spotřebovat. To est neschopnost spotřeby která vede k průmyslové stagnaci kteráto poslední na základě přirozeného práva trvá dokud nadvýroba není vyčerpána. Jakmile se výroba vyčerpá následuje zase pravidelná perioda. Budou-li si dělníci vě-domi, že ve spojení jich spočívá síla a přikročí ku spojení vše se rázem změni. Když to se uskuteční jest cíl odborových organizací dosažen a možno pak přikročí k logickému luštění a praktickou cestou budou luštěny další problémy. S dobře organizovanou odborovou organizací chceme a být v posici používati uplný podíl toho co vyrobíme a následovně také spotřebujeme. Dělna práce může být regulována tak, aby všichni ti kdož jsou práce schopni a pracují měli příležitost žít tak jak se na řádné občany patří. V této zemi blahobytu není člověk nikdy jistým, že neztratí zaměstnání a krutý osud nedostatku v pádu ztráty zaměstnání těžce doléhá na prsa pracujícího lidu. Vše to může a bude změněno odborovou organizací. Jest to pouze otázka času a jedině dělnictvo může na ni odpovědět jak dlouho ještě chce mnoho dobrých postavení ztrácet. Tak brzy jak zastavíme vzájemně si všíž dení do vlasů a budeme hledět postaviti sobě silnou hospodářskou organizaci na první místo, tu den kdy dosáhneme úplného vítězství jest nedaleký. Nikdo se zdravým rozumem přec ne bude upírat odborové organizaci, že nevykonala mnoho dobra. Proč tedy nebýt nápomocni ku přivedení dobré věci ku konečnému cíli? Těm lidem, kteří říkají, že odborová organizace jest dobrá ale ti předáci že nestojí za nic a jini, at' již jsou toho vědomí neb ne, prohlašujeme, že konečné osvobození dělnictva a přiznání lidských práv vykonají pouze odborové organizace.

Ukažte Váš zájem v organizování. Navště vujte schůze Vaší unie, a žijte v zásadách Vaší unie každodenně.

Káznice vyrábějící zboží rozšiřují nemoe. smrt a ničí napořád naši zemi. Chraňte Vaše zdraví—žijte a žádejte na výrobkách které v ži votě potřebujete uniovou známku.

Uniová ochrana.

Unie chrání nejen dělníky ale i zaměstnavatele. Vzhledem k hodnotě práce uniové, počítá zaměstnavatel uniový na dobré uniové dělníky, kdežto jeho konkurent neuniový nemůže od svých lačných pracovních sil odbrátit tak do brou práci. Nejen to ale uniová známka jest i zárukou pro obchodníka. Unionistům dává pří ležnost by žili jako řádní Američané. Uniový headquaters jest pro dělníky tím čím jest pro zaměstnavatele—clearinghouse. Jest to pak po hodlně posílají si v pádu potřeby do headquar ters pro pomoc. Jest to sice dobrá věc sbořiti to co není dobré a postaviti znovu ale pozdější směr závisí pak na inteligenci hnutí a práce a přináší sebou mnoho nedostatků. Zisk však jest větší než ztráta. V době kdy panující stránka lidské povahy se vybouří, právě v té době shle dáváme se s oboustrannou snahou která nese se výhradně ku zlepšení průmyslové situace. Odborové hnutí dojde ku svému cíli. To jest při rozený vývin nynějšího stavu věcí.

Kdokoliv běže dítě v jeho útlem mládí kdy potřebuje klidu ku svému vývinu ze školy a dává jej do továren neb mlýnů, kde ono musí dlouhé hodiny pracovat, páše tím dvojitý zločin. Páše zločin na tom mladém životě a znovu zlo čin na budoucí lidské společnosti. Mnohem více by prospělo lidstvu kdyby místo do továren posílali dítky do škol do té doby než úplně vy spějí. Jest to smutné ale pravdivé, že směr vý chovy mládeže místo co by stoupal klesá.

Hrozné odhalení o vykořisťování dětí učinili tovární inspektori v New Yorku. Zjistili ja kým způsobem tovární upíři ssají ze svých mladých obětí. Drá žádosti byly podány inspekto rům by mohli na dále zaměstnávat děti ve svých dílnách a páchat na nich zločin znovu v tom bohatém a lidnatém městě nového světa.

Bylo dokázáno jak získávají jsou děvčata mezi 13 neb 14 roků státi a doháněny ku práci 68 hodin týdně neb 11 hodin denně a za tu dfinu ohdrží $3.00 týdně. Soudece před skonče ním soudu označil podobné jednání jako krimi nální a otroctvé. Stejná Fosterova volala in spektory, by podobnému jednání přístě věnovali lidu "o pozornost. Dokazovala dále, že dítky které jsou napadeny, že při práci mluvily, musí vždy zaplatit 10c pokutu v každém případě. Přijdou-li o 5 minut pozdě do práce musí zaplatit vždy 2c pokuty. Nyní jest třeba by lid byl ze svého spánku svědomí vyburcován a upozorněn na to, že půjde-li to takhle dále, bude bude zde zcela jistě zavedeno moderní otroctví. Proto na stráž všichni přátelé lidskosti a pokroku.

Ruhm des Gewerkschaftswesens.

Mag es nun gut oder schlecht sein, Thatsache ist, daß die Bedürfnisse des Arbeiters sich vervielfach tigt haben, daß seine Fähigkeiten entwickelt wor den und daß sein Streben erwachte. Es ist der Ruhm des Gewerkschaftswesens, daß es seinen geringen Antheil dazu beigetragen hat, jene recht schaffene Unzufriedenheit in ihm wachzurufen, welche ihn, wie Elber Twiss, veranlaßt, immer mehr und mehr zu fordern; aber im direkten Ge gensatz zu dem schüttern, von der Weltthätig keit abhängigen Unabwies wird er nicht von den dienstfertigen "Bumblers" des Konservatismus in Angst und Schrecken versetzt. Hier, ich sage es nochmals, muß es sich zeigen, wie sich die Clasi ficität der demokratischen Einrichtungen auf das Aeußere auswirken läßt. Man kann es kaum als gut bezeichnen, Menschen in dem Glauben an po sitivische Gleichheit aufzuwachen, wenn sie auf dem Gebiete der Industrie gezwungen sind, sich dem Despotismus zu beugen. Es ist nicht weise, in ihnen einen Durs nach Wissen zu wecken, wenn sie nicht die Mittel und nicht die Muge haben, diesen Durs zu löschen. Es ist höchst unrecht, ihnen zu gestatten, das Schöne in der Kunst und in der Natur schägen zu lernen, wenn wegen ihrer Arbeitsbedingungen der größte Theil ihrer Exi stenz bei unablässlicher Arbeit in schlechter und dürftiger Umgebung verbracht werden muß. Aber lang abgesehen von dieser Phase des Gegenstan des ist der Gewerkschaftler der Ueberzeugung, daß ie bestehenden physischen Bedingungen unter den Lohnarbeitern das Verlangen nach kürzerer Ar beitszeit rechtfertigen und es auch fernerhin rechtfertigen werden, da die Glückchancen für die Ar beiter eben wegen ihrer Arbeitsbedingungen weit geringer sind als die ihrer gleichalterigen Gefähr ten in den sogenannten unabhängigen Klassen.

Mit anderen Worten, der Gewerkschaftler ist der Ansicht, daß der soziale Dienst, welchen der Handarbeiter leistet, ihn zu seiner Behauptung rechtfertigt, daß die Gesellschaft nicht das Recht hat von ihm erwarten, daß er durch schlechte Bedin gungen in diesem Dienste, gegen welche es kein Mittel giebt, die Dauer seines Lebens unter die normale Grenze verkürzt.

So lange noch Hunderte von Millionen Arbeiter überall in der Welt, schlechte Wohnungen ha ben und schlecht gekleidet und ernährt sind, so lange noch bei Millionen Anderer der Geist nicht geweckt ist und die Fähigkeiten nicht entwickelt sind, kann die Thätigkeit des Gewerkschaftler hums mit Sicherheit darauf gerichtet sein, ihre Verbrauchsfähigkeit zu erhöhen, indem es ihre laustkraft vergrößert.

Moralisch, geistig und physisch.

Zu allen Zeiten sind wenigstens einige Leute, und zu gewissen Perioden sind fast alle Leute von dem Wunsche befeelt gewesen, ihre physische Kraft zu vergrößern. Die Geschichte ist voll von Bei spielen, daß wilde Stämme und halb civilisierte Nationen sowohl wie die sogenannten höher ent wickelten Gemeinwesen die Entwicklung athleti scher Männer und Frauen begünstigten. Alles dieses weist auf die Thatsache hin, daß unter allen gesellschaftlichen Vorbedingungen das Grundprin cip und der alles beherrschende Wunsch in dem Bestreben, eine kräftige und physisch höher stehende Klasse zu entwickeln, zu finden ist. Die Größe unseres Landes beruht auf der sittlichen, geistigen und körperlichen Wohlfahrt des ganzen Volkes. Wir sind der Ueberzeugung, daß die große Mehr zahl des Volkes mit dieser Ansicht übereinstimmt, und daß sie eine dahin zielende Bewegung ermu nigen würde, wenn die damit verbundenen That sachen ihr in gebührender Weise vorgelegt wür den. Wir glauben, daß die Bewegung für kürzere Arbeitszeit eines der kräftigsten Mittel ist, welche sich zur Zeit zu diesem Zwecke anwenden lassen, da in ihr sich Vorzüge verbinden, welche die sitt liche, geistige und körperliche Hebung der Massen bezwecken. Von welchem Standpunkte aus man sie auch betrachtet will: die Bewegung zur Her beiführung eines kürzeren Arbeitstages bedeutet mehr Zeit zum Nachdenken, zum Studieren und zu einer besseren Ausbildung; mehr Zeit für die Erholung und bessere körperliche Entwicklung; mehr Zeit für berebenden Umgang und die Ent wicklung von höheren sittlichen Idealen. Die Parole muß sein: acht Stunden für die Arbeit, acht Stunden zum Ausruhen und acht Stunden für das, was ein Jeder sich ausucht. Dieser Schlachtruf muß überall auf der ganzen Linie ertönen. Den Kampf aber muß man hineinbringen in alle Lebensbahnen, und Niemand soll seine Bemühungen in dieser Richtung einstellen, bis der Erfolg unser Streben trönt, und jeder Mann und jede Frau den Vorzug eines kurzen Arbeitstages genießt.

Die Gewerkschaft ist das Symbol der menschl ichen Gerechtigkeit und der menschlichen Freiheit, voll von ehrenhaften Ueberlieferungen, veredelt durch Selbstaufopferung, und erleuchtet durch In telligenz und Heldenthum. Sie ist voll von Ideen, wie von wissenschaftlichen Aufschlüssen für diejeni gen, welche den verbrecherischen Erbsis, die den amerikanischen Arbeitern und Arbeiterinnen bei ihrem Bestreben, auf dem Wege zur Glückseligkeit fortzuschreiten, die Bahn verlegen wollen, entgegen treten.

Die organisierte Arbeit schreitet auf ihrem Wege zu der schließlichen vollständigen Herrschaft mit einem Vertrauen und solch stetigem Gewinne fort, daß ihre Freunde darob Begeisterung, ihre Feinde aber Kleinmuth fühlen. Arbeitet an dem guten Werke mit jedem in eurer Macht liegenden Mittel fort, ihr Gewerkschaftler und Gewerkschaft lerinnen!

UNION BUSINESS

In accordance with Section 61 of the Constitution, the following unions are hereby notified and requested to remit the following amounts for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the office of the International Union:

214 Bluffton	$100	236 Reading	$100
215 Logansport	100	239 Lyons	100
217 So. Chicago	100	240 Norfolk	100
218 Binghamton	100	241 Syracuse	100
219 Mobile	100	242 York	100
221 South Bend	100	243 Chicago Heights	100
223 Ottumwa	100	245 Ashland	100
224 Salt Lake City	100	247 Blue Island	100
226 Haverhill	100	249 Findlay	100
227 Chicago	100	250 Belleville	100
228 San Francisco	100	251 New York	100
229 Millville	100	254 Wapakoneta	100
231 Amsterdam	100	256 Boise	100
232 Sellersville	100	257 Lancaster	100
234 Guttensberg	100	258 Streator	100

The Constitution, twentieth edition, contains an error. The amendment of Union 97, Boston, reference accepting cards from foreign countries, took the place of the old law. Through mistake both the amendment and the old law are included. The last paragraph, or last twelve lines of Section 67, on page 28, is the old law and doesn't belong in the Constitution.

NOTICE.

Financial secretaries when granting loans should, as required by Section 104, enter loans in figures and letters. It is not necessary to punch cards.

The amendment adopted to Sections 76 and 77 does away with the issuance of retiring cards to all who continue to pay dues as beneficiary members.

Retiring cards are only for those who pay up and actually terminate all connection with the union in so far as the payment of dues is concerned.

Members who transfer from the 30-cent list to the 20-cent beneficiary membership list are simply changed from one class to another and deducted from one and added to the other.

Members who have not paid 30-cent dues for three years and quitting the trade under Section 76 and wishing to qualify for Section 77 as a beneficiary member should be kept on without any other change than to make a note of the intention on the ledger page. If such member desires to travel to another jurisdiction he should be given a transfer card and his intention to qualify as a 20-cent beneficiary member written on the transfer card. Such beneficiary members are not entitled to any benefits except sick benefits after one year's membership and whatever death benefits their term of membership entitles them to.

If you hold any loan cards of no further use send them to this office.

Before granting or accepting retiring cards secretaries and members should consult Sections 76 and 77 of the Constitution.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS AND MEMBERS.

In printing the nineteenth edition of the Constitution, an omission occurs in Section 77, on line 7. A comma and the words "and local assessments" should follow "International assessments." The sentence to read: "All international assessments, and local assessments levied for label agitation purposes." This amendment as published in another place is correct.

MEMBERS OUT OF WORK ARE NOT ENTITLED TO THE SIXTEEN WEEKS' PRIVILEGE IN DUES UNLESS THEY NOTIFY THE SECRETARY WEEKLY BEFORE THE EIGHTH WEEK. THIS INCLUDES TRAVELING MEMBERS WHO SHOULD ALWAYS CARRY A CERTIFICATE AND HAVE SAME SIGNED WEEKLY.

Items for the Journal should be placed on separate slips of paper—not the backs of reports, etc.—in order to insure prompt publication, and should reach this office not later than the 10th of each month if intended for current publication.

DECISIONS OF PRESIDENT

L. Rosenberg appealed against No. 97, Boston, for fining him $10. The appeal was not sustained.

C. E. Spohn appealed against No. 10, Providence for recinding a fine of $2, imposed on a member for attempting to draw illegal sick benefits. The appeal was sustained.

Max Jacobson Cigar Co. appealed against J. A. B., St. Louis, for refusing it the label unless the firm deposited the constitutional $100 for further use of the labels. The appeal was not sustained.

F. A. Wessler appealed against No. 44, St. Louis, for fining him 50c for failing to perform committee work assigned. The appeal was not sustained.

E. B. Collins appealed against No. 316, McSherrystown, concerning a fine imposed upon him. This question having previously been up for decision on appeal and then disposed of cannot now be recognized.

L. Dankerwertz appealed against No. 295, Scranton, for refusing to accept an application for membership. The appeal was sustained.

Union No. 26, South Norwalk, appealed against Financier Strasser concerning a deficiency of $77.44 which the Union had illegally charged up as label agitation but which was expended as per capita tax to central and state bodies. The appeal was not sustained.

W. Rowley appealed against No. 492, Colorado Springs, for refusing to allow him an apprentice to start as a manufacturer and use the label without employing a journeyman. The appeal was not sustained.

W. G. Bieri appealed against No. 42, Hartford, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The evidence shows that appellant paid his dues in time to a fellow workman who handed the money to a shop mate who in turn placed it among some papers on his table and subsequently overlooked it. As the member was not wholly at fault the appeal was sustained.

A. Velleman appealed against the action of Union 97, Boston, in adopting the following motion: "That we (Union 97, Boston) refuse all Belgium cards until further investigated by the International president."

The law governing reads as follows:

(A) A cigarmaker or packer coming from a foreign country, who shall have been a member in good standing of a cigarmakers' or packers' union organized on trade union principles for at least three consecutive years, shall be admitted to membership free of initiation. Application for admission shall be made not later than four weeks after arrival within the jurisdiction of this organization. Foreign traveling cards issued by unions connected with a national organization of the trade shall be countersigned by the national secretary of the organization. These provisions shall apply only to unions which accept cards of membership of the C. M. I. U. of A.

(B) A cigarmaker or packer coming from a place in a foreign country where a trade union exists without a union card, or having a union card less than three years old, shall not be admitted to membership by any local union until satisfactory proof has been furnished that a three years' apprenticeship has been had at the bench in a union shop.

(C) A cigarmaker or packer coming from a place in a foreign country where a trade union does not exist shall give satisfactory proof of having worked at the bench at least three years before being admitted to membership.

(D) The International Executive Board to decide what constitutes a trade union organized upon trade union principles.

The decision is:

Under the laws the union is the first court, and it should first act upon all foreign cards. It has a right to compel the applicant to furnish indisputable evidence of the genuineness of the cards or any statement thereon. The applicant has at all times the right to appeal against any action first taken by the local union.

INTERNATIONAL FINES

The International Executive Board approved the application of Union 392, Enid, Oklahoma, to impose International fine of $50.00 upon E. W. Davis, No. 120,380, for allowing himself to become suspended and employing non-union help; also to have the firm of Bandy & Davis, known as the Enid Cigar Mfg. Co. deposit $100.00. The following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Approved the application of Union 340, Traverse City, Mich., to impose fine of $50.00 on George Hormuth, No. 91,688, for conduct unbecoming a union man, working against the interests of the union, and for allowing himself to become suspended. The following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Approved application of Union 231, Amsterdam, N. Y., to fine C. A. Rheame, No. 84,369, $50.00 for working in closed shop of Louis Gregar; and also $25.00 for conduct unbecoming a member and for slander against the officers and members of local 231. The following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Approved application of Union 118, Peoria, Ill., to fine Albert Lawson $100.00 for working in the unfair shop of F. T. Lewis; and to fine B. Pollock $25.00 for quitting a job in a union shop just a few weeks prior to serving his time and going to work at Lewis' shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Approved application of Union 28, Westfield, Mass., to fine Peter Marichek, No. 120,347, $50.00 for selling non-union cigars and placing the label with his own factory No. 351, thereon. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Approved application of Union 54, Evansville, Ind., to annul the card of and fine Alvis C. Jordan, No. 7,303, $50.00 for quitting a union shop and taking a job in the shop of A. Glanig, below the Bill of Prices. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 6.

Note.—The other two members of the Board approved the fine but not the annulment of card.

Approved the application of Union 466, Easton, Pa., to suspend and fine W. H. Poff, No. 9,527, $25.00 for opening up (with partner) a cigar store and factory and filling his case and show window with trust made cigars and other cigars from the cheap district, not bearing the label. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 8.

Note.—One member disapproved of suspension.

Approved application of Union 110, Washington, D. C., to annul the cards of, and fine Luther Harrison and Jos. Canter $100.00 each, and to fine Henry Brawner, a former member, $100.00, for working in a scab shop. Also to fine Chas. Hall $100.00 and suspend him, for applying for a job in the scab shop of Henry Offterdinger, and stating he was done with the Cigarmakers' Union. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 6. (Favor whole proposition.)

Note.—Two members disapprove expulsion, and one member favors a fine of $75.00.

Approved application of Union 6, Syracuse, N. Y., to fine Jacob Breinin, No. 68,255, $25.00 for selling cigars below $20.00 per thousand. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 8.

Approved the application of Union 317, Wilkesbarre, Pa., to fine Peter Tyrpak $25.00 and have him deposit $100.00, for wrongfully using the label. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 8.

CORRESPONDENCE

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY.

Boston, Mass., December, 1909

Article No. 2.

Part one of "The Report of the Commissioner of Corporations on the Tobacco Industry," dated February, 1909, contains material of much value to tobacco workers on the subject of "The Tobacco Combination"; which is made up of the American Tobacco Co. and its subsidiary concerns. A study of its 471 pages cannot fail to impress the candid reader with the conviction that our national government officials have the sincere purpose to solve "the trust problem" as related to the tobacco industry. It is certainly a comprehensive document. It is announced that part two, which is to be published later, will deal with the competitive methods of the tobacco combination.

To come to the point at once "the Report" shows that the real entrance of the American Tobacco Co. into the manufacture of cigars dates from the time it purchased the business of Powell, Smith & Co.; that was in 1901. The American Tobacco Co. paid George J. Smith and Harry J. Luce, proprietors of the Powell, Smith & Co. cigar manufacturing concern, $2,130,664 for their business; $1,250,000 in cash and a 7 per cent interest in a New Jersey corporation which was later to be organized under the name of the American Cigar Company. As one of the conditions of the sale, it was also agreed, that Mr. Smith and Mr. Luce should devote all their time to the management of the newly organized company's factories for which they were each to receive a salary of $10,000 a year, for five years. Messrs. Smith and Luce were members of the original board of directors of the American Cigar Co., which was composed of 17 members, with James B. Duke president of the American Tobacco Co., at its head.

The business of Powell, Smith & Co. included factories at Kingston, N. Y., employing 1,600 persons; at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., employing 300 persons; and at New York City employing 1,000 persons. The number of cigars sold by the firm and its net profit for each of the three years preceding the sale of its business is reported as follows:

1898.....	52,199,257	$127,475.12
1900.....	70,046,663	Not given.

On January 12, 1901, nine days after the purchase of the business of Powell, Smith & Co., the American Cigar Company was incorporated with a capital stock of 10 millions of dollars, which has been increased until (with its subsidiary companies included) it now amounts to 117 millions.

The newly organized corporation acquired control of the cheroot business and the cigar leaf houses of the American Tobacco Co. for which it paid $3,909,952. The American Cigar Co., up to the end of 1906, purchased the following cigar, cheroot and stogie manufacturing concerns:

1901—Firm, location, business, and amount paid:
S. Levy & Co., Passaic, N. J., cigars, $11,789.
Hummell & Vogt Co., Louisville, Ky., cigars, $42,428.

Barlow, Rogers & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., cigars, $205,631 cash and $100,000 common stock in American Cigar Co.

Hamburger, Homan & Co., New York City, Philadelphia, Camden, Trenton and Baltimore, cigars, $711,000 cash and $600,000 in 4% gold notes.

Binghamton Cigar Co., Binghamton, N. Y., cigars, $1,000.

Havana-American Co., New York City, Binghamton, Ybor City, Tampa and Key West, Fla.,

New Orleans and Chicago, cigars, $4,000,000 in 4% gold notes of the American Cigar Co.
Brown Bros. Co., Detroit, cigars, $469,272 in cash and stock.

H. de Cabana y Carabajal, Havana, Cuba, cigars, $1,500,000.

Roth, Bruner & Feist, Cincinnati, cigars and cheroots, $225,472.

Philippi Cigar Mfg. Co., Philippi, W. Va., cigars, $4,204.

Cigar manufacturing business of the United Cigar Stores Co., New York City, cigars, $54,141.

Porto Rican Tobacco Co., Porto Rico, cigars and cigarettes, $133,400.

M. W. Mendel & Bros., New York City, cigars, $643,482.

The American Cigar Co. operated 40 factories in the United States in 1906; 11 of which it controlled through the Havana-American Co. The location and output of the combination's factories in 1906 are reported as follows:

Beginning with the Jersey City plant the first 29 factories on the list, operated directly by the American Cigar Co., manufacture the following leading brands of cigars (the remaining 11 making Havana brands): The Crema, Anna Held, Continental, Geo. W. Childs, Recruit, Benefactor, Lillian Russell, La Belle Creole, etc. The leading brands of "little cigars" are: The Royal Bengal and Floradora. The leading brand of cheroots is the Old Virginia. The sales of these three kinds of goods are divided by the American Cigar Co., in one of its official statements for the year 1906, as follows:

Cigars.....	559,560,144
Little cigars.....	116,607,226
Cheroots.....	188,642,511
Total.....	864,809,881

The following table shows the number of cigars produced in the United States in 1906. Also the division of the output between the independent manufacturers and the American Cigar Company's including its subsidiary concerns, the American Stogie Co., and the Havana-American Co.:

1906—
Total output in the U. S.....	7,147,548,312
Division of the total output:
Independent manufacturers, 6,094,742,454, or 85.3%.
"The Combination":
American Cigar Co.....	$70,314,806
American Stogie Co.....	$2,314,525
Havana-American Company.....	$0,176,527
Total.....	1,052,805,858
	or 14.7 per cent

Although the data in this paper, as in that of my October article, is somewhat dry reading, I am sure that as it deals with a matter vital to our standard of living, it will receive the critical attention of our members. We must fortify ourselves with facts.

This official "Report," presenting to us the inside data of the tobacco business, should enforce upon us the conviction that we must prepare to fight the fight of our lives. Now is the time to begin, for it is not now too late. Next after the knowledge of our handicraft comes the necessity of understanding the doings of the entire tobacco industry, and this knowledge which is requisite for our intelligent action as an International Union the official report of the tobacco business of the United States puts into our hands.

From the "Report" we may learn the facts concerning the past, present and intended activity of the American Tobacco Co. and its subsidiary concerns. Facts that will enable us to convince the independent cigar manufacturers and the independent cigar dealers that their best interests will be served by creating a demand for union made cigars. Facts that will enable us to convince the smoking public that the principles of a living wage—the family wage—a fair day's pay for a fair day's work, an equal chance for all will be best advanced by refusing to patronize the output of the Tobacco Combination and by asking for blue label cigars and blue label cigars only.

David Goldstein.

Philadelphia, Nov. 29, 1909.

In the November Journal Union No. 129 of Denver, Colo., presents an amendment to the constitution providing for the holding of an International Convention, also a letter advancing certain reasons in advocacy of the same. Union 129 in its letter totally ignores the most important point in the holding of a convention, namely, its cost. A convention will cost us about $80,000. The question naturally arises will the expenditure of so large a sum of money justify the results? Is it wise or good economy to spend $80,000 for something we can get for almost nothing or at most for a few hundred dollars? Even if a convention should devise and adopt a valuable measure, it must be submitted to a popular referendum vote for ratification before becoming a law. What, if the members by popular referendum vote should reject the work of the convention, would be the return for the vast sum expended? Where would we be at? The answer is plain, we would be precisely in the same position as before the convention was held, with the further painful knowledge of having thrown $80,000 to the dogs. Union 129 says in its letter that it is prompted by several good reasons in offering its amendment, and which are as follows, I quote:

"To devise ways and means to build Cigar-makers' Home, to legislate for the permanency of the above.

"To inaugurate an Old Age Pension System.

"To institute a Bureau of Publicity."

In furtherance of the above objects, Union 129 in its letter says, I quote again:

"By having the Home and Old Age Pension System we would save some money."

What is meant by the above is not quite clear, the word "have" in second line is probably a typographical error, and should read "save some money." If my surmise is correct let me say to Union 129 that instead of an "old man's home," or an "old age pension" saving us some money, it would eat up a whole lot more money. I am not now discussing the merits or demerits of old age pensions or old men's homes, they are very worthy objects, but there is one thing I wish to impress upon Union 129, as also all other members of the International Union, and that is the stubborn fact that old men's homes and old age pensions, either one or both, even to a very limited extent cost a deal of money, and is an impossibility without an increase in our dues. Union 129 in its zeal to have a convention, next goes out of its way to attack the referendum. I quote from its letter the following:

"No doubt a great many will say, will the referendum not serve the purpose? Hardly, the referendum is better in theory than in practice."

The above is a cold blooded perversion of the history of the International Union, as a matter of fact we have successfully practised the referendum theory for over twenty-five years, and during the past thirteen years we have had no other system of government. All our legislation during that period of time has been by means of the direct, popular initiative, and referendum vote of the members, since no conventions have been held since the 19th session at Detroit in 1896, during the above thirteen years our annual financial reports show that we have steadily advanced in membership, financial resources, assistance to members, influence and prestige, and more than held our own in matters of wages, general conditions of labor, etc. Despite panics, trade depressions, etc., all of which proves that the referendum theory has been a practical success to an eminent degree in our International Union and leaves no ground whatever for the disparaging remarks in the letter of Union No. 129. The initiative and referendum is the most priceless boon that can come to the common people, it is the acme of democracy, the death knell of autocracy, and tyranny. Let us by all means progress and improve upon its use and insist upon its extension not only in our International Union, but in the political system of our country. Next in its letter, Union 129 makes the old complaint as follows. I quote again:

"Denver does not want to be misunderstood, that in asking for a Home the inference may be drawn that we want it here. Denver is willing to have it anywhere. We are more than willing to share our part of it, but we do not believe it is right for other unions to throw the sick members on our hands, and that settles it as far as they are concerned."

In regard to the above let me say Union 129 is entirely mistaken when it says other unions throw their sick members on the hands of Union 129, other unions simply issue traveling cards upon demand to its membership, after which these other unions have no control over their destination and becomes an entirely individual matter. If then individual members flock to Denver it is not the doings or fault of these other unions, but distinctly and wholly the doings and fault of the individual member, flocking there, nor is Union 129 under any obligation to provide for their maintenance, further than to pay them their regular benefits as guaranteed by the constitution. No member has the right to go to Denver for his health unless he or she provides the means of subsistence in advance. If anyone goes to Denver without the required cash to feed, clothe and cure themselves they must take the consequence, theirs is the risk, and responsibility, and theirs only, they have no claim on Union 129 or the citizens of Denver. No fault can be found with Union 129 if it ignores their appeals for charity, Union 129 ought not and cannot be expected to support all who flock thither to get cured of tuberculosis. I, and the rest of us have no reason in justice or equity to expect the few members in Denver to do that, if Union 129 elects the self-imposed task of doing so, it is its own concern and should stop hollering about it. No doubt an old man's home would be somewhat of a relief to Union 129 in its self-imposed task, no matter where it is located. As to the argument of Union 129 in the concluding part of its letter, about a Bureau of Publicity, needs no comment at my hands, the following taken from the November Journal effectually disposes of that subject, I quote:

Union 44, St. Louis, Mo., offers the following amendment to Section 165, to be known as Section 165B:

Bureau of Publicity.—That we establish a Bureau of Publicity and Lectures for the purpose of educating the masses in the jurisdiction of the Cigarmakers' International Union, to-wit: Union Labor and Labels vs. Convict Labor, Child Labor, Trust and Tenement House Made Cigars.

First. That this Bureau be under the control of the International Executive Board, the International President to be the President of the Bureau, and the balance of the Executive Board to choose one of its members as its secretary. They to devise ways and means to educate the masses in unionism and advertise the Blue Union Label of the Cigarmakers' International Union in a systematic way throughout this country and Canada.

Second. That an International assessment of 50c be levied on all 15 and 30-cent members to be used exclusively for this purpose.

If Union 129 is so anxious to have a Bureau of Publicity let it get to work immediately by sending out circulars (at a trifling cost) to local unions, urging them to second, and vote for the amendment of Union 44 of St. Louis, and we will have the Bureau of Publicity for almost nothing instead of throwing away $80,000 for the same thing. The amendment fully covers the ground Union 129 desires in its letter, and may be of great value if adopted, besides it can be in full operation long before a convention and its final ratification by popular vote can give it effect.

Let us now take up the other two subjects in the letter of Union 129, and see if an old man's home, and old age pension can be best promoted by means of a convention. I hold that a convention would hinder, or handicap the project, because a convention could do no more than frame a law, subject to a popular vote of the members. Let us take for granted the popular vote would approve such a law, would we be the gainer. Decidedly not, because we would simply get a law authorizing the home, or pension, nothing more, and the tremendous cost of $80,000, the expenditure of so vast a sum of money simply for the making of the law, would be the height of folly, a senseless, I may say criminal profligacy, it would weaken and reduce our general fund to the extent of $80,000, and thus render us poorer and less able financially to put the law into practical operation. I say common sense, or mere kindergarten knowledge of economics would demand that we secure the law for practically nothing, or at most at a trifling cost by means of the referendum, and then use the $80,000, or so much thereof as needed to build the home, or start the pension, whichever we select to try first, instead of burning up the money for a convention. If Union 129 is sincere in its reasons given in its letter advocating a convention, I respectfully and without presumption suggest the following plan:

First. Let Union 129 appoint a committee for the purpose of thoroughly investigating the projects of a home or pension. Let the committee gather the necessary data, statistics, cost, finance, etc., let them secure the advice, and the knowledge of persons expert, or familiar with such matters. The committee can take its time and work deliberately and systematically, and thus secure a much more comprehensive and practical plan than any committee however able that a convention could select, because a convention committee has but a few days to give to so complex and difficult an undertaking.

Second. After the committee has finished its labors and evolved a plan let Union 129 submit it as an amendment to our constitution for popular vote. By the above method we would get a law based upon scientific data and practical knowledge, and a general fund richer by the $80,000 saved through not holding a convention, and which would come in very handy in building the foundations of either a home or pension. If Union 129 does not care to undertake this task, let it offer an amendment to the constitution instructing our International Executive Board to get together and do the preliminary work, embodying their finding in a law for submission to popular vote for approval. In conclusion I again maintain my objections contained in former letters regarding conventions, no convention is justified involving the expenditure of $80,000, unless some grave crisis threatens the existence of our organization, or the welfare of its members; no such crisis exists at this time, and the only purpose a convention can serve now is to provide opportunity for a bunch of fad-dists, dreamers, and world improvers to indulge in a talk fest on wild ideas, and impossible theories, and to give a couple hundred good fellows an excursion at our expense. I trust the good common sense of the members will assert itself and vote down the amendment providing for the convention and the senseless squandering of $80,000.

Yours fraternally,

John S. Kirchner.

Antwerp, Nov. 2, 1909.

Conference held by the Confidentialmen of the International Union of Tobacco Workers, at Antwerp on October 31, and November 1, 1909.

Order of the day.—Immigration and Emigration of Tobacco Workers of the International Union, with a view to the amendment coming from Union 179, Bangor, U. S. A., published in the Cigarmakers' Official Journal of America, dated September 15, 1909, and reading as follows: "Union 179 of Bangor submits the following amendment to the International Constitution of the C. M. I. U. of A., etc., (See September, 1909, Journal)."

The International Secretary Mr. Henri Jugters, opens the conference, welcomes the confidentialmen and expresses the hope that this meeting may have the effect that is expected from it.

Represented are: Germany-Luxemburg, Denmark, Sweden, Holland, Belgium and England. Mr. H. Breuns, confidentialman of Holland, is elected President, and the International Secretary, Henri Jugters, is elected to draw up the protocol.

After the opening speech of the President, he gives the floor to the International Secretary, who gives particulars of the communication from U. S. A., stating that the conference is taking place on proposal of Denmark. He points out that he doubts very much that in case the new amendment of Union 179 should be adopted, the good relations which are existing as yet in our trade between the United States and Europe could be continued. He thinks that it would be a great mistake to be more severe regarding the length of time of membership required of cigarmakers coming from Europe, in order to be accepted into the C. M. I. U. of A., and if they moreover asked a high admission fee, it would be absolutely impossible for European cigarmakers to join the C. M. I. U. of A.

All present at the conference are of the opinion that the new amendment would only cause inconvenience to America, because it would not in any degree prevent the immigration of foreign cigarmakers, and besides it would be the cause of a conflict within the C. M. I. U. of A., and the logical consequence of this would be the formation of two different factions, which would fight one against the other, to the advantage of the employers, owing to the want of co-operation among the union men. We would very much regret this effect and therefore entertain the hope that there will not be found many union men who are so short-sighted as to vote for the amendment of Union 179. Several speakers are pointing out that this measure would not lessen at all the immigration of working people to the U. S. A., and that it would be preferable to adopt bills for the International Peace Agreement. If the C. M. I. U. of A. joined our International Union, by paying the small fees, they would contribute largely to the improvement of the condition of our tradesmen, and in this way lessen the number of immigrants into America. As a matter of fact, the countries in Europe, where the situation of the tradesmen has improved during the last few years, are no longer sending tradesmen to the United States. For instance it now happens very seldom that a cigarmaker goes to the United States, from Sweden, Denmark or the northern part of Germany to look for better conditions. This is the result of their holding out to the last of a long and sharp fight.

We are unanimously of the opinion that all local unions that still pay traveling benefits for immigration to America, must be prevailed upon to stop it, in order to suppress the immigration of European working people to America. We further believe that we must make every endeavor to prevail upon the C. M. I. U. of A. to join our International Union, and in this way amendments would become unnecessary, as we would all then be quite disposed to do all in our power for the benefit of all. In order to attain this result, it has been decided, that if the amendment of Union 179 should be adopted, we would request the C. M. I. U. of A. to admit two delegates of ours to their next convention, in order to get this amendment abolished, and at the same time to explain to the C. M. I. U. of A. the advantages of their joining our International Union. M. Henri and Mr. B. Cooper, confidentialmen of England, were elected delegates.

It has been decided to send the protocol of this meeting to the President of the C. M. I. U. of A. and to earnestly request him to have it published in the Cigarmakers' Official Journal.

The following resolution has been adopted unanimously: "Our International conference of the Confidentialmen held at Antwerp, notices with deep regret the amendment coming from Union 179 Bangor, which says that organized Tobacco Workers arriving from a foreign country, may only be accepted upon presentation of a five years' Union card and payment of an admission fee of $100 payable in advance. Further that not having such a card, they must present a three years' apprenticeship card of a union shop, and pay an admission fee of $200. Our conference expects and hopes that all impartial tradesmen of the United States will vote against such a retrograde amendment, representing the purely egoistic desire to render difficult the immigration of our organized trades colleagues."

With this, the President, Mr. Breuns closes the conference, cordially thanking all, and expressing the hope that the conference will have the desired effect.

Fraternally yours,

International Secretary.

Not having received the required number of endorsements cannot be submitted to popular vote.

Union 77 offers the following amendment to Section 219 by adding the following:

And if adopted shall take effect and remain in force from the first day of the month succeeding the official publication of its adoption.

Union 10, Providence, R. I., offers the following amendment to the constitution:

Amend Section 156 by adding the following to the last line:

Or to manufacturers who send out loose labels to their agents, or representatives, in any locality.

Sec. 156 to read as follows:

Each local union shall furnish, through its shop committeeman, to all strictly union shops, free of charge, as many of the labels as may be required from week to week for all cigars actually made by members of the union and persons holding retiring cards. All label orders shall be signed by the shop collector. The label orders are to be furnished by the International President at cost. No shop shall be considered a strict union shop unless the packers of the shop are members of the International Union, and the apprentice laws of the local union be complied with. Where the manufacturer deals in Chinese, tenement house or scab cigars, it shall be optional with local unions to withhold the label from such firm. It shall be optional with local unions to grant the union label to any manufacturer or firm whose name or firm name appears in or about the box containing Chinese, tenement house or scab cigars, or whose name or firm name appears on or about such non-union cigars. All labels issued must bear the ink stamp. It shall be optional with local unions to paste them on the boxes. But in no case shall the union label be used in a factory in the United States which pays less than $7.00 per thousand, and no less than $1.00 for packing per thousand, and in Canada, which pays less than $6.00 per thousand for mold work—5 molds of 20 bunches.

Nor shall it be allowed on any cigars sold for less than $20.00 per thousand. This shall not debar local unions from establishing a price above $20.00 per thousand. No union shall be allowed to furnish the labels for cigars made in whole or in part by machinery. It shall be optional with local unions to grant labels to members who are not employing any journeymen if they have not been members for one year. This shall not apply to members suspended who were, prior to their suspension, members of the International Union for one year or longer, provided they be reinstated within six months after suspension. But in no event shall a manufacturer be permitted to use the label who offers presents as an inducement for the sale of his goods, or to manufacturers who send out loose labels to their agents or representatives in any locality.

Amend Section 92 as follows:

Add after the word "Washington," sixth line, the words "Porto Rico." Section to read:

No strike shall be approved or sustained by the International Union for an increase in wages between the first day of December and the first day of April of any year except in the states of California, Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Oregon, Washington and Porto Rico.

Received the endorsement of 231, St. Louis; 5, Rochester; 437, Cairo; 330, Alpena; 9, Troy; 462, Tampa; 174, Joliet; 99, Ottawa; 72, Burlington; 32, Louisville; 215, Logansport; 129, Denver, and 291, San Jose.

The amendment of Union 129, Denver, Colo., as published in the November Journal, as follows:

Amend the constitution as follows:

The next session (convention) of the C. M. I. U. shall be held in Indianapolis, Ind., beginning Monday, May 9, 1910. The necessary changes for electing delegates, etc., to be left to the discretion of the International President.

Received the endorsement of 90, New York; 402, Richland Centre; 315, St. Cloud; 437, Cairo; 58, Montreal; 213, New York; 33, Indianapolis; 107, Erie, 174, Joliet; 167, Owosso; 42, Hartford; 102, Kansas City; 318, Chattanooga; 491, Huron; 253, Oakland; 232, Sellersville; 32, Louisville.

The amendment of Union 22, Detroit, Mich., as published in the November Journal, as follows:

Amend the constitution as follows:

That a 5-cent assessment be levied on all 30 and 15-cent contributing members, the proceeds thereof to be sent to the Swedish strikers.

Received the endorsement of 404, Austin; 315, St. Cloud; 174, Joliet; 102, Kansas City; 72, Burlington; 15, Chicago; 232, Sellersville.

The amendment of Union 44, St. Louis, Mo., as published in the November Journal, as follows:

Amend the International Constitution as follows:

Section 165B:

Bureau of Publicity.—That we establish a Bureau of Publicity and Lectures for the purpose of educating the masses in the jurisdiction of the Cigar-makers' International Union, to-wit: Union Labor and Labels vs. Convict Labor, Child Labor, Trust and Tenement House Made Cigars.

First. That this Bureau be under the control of the International Executive Board, the International President to be the President of the Bureau, and the balance of the Executive Board to choose one of its members as its secretary. They to devise ways and means to educate the masses in unionism and advertise the Blue Union Label of the Cigar-makers' International Union in a systematic way throughout this country and Canada.

Second. That a semi-annual International assessment of 50c be levied on all 15 and 30-cent members to be used exclusively for this purpose.

Received the endorsement of 281, St. Louis; 318,

Chattanooga; 72, Burlington; 491, Huron; 32, Louisville; 215, Logansport.

(Note—At the request of Union 44, the word semi-annual has been inserted in the second part, this issue as the union made this omission in submitting the amendment.)

PRIVATE LOANS

Sec. 196. Local unions shall have the right to suspend members for non-payment of local indebtedness, and hold traveling cards until such indebtedness has been paid. See Sec. 106 also.

The following unions request the collection of private loans from the respective persons, and return same to union making request.

Union 445, Billings, Mont., writes: "Members owing private loans to Union 445, Billings, Mont., must make settlement before the next issue of the Journal, otherwise names and amounts owing will be published and the enforcement of the constitution will follow. Secretaries holding cards of same will please take notice and notify owing members of the fact. This is final."

Union 285, Fort Worth, Tex., requests that secretaries holding cards of the following please collect private loans: Frank Loftus ($1750), $1.00; George McCann (30808), $1.00; James W. Olinier (82990), $9.00; John E. Sampson (115644), $1.00; John Horner (99461), $1.00; John Dudding (29506), $1.00; Guy Bruce (108086), $1.00, and John Briant (114998), $1.00.

Union 451, Bushnell, Ill., requests that members owing private loans pay up before the next issue of the Journal, as the loans have been standing long enough, and the union needs the money.

Union holding the card of Fred Mohle (63176) please collect $3.55 private loan and forward to secretary of Union 138, Seattle, Wash.

Union 5, Rochester, N. Y., writes: "Unless Harry Allen starts payment on private loan due Union 5 we will demand his suspension."

Union 182, Madison, Wis., writes: "Any secretary holding the card of Frank Kleshermeir (25610) please collect private loan of $3.00 and send to the secretary of 182. This loan was made him on August 13, 1909, and he promised to send it back right away. I haven't heard anything from him since. He was going to LaCrosse, Wis."

Union 129, Denver, Colo., requests secretaries holding cards of members owing this union private loans to call their attention to it and ask these members to make an effort to pay up. We need the money very badly. We do not like to advertise them, but have to do it in some cases.

Union 129, Denver, Colo.—List of members owing private loans: F. R. McIntyre ($3488), $8.00; Sam Ratner (36252), $15.00; D. Greenberg (1584), $15.00; E. R. Murphy (115702), $3.50; H. UNION NOTES

Notes by Union 97, Boston: Trade very quiet.—Label committee wrote to all the candidates for political honors requesting them to use union-made cigars during the present campaign and received affirmative replies.—Brockton Shoe Council and C. L. U. label committee are doing good work.—Label committee has the promise that another National cigar stand will go.—Our label committee have done good work in the University city. Committee addresses unions, clubs and fraternal organizations. Advertising pays. Don't hide your light under a bush. All successful merchants bring their commodity in the public eye. Follow their example. New England Conference has become a factor in New England and this work will tell.—Our Sixth International Vice-President and the president of New England Conference were factors in the fight for license in this state.—President Wiener addressed the Liquor Dealers' Association here by invitation.—Is it not wonderful what a lack of reasoning power with that vast octopus, best known as the Trust, trying to break up the labor movement, that trades unionists buy trust-made cigarettes and tobacco? I don't mean trades unionists, I mean men who pay dues. Quite a difference, you know.—Women's Trade Union League are agitating a minimum wage law for the unorganized.—97's executive board contributed $100 to the evicted victims of Ludlow and got the Boston American to open up a subscription list. We notice 49, of Springfield, was the largest donor of that city. These people are non-union, yet it was organized labor who came to their rescue. And they say we are selfish.—Brockton is going to have a label exposition. Of course we will be there and have a blue label booth.—The label is the greatest weapon organized labor has at its command. Use it.—We gave $150 to the Tin Plate Workers now on strike.—If all the trades unions would imitate us in small initiation fees and our traveling card system, so that an international card would be a man's passport for work, and not try to build a Chinese wall around themselves, perhaps the various trades would add to their membership and prohibit overtime while men are loafing.—We bought tickets for the Bakers' Smoke Talk.—97 is likely to take action on the license question. Just keep your eye on us.—There is but one way in which the so-called independent dealer can succeed against the trust, and that is to unionize his shop and put the label on his goods. Those who think alike should act together.—There should be a protest to congress from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast against that government guarantee on Manila cigars.—Are we to be the last union to adopt the old-age pension? That would make our chain of benefits almost complete.—Capital is combining fast.—Yes, we can lick the trust, but we have got to boom the label, and that takes cash.

The state of trade in Denver, Colo., is decidedly bad. There have been from 50 to 60 out of work for the last month, and Saturday, Dec. 4th, the Solis Cigar Company laid off all of the cigarmakers until after the first of January, making 75 more on the out-of-work list. There is not one chance in a hundred of traveling members catching a job here, and this union requests members to not come here with the hope of getting work.

Union 87, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Will you please publish in the Journal that H. Freshman (56145) owes a fine of $25 for misuse of the label. He was fined by Union 87. This notice should have been sent to you last February. We have collected none of the fine because he has been continually reporting out of work, but he is now circulating around the country."

Union 350 voted to remit the fine of $25.00 imposed on Ben Rickey (80337), old number, for scabbing.

Ed J. Kelsey (97976) has again overdrawn his loan account. Any secretary holding his card, or if card is presented, secretaries are requested to confiscate same. He is hereby fined $45.00 for accepting illegal loans.

Union 466, Easton, Pa., writes: "The secretary holding card of Charles Slater (75244) please collect $4.00 balance of fine imposed on him for violating the eight-hour law. If not paid by the January, 1910, issue of the Official Journal, we will proceed against him as the constitution directs in such cases."

Secretary of Union 205 would like to hear from F. D. Parks (96101).

Any union holding the card of M. B. Anthony (107506) please notify the secretary of Union 499, Trinidad, Colo.

Secretary of Union 156, Suffield, Conn., would like to hear from Ben Barr (39947).

Secretary of Union 196, Grand Island, Nebr., asks any secretary holding card (87534) of Wm. Gladfelter to please collect $3.50 paid him illegally.

Secretary of union holding card or collecting dues of C. A. Diehl please notify the secretary of Union 10, Providence, R. I. Very important business.

Will Mr. Edward Coleman correspond with the secretary of Union 414, Winnipeg, Canada, when he will hear of something to his advantage.

Secretary of Union 3, Paterson, N. J., would like to hear from Ira Follett and Paul Brown.

Secretary of Union 183, Mendota, Ill., would like to hear from James Ward and Frank Aberle (48079) on important business.

Union 268, Escanaba, Mich., would like to hear from Thomas Felix (18364).

Union 282, Bridgeport, Conn., writes: "Any secretary holding the card of Fergus Fay (36621) please collect $2.70 unpaid board bill and forward to secretary of Union 282, Bridgeport, Conn. If not heard from by next issue of the Journal, Mr. Fay may hear something to his disadvantage."

Union 205, Battle Creek, Mich., writes: "Any member taking a job in Scritter's shop will be fined $25.00."

Any secretary holding the card of John Fassiller (22733) please forward to this union $1.00 he over-drew on sick benefit. By Union 258, Oakland, Calif.

Secretary holding the card of Arthur Lansing (114286) please notify secretary of Union 182, Madison, Wis.

Union 369, Sherman, Tex., requests J. J. Pollard to settle that old matter at once.

Secretary holding the card of Robert Kennedy (85979) please notify F. C. Fox, secretary of Union 370, Jamestown.

Secretary holding the card of L. C. Rhodes kindly notify him to square up with Union 387, Yankton, S. D. If he can't this union wants to know why.

LOCAL FINES

Note.—Fines below $5 are not published in the Journal. See Sec. 195.

Sec. 197. Members having been fined by local unions shall pay such fines on the following basis: $10 or less, 10 per cent of weekly wages and benefits paid by union; or amounts more than $10, 15 per cent, aside from payments on loans as provided in the constitution.

In all cases where fines are imposed by local unions it will facilitate matters by giving the number, if party fined is a member of the union:

Elias Grene (50147) was fined $10.00 by Union 132, Brooklyn, N. Y., for working below the bill of prices.

Union 301 has fined Geo. Martin (93940) the sum of $5.00 for allowing himself to be suspended.

Union 476, Pontiac, Ill., fined Matt Fitzsimmons $5.00 for allowing himself to be suspended for non-payment of dues and loans.

Union 237, Huntington, Ind., fined John Selfert (4798) and N. J. Selfert (102171) $5.00 each for allowing themselves to become suspended.

Union 2, Buffalo, N. Y., imposed a fine of $5.00 each on J. C. Winter, J. Gordan and Al Danits for allowing themselves to be suspended.

Union 309, Rothsville, Pa., imposed a fine of $5.00 upon Martin Hornberger (84306) for allowing himself to become suspended.

Mr. Phil Hahn has been fined the sum of $5.00 by Union 32, Louisville, Ky., for working in an unfair shop.

Union 395, Waterbury, Conn., placed a fine of $10.00 on Chas. Reichert (6993) for allowing himself to be suspended and beating a board bill of $2.

A merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 9, 1909.

To the Officers and Members: Fellow Workmen—The Joint Advisory Board of Tampa, Florida, and several of our local unions there and members thereof, stated that a crisis had been reached in the movement there, and earnestly requested me to go to Tampa before the expiration of the law permitting cigarmakers of Florida to join the union on payment of $1.00 initiation fee, which request I complied with, arriving there on the 17th of November, and remaining until December 1st. There are a great many interesting things in connection with our movement in Tampa, Florida, some of which I will embrace this opportunity to bring to your attention. The real history of the movement there, however, reads more like a dime novel, and should some day be written up at least for record in the archives of this office, if not for publication.

A remarkable change has taken place in Tampa since the first time I went there, about ten years ago. In order that you may get a clear idea of the situation there, let me say that in the city of Tampa, in so far as our trade is concerned, the homes and lives and mode of living of the cigarmakers there is nearly the same as a city in Cuba, Spain or Italy. The same habits, hopes, aspirations, nearly the same manner of living and the same language exist there as in the mother country.

The immigrant coming to almost any other place soon absorbs the ways and manner of living of the average American; not so in Tampa, for the simple reason that the immigrant arriving in Tampa is surrounded by people of his own nationality, speaking the same native language. The result is that today in Tampa over ninety per cent of the cigarmakers talk Spanish and Italian and mighty few speak English. They have the same habits and live almost as they did in the mother country. They have their social clubs, their theaters in which the actors do not speak a word of English. The program is in Spanish, the names of the theaters are Spanish, and all the signs and printing outside are Spanish.

They still maintain the fashion of two meals a day. The first meal is between nine and ten and the last meal is after they have finished their work, between five and seven. At one of the mass meetings I spoke at in Tampa the hall was crowded and as many more were unable to obtain admission, and I venture the assertion that there were not ten people in or out of the hall that could speak or understand English.

The cigarmakers of Tampa formerly had an organization there, practically local in character. The International Union first established a union in that city in 1892, and I deem it advisable to say how and impress upon your minds the fact that the International Union never interfered with the other organization in any way, shape or manner. We had a strenuous time in finally getting a foothold in that city. In former days with or without organization hasty impulsive strikes were the order of the day; mistrust, distrust and general confusion reigned and the condition of the workers grew steadily worse in so far as wages and conditions were concerned. Regardless of how ill-timed or ill-advised other strikes have been, no member of the International Union ever took a strike job.

Formerly these people owing to the fact that they were not closely associated with Americans and American ideas, had very little use for Americans or American institutions, including the International Union, and when I first went to Tampa I was met with a polite exterior but decidedly cool indifference and often open manifestations of displeasure. Our efforts to organize Tampa have been met with poor success until quite recently. One of the drawbacks to organization in Tampa, formerly was the "Citizens' Committee."

There are few industries, except building trades, in Tampa, except the cigar industry, which can be easily moved, in fact the Clear Havana industry of the South was originally started in Key West and was partly transferred to Tampa through a big strike in Key West. If the cigar industry was to be moved from Tampa, it would mean great loss to the city. The bosses and the citizens are well aware of this fact, hence the "Citizens' Committee" were ever ready to back the employers in any effort to stifle the growth of unionism. The citizens through their committee were always ready to fight for the maintenance of their property.

The International Union has had to break down the prejudice, distrust and oftentimes opposition of the workmen in the first instance, the natural opposition of the employers in the second instance, and last but not least the desperate opposition of the "Citizens' Committee." Great credit is due to the handful of men there, who in the face of all opposition had the courage and manhood to keep the spirit of unionism, brought into life by the International Union, always alive.

Today there are about 7,500 cigarmakers, packers and selectors in that city. The packers, 380 in number, are thoroughly organized, and the selectors, 160 in number, are completely organized. We have recently organized an overwhelming majority of the cigarmakers, leaving a few still outside the unions. The great bulk of these we have in the union have very recently joined. They were still coming in every day up to the time I left.

In addition to having the cigarmakers join the International Union, my chief work there on this occasion was to impress upon them the absolute necessity of respecting, obeying and abiding by our own laws, especially as they relate to strikes. The employers' or manufacturers' association, which is complete, had agreed to restore the scale of prices prevailing in 1901, and while they had not recognized the union, they were negotiating with a committee of cigarmakers, everyone of whom was a member of one of the unions and members of the Joint Advisory Board.

The negotiations, however, were not going fast enough to suit some of the more impulsive, and it required eternal vigilance and mighty strong arguments to keep the members from rushing on strike. I am convinced that the employers are making an earnest effort to restore the 1901 bill, but when you consider that some shops are paying $10 a thousand less than others you will realize that the task to regulate the price and agree among themselves is no easy one. They would promise to have the matter regulated at a certain day, and then tell us that they were unable to reach an agreement.

Despite these delays and despite the fact that the every-ready knocker, the fault-finder, was out with his statement that the Joint Advisory Board had sold out, may it be said to the everlasting credit of the present Joint Advisory Board that they manfully stood by the plan of exhausting all other means of settlement before resorting to a strike, and that they have succeeded at this writing in holding the cigarmakers in check as well.

The Joint Advisory Board was in session every night, and when not speaking to meetings of cigarmakers I attended the Joint Advisory Board meetings. I did everything in my power to encourage and sustain them in the application of rational methods, and to establish the fact that through strong compact organization, such as the International Union, they could demonstrate their ability to control themselves, to maintain and improve conditions, through the more rational method of conferences, conciliation, and arbitration, and that strikes should only be resorted to after all other methods had been exhausted.

I repeatedly informed them that their leadership rather than their honor was at stake in this crucial contest, and impressed upon their minds that if they could demonstrate first to the employers and second to the citizens of Tampa that they could control themselves and compel obedience to their own laws, that they would try to settle all differences by conference, conciliation and arbitration, that they would lay the ground work for a strong substantial union that would ultimately lead to success. I left in the hands of the Joint Advisory Board the following statement:

"Fellow Workmen of the City of Tampa, Fla. Greeting—Let me take this means of again stating and in writing some of the things that I have verbally stated to you and the cigarmakers, packers and selectors during my recent stay in your city.

To my mind the most important thing for you to do at present is to establish the fact that the J. A. B. and the unions can control themselves.

If you will and can succeed in convincing the employers that you will refuse to countenance or sustain hasty or ill-advised strikes and that you will and can settle all wage and other disputes by the more rational and satisfactory method of conference through your accredited committees, you will establish confidence in yourselves, in the rank and file, and win the respect at least of the employers and citizens generally.

It seems to me that it is your first duty to do this and if you succeed you will lay the foundation for a substantial union through which and by which all of your just grievances can be settled without loss of time to you or loss of time to the employers and the consequent destruction of property and the possible loss of many of the members and the sure loss of the confidence of the employers and the community at large.

While I realize that there are considerable just grounds for the impatience of some of the cigarmakers and others, and I understand their eagerness to resort to more drastic means to hurry present negotiations, still the fact remains that the employers have a great task before them in regulating the differences existing in their own ranks and it takes some time to do this, and for this reason I am in hearty accord with the plans and policies so far employed by the J. A. B. and earnestly recommend and urge all cigarmakers, packers and selectors to be patient, and above all to give the J. A. B. an opportunity to carry out its plans of conciliation and of the settlement of present and future troubles or differences by the more rational methods of direct negotiation through committees.

A careful study of the entire situation warrants me in saying that in my judgment the J. A. B. has so far adopted the means best calculated to serve your best interests and to further say that the delay against which so many complain is not in any way the fault of the J. A. B., and that it is now and has been no fault of theirs that negotiations now in progress have not been successfully terminated.

No member or cigarmaker, packer or selector is justified under the circumstances in unduly criticizing the J. A. B. or the committee for existing delays and no honest person who is fairly inclined will do so.

I suggest that you beware of the alleged leaders who seek to plunge you into discord and the turmoil of endless and often useless strife.

I think I see a new era of prosperity for the cigar trade and the workers in Tampa, and I am sure that my conclusions are correct and that the future will so prove if you will be guided by fearless and conservative leaders, who have the courage of their convictions and the manhood to express them whenever occasion for the best interest of all concerned may require.

Remember that it takes more courage to stand up for the right course of action sometimes than it does to stand up and talk to the gallery. The man who has the courage to stand for what he thinks is for the best interests for all concerned in the face of the misguided and impatient demands of the masses is far better than the so-called radical, and will accomplish more of a lasting nature if given the support he is justly entitled to.

Try the new method. If it is not successful it can do no worse for you than the old ones which have been so destructive of your best interests.

What you need first is to organize and to establish through it some stability of action such as will command the respect and confidence of yourselves and the employers as well.

Be true to yourselves and to the men who are manfully serving your best interests and success will crown your reasonable and just demands. With best wishes for ultimate and deserved success, I am,

Yours fraternally,

(Signed) G. W. Perkins,

Int. President, C. M. I. U. of A.

After a careful study of the movement there in all its phases, covering a period of fifteen years of actual and personal observation, I am convinced the manufacturers realize that unless some means are adopted whereby they can control competition among themselves, they will eventually destroy Tampa as a Clear Havana Center, and while I feel that they dread the annoyance of the old style organization there, however, I believe that they realize that something must be done. Perhaps they will meet with the International Union half way, and they have decided to force through their own organization a restoration of the bill of prices of 1901, and while the cigarmakers now realize that this is being done through the fact that they are members of the International Union, it is hoped they will continue to pay dues and remain loyal members of the International Union.

However I see a vast change for the better in the attitude and feeling of the average cigarmaker of Tampa toward the International Union, compared with ten or even four years ago. While I was formerly received with cool and marked indifference, with meetings poorly attended, this time at every meeting we had, except one and that was not very well advertised, there was a full attendance. In one instance not half of those who sought to could gain admittance to the hall. I saw in the faces of the audience a more friendly spirit, and an eagerness to hear everything said. While on former occasions my words were received with cool indifference, this time there was a marked change for the better, in so far as the general expression, and what seemed to be genuine interest was accorded me.

All of this is some slight indication of the changing attitude of the cigarmakers of Tampa toward the International Union, and in it I see great hope for a steady gain and progress of a substantial and lasting nature for the cigarmakers, packers and selectors.

The condition of the cigarmakers during the last ten years has gone from bad to worse. The apprenticeship question is one of the big issues that will have to be met. They are making "Rosagos," seconds which sell for $35 a thousand, for as low as $7 and $8 a thousand. These cigars are supposed to be clear Havana, made of scraps and seed binders. The regular cigar in some instances is made for as low as $14 a thousand. The great bulk of the jobs run from $16 to $19 a thousand. But very few comparatively pay from $20 to $34 a thousand. The average weekly wages of cigarmakers of Tampa are very low. Skilled clear Havana Spanish style workmen are receiving less wages in Tampa today than the average union cigarmaker receives for making mold work or the ordinary American style of handwork, in the organized cities. The most of them realize now that they are doing this because of lack of organization.

There are a great many more things that can be said in connection with the movement there which some day I shall write. No one can tell what the result of the present movement will be. Present indications, however, warrant the hope that the groundwork has been established for a future successful movement of our union in that city.

Yours fraternally,

G. W. Perkins,
Int. President.

The publication of the Internal Revenue Report for 1908, comprising all the revenue districts, contains many inter-

CIGAR PRODUCTION OF 1908.—estimating facts and much valuable information for comparison. The decrease in production in comparison with 1907 averages over eleven per cent; although some districts have gained an increase.

The total number of cigars manufactured weighing more than three pounds per thousand was 6,488,907,269; showing a decrease of 813,122,542 in comparison with 1907. Total number of licensed manufacturers for 1907 was 23,882. Total manufacturers for 1908, 22,868; showing a decrease of 1,014.

Small cigars weighing not more than three pounds per 1,000 amounted to 1,072,512,540. Over one-fourth of all cigars over three pounds were made in the four revenue districts of the state of Pennsylvania; next in order come the states of New York, Ohio and New Jersey.

The production of West Virginia and the twenty-third district of Pennsylvania consists mostly of stogies and tobys.

The settlement of the bill of prices in Tampa, Fla., by conference and conciliation, without the loss of a single day of work, proved a signal success. The advocates of CONFERENCE AND CONCILIATION, hasty and impulsive strikes received a lesson to be remembered for years; their theories, about taking the manufacturer by the throat and inflicting as much injury as possible, have proved to be both visionary and foolish. What we want is construction and not destruction; union and success by rational means and methods.

In this connection the correspondent of "Tobacco," a paper in the interest of the retail trade, writes from Tampa, Fla., dated December 4:

"Owing to the fact that both the manufacturer and operators desired only absolute fairness, the cloud of threatened labor troubles has disappeared, both parties having agreed to an adjustment of sizes and prices, with but a few unimportant changes from the old scale. A committee of five prominent manufacturers was appointed by the Cigar Manufacturers' Association to make a factory to factory visit, and recommend the changes as agreed upon. This committee devoted the entire week to the work, meeting with the heartiest co-operation of the factories and their employees. Too much cannot be said in commendation of the manner in which the situation has been handled by the officers of the Manufacturers' Association, and the committee representing the cigar makers, and both sides are to be congratulated upon the clear business-like adjustment."

The conferences progressed for over one month, which gave the manufacturers ample time to fill all the pressing orders without any interruption whatsoever. This, no doubt, was appreciated as being fair and "business-like," as the correspondent of "Tobacco" explains.

"The new bill of prices," granting an increase from one dollar to twenty dollars per thousand, according to sizes and shapes, goes into effect on January 1, 1910.

Since writing the report of the organization trip to Tampa and published elsewhere in this issue the following telegram was received from RATIONAL METHODS WIN. Seventh Vice President Bradford: "Tampa, Fla., December 10. G. W. Perkins, President. Committee wins complete victory. Increase ranging from $1 to $20 per thousand. Bill takes effect January 1."

The foregoing is a splendid vindication of the men who under the new order of things in Tampa had the courage and manhood to stand by their plans and new policy of conciliation, negotiation and the effort to settle all trade disputes by the more rational and sensible methods of conferences. It further justifies the predictions we made in the report concerning conditions there. The peaceful settlement of the great question confronting the workers of Tampa by the rational method of negotiation with the employers through accredited committees is a splendid object lesson for the more impulsive there and elsewhere who formally rushed on strike at a moment's notice and then as suddenly rushed back but without any material gain or lasting benefit to themselves.

Great credit is due the Joint Advisory Board of Tampa for their determination to try the new methods which have proved so successful in this crisis, and their courage in manfully standing by their plans in the face of the criticism and unwarranted attacks of their more impatient and impulsive associates.

The inauguration of the policy of trying to first settle all trade disputes by the more rational methods of conferences with the employers in Tampa presages a new era of success for all concerned in the business in that city. If the workers will remain loyal to the organization and true to themselves and their own best interests by a steadfast adherence to first the union and secondly to the plan which has just proved so successful they will be successful. We congratulate the J. A. B. and those officers who stood by them and the members in Tampa for first the inauguration and application of the new departure and secondly for the splendid results so far accrued.

As a matter of record and of interest as well to the present generation of cigarmakers we print herewith a permit which it was necessary to obtain before a cigarmaker could work at his trade:

A PERMIT.

UNITED STATES INTERNAL REVENUE.

Cigar Maker's Permit.

To whom it may concern:

This permit is granted to Peter J. Heeny, of the Town of Suffield, in the county of Hartford and state of Connecticut, to carry on the trade of cigar making, at No. street, in said Town in the 6th Division of the 1st Collection District of said state, in conformity with the provisions of an act entitled "An act to provide internal revenue to support the Government, to pay the interest on the public debt, and for other purposes," approved June 30, 1864.

Witness my hand, this 29th day of July, A. D. 1864.

(Signed) S. F. Burham,
Assistant Assessor, 6th Division, 1st Collection District, State of Connecticut.

Every person making Cigars is required to take a Permit from the Assistant Assessor of the District in which he resides, for which he must pay a fee of 25 cents. If a person holding a Permit makes Cigars in any other District than that in which he resides, he must procure the endorsement of the Assistant Assessor of such District upon his Permit, for which endorsement he must pay a fee of 10 cents. Any violation of either of these provisions subjects the offender to a fine of $5 for each day, or to imprisonment not exceeding 30 days, and to the forfeiture of all the Cigars and Tobacco found in his possession.

Every person making Cigars is required to keep an account of the total number made, and their kind and quality; and the account must show for whom such Cigars are made, and his or their place of business. A copy of this account, verified by oath, must be delivered to the Assistant Assessor of the District on the first Monday of every month. Any violation of this provision subjects the offender to a fine of $100, or to imprisonment for 30 days.

If any person employs another to make cigars without having the Permit or endorsement required by law, he is subject to a fine of $10, or to imprisonment for 10 days.

The amendment proposed by Union 144, New York, N. Y., to the laws governing strikes are of a far reaching consequence; it is a radical departure in many respects, hence we deem it our duty to make a few comments.

In the first instance it proposes to strike out the following:

"Shall be made unless all the unions have acted conjointly and all organizations have balloted, and a majority of all votes cast have so decided."

The following is to be inserted:

"Unless the SHOP or SHOPS involved shall have voted by secret ballot whether an application for strike shall be made, and if the vote is in the affirmative, the same shall be referred to the Joint Advisory Board, who shall have the power to make an application for strike to the International Union without submitting the same to a referendum vote of the members affiliated with the Joint Advisory Board, but no application to strike shall be made unless a committee of the J. A. B. first visits the firm to investigate the grievance." Section to read accordingly.

The amendment would apply, if adopted, to the following cities: St. Louis, Mo.; Chicago, Ill.; Tampa, Fla.; Brooklyn, N. Y.; Hoboken, N. J.; Jersey City Heights, N. J.; Union Hill, N. J.; Guttenberg, N. J.; Utuado, P. R.; San Juan, P. R.; Jacksonville, Fla.; New Orleans, La.; and Detroit, Mich.

No reason has been assigned why a single shop shall be made superior to the whole union; at the same time depriving the members employed in other shops to vote on questions so vitally to their interest. A single shop strike may lead to a lock-out of a dozen or more shops, involving thousands of members, necessitating heavy local assessments, while every member, no matter where employed, is bound to pay.

This proposition destroys the vital principle of democratic government, the right of the members to vote on all questions. It is wrong in principle and bad in practice; it has been a failure in long runs wherever attempted. We could cite numerous instances in other trades.

This amendment has to be viewed from a broad standpoint, affecting, as it does, numerous cities outside of New York City.

It is an attempt to encourage hasty and impulsive strikes; to strike, so to speak, at "the drop of the hat," and to prevent conference and conciliation and the settlement of minor disputes.

Strikes should be the last resort, when all attempts to settle, although involving delay, have failed. This policy should be impressed upon the minds of the members.

The trouble in Feifer's factory, which was settled without a strike, is cited as a cause for changing an important part of the constitution. From reports received from all sources, giving the facts in the case, it is the strongest argument against the amendment. The firm substantially agreed to all disputed points, which improved shop conditions generally, and gave satisfaction, except to a few malcontents, who believed in "war to the knife and the knife to the hilt."

Trades Unions built upon the principle of destruction have no stability; neither have they a chance for future success. The destruction of a union factory means loss of employment to members; it means lower wages in New York City, where scab shops and open shops are still playing an important part in the cigar industry.

The production of cigars in the second and third revenue districts of New York City, for which taxes were paid in TRADE NOTES. the month of November, 1909, amounted to 68,331,440, while for the corresponding month in 1908 taxes were paid for 67,276,000. This shows an increase of 1,055,440 cigars in comparison with the same month of the former year.

The total export of cigars from Havana from January 1, 1909, to November 15, 1909, amounted to 156,498,263; while for the corresponding period in 1908, 160,859,588 cigars were exported. This shows a decrease of 4,361,325 cigars.

* * *

During the month of October, 1909, the Internal Revenue district of Florida paid taxes for 32,018,313 cigars; while for October, 1908, taxes were paid for 29,695,933. This shows an increase of 2,322,380 cigars in comparison with the corresponding month of the former year.

The production of cigars of the Ninth Revenue district of Pennsylvania for which taxes were paid for November, 1909, amounted to 66,885,910, while for the corresponding month in 1908 taxes were paid for 64,201,680. This shows an increase of 2,684,230 cigars in comparison with the former year.

If label agents and local label committees would knock as vigorously trust cigars and non-union cigars as they knock union cigars from other districts, much more headway could be made in the progress of label agitation.

Mr. Henry Juetgers, General Secretary of the National Cigarmakers' Union of Europe, advertises himself on his envelopes as a dealer in leaf tobacco in Antwerp, Belgium. Above the ad. is the imprint of a wood cut showing a bunch of leaf tobacco with clasped hands over the globe.

The growth of the women members in the Trades Unions of Great Britain is remarkable. In 1896 the women members numbered only 7.8 per cent. From 1896 to 1904 it rose from 7.8 to 7.9 per cent of the total organized members. In 1907 the organized women numbered 201,709 being a gain of 59.7 per cent over 1904.

The chief obstacles to women organization has been the temporary nature of employment, low wages, class distinctions and general apathy. As a result of this rapid organization of the women into the Trades Unions may be noted increased wages, the promotion of health and safety in employment, and the furtherance of protective legislation in the interest of the movement in general. From this we may express the hope that the time is not far distant when a like result can and will be accomplished in the United States. The only safety of the women lies in a compact and intelligent application of the Trades Union movement and until they are thoroughly organized they will be forced to work cheap and stand as a menace to the male members of the organized as well as the unorganized trades.

The United States Supreme court has granted an appeal in the Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison case which means that the whole case will now go before the highest court and we may expect a ruling on the material points involved in the whole controversy and means perhaps that we may know from the court of last resort just what our rights concerning free press and free speech really are at least from a legal standpoint. While we think we know what the constitution says in this regard we are not sure what the august court will say and we await its verdict with considerable interest. In the meantime they will not have to go to jail pending the deliberations of the court and we will not have to send that package of "scraps" we agreed to send weekly to our old friend during his enforced confinement.

Thos. F. Tracy, our second vice-president, was unanimously re-elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Union Label Department of the American Federation of Labor. His report of the department for the first few months of its existence shows it to be in a position to successfully work out the problems for which it was created.

Key West should follow the lead of Tampa and if it does and adopts the same rational methods after first organizing it will be successful.

PRESIDENT GOMPERS' REPORT.

"Your committee recommend the endorsement of what the president has to say under this heading, and expresses the hope that the interchange of fraternal visits may be continued and extended. We, therefore, recommend that the convention concur in the recommendation made by the Executive Council to the effect that a representative of the American Federation of Labor attend the next convention of the International Conference of Trade Unions which will meet shortly after the close of the British Trades Union Congress, and having in mind the report made by the fraternal delegates to the British Trades Union Congress, we recommend that the convention concur in the request made to send Mr. Gompers as our special representative to the British Trades Union Congress. We further recommend that he be instructed to attend the International Congress of Trade Unions, and that he visit such other countries as the Executive Council may deem advisable."

The Executive Council authorized me to visit several countries in Europe for study and rendering such assistance as might be mutually helpful to the workers everywhere. The resolution just quoted indicates that there was a misapprehension upon our part as to when the International Trade Union Conference was to be held. However, the International Secretariat, Mr. Carl Legien, of Berlin, when informed that I had been authorized to attend the conference consulted by correspondence with the officers of the trade unions of the various countries, and they voted to hold the Congress in Paris, 1909. Instead of in Stockholm, 1910, as had been previously resolved.

I also received an invitation from the officers of the General Federation of Trade Unions of Great Britain to attend their annual convention at Blackpool, England. A number of invitations were extended me from representative labor men and government officials to visit their respective cities and countries.

In the course of the tour in Europe taken in obedience to your mandate, I made studies of the labor movement and the conditions of the wage-workers in the following places:

United Kingdom—Liverpool, Dublin, Blackpool, Manchester, London, and Ipswich; France—Calais and Paris; Belgium—Brussels and Antwerp; Holland—Amsterdam; Germany—Hamburg, Berlin, Munich, and Cologne; Bohemia—Prague and Pilsen; Austria—Vienna; Hungary—Budapest; Italy—Milan, Rome, Naples, Genoa, and Turin; Switzerland—Berne and Basle. Brief visits were made to other cities—The Hague, Bremen, Dresden, Verona, Venice, Mayence—sufficient to widen to some extent the general field of observation.

The more important of the gatherings attended were (1) the tenth annual general meeting of the General Federation of British Trade Unions held at Blackpool, July 1-2; (2) the sixth conference of the International Secretariat of Trade Unions held at Paris, August 30-31 and September 1; (3) the forty-second annual British Trade Union Congress held at Ipswich, England, September 6-11. Special central labor committee meetings, were attended in a number of cities visited, besides labor addresses which were made on a number of occasions. In all the places visited both the labor and the general news press gave much space to the action of the American unions in sending a delegate on a general mission to Europe, the reporters interviewing me with regard to our trade union organization, the sphere of its action and its achievements.

The British General Federation of Trades reported this year at Blackpool as having a membership of 695,998. From March 31, 1908, to March 31, 1909, it dealt with 638 disputes, involving 54,962 persons, the total outlay in the resultant benefits being, in American money, more than $600,000. In the dispute in the Lancashire cotton industry more than 45,000 claimed benefits. The year had brought a strain on the Federation through unemployment. The chairman in his annual address said that not one of the disputes had been caused by demands made upon the employers by unions. The decrease in the reserve fund of the year was $47,000; there remained $370,000. The number of organizations affiliated in the Federation is now 131. All are also represented in the Trade Union Congress.

The president of the Trade Union Congress at Ipswich, announced that 495 delegates were present, representing a membership of 1,701,000. Among the delegates were 33 members of Parliament, 29 justices of the peace, 1 mayor, 6 aldermen, and 18 councillors. The subjects before this year's congress creating the most interest were government labor exchanges, which have now become an established fact; propositions affecting Great Britain's scourge of unemployment; amendments to the old age pension and compensation acts, and proposed changes in the national school system. The congress expressed the accepted trade unions views or made definite recommendations in regard to such questions as the employment of women and children; overtime; the extra unrequited work and long hours of government employees; land taxation; international blacklegging; freedom of the press; evictions during labor disputes, and the factory acts. A proposal to advocate proportional representation was lost by a large majority. As usual, compulsory arbitration was overwhelmingly rejected. A tailors' union label was indorsed—the hatters having already a label.

During congress week at Ipswich well attended demonstrations, various in character, took place nightly in the public halls, and on Sunday in some of the churches. Among the movements thus promoted were those for women's trade union leagues; co-operation; temperance; the catholic federation; poor law reform; Ruskin College; reform in Salvation Army industrial methods; abolition of insurance avails, and several ideals of socialism.

It is to be observed that while the single organization of the American Federation of Labor administers the funds contributed by the international unions in cases of trade disputes, decides at its conventions upon the policy relative to any proposed acts of Congress or the legislatures, and takes advisory notice of elections involving rights essential to the wage-workers or citizens, in Great Britain these several features of working class achievements are performed by three separate agencies.

The General Federation of Trades was called into existence ten years ago because the function of national financial assistance to unions suffering from the stress of self-protection against employing class aggressors could not be assured by the one central organization already existing.

The Parliamentary Committee of the Trade Union Congress, as its name implies, has for its purpose the work carried on in America by the state federations of labor and federation legislative committees; namely, the promotion of laws protective to labor. The Trade Union Congress seldom takes cognizance of any resolutions except such as contain instructions to its Parliamentary Committee whose chairman is president of the congress.

The political sentiments of the 1,701,000 members sending delegates to the Congress are by no means in agreement. Fifty-two union card holders are in the House of Commons, of whom 34 are in the "block" which has subscribed to a compact on a working platform on labor affairs. The rest are, in cases in line with the Liberal Party, and in others independent. Within the "block" there are strongly marked partisan differences. The labor bills passed in the House of Commons have, of course, been those accepted by the Liberal Party.

The various labor representatives in the United Kingdom doubtless represent, on the whole, a movement necessary to its working people at the present time. The Taft-Vale decision evoked a spirited political protest from the wage-workers. Whatever dissensions, uncertainties of purpose, and lack of cohesion among the political representatives of labor may exist in the House of Commons must bar adverse judgment in America. The difficulties with which the wage-workers in politics in the Kingdom contend are many and various. The state pays no salaries to legislators. Forty per cent of the wage-workers in some cities are excluded from franchise, while property qualifies its holders for multiple voting. The hereditary lords and the partisans of the crown are interested enemies of democracy; the aristocracy, buttressed by vested rights, nurtures an unprogressive public sentiment; real estate taxation, as compared with our American methods, is grossly partial to unused land-holders; the working classes are only beginning to make their voting power tell on the old party organizations.

At the Paris conference of the International Secretariat the principle which was brought out above all others, and emphasized on every possible occasion, was that the working classes of all countries today oppose war. They are systematically arraying themselves against the present military establishments and other preparations that in themselves constitute a warfare which bears most heavily on the working classes whose sons must fill the ranks, and which heaps up national debts that must be paid from the proceeds of toll. At the close of the conference a mass meeting was held in one of the large halls of Paris, attended by thousands of wage-workers, who listened to the delegates representing not only all the larger countries of Europe, but America, condemning the attitude of the privileged classes toward war and denouncing them as standing apart from the mass of the people, ready to perpetuate their powers through the interruption of social progress due to war.

It must be admitted, however, that the conferences of the International Secretariat as yet find but little practical work to look after except the promotion of peace, the interchange of amenities, and the publication of labor statistics. The representation is not purely trade union. Professor Huysmans, of Brussels, international secretary of the Socialist party, was one of the two delegates representing Belgium, where trade unionism is about at the lowest ebb reached in Europe. The delegates from Austria and Holland confined their many speeches to wholly socialistic propaganda and denunciations of true trade unionism. The two delegates from France, leaders of the General Confederation of Labor, were classed in the French press and by the socialist delegates as anarchists. Upon explaining that the American Federation of Labor had not yet decided to become affiliated to the International Secretariat, and that it was beyond my power, without your authority to become affiliated, I was accorded a seat in the conference with a voice and, of course, without a vote.

Discussion on the very few propositions introduced at the conference, such as those condemning the importation of non-unionists from one country to another during labor disputes, the action of the Prussian police in imposing excessive restrictions on wage-workers at the frontier; assistance for the Swedish strike; the promotion of the eight hour day, were over-shadowed by somewhat heated criticisms in turn of the French, the English, and especially the American trade union movements, by delegates from the countries whose unions have hardly emerged from crude beginnings, and are yet in large masses led by partisan, non-wage working class politicians. In these debates the delegates from Germany, France, and England, maintained a wholly fair and honorable attitude toward the trade union movements in the countries criticised.

The Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor adopted two resolutions to be presented to the International Conference at Paris in the form of suggestions. They are as follows:

"The International Trade Union Congress recommends to the trade union centers (General Federations or Congresses) of all countries the discussion of the proposition of establishing an International Federation of Labor, the autonomy of the trade union movement of each country being ordained and guaranteed, the purpose of the federation being for the protection and the advancement of the rights, interests and justice of the wage-workers of all countries and the establishment of international fraternity and solidarity."

"It shall be the purpose of the labor movement of all countries to endeavor to the fullest extent to prevent the workers from one country being induced to emigrate to other countries during periods of industrial depression or when trade disputes exist or are in contemplation; that it shall be the duty of the recognized representatives of the labor movement of the country affected to notify the International Secretary, who in turn shall at once communicate the situation to the representatives of the trade union movement of each country."

These I submitted for such consideration as the conference could give, and I entered into a detailed statement in support of their favorable consideration. Of course, it was entirely out of the question for the conference to vote upon them, inasmuch as they were not on the agenda of business and were not presented in the form of propositions by a duly accredited delegate, but the conference decided that both questions shall be printed upon the program or agenda of the next International Conference which is to be held at Budapest, August, 1911.

On the whole, the conference served to clear the field for a possible deliberative international body, democratically organized, leaving to the labor movement in each country its autonomous rights, and excluding questions not within the sphere of trade unionism.

I am fully persuaded, and have no hesitancy in recommending, that though the International Secretariat leaves much to be desired, yet the best interests of the workers of America will be served by our adherence thereto. Financially the cost would be but small, the substantial benefits would of necessity be exceedingly meagre, yet the spirit of international fraternity which it would foster would be immeasurable. I feel assured also that our adherence to the International Secretariat would hasten the establishment of an International Federation of Labor.

Well worthy of our study in America are the legal methods of establishing employers' liability in case of accidents that are now in force in Germany and Great Britain. Among the subjects which at present engage the attention of the working classes abroad are old age pensions, municipal labor exchanges, and government industrial insurances, to the establishment of which in this country are difficulties that do not exist under European governments.

There is much to report to you and our fellow-workers of vast interest, but which cannot be included here, but it remains to be said now that in no country in Europe does there exist a national labor organization of any form better adapted to obtain directly successful results in the interests of the workers than the American Federation of Labor. Nowhere is there equal national or international unity in trade unionism, free from entangling alliances. Nowhere are the unions of the various trades organized on a better basis—that of but one general union for the entire industrially united area, national or international. Nowhere is the just idea of trade autonomy better maintained. Nowhere have there been greater achievements in advancing wages, shortening the work-day, generally improving workshop conditions, or in convincing all ranks of society that the organization of labor is the great contributory and potent power to social peace and general prosperity.

Fraternity of Labor.

While our trade union movement and Federation are purely American, the spirit and purpose of international amity and universal peace is an accomplishment we strive to attain. During my stay in Paris, and in connection with the international labor conference there, no incident occurred which afforded me greater satisfaction than participation in and delivering an address to a great mass gathering of Parisian workmen in which representatives of labor of many countries delivered addresses for the abolition of war and the attainment of universal peace. It was my pleasure to voice the sentiment of America's workers for labor's solidarity and for the fraternity of man.

The interchange of fraternal delegates between the labor organizations of other countries and our own has contributed toward a better understanding of our respective movements and aspirations. The freer and more general mutual acceptance of union cards issued by bona fide trade unions will cement the bonds of unity, fraternity, and solidarity as will no other factor.

Let it be known and accepted that workers who have manifested their intelligence and concern for their own welfare, as well as that of their fellows, by membership in bona fide unions in their own country, and that they will be universally regarded as brothers, and it will give an impetus to organization in trade unions the world over.

On behalf of this convention, I extend a most cordial and hearty welcome to the fraternal delegates, the ambassadors of labor from Great Britain and the Dominion of Canada. They are the bearers of messages of good will and fraternity, and we trust that their stay with us may be both pleasant and interesting.

Hatters' Strike—Steel Workers' Strike.

During the year two trade contests of considerable importance occurred—the United Hatters of North America and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. That in the hat trade was more in the nature of a lockout inaugurated by the Hat Manufacturers' Association, which is part of and whose attitude was endorsed by the National Association of Manufacturers. Ostensibly it was a concentrated effort of the hat manufacturers of the country to discontinue the use of the union label; in fact, it had for its purpose the reduction in wages and the imposition of onerous conditions. The United Hatters of North America resolved to resist. On January 14, 1909, the 59 hat manufacturers of the association in the United States closed down their establishments, their workmen striking against the conditions sought to be imposed.

The United Hatters of North America exhausted their funds in the payment of benefits of their members and to those other workers involved in the contest though not members, and submitted to me an appeal for financial assistance, which in turn was submitted to the Executive Council, who approved the levying of three one-cent assessments upon the members of all affiliated organizations. That levy yielded $41,852.59, and was turned over to the organization.

Subsequently the Executive Council approved and sent broadcast a circular appeal for voluntary financial assistance and the voluntary contribution of 10 cents per member upon certain days. After the contest had been prolonged eight months, thirty manufacturers came to agreement with the union and re-established the former good relations existing before the contest. Since then fourteen other manufacturers have come to agreement with the union, and the information has been given me within this past week that the prospects of the final termination of the struggle are good, and this long drawn out battle for labor's rights has resulted in an honorable and advantageous adjustment.

The strike of the Iron, Steel and Tin Workers was inaugurated July 1st. It was in protest against the company's order declaring for the so-called "open shop" and a reduction in wages. Union and non-union workmen made common cause in protesting and striking. Before leaving on the European trip I had a conference with President McArdle of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, when he related the deep indignation felt by the workers in the industry, and that the strike would be inevitable when the company's order would go into effect. In anticipation, I made arrangements so that our Federation through its officers and organizers and such other assistance as we could give, would be helpful to the men and the organization engaged in the contest. In some instances victory has been achieved for the workers; in others the struggle is still on.

Porto Rican Labor Movement.

The conditions of the labor movement in Porto Rico have improved, and with them the corresponding advantages accruing to the workers and the people generally on the island. In Porto Rico there is no influence so potent for the Americanization of the people of the island as our labor movement there. For your information and for the interest it contains I quote a report just made to me by our representative on the island, Santiago Iglesias, which says:

"In the last year 32 new locals have been organized and more than 2,000 new members were initiated in the labor movement. Our State or Insular branch, the Free Federation of Workingmen, has inaugurated a 'Sick and Death Fund Benefit' for all locals of Porto Rico, and has already more than 1,500 members affiliated to it, causing great benefit to the labor movement of the island.

Several strikes have occurred this year, which have been fought with relative success on every occasion, getting for the men and women involved in them, better conditions and wages.

Just at this time I am conducting a Bakers' strike at Mayaguez, Local No. 390, which was inaugurated and approved by the Bakers' International since last May 6th. It is carried on with great enthusiasm and intelligence by 56 men, and we hope to obtain a complete and decisive victory. The bakers are struggling to get more wages, less hours and better conditions.

After the receipt of your letter I have sent blank forms of statistics to the 120 locals in good standing throughout the island, asking from them information regarding their membership and benefits received by them.

Until today I have received answers from 99 local unions as follows:

Ninety-nine locals have a membership of 5,344
Lockout benefits paid.....$ 2,710.35

Sick benefits paid..... 10,027.77
Strike benefits paid..... 5,849.58
Death benefits paid..... 1,815.00

Grand total$20,402.70

Money in the treasuries or banks belonging to the 99 locals, $16,270.99.

This is the economic standing of the principal organization of this island.

As you know, when you appointed me general organizer of Porto Rico, in 1901, not one organization affiliated to the American Federation of Labor was in existence in Porto Rico.

According with the reports that I keep in file in our office, our organizations in Porto Rico have produced the results which were to be expected from a country where the 85 per cent of the workers cannot read and write and did not know the principles and practices of American trade unionism.

In reality, since 1902, there were 267 local unions with charters formed in the island by the work and propaganda of our organizers, and they were as follows:

State Branch	1
Central Labor Unions, American Federation of Labor	1
Protective Women's, American Federation of Labor	21
Tobacco Strippers, women, American Federation of Labor	6
Bricklayers, American Federation of Labor	12
Garment Workers, women, American Federation of Labor	1
Federal Labor Unions, American Federation of Labor	20
Agricultural Unions, American Federation of Labor	63
Tobacco Selectors, American Federation of Labor	2
Bakery and Confectionery Workers	14
Barbers' International Union	3
Boot and Shoe Workers	9
Carpenters and Joiners' Brotherhood	36
Cigarmakers' International Union	20
Coffee Selectors	1
Hodcarriers and Building Laborers	7
Hotel and Restaurant Employees	1
Longshoremen Workers	15
Machinists	7
Painters and Decorators	5
Tailors	2
Typographical Union	2
Embroidery	1
Meat Cutters	1
Horseshoers	1
Coach Drivers	1
Chartered unions	267

We had constituted and organized these 267 locals with 11,000 workers all over the island in good standing, and these have been reduced to 120 locals, numbering about 5,500 members in good standing. But we hope in the near future most of the old charters will be reinstated.

More than once I had the opportunity to explain to you the true causes of this situation in the labor movement of Porto Rico. Persecutions, injustices, misery, treacheries, and also a wave of anti-Americanism propagated by the politicians here, and the ignorance of the great mass of the people, are the leading causes.

The labor movement in this country is undergoing the same calamities, intermissions, and crises suffered by American labor movement about forty years ago, in the United States, as well as those suffered in Europe. Its history is the same and it is mathematically repeated just as in any other country.

The aggressive methods employed by our many enemies, most of them anti-Americans and reactionaries of the monarchical times are fighting our Unions and their development; and this has contributed and is contributing to retard the advance of our movement. But, despite all their efforts, we are advancing and progressing in a safe and permanent way.

We believe that the labor movement in Porto Rico, is now placed on a safe and more solid base and its advance will be gradual in the future, but continuous and permanent.

The labor movement in this country, despite its relative small number of members in good standing, is, however, the one exerting a most powerful influence to avoid the deviation of the public opinion towards the reactionary and monarchical cause, to which the heirs of the past government try to give it impulse. This has been proved by the last rebellion of the Unionist Party against the American Administration and the American Methods. On last March the Unionist politicians created a grave crisis to the American government of this island and the people. The legislature of Porto Rico closed without passing the budget for 1909-1910, the deficiency bill for 1908-1909, as well as other important bills. None of the labor bills were enacted, although they were of economic character, such as the Bureau of Labor, Eight Hours Bill, Employers' Liability Bill, and others. The principal argument used in opposition to these bills was "because they are American."

The Unionist party sent their leaders to Washington to ask for more political power, and at the same time their followers started a campaign in Porto Rico against the American control of public affairs in this island. Then our American Federation of Labor started another campaign against the anti-Americans with a magnificent success for the honor and dignity of American institutions. We, the organized workers know that, "in the ratio as political power is given today to these reactionary politicians so the labor and American institutions of freedom and human progress be lost."

Our Federation of Labor is the one which is defending and maintaining for ever the American public education and liberties; it is the one resisting the big politicians and capitalistic combination; and lastly, it is the more honorable guard, watching for the true rights and liberties of the masses of the people of Porto Rico.

Of course, the existing system of the Government of Porto Rico is not a democratic one in form; but in practice, it has made the island progress with intensity and it should continue its work protecting the masses of the unhappy workers, under the control of honest and true Americans and Porto Ricans. We do fear the reaction of the monarchical and clerical elements of Porto Rico in whose hands the fatal ignorance of the people has put the power of the majority of the voters.

Now, the principal question which will cause a fundamental change in the actual conditions will be the granting by Congress of full American citizenship to all the people of Porto Rico. The refusal to grant this has been the strongest argument used by the enemies of American control of the island.

During the last eight years we have greatly advanced in this country with the help of the American labor movement and we hope our progress will continue."

We continued our efforts to help our fellow-workers in Porto Rico in every way within our power and in addition to the special organizer and representative, Santiago Iglesias, a number of efficient and faithful general organizers are constantly giving the best efforts of which they are capable for the organization and improvement of the conditions of the workers of Porto Rico.

So many references have been made in other portions of this report to the part played by the American Federationist in the struggle and achievements of the year that it is hardly necessary under this head to point out specifically and at great length the importance of our official magazine in working out the destinies of the American labor movement.

The struggle for the maintenance of free press and free speech relates directly to our official magazine. Should the efforts of our opponents be successful, we would be denied the right to print freely the things which it is most necessary that our fellow-workers and the general public should know. While I have pointed out elsewhere in this report, the struggle is by no means terminated, yet I can say with sincere conviction that at no time in the past has there been any change in my policy of writing and printing freely what the people should know of our labor movement, nor should there be any change in the future.

Not only have the columns of the American Federationist contained the best thought put forth by able writers, but it has been an open forum for the discussion of the economic problems of the day, and for the dissemination of information which could be sent forth through no other better channel.

In our struggle for the maintenance of free press and free speech the files of the American Federationist will afford inspiration to the historian and information to the student as to the temperate, yet insistent, manner in which we have struggled for the preservation of constitutional rights, not only for the workers, but for all the people for all time.

The work which the American Federationist has already performed will become more and more important as time goes by—there is much yet to do. There may be some wrong to be combated, some injustice to be righted, some improvement to be secured, some advantage to be gained for the toilers. There will always exist the necessity for a free forum, having the confidence and esteem of the workers, through which shall be stated the accurate attitude and record of the doings of our organized labor movement; to voice the timely protest, a voice that shall ring clear and true. It is our aim to have the American Federationist truly express and reflect the sentiments, hopes, and aims of the toilers for the welfare of all.

The American Federationist continues to grow in the estimation of thoughtful people and of the public generally. That it is appreciated is shown by the large amount of its editorial and other matter which is continually reprinted by the labor press and other publications in America and other countries.

It has been my aim to maintain a temperate, just, and courteous spirit in all editorial utterances, and yet to stop at no limit of plain speaking which might be necessary to place before all the position of labor on the vital problems of our time. I believe this attitude has been appreciated even by our most bitter opponents though it would be too much to say that they have replied in the same spirit.

The blackmailing and boycotting tactics of certain opponents still continue, and their one hope and strongest effort is so to cripple our advertising that the magazine will become too expensive for our Federation to bear and thus be unable to carry on its good work.

The increasing number of public problems which demand attention and elucidation at the hands of the workers makes it necessary to publish a magazine of large size and one which in appearance and character of contents may challenge favorable comparison with any publication, and yet I would wish to impress strongly upon the workers the necessity of securing for our official magazine a much larger circulation; this, not only for the financial support which would result, but more especially that the matter set forth may reach all the workers, even those who are not yet officially associated with us as members of our unions.

The support and sympathy of our members and friends have been the greatest possible inspiration and encouragement in aiding the American Federationist to the accomplishment of its high ideals. I feel that with the continuance and spread of this feeling much greater things may be accomplished.

Labor Press.

Again I may refer to the splendid service rendered our movement by the Labor Press of America. In no country on the globe are there so general or so effective publications purely devoted to the interests of the wage-earners as are issued by the men of our movement. The service of the labor press in organizing and uplift work cannot be calculated in dollars and cents. It is our duty as trade unionists not only to give them our moral support but the more substantial assistance that they may live and prosper and be of still greater efficiency to help in the struggle for justice and right.

Conclusion.

In conclusion let me reaffirm my conviction that the labor movement of our country will emerge triumphantly from the persecutions of those who would hamper its beneficent activities. Our work for the uplift of humanity goes steadily on through gloom and through sunshine. Defeat is not possible to those who toil for humanity. Our brief summary of the events of the past year gives us every reason to hope for even greater victories in the future. We are progressing toward the day of real freedom and brotherhood for all humanity. In our labor movement lies the hope and promise of the future. Let us be of good cheer and make this convention the instrument of even greater achievements for the future.

The year has been full of constant work and duties which I have endeavored to perform to the best of whatever ability I may possess. It is true that for four months the work varied from previous years, but it was only different in place, and partly in character, for wherever I happened to be it appears that my greatest desire and pleasure are to be of service to my fellows in the great work for the common uplift, and to me there is no line of activity so potent to accomplish this as in the labor movement of our time.

There is no one who realizes more than do I how far short comes my work and this report from the ideals which I have set for myself, but from that realization comes also the consciousness to me that I have tried to do my very best to be helpful to my fellows. With that one goal constantly before me, I work on and on.

SAMUEL GOMPERS,

President, American Federation of Labor.

LOST CARDS

Section 11. Any member losing or destroying his loan book shall not be entitled to receive any benefits or a duplicate loan book before the expiration of two months, and financial secretaries of local unions must notify the International President of such loss or destruction immediately, the same to be published in the official Journal by the International President. The International President shall be the only person to issue a duplicate.

Members having lost their traveling cards take notice:

No duplicate card will be issued for lost card unless the full name of members, the card number, the date of initiation and the union where the card was last deposited are given. Members who lose cards are not entitled to benefits until they secure duplicates. No duplicate cards are issued except upon application through some secretary, when the time limit of two months has expired.

Month after month unscrupulous men impose upon secretaries and members under the plea of lost cards. The constitution provides a punishment for lost cards. Its purpose is to stop the carelessness and the traffic made with full cards by permitting them to be held as security.

Don't issue letters to any member claiming lost card unless you know his actual standing.

Secretaries have no right to issue certificates in place of lost cards. Members who secure employment should be entered as admitted to the union.

Secretaries should be careful and enter all loans granted and repaid and all balances carried from one card to another in letters and figures. The issue of duplicates will be delayed in all cases where information is not complete.

Secretaries should examine due books where claim of lost card is made. Report full name, number, date and place of initiation and when and where card was last deposited.

Private loans will be entered on duplicates issued upon request of unions.

Enter all loans granted in figures and letters.

Secretaries will please notify this office as to whether any private loans are due on cards reported lost, otherwise they are issued with only the International loan account. This does not release members from their just obligations to the unions. The absence of the private loans, however, quite often cause members to overlook those loans and suspensions follow.

86484 Thos. Vieau.—Init. Nov., '99, at 162. Reported lost Nov. 26, by No. 256.

77710 L. St. Jean.—Init. Apr., '96, at 58. Reported lost Nov. 29, by No. 39.

A party claiming to be Jerry Moran reports loss of card and due book—giving different accounts of initiation. The party is a fraud, as no such a person was initiated or withdraw as stated.

Secretaries would do well to take a description of those without any evidence so they can be shown-up.

IN MEMORIAM

In reporting deaths kindly comply with the following, and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of members. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the record of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such cards, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the letter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

The following unions adopted resolutions of regret and condolence, relating to death or deaths as follows, and ordered charter draped in mourning for thirty days:

Union 37, Fort Wayne, Ind.—Nick Lauer and Ed Hawkins.

Union 25, Milwaukee, Wis.—Robert Liebermann (47981), who died on Nov. 19, 1909. The union adopted resolutions of condolence and regret.

Union 483, Gloversville, N. Y.—James M. Montgomery, who died Oct. 12, 1909. Members attended prayer service. The remains were shipped to Kingston, N. Y., for burial.

Union 285, Fort Worth, Tex.—E. M. Wells, who committed suicide November 25th. The union attended the funeral in a body.

REPORTS OF INTERNATIONAL FINANCIERS.

Troy, N. Y., Sept. 30, 1909.
Since last report have examined the accounts of the following unions, viz.:

No. 9, Troy, N. Y.

The books and accounts here are in very fine order, all around accuracy. The accounts, Local and International, balanced at the end of every month in the day book and a voucher on file for every item of expense. The only fault is that the sick benefit cards are not always returned. Stamp and cash accounts always as they should be—correct. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Aug. 1, 1901.....$ 1,285.03
Receipts to Sept. 1, 1909.....50,967.03
Expended over percentage in 1903-5-6-7-8 1,609.16

Funds of Union—
Sept. 1, 1909, in Troy Trust Co. Bank.....$ 380.24

No. 11, St. Albans, Vt.

The books and accounts here are only in fair order. Not enough attention paid to money in bank, interest, etc. The loans granted are at times not attended to as they deserve. Benefit cards and vouchers in pretty good order. Corrected the cash and stamp accounts. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Aug. 1, 1905.....$ 198.11
Receipts to Sept. 1, 1909.....1,049.24
Due to International Union on examination.....9.60

Total$1,256.95

Savings account in Franklin Trust and Savings Bank.....138.81
In possession Secy. H. H. Holland.. 13.33

Total$ 191.64

No. 18, Brattleboro, Vt.

The books and accounts here have a right to be as good as the best. The amount due on examination is illegal O. O. W. benefit, $6.00, and $71.21 interest not reported during 1906-7-8 and 1909. Such neglect as this is hard to understand—none of it ever having been drawn from bank. Corrected the stamp account also. The books themselves are in splendid order—neat and nicely balanced. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand July 1, 1905.....$ 686.71
Receipts to Sept. 1, 1909.....1,734.39
Due International Union on examination.. 77.21

Total$2,498.31

Total$ 504.14

Deficiency of union Sept. 1, 1909.....$ 6.00

No. 68, Albany, N. Y.

The books and accounts here are in their usual good order. Benefit cards and original bills and vouchers signed by whoever receives the money, on file for every item of expense. Cash and stamp accounts practically correct. There was quite a good excuse for not having more money in bank at this time. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Aug. 1, 1905.....$ 454.67
Receipts to Sept. 1, 1909.....28,605.45
Expended over percentage in 1905-6-7.....719.08

In possession Treas. Wm. A. McCabe 244.38

Total$ 677.57

No. 97, Boston, Mass.

The books and accounts here are really in very good order. All benefit cards, original bills for expense and vouchers are filed in the rotation in which they are entered in the expense account. Accounts balanced and verified at the end of every month except the stamps. This has been neglected, but will be attended to in the future, as it is certainly necessary. The secretary is entitled to all the assistance and protection the finance committee can give him. Please see that he gets it in the future. The deficiency here includes International money used for local purposes. This is contrary to the constitution (and while there is a local assessment to cover the amount now being collected, it is a bad habit and should not be indulged in). Trade in this vicinity is looking better and the union, through its label committee and other officers, are straining every nerve and taking advantage of every opportunity to build up, to make general the demand for home-made cigars. Fine label agitation. Statement as follows:

No. 279, Plattsburg, N. Y.

The books and accounts here show marked improvement in every direction. No. 279 is now in better shape, generally speaking, than in years, and will be still better. A little more experience is all that is necessary with the present officers. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Aug. 1, 1905.....$ 362.78

Vouchers missing since latter part of November, 1908. Various benefit cards missing. Accounts never balanced. Corrected the cash account. Too bad that affairs should be neglected in any such way. Have the promise of better work, more care, more attention generally. Am in hopes the promise will be kept.

No. 421, Burlington, Vt.

The books and accounts here are not in good order. Immediate improvement is necessary and is promised. $15.00 was deposited on Sept. 10th and $35.00 more is to be deposited on Sept. 13th. This being Saturday, Sept. 11th, after banking hours, Monday is as soon as it can be done. Statement as follows:

International Financier.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 6, 1909.

Since last report have examined the accounts of the following unions, viz.:

No. 5, Rochester, N. Y.

The books and accounts here are in excellent condition. Benefit cards and expense vouchers endorsed. When verifying the bank accounts located $5.00 error in amount of interest entered in bank book at the bank. Correction was made and the $5.00 entered in the receipts for October, 1909. Stamp account correct. Statement as follows:

This deficiency is the amount expended over percentage in 1905, not yet replaced.

No. 7, Utica, N. Y.

The books and accounts here in some respects are very nice. But the failure to report interest, not properly reporting funds in bank, and amount in possession of treasurer, and not having sick benefit cards properly filled out for such expense, are things that must be corrected and am sure they will be for the future. The treasurer deposited in bank $300 while I was in the city. Statement as follows:

In some ways the books and accounts here are in good order. If vouchers for expense had been properly endorsed by whoever received the money and interest entered in their reported receipts when it was entered in the bank book, accounts here would have been in very nice order. Yours fraternally,
A. STRASSER, Int. Fin.

Aus Deutschland.

Die Tabakarbeiter in der Unfallstatistik im Jahre 1905.

Will man das wahre, aber erschütternde Bild von der Lage der deutschen Arbeiterschaft innerhalb der glänzenden Entwicklung von Industrie und Unternehmerprofit in Deutschland zeichnen, dann bedarf es nicht vieler Worte. Die Untersuchungsergebnisse der deutschen Unfallberufsgenossenschaften von 1905 schreien aus ihren Scheinbar so trocknen, nüchternen Zahlenkolonnen so aufreizende Anklagen gegen das Unternehmertum und den Staat der „herrlichen Sozialreform“, daß alle schönen Reden von den Lasten und Opfern, die Staat und Unternehmertum für die „bis an ihr Lebensende aus der vollen Kompottschüssel versorgten Arbeiter“, wie Schall und Rauch im Winde verteuft werden. In den 20 Jahren — seit 1886 bis 1905 — sind insgesamt 6,773,906 Unfälle den Unfall-Berufsgenossenschaften gemeldet worden, wovon 2,828,163 auf die landwirtschaftlichen und 4,688,869 auf die gewerblichen Unfall-Berufsgenossenschaften entfallen. Von 1,555,860 erstmalig entschädigten Unfällen beider Gruppen hatten 614,614 vorübergehende Erwerbsunfähigkeit, 771,273 teilweise und 37,949 völlige dauernde Erwerbsunfähigkeit zur Folge. 132,079 Unfälle aber hatten den Tod zur Folge. Allein in den gewerblichen Berufsgenossenschaften wurden in den 20 Jahren 780,770 Unfälle erstmalig entschädigt; davon hatten zur Folge: 281,511 vorübergehende Erwerbsunfähigkeit, 275,889 teilweise und 22,477 die völlige dauernde Erwerbsunfähigkeit. Zum Tode aber führten 80,073 erstmalig entschädigte Unfälle. Aber nicht allein die Unsumme von Witwen und Waisen, von Familien, die durch jene Unfälle den Ernährer, Gatten und Vater verloren, zeigen die Rücksichtslosigkeit, mit der der Kapitalismus mit der Gesundheit und dem Leben der Arbeiter spielt. Vielmehr zeigt sich die Brutalität des Kapitalismus, die Art, wie nur der Profit sein ganzes Interesse, nicht aber der Schutz der profitfahrenden Arbeiter vor Gefahren, sein ganzes Interesse in Anspruch nimmt, in der fortgesetzten prozentualen Steigerung der Unfallhäufigkeit und Schwere der Unfälle seit 20 Jahren. So kamen auf je 1000 Versicherte erstmalig entschädigte Unfälle in den Jahren 1886 und 1905: in allen Unfall-Berufsgenossenschaften 2,83 und 6,90, in den gewerblichen Berufsgenossenschaften 2,80 und 3,81. Es stiegen in demselben Zeitraum, auf je 1000 Versicherte umgerechnet, die Unfälle mit teilweise dauernder Erwerbsunfähigkeit von 1,09 auf 3,59, die Unfälle mit vorübergehender Erwerbsunfähigkeit von 0,57 auf 4,05, während die tödlichen Unfälle nur ganz wenig von 0,70 auf 0,62 sanken. Nur eine Zahl erscheint auffällig, nämlich, daß die Unfälle mit völliger, dauernder Erwerbsunfähigkeit auf je 1000 Versicherte berechnet, von 0,44 im Jahre 1886 auf 0,07 im Jahre 1905 gesunken sein sollen. Das stimmt aber mit den Erfahrungstatsachen nicht überein. Gesunken ist etwas anderes. Diese Zahl beweist nur, schreibt das Correspondenzblatt, daß jetzt weniger als früher an Schwerverletzte die Vollrente bezahlt wird, und daß Anträge nach dieser Richtung häufiger als früher abgewiesen werden. Die Unfallhäufigkeit zeigt am besten die Steigerung der überhaupt gemeldeten, nicht nur der entschädigten Unfälle. In den gewerblichen Unfall-Berufsgenossenschaften kamen auf je 1000 Versicherte im Jahre 1886 27,4 — aber im Jahre 1905 50,57 Unfälle. Danach haben sich die Unfälle der gewerblichen Arbeiter in 20 Jahren fast verdoppelt. Zeigt uns diese Zahl, wie das deutsche Unternehmertum voran ist in der Auffstellung von Risiken und — antisozialen Reformen, so werden diese noch durch den folgenden antisozialen Reform in Schatten gestellt: Die Zahl der Unfälle hat sich verdoppelt, aber die Ausgabe pro entschädigten Unfall ist von 237,17 Mark im Jahre 1887 auf 151,44 Mark im Jahre 1905 gesunken. Steigerung der Unfälle und der Unfallhäufigkeit, Steigerung der Unternehmerröfite (des „National-Vermögens“ sagt Dernburg), Steigerung der Lebensmittelpreise und Herabsetzung der Unfallentschädigungen um 24 Pfg. pro Tag gegen 20 Jahre vorher — — so sieht es aus im Lande der Sozialreform!

Alle diese Tendenzen, die für die allgemeine Entwicklung zutreffen, haben auch ihre Wirkung für die Tabakarbeiter. Wir bringen für unsere Branche einen Auszug aus den Rechnungsergebnissen der Unfall-Berufsgenossenschaften, dessen gesamte Zahlenangaben für das Jahr 1905 gelten.

Es waren in der Tabak-Berufsgenossenschaft versichert 153,708 Personen, gegen 1904 eine Zunahme der Versicherten um 3561 Personen. Unfälle gemeldet wurden 650, also 11 mehr als 1904. Von den 74 entschädigten Unfällen hatten 6 den Tod, 39 eine teilweise dauernde Erwerbsunfähigkeit und 29 eine vorübergehende Erwerbsunfähigkeit zur Folge. Es kamen entschädigte Unfälle auf je 1000 Vollarbeiter 0,48 und auf je 1000 der gemeldeten Unfälle 11. Einschließlich der Entschädigungsberechtigten aus den Vorjahren wurden für 727 Verletzte Entschädigungen, und zwar 104,200 Mark, also 143,30 Mark für jeden entschädigten Unfall gezahlt. Renten wurden ausgezahlt: 85,969 Mark für Verletzte, 11,077 Mark an die Hinterbliebenen Getöteter. Ferner wurden ausgegeben 5708 Mark für die Kosten des Heilverfahrens und die Unterbringung in Heilanstalten, 950 Mark für Angehörige der Verletzten in den Heilanstalten. Die erstmaligen Entschädigungen wurden an 53 männliche und 19 weibliche Erwachsene, sowie an 3 Arbeiter unter 16 Jahren ausgezahlt. Die Unfälle ereigneten sich: 17 an Motoren, Transmissionen und Arbeitsmaschinen, 1 an Fahrstühlen, Aufzügen oder Hebezeugen, 4 durch feuergefährliche, heiße, ätzende Stoffe oder Gase usw., 19 durch Fall von Leitern und Treppen, aus Lufen in Vertiefungen, 13 durch Auf- und Abladen von Sand, Tragen und Gehen, 4 durch Fuhrwerk und Viehverkehr, 10 durch Handwerkszeug und einfache Geräte und 6 durch sonstige Vorgänge. Gegenüber den 104,200 Mark Entschädigungen steht die Ausgabe für die Verwaltung von 37,082 Mark. Das ist ein skandalöses Mißverhältnis, wenn die Verwaltungsausgaben fast den dritten Teil der Gesamtausgaben aufreffen. Aber noch aufreißender ist die Tatsache, daß die Tabak-Unfall-Berufsgenossenschaft selbst den Jahresdurchschnittslohn des Tabakarbeiters auf 552,80 Mark angibt. Von den Arbeitern der 66 (1) gewerblichen Berufsgenossenschaften haben nur die Arbeiter der Zuderberufsgenossenschaft einen niedrigeren Jahresdurchschnittslohn von 515,60 Mk., sonst standen die Tabakarbeiter an letzter Stelle.

(Der Tabak-Arbeiter.)

Následující resoluce a dodatky ke stanovám obdržely žádoucí počet schválení od místních unif. Budou předloženy členům k všeobecnému odhlasování.

Od unie č. 89, Schenectady, N. Y.

Aby byla uložena všem 80- a 15-centovým členům mimořádná daň (assessment) v obnosu tří (3) centů ve prospěch p. Tomáše P. Henryho (69758), jenž jest stížen ochrnutím nervů (locomotor ataxia) a nalézá se přes pět let stále v lékařském ošetřování. Bude-li tento dodatek schválen, budíž jmenovanému členu dán odpustný lístek bez oprávnění k další podpoře.

Vyskrtněte na 13. řádku 81. odstavec všecko po slově „sustained“ až včetně ke slovu „decided“ na řádku 15. a místo toho vložte následující:

„Když dšlna nebo dšlny, kterých se to týká, rozhodly tajným hlasováním, má-li býti podána žádost o povolení stávky, a dopadlo-li toto hlasování kladně, budíž to odkázáno Společnému poradnímu výboru (Joint Advisory Board), který budíž oprávněn podati žádost o povolení stávky k Mezinárodní Unii, aniž by ji předložil k všeobecnému odhlasování (referendum) členům, spojeným se Společným poradním výborem, ale žádná žádost o stávku nebudíž podána dříve, dokud nenavštívil výbor J. A. B. firmu a nevyšetřil stížnosti.“ Odstavec má zníti podle toho.

Rozvoj průmyslu pokračuje za naší doby s rychlostí, která nemá příkladu v dějinách lidstva. Dělnictvo, které jest ve všem průmyslovém podnikání nejdůležitějším činitelem, žádá na moderní společnosti vždy větší a stále rostoucí podíl z toho, co bylo vytěženo z genia a snaživosti. A tomuto požadavku bude dávatí důrazu s rostoucí houževnatostí a inteligencí dnes, zítra a vůbec v celé budoucnosti.

Proto nebude zajiště z místa, řekneme-li, že skutečné jádro blahobytu, o němž dnes tolik slycháme, jest výsledkem hojnějšího užívání a větší spotřeby vyrobených věcí. To jest možno tím, že jsou dnes mzdy vyšší, než bývaly dříve. Pouze vyšší mzdou a kratší pracovní dobou může býti udržován nebo zvětšován blahobyt či prosperita, která jest tak velice potřebnou k našemu pokroku a civilizaci.

Časopis „Conductor and Motorman“ píše:

„Boss“ jest individuum, které má moc, rozstrkáváti a popoháněti dělníky, aniž by měl na ně ohled jako na činitele lidské společnosti. On je sužuje a mučí a odporují-li mu, propouští je z práce. Jeho jednání a chování jest příkré, kruté a plné nevázanosti. Tento výraz „boss“ pochází ještě z dob otroctví. Nyní jest „boss“ znám pouze jako poháněč dělníků, kde není unie. Jakmile se dělníci zorganizují, stává se z „bossa“ slušný dílovedoucí nebo správce.

Členové unie měli by nakupovati pouze v takových obchodech, kde prodává se zboží, opatřené uniovou známkou. Pomáhajíc jiným dělnickým uniím, pomáháte nejspíš sami sobě. Bud' te důslední a neodbírejte zboží, vyrobené od stávkokasů!

Supprimer la section 81 de la ligne 13 après le mot „soutenu“ jus qu'à et y compris le mot „décidé“, à la ligne 15 et y insérer ce qui suit:

„A moins que l'atelier ou ateliers y intéressés aient voté par scrutin secret qu'une demande de grève soit présentée et si le vote est affirmatif, celui-ci sera soumis au Conseil Uni Consultatif qui aura le pouvoir de soumettre une demande de grève à l'Union Internationale sans la soumettre à un vote par referendum des membres affiliés au Conseil Uni Consultatif, mais aucune demande de grève ne sera soumise à moins qu'un comité du C. U. C. n'ait auparavant visité le patron pour s'enquérir du su jet des greifs.“ La Section devra avoir un texte y adapté.

L'acte obligatoire d'arbitrage de la Nouvelle Zélande a rendu impossibles les grèves. Il règle les salaires et les heures de travail de chaque métier. Tout patron qui ne se conforme pas aux règlements est passible d'une amende de $1,000, alors qu'un ouvrier peut igualmente étre condenado a una amende de $50, et si une union ouvrieré est responsable du trouble, elle a a payer une amende calculée sur une échelle proportionnellement plus élevée que celle du patron.

LE "DELEGUE AMBULANT."

Le "Délegué Ambulant" n'est pas revêtu d'un pouvoir discrétionnaire dans la question de la mise en grève. Les hommes ne suivent pas aveuglément ses ordres. L'agent d'affaires peut ordonner une grève mais seulement lorsque la question a reçu le vote des membres de l'union. Il annonce alors simplement la grève. Parfois il reçoit l'autorisation de déclarer la grève qui lui est donnée par les hommes eux-mêmes, dans un cas extraordinaire, mais même dans ces circonstances, son action doit recevoir l'approbation des intéressés. Ce n'est pas son affaire de susciter des troubles aux ouvriers passifs. On considère comme étant un agent habile celui qui maintient ses hommes au travail. Parfois, il passe sur des violations flagrantes des stipulations consenties par des patrons, mais c'est seulement afin d'éviter une grève. Il est vraiment le "berger" de son union. Il visite les malades, il trouve du travail à ceux qui en manquent, enfin, il s'occupe de ceux qui se trouvent en détresse, quelle que soit celle-ci. A. F. of L.

Les membres de l'union devraient donner leur clientèle aux magasins qui vendent des marchandises portant l'étiquette unioniste. En aidant les autres unions, vous vous aidez vous-mêmes indirectement. Soyez conséquents avec vous-mêmes et n'achetez pas des marchandises fabriquées contrairement aux règlements unionistes.

Los obreros van dándose cuenta de cual es la verdadera situación respecto de sus intereses. Debido a la adquisición de algunas ventajas y mejoras logradas por los métodos del unionismo de oficios, cada día vense mas nutridas las filas de nuestras Uniones. Ese crecimiento ha de continuar de manera progresiva, questo que las saludables enseñanzas que se derivan de la practica diaria de la vida y del choque de los intereses del capital y del trabajo, dan margen a que los obreros posterguen las teorías idealistas y se sometan a la realidad social de la vida moderna.

Nosotros no desconocemos que hay un mas allá en la sociología que reclamará algun día la atención de los hombres pensadores de este siglo. Pero tambien sabemos que existe un presente lleno de imperiosas necesidades, a las cuales no debe desatenderse, a menos que consintamos en que se le gue a nuestros hijos un negro porvenir que les devore en antros de miseria.

¿Como habremos de gobernar en el futuro los no separamos atender al alivio de los males del presente?

Muy santo y muy bueno que soñemos en la conquista de un mañana rebozante de perfecciones; pero es mejor que atendamos antes a la modificación de los graves defectos de que adolecemos. La humanidad regenerase paulatinamente, grado por grado, y no le hará andar mas de prisa la convulsión epiléptica. Antes al contrario; esa enfermedad convulsiva es la causa principal de que el progreso se detenga algunas veces y de que otras marche receloso hacia su fin.

Hay dos sistemas conocidos para el desenvolvimiento ó desarrollo de los asuntos del trabajo: El uno consiste en la lucha abierta de continua pelea contra los elementos posee-dores del capital. El otro es de caracter evolutivo y en todo tiempo reclama armonía y mesura y perseverancia en sus maniobras.

El primero quiere la guerra como medio de lograr lo que pide. El segundo desenvuélvese en torno de la paz y solo apela a los extremos de violencia, hasta las huelgas, después de agotados todos los medios de persuasión, si es indispensable proceder así, para salvar los intereses creados de una ruina cierta.

Tiene como norma la discusión razonada. Rechaza la violencia porque esta produce resultados contrarios al bienestar de las partes litigantes.

¿Cual de estos dos sistemas es el que deben seguir los trabajadores en el litigio que sostienen con el capital?

Nos decidimos por el segundo de esos dos caminos, mejor dicho, nos hemos decidido por el segundo de ellos desde la fundación de la Unión Internacional de Tabaqueros de América, por que él está mas en armonía con el temperamento de la civilización moderna.

Nosotros creemos que los hombres que más frecuentemente pelean, son los que están más cerca de la barbarie de los pueblos primitivos; y como consecuencia natural de esa aseveración pensamos que es mas civilizado el hombre menos propenso a la pelea y mas dado a la discusión.

Así pues, la Union Internacional dirime casi todas sus querellas por los medios persuasivos que son los que menos quebrantes originan a sus asociados.

Esta debe ser doctrina firme y lo es para la totalidad de sus asociados, puesto que se reconoce en el arbitraje un recurso para evitar todas las huelgas que sean evitables.

En las demandas ó peticiones de mejoras que solemos hacer a los manufactureros, tenemos como medio de avenencia inmediata, el de aceptar lo que pueda lograrse sin llegar a un estado de lucha agresiva: Quiere decir, que si pedimos como dos y se nos concede uno antes de ir a la paralización de los trabajos, aceptamos ese uno, dejando el otro para mas adelante cuando se nos presente ocasión mas propicia. La huelga es considerada por nosotros como una espada de dos filos que hiere tambien a quien la esgrime.

La modificación a la constitución que reduce el coste de iniciación a un dolar por un periodo de tres meses ha espirado y queda fuera de órden. Todos los que se han unido a nosotros el ó después del primero de Diciembre tienen que pagar un derecho de iniciación de tres dólares.

La modificación a la constitución que reduce el derecho de iniciación a un dolar en la isla de Puerto Rico durante un periodo de un año ha espirado por limitación. Todos los que se han incorporado el ó después del primero de Diciembre de 1909, tienen que pagar un derecho de iniciación de tres dólares.

Las resoluciones y modificaciones siguientes a la constitución han recibido el número necesario de aprobaciones de las uniones locales. Serán pues sometidos al voto popular de los miembros.

Por la Unión 89, Schenectady, N. Y.:

Modificar la Sección 146 anadiendo después de las palabras "Beneficio mortuario de $50.00," en el renglón 46, lo siguiente:

Que un derecho de tres (3) centavos será impuesto sobre todos 30 y 15-ciento miembros a beneficio del Sr. Thomas P. Henry (69758), quien ha sido y es todavia afido con ataxia locomotor y ha estado cuidado por un doctor durante más de cinco años y si éstat modifi-cación es recibida, el dicho miembro recibirá una tarjeta de retiro sin beneficio.

Por la unión 144, Nueva York, N. Y.

Supresión de la Sección 81 por completo desde la palabra "sostenido" hasta y incluyendo la palabra "decidido" en el renglón 15, insert and lo que sigue:

"A menos que el taller ó talleres interesados hyan votado por escrutinio secreto si una demanda de huelga ha de ser presentada, y que el voto sea afirmativo, la demanda será sometida al Consejo Unido Consultativo, el cual tendrá el poder de presentar la demanda de huelga a la Jón Internacional sin someterla al voto por referendum de las miembros afiliados al Consejo Unido Consultativo, pero ninguna demanda de huelga será presentada a menos que un comité del C. U. C. vaya primero a visitar al patrón para aceriguar el motivo de queja."

UNION BUSINESS

In accordance with Section 61 of the Constitution, the following unions are hereby notified and requested to remit the following amounts for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the office of the International Union:

269. Bloomington	100	314. Jackson	$100
268. Escanaba	100	315. St. Cloud	100
272. Lansing	100	317. Wilkes-Barre	100
274. Pekin	100	322. Joplin	100
277. Okaloosa	100	326. Taunton	100
279. Plattsburg	100	330. Alpena	100
280. Oswego	100	331. Crookston	100
284. Detroit	100	334. Saratoga	100
286. Wichita	100	342. Batavia	100
287. Marinette	100	356. Honesdale	100
290. Janesville	100	356. Palatka	100
297. Canton	100	362. Great Falls	100
302. Tecumseh	100	363. Waukesha	100
310. Manistee	100	367. Ogden	100
312. Livingston	100	368. Port Huron	100

The Constitution, twentieth edition, contains an error. The amendment of Union 97, Boston, reference accepting cards from foreign countries, took the place of the old law. Through mistake both the amendment and the old law are included. The last paragraph, or last twelve lines of Section 67, on page 20, is the old law and doesn't belong in the Constitution.

NOTICE.

Financial secretaries when granting loans should, as required by Section 104, enter loans in figures and letters. It is not necessary to punch cards.

The amendment adopted to Sections 76 and 77 does away with the issuance of retiring cards to all who continue to pay dues as beneficiary members.

Retiring cards are only for those who pay up and actually terminate all connection with the union in so far as the payment of dues is concerned.

Members who transfer from the 30-cent list to the 20-cent beneficiary membership list are simply changed from one class to another and deducted from one and added to the other.

Members who have not paid 30-cent dues for three years and quitting the trade under Section 76 and wishing to qualify for Section 77 as a beneficiary member should be kept on without any other change than to make a note of the intention on the ledger page. If such member desires to travel to another jurisdiction he should be given a transfer card and his intention to qualify as a 20-cent beneficiary member written on the transfer card. Such beneficiary members are not entitled to any benefits except sick benefits after one year's membership and whatever death benefits their term of membership entitles them to.

If you hold any loan cards of no further use send them to this office.

Before granting or accepting retiring cards secretaries and members should consult Sections 76 and 77 of the Constitution.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS AND MEMBERS.

In printing the nineteenth edition of the Constitution, an omission occurs in Section 77, on line 7. A comma and the words "and local assessments" should follow "International assessments." The sentence to read: "All International assessments, and local assessments levied for label agitation purposes." This amendment as published in another place is correct.

MEMBERS OUT OF WORK ARE NOT ENTITLED TO THE SIXTEEN WEEKS' PRIVILEGE IN DUES UNLESS THEY NOTIFY THE SECRETARY WEEKLY BEFORE THE EIGHTH WEEK. THIS INCLUDES TRAVELING MEMBERS, WHO SHOULD ALWAYS CARRY A CERTIFICATE AND HAVE SAME SIGNED WEEKLY.

Items for the Journal should be placed on separate slips of paper—not the backs of reports, etc.—in order to insure prompt publication, and should reach this office not later than the 10th of each month if intended for current publication.

NOTICE.—How to duplicate Loan Cards.

It frequently occurs that new secretaries through error or lack of knowledge, transfer the amount a member "has coming" instead of what he owes. In duplicating a card, figure up all the member has borrowed and subtract all he has paid, and if there is a balance against the member transfer to new card in red ink in figures and letters the amount due the International Union. Also enter on new card all that may be essential that you find on the old, then sign and seal it. Send the old card to the International office.

Unions when notifying this office of change in secretary will please at once give the new secretary's address, if possible, so as to obviate delays, mistakes, etc.

If secretaries when ordering supplies will place the order on the regular blank, it will greatly simplify the work here and avoid unnecessary delay for those who order the supplies. We receive an average of 300 pieces of mail in the office daily. Sometimes an order is sandwiched into a two or three-page letter containing three or more different subjects, and there is danger in such cases of an order being overlooked. Hence we ask that in order to save unnecessary delay and annoyance you order on the regular blank, giving your name and address.

DÉCISIONS OF PRESIDENT

C. A. Rheame appealed against 231 Amsterdam for fining him $50 for working in a closed shop, and $25 for slandering officers of the union, and for all-round conduct antagonistic to the union. The appeal was not sustained.

Approved the application of Union 445, Billings, Mont., to fine Carl Oland No. 72840, $25 for working in the unfair shop of Hunt Bros. at Fergus Falls, Minn., while his card was deposited with Union 445. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

OFFICIAL.

Headquarters, Chicago, Ill.

Fellow Workers:

The Toronto convention of the American Federation of Labor adopted a resolution providing that the representatives of organized labor meet at Pittsburg, Pa., for the purpose of taking under advisement ways and means to assist the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers in their struggle against that gigantic monopoly, the U. S. Steel Corporation, that has declared against organized labor and proceeds now to crush out the remaining obstacle that stands in its way, the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, and the Tin Plate Workers' Unions. President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, obedient to the resolution, called a conference of Trade Union representatives which was held in Pittsburg, December 13th and 14th, 1909. After mature deliberation and a thorough canvass of the whole situation, the conference adopted the following plan of action and appeal. Yours fraternally,

G. W. PERKINS,

International President.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 16, 1909.

To All Affiliated Organizations:

The following manifesto with attached resolution was adopted by the conference of representatives of the National and International organizations held at Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 13th and 14th, 1909, in accordance with the direction of the Toronto Convention of the American Federation of Labor, President Gompers presiding:

Manifesto.

A crisis in the affairs of labor has arisen. The gigantic trust—the United States Steel Corporation—has used and is using its great wealth and power in an effort to rob the toilers not only of a livelihood, but of their right of American manhood and of the opportunity to resist its further encroachments. Grown rich and powerful by the consent and good will of the people of our country, this corporation, in its mad greed and lust for still greater riches and power, sweeps aside, makes and unmakes law, its enactors, interpreters and executors, and is now engaged in an effort to destroy the only factor—the organizations of its employees—standing between it and unlimited, unchecked and unbridled industrial, political, social and moral carnage. If there exists any virile power in our time and life to check the absolute autocratic domination of civic, industrial and political life of our people and our republic, it must be found in the indomitable will and mission of the much misunderstood and misrepresented organizations of labor.

The United States Steel Corporation has declared war on labor. In its secret councils this corporation has decreed that the only obstacle to its complete sway—organized labor—shall be crushed. This soulless corporation represents nothing but dollars, knowing neither body nor soul. Its god is the almighty dollar.

The labor organizations consist of its employees, the workers (their wives and little ones), human flesh and blood. It is by their labor that they live; they have no purpose other than safeguarding their lives, their character, their future, the safety of the republic, and humanity.

These factors now confront each other. By their purposes, attitude and actions must they be judged.

On June 1, 1909, the United States Steel Corporation proclaimed its degree of hostility toward labor. The right of the workers to associate for their common protection was no longer to be recognized or tolerated. Accompanying that decree was a notice of a further reduction in the already scant wages of the workers. The decree went into effect July 1, 1909.

Under these circumstances, what was left for the workers to do? Could they be expected to calmly submit to be bound hand and foot to the tender mercies of this Moloch of grinding greed, this juggernaut of modern monopoly? The mere statement based on common knowledge forbade. The safety of the workers, their fellows, their dependents, the hope for their future, and the future of all the working people, and all the people, compelled resistance. They did resist and are resisting manfully, grandly, heroically.

This billion-dollar steel trust controls more than sixty per cent of the total tonnage of the steel product of the country. According to its recent financial report, it has absorbed at the rate of $600 per year profit on each of its employees on business secured during a year of industrial depression. The earnings of thousands of its employees, working eleven hours per day, amount to less than $500.00 per year each, when working full time, seven days per week, Sundays and holidays included. The reports of the corporation show that these men receive in wages $100.00 per year less for their labor than the average annual profit per man to the corporation.

Why should the United States Steel Corporation's annual average profit yield $600 from each of its employees, while thousands of these workers receive less than $500 annually in wages? Where is the justice of the system? Why should the Steel Corporation seek to still further impoverish the men working in its plants? It is engaged in the industry that has received the greatest amount of protection from the Congress of the United States, through the enactment of special laws in its behalf, this special legislation being enacted upon the theory that American labor was to be protected and an American standard of life maintained.

It is through the power of combination, monopolizing the iron and steel industry of the country, and while centralizing its powers, it proposes to individualize its employees. It arrogates to itself the right of combination, but denies this right to its workers.

In view of these facts we urge that an earnest, systematic effort be made to thoroughly and completely organize all employees in the iron, steel and tinplate industry and subsidiary co-related trades. Owing to immediate pressing necessity caused by the present strike and the indefensible hostile attitude of the United States Steel Corporation, we earnestly call upon all national and international unions of America to send at least one organizer to assist in this work; that the A. F. of L. place as many of its commissioned organizers as possible at work in a like manner for the same purpose. We further urge and recommend that in all places where mills are located the Central Labor organizations appoint special committees with instructions to co-operate in this work. For educational purposes we recommend that this manifesto be made a special order in all central labor organizations at the first meeting in January, 1910.

We further recommend that the circular prepared and issued by this conference be printed by each national and international union and distributed to their affiliated unions; that it also be published in the labor press; that the American Federation of Labor send a copy to every city central and state organization of labor with a request that it be printed and generally distributed, to the end that the unwarranted and unholy war the steel trust is making upon the workers of our country may be fully understood and appreciated.

We recognize in this present condition of affairs between the workers on one side and the United States Steel Corporation on the other, there are two transcendent factors, one the financial and moral support of the workers engaged in the present contest, to the end that they may be aided to maintain themselves, their wives and little ones, aye, even with the barest necessities of life, so that their independence, character and American conception of manhood may be sustained, and the present contest brought to an honorable conclusion, and the other the further and complete organization of every wage earner in the iron, steel and tinplate industry.

We recommend that the Executive Council of the A. F. of L. prepare and issue at stated periods a circular to all International, National, Central and Local Unions of America, an appeal for financial contributions to aid the striking Iron, Steel and Tinplate Workers.

We further recommend that the first circular calling for such financial contributions be issued January 1st, 1910, and that the amount of such contribution should not be less than ten (10) cents per member, and that an appeal be made to all sympathetic and liberty-loving Americans to give their moral and financial support in this great contest for justice, right and humanity.

We ask that all subscriptions be forwarded to John Williams, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Association of I. S. and T. W., 503 House Building, Pittsburg, Pa.

Every dollar received will be used in support of the men, their wives and children, engaged in this defensive and justified strike against the aggressions of the United States Steel Corporation.

In view of the great wrongs perpetrated by the United States Steel Corporation, not only against the workers, but the public generally, we recommend that a committee be appointed by this conference to wait upon the President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and such members of either House of Congress as may be deemed advisable, for the purpose of laying before them the grievances from which labor suffers at the hands of this corporation. And that the committee herein provided demand a thorough investigation as to the legality of the actions and the existence under the law of the United States Steel Corporation.

At the instance of the United States Steel Corporation, officers of local, municipal and state governments have unwarrantably tyrannized over citizens, denying them the ordinary rights of the use of streets, public and private meetings, invading the constitutionally guaranteed right of free assemblage and free speech, the right of protest and petition. Under the usurpation of power repugnant to the concept of the liberty of the people in our republic, numberless men have been subjugated and imprisoned.

We therefore recommend that committees be appointed by this conference to wait upon the governors of States and such other official representatives of counties and municipalities as are in control where the United States Steel Corporation has plants located, for the purpose of presenting to these officials the great wrongs inflicted upon the people of these communities, and that the committees demand an investigation of the complaints made, and where charges made are substantiated by evidence, the officers responsible therefor be removed and the wrongs immediately righted.

With the full consciousness of the justice of the cause of labor, and particularly the cause for which the Iron, Steel and Tinplate Workers are so nobly contending against the aggressions of that giant trust, the United States Steel Corporation, we confidently appeal to our fellow workers and all liberty-loving Americans for their moral and financial support.

Respectfully,

Committee.

Your committee offers the following resolutions:

Whereas, We are of the opinion that the best interests of the workers in the iron, steel and tinplate industry can better be protected in one compact, comprehensive organization, therefore be it

Resolved, By this conference of trade union representatives, that we recommend that the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and the Tin Plate Workers' International Protective Association of America take under advisement the question of amalgamation, and that some plan be devised whereby all employees in the iron, steel and tin industry may be organized and given recognition, it being understood that this proposed amalgamation shall not interfere with jurisdictions already recognized by the American Federation of Labor.

In compliance with the foregoing the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor issued the following appeal: This assessment is not compulsory but is simply an appeal for a voluntary contribution of 10c from each member of organized labor.

Washington, D. C., January 1, 1910.

To Organized Labor of America—Greeting:

Ten cents per member is hereby asked of every trade union in America. The object is fully stated in the accompanying circular entitled "Plan of Action and Appeal," the same having been adopted by a conference of representative labor men of America held at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, December 13-14, and which has also been approved and endorsed by the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor. Contributions should be sent to Mr. John Williams, Secretary, Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, 503 House Building, Pittsburg, Pennsylvania.

Little is necessary to be added to the general circular. These points, however, need to be emphasized:

The present contest in the iron, steel and tin plate trade was not begun by organized labor; it was started by the U. S. Steel Corporation. The trade unions are acting in self-defense and in protection of the American standard of life and of American institutions. The aggressions of the Trust upon Union labor have been deliberate, manifold, insidious and persistent. At every successive move these aggressions betray evidences of a comprehensive plot by the master minds of a nation wide monopoly bent on increasing dividends, no matter what the cost to American labor, to the country at large, or to human progress.

This campaign of the Steel Trust against union labor because of the latter's avowed objects of a normal work day and an American wage standard is but the manifestation of one scheme in a series which together form a conspiracy worthy a Caesar, a Napoleon, or a Bismarck against the American institutions of unrestricted production, fair dividends, just legislation, an impartial judiciary, a free and uncorrupted press, an unmanipulated market and the highest estate for labor that production can justify.

These counts against the Steel Trust are undeniable:

Its control of production is one of its established features constantly extolled as a merit by that portion of the press animated by Wall Street motives.

Its dividends are based upon not only its invested capital but more than half a billion of watered stock.

Its attorneys are notoriously present at or in every legislative body from which privilege may be purchased or advantage in some form be procured.

Its influence upon certain courts presided over by notably unworthy examples of the judiciary has been shown by the radical modifications of their unjust injunctions speedily made by higher courts.

In close touch with certain infamous daily newspapers is exhibited upon every occasion when it is possible for editors to choose between prostrating themselves before its subsidy disburers or standing up to courageously defend common rights.

Its systematic destruction of an open and honest market is shown by numberless methods, from pushing higher an already super-protective tariff against a contrary public opinion to the crushing out of rivals in any branch of the industries upon which it enters.

Its crowning criminality, however, is its bold and heartless ensnaring of labor. To disarm public indignation against its industrial and social crimes in this respect the Trust has instituted the so-called "profit sharing" system which even the slightest examination proves to be a transparent deceit, through which a small minority of its employees are sought to be bribed to help in daily sweating the vast majority in preventing the others from joining labor organizations and in breaking down the spirit of manliness that has been a cherished characteristic of American labor. The Trust methodically hires freshly arrived immigrants, opens or closes mills to dishearten communities of its employees and substitutes young lads in its work for fathers with families.

The Steel Trust's methods of dealing with labor led to playing one set of its employees against another in ruinous competition, to suppressing trade agreements, to preventing the entire body of workers from expressing their opinion as to the terms of the necessarily changing conditions under which they would sell their labor, and so preventing in any way their taking part in the modern labor movement, which is rapidly uplifting the wage-working masses throughout the civilized world.

The methods of the trade unionists of America, on the contrary, taken broadly, free labor from a slavish dependence either upon the unstable philanthropy or the contemptuous labor trafficking which are features of today's multi-millionarism.

The trade unionists of America have now their choice between lying down and letting Steel Trust methods have their sway or standing up and arraying themselves with men who intend to fight to maintain unimpaired the rights, duties and standards of the civilization that America's founders and preservers bequeathed to our generation and time.

Trade unionists, men of labor, friends, in this contest and Iron Steel and Tin Plate Workers have made a great struggle and are heroically battling not only for their own rights but for the rights of all. Until the Steel Trust changes its present hostile attitude toward labor there can be no let up, even for a moment, in our activities in bringing it before the bar of public opinion. In this contest the moral support and financial assistance of all are necessary. Every dollar received will be duly accounted for and properly distributed to aid the men, their wives and children to maintain themselves during the contest.

Trade unionists and friends, in this contest on which side are you?

All are urged to contribute ten cents during the month of January; pay the same over to the secretary of Local Unions, he to forward it to Mr. John Williams, House Building, Pittsburg, Pa.

Earnestly urging all to united effort in this new year to bring victory to labor in this contest, we are

Fraternally yours,

Samuel Gompers, President.

OFFICIAL NOTICE.

The American Federation of Labor asks for a voluntary contribution of 10 cents from each member of organized labor for the benefit of the Iron and Steel Workers' strike. Some of our members have asked if this is an official assessment by the International Union. The proposition is neither a compulsory assessment by the A. F. of L. or the International Union; it is simply a request of the Pittsburg conference and the Executive Council of the A. F. of L. that a voluntary contribution of 10 cents be made by all members for the benefit of the Iron and Steel Workers, whose case is fully presented in this issue.

CORRESPONDENCE

Phila., Jan. 4th, 1910.

Among the reasons given in my letter of last month against holding a convention, I stated in a general way that since the Detroit convention held in 1896, and since which time we have been governed entirely by means of the initiative and referendum, the C. M. I. U. of A. according to our annual financial reports showed a steady growth in "influence, prestige, power, etc." I now propose to supplement that statement by the actual figures taken from those reports for the years 1896 and 1908, leaving it to the members to form their own conclusions.

Table showing benefits paid, balance on hand, membership and per capita cost for all benefits, in 1896, the year in which our last (Detroit) convention was held.

Table for 1906.

	Benefits Paid.	Cost Per Cap.
Loans	$ 33,076.22
Strike	27,446.46	$1.00 4/10

Sick	109,208.62	3.74 1/10
Death	78,768.09	2.69 8/10
Out of Work.....	175,767.25	6.43 4/10

Totals	$424,266.64	$13.87 7/10
Total membership, all classes, 29,181.
Balance on hand end of 1896, $177,033.12.

Table for 1908.

	Benefits Paid.	Cost Per Cap.
Loans	$ 46,613.44
Strike	32,423.39	$.77 9/10
Sick	184,755.69	4.02 6/10
Death	220,979.71	4.68 9/10
Out of Work.....	101,483.50	2.51 4/10

Total	$586,255.73	$12.00 8/10
-------------	--------------	--------------

Total members, all classes, 47,120.

Balance on hand end of year, $705,960.75.

Upon comparison, the above figures show that the C. M. I. U. of A. had a gain in membership of 17,937 since the last (Detroit) convention, a period of 12 years; they also show that we have distributed among our members in the various benefits $161,989.09 more in 1908 than we did in 1896. They furthermore show that our cash balance on hand in 1908 is by $528,927.63 greater than it was in 1896, the year in which our last convention (Detroit) was held. Results such as the above prove my statement made in last month's Journal.

Now, I do not wish the inference to go forth that this remarkable growth, this very successful showing, is entirely due to our system of government by means of the initiative and referendum, rather than a system of government by deputies, i. e., conventions, but I exhibit it as a challenge to the advocates of the convention system. I defy any advocate of conventions to show me a single organization which holds conventions who has done as well as the C. M. I. U. of A. during the past twelve years. I am like the man from Missouri; you (advocates of conventions) must show me. I repeat what I said in a former article on conventions, namely, that conventions or government by deputies, are advisable, even necessary in cases where the constituency is green, where it is ignorant of the first principle of democracy, or where the mass is so large as to be unwieldily or divided by irreconcilable differences. But in our case, namely, the C. M. I. U., it is neither necessary, nor advisable. We have long since discarded the swaddling clothes of the art of self government, and have arrived at the maturity of knowing how to govern ourselves directly and without the tutelage of a select few in a convention, however wise or honest they may be. It has been my lot to have attended about twenty conventions during the past thirty years of my active connection with the American labor movement, and my experience has been as follows: A few conscientious, hard working delegates do all the practical work of making or framing the laws; a few more do all the wind jamming, jaw smithing, hot air spouting, each one repeating at greater length what the other has already said in a better way, until the more intelligent, long suffering listener becomes weary, sick and disgusted with the interminable talk-fest, the rest sit silent, vote when the roll is called and wait for the hour to adjourn, when they go out and talk it all over.

The above is no fanciful, overdrawn picture, but is characteristic of nearly all conventions. Mr. A. Strasser, our ex-president, in a letter published in our Journal, issue of October, 1896, page two, says among other things. I quote:

"If a protest is in order it should be uttered against the waste of time in discussing Socialism in the last four conventions of the C. M. I. U. of A. at a cost of $15,000 to $20,000." Nor is the socialist delegate the only offender in this respect, the anarchist, the single taxer, the financial quack, the government ownership crank, all are there with him and together they form a bunch who consume the time and increase the expense of the convention, to the delay and detriment of the real work of a purely trade union assemblage. We escape from this by the direct popular system of government. When an amendment to our constitution is submitted to popular vote it goes to every local union in the country, about 484 in all, each one of which acts in effect as a convention by reason of their regular meeting, each individual member having access thereto, free to debate its various provisions, the member being better able to do so because he is familiar with it from having read it in print in the Journal for three previous issues; thus the member has ample time to digest, to analyze, in order to go to the meeting fully prepared to debate, and vote upon it intelligently. By this system we get laws made by thousands of our members at about 484 meetings held, instead of having them only framed up at an annual, or bi-annual meeting of a convention by a paltry 300 delegates.

I again assert that a convention of the C. M. I. U. at this time can serve no other purpose than the ruthless squandering of about $80,000 or will it stop at that sum; rest assured once the ice is broken and a convention is ordered, there will be more of them, perhaps one every two years, thus the initial cost of $80,000 for the first one will be but a drop in the bucket in the long run.

A little reflection will show that this is no wild prediction. Our last (Detroit) convention was called under the old law providing for tri-annual conventions. If that law had been kept in force up to the present time the C. M. I. U. would have held no less than four conventions since 1896, namely, 1899, 1902, 1905, and 1908. Assuming the average cost for each at $75,000, we have a grand total of $300,000 saved to our general fund by the abolition of the old law providing for tri-annual conventions. Are we to enter upon a path to revive a law so uneconomical, so reactionary, or will we adhere to the progressive, to the successful system of the past thirteen years? I feel sure we will and that the good common sense of the members will assert itself by voting down the amendment of No. 129 providing for a convention. We have very good reasons for practicing economy, now more so than ever before, because of the ever increasing drain upon the general fund, through the sick and death benefits. A glance at the figures printed at the beginning of this article will start every one thinking, and convince them of the necessity of economy and husbanding our resources to the utmost.

In 1896 we expended for sick and death benefits $187,976.71, at a per capita cost of $6.44. In 1908 we expended for the same benefits $405,735.40, at a per capita cost of $8.72½. The above shows that in the twelve years from 1896 to 1908 our obligations to the sick and death benefits have been increased by the sum of $217,758.69, while the per capita cost to each member has been increased by $2.28½. These two benefits will constantly increase as time rolls on. In view of these facts, I ask: Is it not a wise, a necessary economy to husband all our resources instead of burning up thousands of dollars in holding unnecessary and useless conventions?

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY.

Boston, Mass., January, 1910.

Article No. 3.

Clear Havana goods were manufactured by the American Cigar Co. from the time it purchased the entire capital stock of the Havana-American Co. in 1901.

The Havana-American Co. was an independent corporation organized November 9, 1899, with a capital stock of ten millions, about eight-tenths of which was outstanding. This first Havana-American Company was formed by the combination of the following ten factories:

Ybor-Manrara Co., Tampa, Fla.
Eugene Vallens & Co., Chicago and New York.

S. Hershheim Bros. & Co., New Orleans, La.
Seidenberg & Co., New York City and Tampa, Fla.

Julius Ellinger & Co., Tampa, Fla.
D. L. Trujillo & Sons, Key West, Fla.
Rosener, Arnold & Co., New York City.
Horace R. Kelly & Co., New York City.

The output of the Havana-American Co. rapidly decreasing and great dissatisfaction arising in regard to the management of its factories the company ceased its active business career after a short period of eighteen months.

The value of the brands manufactured in the ten factories of the Havana-American Co. and the effort of the trust to control the manufacture of high-grade domestic cigars is said to have led the American Cigar Co. to purchase (June 17, 1901) the entire outstanding capital stock of the Havana-American Co., amounting to $7,992,728. Four millions of dollars, in American Cigar Company's 4 per cent gold notes was the price paid. The ten factories were transferred to the American Cigar Co., and by vote of the stockholders the original Havana-American Co. was dissolved on July 31, 1901.

Later recognizing not alone the necessity—but the advantage of separating the manufacture of clear Havana from the manufacture of seed and seed and Havana goods, the American Cigar Co. organized a new Havana-American Company under the laws of the State of New Jersey, August 1, 1901. The Clear Havana business of the old Havana-American Co. was transferred to the new company.

The capital stock of the present Havana-American Co. is $250,000, all of which is owned by the American Cigar Co. In 1906 the company employed 3,159 persons and produced (according to the Internal Revenue reports of that year) 90,176,527 cigars.

The officers of the company are:

President, J. B. Cobb.

First Vice President, Preston Herbert.

Second Vice President, Sol. Rosener.

Third Vice President, J. N. Staples, Jr.

Treasurer, George F. Finch.

Secretary, P. A. Wysard.

Directors: J. N. Staples, Jr., Peter Herbert, W. J. Seidenberg, Sol. Rosener, H. W. Cobb, R. E. Christie, J. B. Cobb.

Early in 1902, quoting from the government Report on the Tobacco Industry, the American Cigar Co. turned its attention to the manufacture of cigars in Cuba, purchasing for that purpose the factories of the prosperous concerns Cabanas y Carbajal Company and L. Carbajal, of Havana. The Cuban y Carbajal Co. alone had an annual output estimated at 20,000,000 cigars. These two companies were reorganized under the name of H. de Cabanas y Carbajal with a capital stock of two and one-half millions, three-fifths of which was issued by the corporation and acquired by the American Cigar Co.

In the latter part of 1902 the American Cigar Co. organized "a holding company," for the purpose of controlling and managing its Cuban manufacturing business under the title of The Havana Tobacco Company. Its capitalization amounts to "no less than" forty-two and one-half millions of dollars; thirty millions common, five millions preferred and seven and one-half millions in bonds. The American Cigar Co. owns nearly one-half (47.9) of this total capital. To this newly organized "holding company" the American Cigar Co. transferred its control of the H. de Cabanas y Carbajal, for which it received 20 millions of dollars of common stock, $2,625,000 in bonds and $1,800 in cash. Being the voting stock, the two-thirds of the 30 millions of common stock issued by the Havana Tobacco Company which was given to the American Cigar Co., gives it (The American Cigar Co.) two-thirds of the voting power in "the holding company."

We now come to the core of the business—the modern method by which vast profits are made to appear a reasonable increase. As tobacco workers we have cause to thank the government that we are enabled to gain correct information about the industry in which we get our bread and butter. With a correct understanding and with the use of proper self-control as a body, we may present our first claims before the American people. This way we can win, for the great body of liberty loving Americans will never submit that the standard of national living shall drop below that of modest plenty and security. The government report shows that the stock, together with the $1,800 in cash, received by the American Cigar Co. from the Havana Tobacco Co., for the H. de Cabanas y Carbajal concern, was entered upon the books of the American Cigar Co. as $6,626,440. This book value was entered in exchange for all the stock issued by the H. de Cabanas y Carbajal, which, you will note, amounted to $1,500,000. The American Cigar Co. is reported to have owned the entire one million five hundred thousand of stock. Hence at its inception we find that the organization of the Havana Tobacco Co. added $5,126,440 to the assets of the American Cigar Co., which is one of the leading subsidiary concerns of the American Tobacco Co.

The following table gives the names of the five leading clear Havana cigar manufacturing corporations controlled by the Havana Tobacco Co., also the total amount of capital stock issued by each one of them and the percentage the American Tobacco Co. owns through its subsidiary companies:

Name.	Out-standing stock.	Owned by Am. Tob. Co.	Pct.
Henry Clay & Bock Co. (Limited) . . .	$1,603,025	$1,189,178 or	74.2
Havana Cigar and Tobacco Factories (Limited)	2,530,580	1,140,756 or	45.1
H. de Cabanas y Carbajal	1,150,000	1,150,000 or	100.0
J. S. Murias y Ca. (Saurez & Co.)	1,157,600	1,157,600 or	100.0
Havana Commercial Co.	18,500,000	17,943,000 or	97.0

During the first five years of its existence The Havana Tobacco Co. concentrated the work of its 22 factories into 8 large factories. One of them, the Cabanas factory, is a four-story steel structure having a seating capacity for 2,000 cigar makers. The building occupies an entire block in the heart of the City of Havana. Seven others are located in Havana and the eighth (Manuel Garcia) in Santiago de las Vegas.

The following table taken from the government Report of the Tobacco Industry, gives the names of the seven large cigar factories and the one large cigarette factory operated (1906) by the Havana Tobacco Company's subsidiary concerns. The table also gives the names of the brands of cigars manufactured and the names of the factories in which they were formerly produced.

Plants operated by, brands, and factory in which brand was formerly made:

Henry Clay & Bock Co., La Intimidad factory, La Intimidad, Antonio Caruncho.
Henry Clay factory, Henry Clay, Julian Alvarez.
Henry Clay factory, El Agulla de Oro, Bock y Ca.
Henry Clay factory, La Espanola, Fuego y Ca.
Henry Clay factory, Estrella, Cortina Gomez y Ca.
Henry Clay factory, Don Quijote, Juan Cueto y Huo.
Henry Clay factory, La Rosa de Santiago, P. Roger y Ca.
Henry Clay factory, La Corona, Alvarez y Lopez.
J. S. Murias & Ca., Saurez Murias factory, Flor de la flor de J. S., Murias y Ca., De Saurez y Ca.
H. de Cabanas y Carbajal, Cabanas factory, Cabanas, L. Carbajal y Ca.
Havana Commercial Co.—
In Cabanas factory, A de Villar y Villar, Manuel Moreno, S. en C.
In Cabanas factory, La Flora de Cuba, M. Valle y Ca.
In Cabanas factory, La Flora de Murias, A. Murias y Ca.
In Cabanas factory, La Meridiana, Pedro Murias.
In Cabanas factory, La Flor de Yucan, Inclian, Diaz y Ca.
In Cabanas factory, La Antiguiedad, M. G. Alvarez y Ca.
In Cabanas factory, La Vencedora, Perez y Diaz.
In Carolina factory, La Carolina, J. Alonso y Ca.
In Carolina factory, La Comercial, Fernandez, Garcia y Ca.
In Carolina factory, La Africana, Pino Villamil y Ca.
El Siboney factory, Cigarettes, Larrea Hermano y Ca.
Manuel Garcia factory, Manuel Garcia, Alonso, Gumersindo Garcia Cuerto.

The total exports of cigars from Cuba to all countries, in 1906, amounted to 256,738,029. Of this total 131,009,057, or about 51 per cent were manufactured in the factories of the Havana Tobacco Co.

The report specifies the export trade of Cuba by countries for 1906 as follows:

EXPORTS OF CIGARS FROM CUBA, BY COUNTRIES OF DESTINATION.

Country.	Number.	Per cent of total.
England	92,459,687	36.01
United States	79,483,125	30.96
Germany	27,821,603	10.83
France	12,326,890	4.80
Canada	10,251,065	4.00
Spain	8,283,402	3.23
Australia	5,867,668	2.29
Other countries	20,244,649	7.88
Total	256,738,029	100.00

In the above table it will be noted that the United States is the second largest importer of Cuban cigars. About 31 per cent of the total Cuban output were sent to this country. It is, furthermore, reported that over 60 per cent of the 31 per cent came from the factories of the Havana Tobacco Co.

While the output of the Cuban cigar factories, owned by the Havana Tobacco Co., averaged about the same each year up to the end of 1906, the proportion exported to the U. S. decreased from year to year as shown in the following table:

CIGARS EXPORTED FROM CUBA TO THE U. S. BY THE HAV. TOB. CO.

1905	37,860,698
1906 (ten months)	24,379,253

The officers of the Havana Tobacco Co. are:

President, Gustavo Bock, Havana.
First Vice President, E. T. Ware, London.
Second Vice President, J. N. Staples, Jr., Havana.

Third Vice President and Secretary, F. A. Wilson, New York.

Assistant Secretary, A. H. Gregg, New York.
Auditor F. M. da Costa, Havana.

Directors: Robert A. C. Smith, A. Schneider, Henry W. Cobb, Robert E. Christie, H. B. Hollins, W. S. Lockett, Frank H. Ray, C. H. Roberts.

That the Havana Tobacco Co. declined financially from year to year is learned from Moody's Manual for 1909. "In the year 1908 there was a deficit of $542,080 in the revenues of the company over the expenses and charges." This decline is no doubt due to the organization of the independent Cuban cigar manufacturers which was encouraged by some of the largest importing houses of the United States who it is assumed resented the attempt of the Havana Tobacco Company to monopolize the Cuban export trade. This fact should show us craftsmen the importance of gaining general knowledge of the business side of our industry. Knowledge is power.

It comes to this: The interests of tobacco manufacturers and tobacco workers are mutual, though for different reasons. And these mutual, though unlike, advantages if fostered redound to the interests of the American people. Hence practically there should be an organization of independent manufacturers and dealers of the United States working in co-operation with the organized tobacco workers of our country. Each side recognizing their mutual rights, and their just responsibilities. Not alone could our common cause be greatly advanced, fairer profits on one side and fairer wages on the other, but the American Tobacco Company and its subsidiary concerns, could be made to respect the law of equity which is the foundation of commerce.

Happily, sane and safe methods are being pursued. This was splendidly exemplified by the recent trip of our International President to Florida. The success reported these marks an added strength to unionism.

If the policy of the administrations is adhered to nothing but success shall crown our efforts. We must show ourselves to be capable of profiting by knowledge gained; the experiences of the past and of appreciating moves in the right direction if we would show ourselves deserving of victory.

David Goldstein.

Philadelphia, January 4, 1910.

The recent conference held at Pittsburg, Pa., by the officers of the A. F. of L. and the officers of the different national and international unions, where it was clearly demonstrated that the American Iron and Steel Trust is attempting to crush the Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers' organization by a deep laid and systematic scheme, and that they were selecting new territory, building new mills and tenement houses for their employes to live in and stores for them to deal at. That means that any man who will not live in their houses or deal at their stores cannot work for them. It also means that the American Steel Co. expect to get back all of the money paid them in wages with an exorbitant profit.

After they have absorbed or crushed out all independent mills then they will be in a position to say to the iron and steel workers, "Work for us at our terms or go idle."

This information comes from reliable source and cannot be discredited, and if they find the iron and steel workers as poorly organized as they are at present I fear it will be an easy matter to crush their organization and have them at their mercy. This is what they are up against and there is only one way of successfully resisting their nefarious scheme, and that is through thorough organization. Are they equal to the task? Let us hope that they are.

The above revelation concerning the Iron and Steel Trust and my observations of the tendency of our trade for a number of years have forced me to the conclusion that the American Tobacco Trust is moving on the same lines and in the same direction and with the same objects in view as the American Iron and Steel Trust have in crushing out the independent manufacturers and the annihilation of the International Union.

We all know that for the last ten years, or ever since the Tobacco Trust has been organized, the manufacture of cigars has been rapidly concentrating in a few counties in Pennsylvania and parts of Florida. While the Tobacco Trust does not control all of these factories at present, they may control more than appears on the surface. They are also starting up retail stores in every city in the country of any magnitude, and when they get control of the raw material, which as yet they have not succeeded in doing though they are making strenuous efforts to do so, but when they do it will mean a struggle for the independent manufacturers and the independent retail stores. Then I suppose they will turn their attention to the Cigarmakers' International Union; hence if the independent manufacturers and the cigarmakers do not come together and co-operate to resist the encroachments of the Tobacco Trust they will not be able to hold out against them. Of course we have no interest in common with the manufacturers under present conditions but there is an old saying that a drowning man will catch at a straw, and the International Union might be the straw.

The very gratifying report of the International president concerning his visit to Tampa, Florida, in the December Journal is certainly encouraging and should inspire hope and confidence to the membership of the International Union. His report proves that patience, conciliation and diplomacy knocks more apples than the strike club and leaves a better feeling behind. I hope that every member of the International Union will read the president's report in the December Journal, if they do they will gain a great amount of interesting and useful information.

It is my opinion that the American Tobacco Trust had some time ago selected Florida and Pennsylvania as the two most vulnerable points to assail. Both being very poorly organized, the trust has picked them for easy money. Whether I am right or wrong time will prove. However the line of action that suggests will prove beneficial whether I am right or wrong.

According to the report of the International president the situation in Tampa is very promising. In my mind, if Tampa is thoroughly organized it means that the whole state will be in the near future, then we will be in a position to resist the encroachments of the trust in Florida; but our work is only half done if we fail to move on Pennsylvania and capture that stronghold. I admit that it will be a gigantic undertaking and will require the financial and moral force of the International Union to thoroughly organize the state of Pennsylvania. It cannot be accomplished in a week or a month; it may take a year perhaps, but I believe that it can be accomplished through unremitting and determined efforts, but not with one organizer in the state at a time. It will require at least four good organizers and they will have all they can do to accomplish it then. Some will say that will involve a large amount of money. That is true, but if we are successful the beneficial results will more than balance the cost. With Pennsylvania thoroughly organized we then hold the key to the situation. When I advise such drastic action I do so with a full knowledge of the situation, having gone over the ground and know the mountain to be scaled and rivers to be crossed before we reach desired end. Still, I believe that the thorough organization of the state of Pennsylvania is a possibility. My reason for this belief is based on an extended experience in the work of organizing in Pennsylvania when the state of Pennsylvania was much more difficult to organize than it is at present. At the time I was organizing there it was hard to find a member of the International Union in the cheap district of Pennsylvania. I had to feel my way as I moved from town to town, consequently had very little assistance. Yet I succeeded in organizing twenty-six unions. But at present it is different, there is hardly a factory of any size that there is not one or more members of the International Union working, hence conditions are much more favorable than they were at that time, and it is reasonable to suppose that greater results could be reached. If we had 100 unions in Pennsylvania with a fair average membership I should feel very much elated, then we would be in a position to demand and receive reasonable conditions from our employers. In regard to expense of organizing Pennsylvania, it would not cost as much as it would to hold a convention of the International Union and more good would be accomplished, if successful, than at ten conventions. I am opposed to holding a convention for the reason that it would cost about $75,000 and that in my mind would be an unwise expense considering the small advantage we should gain, for all that can be gained through a convention may be secured by a referendum vote of the members of the International Union.

What constitutes a convention? The delegates are simply a committee in session to transact business for the International Union at large, all of their acts must be voted on and approved before they can become laws.

I don't know whether what I have written will result in any good or not but I hope it will make those who read it think. If they think they may realize where they stand. I can only hope that every member will do his duty and that 1910 will prove a memorable year in the history of the International Union.

I. W. Bisbing.

We received the following interesting notes from our Tampa, Fla., correspondent:

In that Floridian locality where Havana tobacco is worked up almost exclusively, our International Union of Cigar Makers is preponderant.

We give the opportunity to the cigar makers who work there to join our organization, charging them only one dollar for their initiation fee, and at this time our association counts upon about 6,000 cigarmakers affiliated with the Unions Nos. 336, 462 and 500. It cannot be said that this happy result is due only to the reduction of the price of membership, for those cigarmakers do not stand on so small a matter as a few dollars.

The success obtained is due principally to the rude lessons taught them by history, which is the great school-master of life, and to the active propaganda of our good ideas, as carried on by the intelligent individuals constituting the Associated Consulting Body of those locals, also to other companions who have worked with the same body and have lent it their wise and efficient assistance.

That soil was well prepared to receive the seed of unionism, because the old methods that were formerly used there constantly produced only negative results. The generality of those comrades had lost faith in that vehement system that they followed before, because they had seen disappear one after another their most formidable associations established for the struggle against capital.

They now understand that unionism in shops, such as exists in this country, is the organization most adequate for the civilization of our era; for, in spite of all that may be said to the contrary, it has obtained for its associates all the betterments that have been wrung out of the opposition up to the present, and is preparing them to advance in the future without suffering irreparable breaks and setbacks.

In consequence of the present evolution that is going on in Tampa, there is beginning to be some agitation among the historic rocks of the west of Florida.

That piece of land which is going to be united to the continent by means of a great railway that the intelligence and enterprise of men are building over the waters, was at one time an emporium of wealth, and was the first spot in which was developed the Havana tobacco industry, with the efficient aid of emigrants from Cuba.

Its importance is not as grand now as formerly, but I can assure you that there is not in this great Republic another manufacturing center in the same line as important as this one of which we are speaking.

No one knew as well as did the cigarmakers of the historic peñon, how to unite to obtain improvements in prices for labor, in conditions of work and for other objects of an altruistic nature.

But in the same way as their fellow workmen of Havana and Tampa they did not succeed in consolidating themselves into an organization, and precisely for the same reason; that is, because they made use of organization only as a means of obtaining ends above the possibility of the moment. Therefore, when once defeated, discouragement took hold of their branches and they fell back disheartened and disorganized. To save himself who could has always been the result of such misfortunes.

This happened because, as before said, the men who formed part of those associations did not know how to combine them into efficiency, but used them as a ladder to obtain what they wanted at the time. After becoming convinced that it was not in that way that they could obtain their purposes (not to say that they often asked for impossibilities) they threw down the ladder as they would throw away a useless piece of furniture.

But, judging from favorable symptoms noted in Key West lately, it is now a question of beginning there an active campaign for organization among the cigarmakers in the interest of our International Union.

If this should take place it would not be for us to deny protection to our comrades of that industrial center who wish to range themselves at our side and to adopt our methods in all the extremes provided for in our foreseeing and democratic constitution.

The work that we are carrying on is not for a day. It is of a permanent character because we limit ourselves to what is possible in the actual present.

Forty years of existence we have to our credit, we having escaped during this long period of time a multitude of rocks of various kinds, triumphing over them all by the manifest excellence of our precepts by the solidity of our work and by the efficacy of its conservative principles.

The workman who does not join our union to defend his work and lend his moral influence to a means that will protect him from misery and dignify him in critical situations, that man is a miserable anvil on which capitalists forge the links of the chain with which they would bind us to the posts of the trust, and who, from all indications, would become iron tyrants of the morrow, if the compact and decided union of the workmen did not hinder them.

The women ought to be friends of the union associations, because they are preservers of the fireside and home. If the women wish to keep the men from being libertines and loiterers, they should try to direct them to the centers of unionism in the shops. They should say to their husbands and sons: "Your love should be divided between our firesides and the unions."

In this way would the formation of families worthy of respect be favored, at the same time with the building up of associations capable of defending the interests of ourselves and of our descendants, who will know how to thank us when they come to be men and grow up to carry on our work.

Each woman of our class, before contracting matrimony, should find out if her future husband is a unionist; and if not, then she should induce him to join the union where he lives.

When the day arrives which shall see all the workmen unionists by conviction, the women will be real queens in their respective homes, and will have at their disposal all the most indispensable means for the maintenance of life and its comforts.

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Union No. 37 has submitted an amendment to the constitution and in doing so its members are actuated solely by the desire to make our organization more useful to its members. Year after year more of our members are through age and the progress made in the cigar industry thrown out of employment and find themselves through no fault of their own in many instances unable to earn a living at cigar making because the employer prefers younger men. Almost every local of any size is confronted with this problem. What can we do for our deserving aged members who have spent their lives building up and assisting to maintain our great organization? With our present chain of fraternal benefits our funds have about all the expense that we can carry with a certainty of being able to meet promptly all obligations guaranteed by our constitution.

Our death benefit which guarantees a member of two years' good standing $50; a member of five years' $200, and one who has been such for ten years, $350, while our older members who have paid dues for fifteen years or longer their widow receives the handsome sum of $550. When this benefit was established the 15-year member was the exception not the rule, but years have passed by and with them our members have continued to pay dues and their membership and themselves have continued to grow older until the number entitled to have paid out of our funds as they may direct, the sum of $550, after their death will reach with some local unions at least one-third of their entire membership. Hence our present income must be held in reserve to meet any obligation which may accrue. While our loaning system is one which is badly in need of some amendment which will to a certain extent render it less expensive to the organization and at the same time make it interesting to the members who owe loans to repay them, still the benefit is one which does not increase our obligations. Of all the benefits provided by our constitution the out-of-work benefit has proved itself the most useful to the organization for several reasons. First, it provides a way that in very dull business periods our members may pay their dues and thus preserve their membership and be in a condition with the revival of business to assist in obtaining out of the union the greatest possible good for the largest number of members possible. This benefit while small also provides a means by which during a panic our members may obtain some little part of the things required to sustain life. What this benefit means to our funds may be estimated when I call attention to the figures in our International President's last annual report as published in the official Journal for April, 1909, page 19, which shows that in 19 years ending Dec. 31, 1908, the total out-of-work benefit drawn by our members while out of employment reaches the sum of $1,190,758.11 and this paid to our members when they most needed it and at the same time giving them just what was rightfully theirs because they were members in good standing in the Cigarmakers' International Union and had complied with its laws. But with all the good which this grand benefit has done in the past it may be changed to be far more reaching in its good effects, and provide a means of relieving a very deserving part of our membership who through no fault of their own have grown old, and while doing so have helped through a long period of years to make it possible for us to pay out of our funds for the discharge of our obligations to those entitled to the various benefits the tremendous sum of $8,372,783.60, in a period of about 29 years. But to provide for our old age it will be absolutely necessary to make some provision to increase our funds to be able to meet the additional expense without decreasing our reserve fund, Union No. 37 has offered an amendment to the constitution which while the expense to each member will be so small that it will not be felt will at the same time meet the requirements and accumulate a special reserve fund to be used in the establishment of a home for aged and infirm members. While it will give some little relief to that deserving class, at the same time care has been taken to provide means to protect the benefit from imposition. In the first place it provides that to be entitled to the superannuated features of the out-of-work benefit a member must have been paying dues for a period of not less than 15 years and at the time of drawing benefit be a 30c member in good standing and over 60 years of age. This will have more than one good effect. First, it will make our members as they grow old more careful of their cards, that they may enjoy the privilege of using the superannuated member's benefit when they most need it, viz., when the time comes that they go from shop to shop where there are workmen needed and apply for work and be met with the answer "There are no jobs open while younger men are always successful in obtaining employment with the same firms."

Second, It will protect the benefit from men who have spent their whole life outside the union and as they become less useful to themselves and others, joined the union for the sole purpose of obtaining the benefits. In conclusion I would add that in making this

CHICAGO, JANUARY 15, 1910.

The year just closed has been a remarkably good one for the Int. union. Despite the depression which started in 1907 and remained with us all last year, however, with lessening effect of a hostile nature towards the latter part of the year, the membership has steadily increased.

RETROSPECT AND FORECAST.

On January 1st, 1909, we had 40,354 thirty cent, 1,231 fifteen cent and 5,535 twenty cent dues paying members while on November first (latest entered) we had about 44,000 thirty cent, 5,800 twenty cent and 1,151 fifteen cent dues paying members making a total of about 51,000 and shows a gain for the 10 months despite the depression of about 4,000 members.

During the year 1908, when trade conditions remained bad all year, we lost $70,000, that is our expenditures were $70,000 more than our income. Despite the fact that trade conditions showed but little improvement until the latter part of 1909 our expenditures for last year were about $30,000 in excess of our income. During the last half of the year the income was greater than the expenses to the extent of about $20,000. This was due to the fact that employment was more plentiful and a consequent lesser amount paid for out of work benefit.

Notwithstanding the generally stagnate condition of trade very few attempts were made to reduce wages and those were in cases where very few members were involved and for the same reason very few attempts were made to increase wages.

The reports indicate that not over 2,000 members all told were involved in trade disputes and that more than half of that number were involved in revisions of the bills which were not in the nature of a strike.

While the results (final reports not in) are not complete the records show that about 1,000 members received actual improved conditions and that in the strikes lost less than 250 were involved.

Many threatened disputes were settled by conference and without the resort to a strike. We know of one instance where the committee met the employer seventeen times before a settlement was finally effected.

This showed wonderful fortitude and patience on the part of the committee and union and is a long step forward in the new era and method of first trying to settle disputes by conference and mutual concessions.

It demonstrates to the employer, both union and non-union, that the old idea of strike at the drop of the hat regardless of the merits is passing out of existence and emphasizes and makes clear that a growing disposition to be fair is manifest on the part of both the employer and the members of the unions.

The Int. union will grow more rapidly in the future than it has in the past as soon as it is made clear to all that we as an organization have no desire to take an employer by the throat and make him do things regardless of whether competition, location and his business will permit.

We have long since demonstrated that we, however, will fight and to the last ditch in maintaining a fair stand up fight for justice and right.

The Int. union has passed the stage where it will force an old time real union boss to the wall or to a point where he cannot successfully compete.

Employers are beginning to learn that they will be dealt with fairly if they manifest a like disposition and are rapidly gaining confidence in the fairness of the Int. union. The Int. union owes part of its stability, permanency and reputation to this fact and its future greatness will largely depend upon a continuance of this policy.

We are aware that there are a few who profess to believe that employers have no rights that we should respect, but regardless of how all such may feel we are confronted with conditions and not a theory, and as sensible men and women should guide ourselves accordingly.

It isn't so much what some or all of us may think should be done, but rather what under existing circumstances and conditions is right, just and can be accomplished.

Judging from the past the outlook for the future looks good and full of promise for success.

Union 129, Denver, Colo., offers the following amendment to the constitution: "The next session (convention) of the C. M. I. U. shall be held in Indianapolis, Ind., beginning Monday, May 9, 1910. The necessary changes for electing delegates, etc., to be left to the discretion of the International President."

DENVER CONVENTION AMENDMENT.

Mark well the reading of the amendment. The action of the last convention the present constitution, the law reads as follows:

Sec. 2. The session of the International Union shall be held whenever ordered by two-thirds of the members voting on the question.

Sec. 3. The convention shall, on the last day of its session, designate the place of holding its next session.

Sec. 4. The basis of representation in the International Union shall be one delegate for each local union, provided that said union shall not contain less than 25 members for three consecutive months previous to the election of delegates. Unions having less than 25 members shall combine with their nearest sister unions for that purpose. Unions having more than 500 members shall be entitled to two delegates, and for each additional 500 or fraction thereof, not less than 200, one delegate more. In the election for delegates to the convention by unions, it shall require a majority vote to elect.

Sec. 7. No member shall be eligible to office as a delegate or alternate, unless they shall have been a member of the Cigar Makers' International Union of America for one year prior to the election, except when the union has not been in existence the time herein required. This shall also apply to members depositing retiring cards. Nominations for delegates shall be made by their respective unions at least two weeks prior to election.

Sec. 8. All delegates to the International convention shall be elected by their respective unions at the last regular meeting in June preceding the convention, except as provided in Section 4. The union shall, at the time of electing a delegate, elect also an alternate to serve in case of disability of the regular delegate. No appeal against the election of a delegate or alternate shall be recognized unless the same be made within thirty days after such election. In the event of a vacancy in the office of delegate and alternate, the union shall have the right at any meeting prior to the convention to fill the vacancy.

Sec. 9. In the first part of the month of May prior to each convention, the International President shall notify all local unions having less than twenty-five members to combine with the nearest sister union or unions; such notice shall contain the location of the nearest union or unions, also the number of members each union represents. On receipt of such notice each union shall nominate one candidate by ballot. The election shall take place on the second Tuesday in the month of July preceding the convention; the candidate receiving the majority of all votes shall be the delegate; the candidate receiving the next nearest vote approaching an election shall act as alternate in case of disability of the delegate.

The Detroit convention acting in accord with section 3 of the constitution quoted in the foregoing after a spirited contest on the third ballot elected Baltimore, Md., as the place for holding the next convention.

The convention has the right and it is its duty as well to elect the place for holding the next convention. Baltimore constitutionally and legally secured the right to hold the next convention and that right cannot be taken away from them without doing violence to the constitution, without insulting and wantonly robbing that union and its members of this right.

That part of the amendment of union 129 Denver naming Indianapolis, Ind., as the place to hold the next convention being in violation of the constitution and the action of the last (Detroit) convention is void and hereby declared out of order. That part of the amendment which says "The necessary changes for electing delegates, etc., to be left to the discretion of the Int. President" while not necessarily in violation of section 8 and 9 are so near so that many have said that it is also a violation of the constitution and should have been ruled out. Section 8 provides that all delegates shall be elected at the first regular meeting in JUNE preceding the convention. This is impossible as they named May 9th, 1910, as the time for holding the convention. We suppose that the proposers of the amendment mean that that part of the amendment leaving it to the discretion of the president shall take the place of sections 8 and 9; as a matter of fact if the amendment is adopted that will be the law. Without prejudice or bias—we are the one concerned—we say it is not good sound business practice to delegate so important a matter to any one individual. The important matter of fixing the time to elect delegates should be fixed by law leaving no chance for any one to find fault and that all may know in ample time in advance just when the elections shall take place. This gives every one a chance and leaves no room for criticism, disappointment and consequent lack of harmony.

Section 9 provides that the Int. President shall in the first part of May combine unions having less than 25 members with the nearest union for the purpose of jointly electing a delegate and the election to take place in JULY. The early date of the proposed convention makes this impossible and do justice to the unions with less than 25 members even with the discretionary power the amendment confers on the president. The amendment leaves no time for appeal before the convention thus robbing the members of an important constitutional right. This amendment will be submitted to popular vote as soon as possible after the Journal is issued which will be about January 24, sooner, if possible. The law allows local unions 30 days upon which to vote on amendments. Some of the unions cannot be reached by mail inside of a week or ten days, especially Porto Rico and the coast unions. This means that the time must be extended beyond the 30 days and the earliest date for final returns would be about March 4th. It will require a few days to tabulate the vote and by the time a communication could be printed and reach local unions at least ten days would have elapsed. The law provides, Section 7, that nominations shall be made 2 weeks prior to the election of delegates; by the time elections would have occurred, mostly at special meetings left to the discretion of the Int. President it would be very close to, if not beyond, the time set for the convention.

In the case of unions having less than 25 members it would require several special meetings all to be called at the discretion of the Int. President, and require the quickest kind of work and then possible disfranchisement. No time is given under this amendment for the officers to properly prepare for the convention and no time is allowed elected delegates to properly study conditions and otherwise fit themselves to properly discharge their duties as delegates; no time is given local unions to properly instruct its delegates. Without discussing the advisability of holding a convention or otherwise we simply desire to make clear that if the members in their judgment deem it necessary to hold a convention that it should be called in compliance with our present well defined law giving ample time so that candidates may know just when the elections will be held, so that snap judgment cannot be taken on any one, and to preserve the right of appeal of any delegate who may feel that he has a just grievance, so that ample time may be given to the officers to properly compile matter for the convention, that the smaller unions may have time to combine and elect delegates, and above all sufficient time given local unions to consider vital issues and instruct their delegates. This will be impossible under the Denver amendment.

The public conscience is being aroused to the importance and danger of the Great White Plague. The credit of CARE OF CONSUMPTIVES. arousing the public mind to the importance of preventing the needless annual slaughter of 150,000 human beings through the medium of tuberculosis belongs to the trade union movement. For years it sought to obtain the co-operation of the general public in an effort to stamp out this disease. Its persistency has been rewarded. To-day the general public as never before is co-operating in its efforts. Several states have adopted enabling acts, permitting counties, cities and towns to levy assessments for the purpose of erecting hospitals for the shelter and cure of unfortunate sufferers from tuberculosis. These hospitals are now going up in many places, and if the trade unions continue their efforts, within ten years we will see well equipped sanitariums located in every industrial center. It is claimed that there are over 300,000 consumptives in the United States, who are too poor to pay for proper medical treatment in the existing tuberculosis sanitariums and hospitals. It is estimated that the needless loss through ignorance, improper treatment, and lack of proper treatment, to the country at large, is $1,275,000,000 annually.

In another column we publish a letter of L. P. Hoffman of Jacksonville, Ill., Union No.

114. It is in support of the amendment offered by Union No. 129 of Denver for a convention of the International Union.

Of the convention itself is is not our purpose to deal now, but rather with Mr. Hoffman's letter. If what he says is true, then the very existence of the International Union may be stigmatized as an absolute failure. And yet its achievements in the interests of the members of the trade are beyond praise in any mere words. The International Union has secured the eight-hour work-day since 1886. It has increased wages, improved working conditions, it has compelled better treatment, it has brought better homes and made of us better men and women. It gives the opportunity of sending our children to the schools where formerly they were forced into the factories and workshops.

The International Union has reduced the per cent of those who die from tuberculosis from 51 per cent to 24 per cent and the records here show that since 1888 to 1905, seventeen years, the average length of life of union cigar-makers increased just 15 years, 6 months, and 4 days. It has raised the wages and shortened the hours of its present 44,000 30c members, as well as thousands of others who have joined the great majority, been suspended or gone into other occupations. In the last 25 years its membership has increased from 12,000 to 44,000 members not counting the 15c and 20c members. And this great statesman, philosopher, friend and advocate of alleged progressive trade unionism says "we are where we were at 25 years ago." It is needless insofar as our other members are concerned to even notice the wild remarks of our correspondent and we would not if it were not for the new members who are constantly coming into the union and who may be misled by misleading statements, which are not in accord with recorded facts.

What are the specific things our correspondent would have the convention do. He attacks the money expended by our local unions for union label advertising. We had a uniform and general system of advertising, and our local unions at conventions decided the present plan to be the best.

He urges that the convention creates a better system for granting and collecting private loans. Surely, this feature of providing loan collecting must form an important matter in Mr. Hoffman's mind; otherwise he would not advocate it as one of the essential things for which a convention should be held.

He would have the convention of the Cigar Makers' International Union inaugurate a better system of conducting strikes in "various other trades." As if our International Union is not doing its full duty in aiding our fellow-workers in other trades when engaged in strikes or other contests. Our members have reason to be proud of their record in the assistance they have rendered to every contest in which the workers of other trades have been engaged.

Mr. Hoffman asserts that the American Federation of Labor is divided into all kinds of factions, and then he attacks the American Federation of Labor, its officers and members. He says he belongs to the school who among other things are not "mud slingers," and that all kinds of abuse, misconstruction of motive and invective may be hurled at him and those who share his sentiments. And yet, in his letter, he hurls such pretty epithets at trade unionists as one "scabbing upon another," "job-holders and job-getters," and other delectable compliments, all of which can be found duplicated in exact language in the vilest newspaper antagonistic to labor and the trade union movement. Mr. Hoffman says we have made no progress in 25 years. The facts are:

When the American Federation of Labor came into existence there were less than 300,000 workmen organized in all America. There were 18 national and international unions; and although the progress has been slow but sure, and as a matter of fact, there are now nearly 2,000,000 members of the organizations affiliated to the American Federation of Labor, 119 national and international unions affiliated, with nearly 600 central bodies, and about 1,200 local unions, and almost a million trade unionists in national unions not yet affiliated with, but not antagonistic to the American Federation of Labor.

The eight-hour day in our own International Union was brought about by the declaration of the American Federation of Labor in its convention in 1884 when it recommended and declared that on May 1, 1886, all labor should endeavor to introduce the eight-hour work-day. A vast number of trades have established the eight-hour day; others nine and ten. The hours of labor of the men of a decade ago or more were twelve, fourteen and sixteen per day; to-day the hours of labor have been materially reduced, although not to that extent which we hoped but which will yet be gained at no distant day by trade union effort and with the aid of the grandest general labor movement of this or any other country of any time, the American Federation of Labor.

It is simply impossible to record all the achievements and successes of the American Federation of Labor in every field of human activity, and particularly as it applies to the material, moral, social and political uplift of the workingpeople of our country. The higher moral concept of labor's rights, despite an occasional Judge Wright has made for a better understanding of the rights to which the toilers of our country are entitled. And even in the Wright case it is now before the Supreme Court of the United States for judicial determination. We hope for the best results there, but if we should be disappointed, there is the appeal to the conscience of the people of our country. The rights of labor and of the people of America have been manfully contended even at great risks by the officers of the American Federation of Labor at whom Mr. Hoffman directs his shafts of invective and insult. It is needless to say to the intelligent members who keep informed that President Gompers now stands in the shadow of a year's jail sentence for doing his duty to labor.

During the industrial crisis of 1907-08 and part of 1909, and from which we are now emerging, was witnessed the fact for the first time in this or in any other country that labor passed through a great industrial and financial panic without any general reduction in wages. Perhaps Mr. Hoffman may imagine that this is due to some meteorological influence, or that the result would have been the same without trade union activity and solidarity as exemplified by the American Federation of Labor. If that is his opinion, let him consult conditions of previous panics in America and other countries. Formerly, wages were not only reduced during any industrial stagnation or panic but the labor organizations were either crushed or crippled. Today the trade unions of America stand financially and numerically and in every other way stronger than even before the panic. And all of this achievement has been due to the magnificent policy so grandly proclaimed by the American Federation of Labor to resist wage reductions where they were already too low, that it is better to resist in such cases and even lose than not to resist at all. It was a new slogan; it proved its worth by the excellent results.

Consult what the presidents of the National Association of Manufacturers have said from Parry to Van Cleave to Kirby, including Post, and they entirely agree with Mr. Hoffman that "The American Federation of Labor as it is at present constituted has outlived its usefulness."

Repeating the quotation from Mr. Hoffman's letter when he says that "the labor movement of America is divided into all kinds of factions," we can only say that he does not know of what he speaks. In all continental Europe the labor movement is divided into true trade unions, socialist trade unions, Christian trade unions, Catholic trade unions, Hirsch-Dunkle trade unions, socialist party, anarchist groups, and social revolutionists. Even in England the movement is divided into the British Trade Union Congress, the Federation of British Trade Unions, the Independent Labor Party, and the Social-Democratic Party. In America we have the most comprehensive trade union movement, a general labor movement, existing in any country in the world, and although we realize how much improvement in all methods is necessary, we can not but resent the attempt to detract from what has been done and what is being done and what is aimed to be done and what will be done through the intelligent co-operation and solidarity of the wage-workers in our International Union, in all trade unions, in affiliation with the American Federation of Labor.

Perhaps Mr. Hoffman in decrying the work of the trade union movement, and particularly the work of the American Federation of Labor, has in mind to have the International Union again consider the proposition, which the Jacksonville Union (of which he is a member) proposed as an amendment to the constitution of the International Union and which was published in the September, 1906, issue of our Journal, and which amendment had for its purpose that the International Union withdraw from the American Federation of Labor and become part of the so-called Industrial Workers of the World.

It is simply impossible to take cognizance of all of the fallacies with which Mr. Hoffman deals. One can flippantly make more charges and indulge in more criticism in one letter than it would take a book to answer and disprove.

In closing we can do no better than to apply to Mr. Hoffman in the views he believes he expresses, and the phrase which he uses—"Time is precious and waits for no one. While it is fleeting, let us improve our opportunities and not exhaust them in fallacies."

At the last session of the Ohio State legislature, a bill was passed making it unlawful to manufacture goods in the penal institutions of that state, except such goods and products as the state or any political division thereof, might use, which is practically the New York law. This law practically prohibited the further manufacture of cigars in penal institutions of Ohio.

It has been reported that Representative Hawkins of Jackson has prepared a bill which will restore the old practice of convict labor system of manufacturing in that state. Our members in Ohio should be on the alert and be prepared to combat any attempt to restore the old law.

Total products of cigars in the United States (for the month of November, 1909, and five months of the fiscal year beginning July, 1909) were:

TRADE STATISTICS. November, 1909, 613,856,540; November, 1908, 525,649,486, an increase of 88,207,104. For five months ending November, 1909, 2,823,070,724; five months ending November, 1908, 2,640,559,759, an increase of 182,510,965.

The report of the Internal Revenue Department shows that the number of cigars made in the 5 months ending Nov. 30, 1909, increased 182,510,965 over the corresponding 5 months in 1908. This shows an average increase of 36,502,193 per month. In this is included an increase of 88,207,104 for Nov., 1909, showing that exclusive of Nov., 1909, the average increase was 23,575,852, so that in the month of November, 1909, the actual increase over the average of the 4 preceding months was 64,631,252. This is a gratifying showing and presages a speedy return to a healthy and prosperous condition in the trade.

Our socialist friends often flippantly write and orally say the "leaders" in the trade union movement say, "no politics in the union." In this connection we can only speak for the Int. union and the

We challenge the fellow who is misleadingly always saying to the contrary to point to one single instance in any Journal where we ever said one word that could in any way be even by inference construed to be an attempt to interfere with or influence the vote of a member in any partisan political campaign.

The Int. Union is purely an economic trade union and has never attempted to control the political opinions and inherent voting rights of its members and we hope it never will.

change, if the change in the constitution is made, we will have added another link to our grand chain of benefits which has made our International Union the leader in the trades union movement and far in the lead in its fraternal features. Finally we would ask the members of other locals to give our amendment careful consideration and if it looks good to them to second it, and when the final vote is taken vote for what they consider the best interest of the greatest number of members and the International Union.

Union 37 of Fort Wayne, Henry Hulfeldtsand, Com.

Manitowoc, Wis., Dec. 31, 1909.

The Cigarmakers Local No. 477 of Manitowoc, Wis., has taken up an active campaign against the products of the American Cigar Company in the following manner. That local held a meeting with the manufacturers employing members of our union and the following resolution was adopted:

A committee of three manufacturers and three cigarmakers were appointed to submit the aforesaid resolution to the Citizens' Association for their endorsement. The committee explained the cause of their actions at the meeting of the Citizens' Association which brought to their attention of how they were patronizing or endorsing the mail order house proposition by purchasing the products of the American Cigar Company. This resolution we had printed on card board with a calendar attached which is doing good work. Any of our brothers wishing further information, it will be cheerfully given. Respectfully submitted,

Union No. 477.

To whom it may concern:

Greeting: After a careful investigation of the condition of the cigar market in Manitowoc, we find that the sale of home made cigars has fallen off about 10 per cent in the last few years. The reason of this, some may say, is due to the hard times or panic; but, after a close study, we find that it is caused by the increased sale of outside made goods.

If the sale of outside cigars could be cut down to about one-half of what it is at present, the local cigar manufacturers could increase their working force about 50 to 60 more hands, which would mean from $600 to $700 per week in wages. As these people would have to buy clothing, wood, coal and all other necessities of life, it would aid all classes of business men at home and without a cent of cost or donation, therefore be it

Resolved, That we respectfully petition all business men, the Citizens' Association, and all citizens of Manitowoc to endorse and to co-operate with us in increasing the amount of home made products.

Respectfully submitted,
The Cigar Manufacturers and Cigar Makers' Union No. 477, Manitowoc, Wis.

New York, Jan. 3, 1910.

The amendment of Union No. 77 of Minneapolis to section 219, which appeared in the December Journal is worthy of consideration, and should be adopted. Section 227 relating to amendments adopted by a convention and ratified by our votes, specifically states that such amendments shall go into effect January first succeeding the convention; but there is nothing in the constitution which fixes a definite time when an amendment adopted by a referendum vote between conventions shall take effect.

True by custom and practice, such amendments take effect as soon as affirmed, and published in the official journal, but this does not establish a definite point or knowledge to our ever changing officers and members. As our official Journal is published the fifteenth of each month and reaches the different unions at different times, the necessary knowledge that an amendment has been adopted may be in possession of one union from a week to ten days before all others are reached; thus making it practically impossible to enforce the provisions of any new law with unanimity as to time. Again, since all our reports are made on a monthly basis, our new laws should commence the first day of some month.

For these reasons it is wise and expedient that the words "and if adopted shall take effect and remain in force from the first day of the month succeeding the official publication of its adoption" should be added to section 219.

I believe there ought to be no objections to this amendment as it seeks to take from the realm of speculation and uncertainty something that concerns us all, and places the matter upon a definite foundation.

Yours fraternally,

Josef Wodicka, secretary.

Vancouver, Dec. 10, 1909.

Local 357 of Vancouver, B. C., has held five annual grand prize masquerade dances and every one has been a success from an advertising standpoint and financially as well. Mr. Todd of Toronto was present at our last dance and we certainly impressed him that Local 357 knew how to entertain and advertise. Number of paid admissions 750, receipts $481, expenses $436, net profits $45. Think of a union with only 53 members holding a ball with the expenses $436. Other locals could do as well if they only tried. It's a good advertising medium, by creating a small army of blue label boosters.

Local 357 has 47 members on the provincial voters' list. On November 12 a local option referendum vote was taken in British Columbia. Our members assembled at the labor hall and marched in a body to the polls. We made a hit with the License Victuallers' Association and will receive more of their patronage in the future. They can buy cheap cigars from Montreal but they need the Vancouver cigarmakers' votes, and now see the folly of not patronizing home industry. Every cigarmaker should make it his business to have his name on every voters' list in his town or city. Don't be an Indian all your life, get on the voters' lists and exercise your ballot and use it to help better your conditions and get recognition from your fellow townsmen. We propose to make every cigarmaker that strikes this city a voter to help protect our craft from the inroads of the temperance cranks.

Robert J. Craig.

Boston, Nov. 17, 1909.

Our members are not showing the interest in old age pensions that I believe we ought. I have drafted enclosed for publication in Journal, it is almost an exact copy of the old age pension laws of the Packers' Union of England.

Superannuation Benefit.

On and after the adoption of this amendment the dues of the members of the C. M. I.

U. shall be 35c per week, except as provided in Section 67.

Any member 55 years old or older who has been a continuous contributing member for 20 consecutive years and not able to work, shall receive the sum of $2 a week.

If he has been a member for twenty-five years he shall receive $3 per week.

Any member totally incapable of working who is less than 55 years old and who has been a continuous member for 25 years shall receive $2 per week till he is 55 years of age when he shall receive $3 per week.

In the event of such a member being incarcerated in an insane asylum, or a similar institution then his wife or dependent children shall receive the benefit. Said member would be entitled to.

Member making application for superannuation benefit shall satisfy the local executive board of his age, and such other information as they may deem necessary, and if required submit to a medical examination by a doctor selected by the board.

Members receiving superannuation benefit shall be exempt from payment of dues and assessments and shall not be entitled to sick or out of work benefit.

Decatur, Ill., December 7, 1910.

On New Year's eve Local No. 20 gave their fourth annual ball, which was a grand success financially, socially and as an advertisement to the Label. Five hundred were in the hall, but many were turned away owing to the smallness of the floor and accommodations; but everyone was profuse in his praise of the cigarmakers and their efforts to bring the Label into prominence.

The great feature of the evening was the "Label of Blue Waltz Song," which was put on the program as a waltz, and the reception was so great that it was substituted for all extras. Five hundred copies of the song were given away, which was appreciated by all.

This union is just entering on the third issue of 15,000 copies of this advertiser and the many unions who have ordered and received this advertisement are to be thanked by this union and complimented for getting to a good thing right on the jump, and we feel that they will be greatly benefited, as we have. We have mailed samples of this great advertiser to every union and we ask them through this journal to get busy at once and get the best advertisement that has yet appeared.

The back page of this song is left blank for the benefit of the unions ordering, as it affords a means where they can, by soliciting advertisements from the manufacturers of your city, or other business men, you can get a revenue that will cost you next to nothing to get five thousand songs.

Another feature of this song is that it appeals to the residents of the rural districts. Ever since this union has been advertising the label we have not been able to reach the "farmer," but this one has sure caught them, and they are asking for it.

So let every union who wants the label to be more popular, get busy and order at once.
Advertising Committee No. 20.

New York, December 30, 1909.

In taking issue with the comments of our International President in relation to the amendment proposed by Union No. 144, I desire to state that it is necessary to contradict some of the statements made.

The statement by our President that to give a single shop the power to make application to strike deprives other members of the right to vote upon a question so vitally to their interest.

In reply to this statement I would say that this amendment if carried only affects such unions where Joint Advisory Boards exist and would not affect in any other way local unions where no joint advisory board exists; besides those unions which it does affect have shown that by seconding the amendment of Union No. 144 that they were satisfied with the same.

The statement of our president that a single shop strike may lead to a lockout of a dozen or more shops, etc., while true, does not prevent manufacturers from combining and locking out their employees even though the members of the whole International Union have voted upon the application; let alone one local union, and, by the way, who is in a better position to know whether to strike or not, than the members working in a shop who want to strike for either an increase or against a reduction of wages, or for better conditions; surely they, being on the spot, ought to be the best judges.

President Perkins further states that the amendment is an attempt to encourage hasty and impulsive strikes; to strike, so to say, at the drop of the hat, and to prevent conference and conciliation and the settlement of minor disputes.

In connection with the above statement, I wish to say that it takes us about four weeks at the present time to make an application to strike through the J. A. B., thereby giving the grandest opportunity to any manufacturer to prepare and lay up a big stock of cigars and to enable him to drain the funds of the International Union, and eventually lick the cigar-makers "out of their boots." Though I have never been an advocate of a strike at the drop of the hat, yet I believe that it is better to strike that way, particularly so if we can accomplish what we are after, than to give the manufacturers a chance to beat us.

However, our amendment provides that no application to strike shall be made unless a committee of the J. A. B. first visits the firm to investigate the grievance; this plainly shows that we do not desire to bring on any hasty strikes without first trying to settle the same.

While it is true that the trouble at Feifer's factory was the cause of offering the amendment, yet it was because for a great many years did the unions connected with the J. A. B. make all applications to strike after the shop had voted to make application for strike without first submitting the same to a vote of the local unions; but in this instance some unknown protest was made to the International President and the application was ruled out until submitted to a vote of the members, and therefore we found ourselves in a position that if we wanted to be of any benefit to our members industrially we proposed this change so that we may be in a position to strike a shop if necessary in two weeks' time at least.

It is our aim as well as any other local union through the country where non-union Cigarmakers exist to try to get them into our organization; but under the circumstances the task becomes still more difficult than it had been because the non-unionists can flaunt into our face the fact that the union is in no position to give them protection in case of trouble, while on the other hand the employer has everything the best of it, and it may be said that we legislate for our members and not for those outside of our union. But, I may say, and say it safely, that there is a great many of our oldest members who are opposed to this system of making strike applications.

The statement of Pres. Perkins that from the reports received from all sources in reference to the trouble at Feifer's factory was the strongest argument against the amendment; I beg to differ with for this reason: While it is true that the firm substantially agreed to all disputed points which improved shop conditions generally, nothing was accomplished until the application was made and sustained and the International Agent, Mr. Strasser, came here and helped to straighten out the trouble.

While it would appear that the few cities mentioned would only be affected by the adoption of this amendment, yet we don't want to lose sight of the fact that about one-third or more of the membership of the International union are affected by this amendment.

In conclusion, I wish to state, while I have no right to find fault with anyone expressing his opinion on any question of interest to the members of the International Union, I do believe that the International President, in justice to the local unions affiliated with the N. Y. J. A. B., should have made his objections to the amendment in one issue of the Journal sooner, and given us a chance to give the other side of the question, instead of waiting till the last moment, when we are deprived of giving our side of the question before a vote is taken.
M. Brown.

Peoria, Ill., January 6, 1910.

Some writers for our Journal claim they are opposed to a convention on account of the cost—$80,000 or something like that amount. What do they base their guess on? the last convention.

How do they know how long the next convention would last?

The International President could settle a great many disputes among our members by publishing the cost of the last convention in the next issue of the Journal; if it has been published before, it has probably been forgotten.

If we can't have a convention, then let us give the president power to call the executive board together for the express purpose of drawing up such amendments to our constitution as they think would serve the best interests of the International Union. If we can't agree on that, then let us elect a committee of seven, giving them the power to draw up amendments along the foregoing lines. The amendments so drawn shall be submitted to a vote of the members. The committee may publish in the Journal such recommendations or explanations they may see fit, for the benefit of the members at large. The president shall furnish the committee such information he may have at hand, also he shall have the right to advise the committee on all subjects that may come before them—but he shall have no vote. Local unions shall have the right to submit amendments for the consideration of the committee.

How to Elect Committee.

One from the New England states, one from the middle Atlantic states, one from the southern states, one from the central states, one from the Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast states, and British Columbia, one from Canada, and one from our Island possessions.

Don't think from the above that I am opposed to the initiative and referendum, for I am not, but on the contrary I am a supporter of both and my only wish is to see both so strengthened that they would both be of more service in the future than they are today.

Too often amendments are offered for our consideration that are local in character, while they may be of vital importance to the local that offered the amendments, yet they may be of no benefit to a great majority of the locals that go to make up the International Union. Therefore they are overlooked or even the member may vote against them because they cannot see any good in the amendments. Sometimes amendments are offered that if passed would work an injury to the International Union, whereby the adding to or taking from of a few words would remove the dangerous features of the amendment. But as the constitution now stands we must vote for or against the amendment as it reads. Of course you all will say the local can resubmit the amendment so altered as to conform with the best interests of the International, but too often the local that offers the amendment do not know why their amendment did not get enough seconds or receive sufficient seconds, or why it was voted down.

I believe a convention could take up the question of special laws for special localities and handle them in a way satisfactory to all concerned.

Where two or more locals offer amendments to object being the same only differing in detail, the International President should be given the power to submit the one receiving the highest number of seconds to a vote, and if that amendment carries that to be final. But if it does not carry then he shall submit the amendment receiving the next highest number of votes and so on until one is carried or all defeated.

Why not have a home of our own? Why not have a printing plant of our own? One building would cover both. Why not have a home for our president, free of rent, regardless who he might be. We could build a home for a small amount of money suitable for a man on $30 per week.

You might say that cost in Chicago is too high, but there are other towns that would be willing to give a bonus for such an institution that would serve our needs nearly as well as Chicago. If we had a printing plant we could have a general advertising committee, and the chairman of said committee could manage the printing plant, not only the printing for the International Union but do the printing for a great number of the locals. Also do most of the printing of advertisements. Before we empowered our International President to contract for playing cards for us we was paying about 14 cents per pack (there was no stamp tax at that time on cards) now we are paying about 10 cents per pack. That ought to be an object lesson to our members, showing as it does, the benefits of a general agent to purchase or contract advertisements for us. I believe the same ratio gain on the cards would hold good in almost all other forms of advertising.

Politics is rampant throughout the width and breadth of the labor movement. The Republicans say "Vote for us and we will make you dog-catcher." The Democrats say "Vote for us and we will make you sidewalk inspector." The Prohibitionist says "Vote for me and I will save your wife and children from starving and your soul from going to hell." The Socialists say "Vote for us and we will give you all the produce except what it will take to distribute the products of your labor." But you must preserve your rights as a free American citizen; vote for who you please, and let the other fellow elect your master—then "kick" because he passes laws in his own interest instead of yours.

Oh, you great and brainy American working man! How long will it be before you learn to work and vote for your own interests?

Fancies and fallacies, aye? May be so—you're the judge. W. E. Stacy.

Jacksonville, Ill., Dec. 24, 1909.

Appropos of the amendment offered by Union 129 Denver, Colo., in favor of a convention of the Int. Union to be held in May, 1910, a few words in its behalf may not be out of place at this time.

I feel that a convention of the Int. Union is highly necessary, and I am quite sure that a majority of our members are of the same opinion, and it behooves us all to attend our meetings and lend our support to push this matter through.

It is very evident to all of us that a radical change in the policy of labor organizations of country is necessary, and a start must be made, so let us start in our organization. Let us hold a convention and get the wisdom of our membership together to see if we cannot lead the way out of the chaos that our labor movement is in today.

Of course, I am satisfied that there will be many who will not share in my opinions as here expressed, but I am going to start an agitation if I can.

Almost the first and greatest objection to the holding of a convention is the cost. Well, what is the cost, compared to the great good to be accomplished, when many more times the cost can be returned to us in various ways?

We spend many thousands of dollars each year in label advertising, more than we really ought to spend, and yet get the same results. There is no general system about our label advertising. Each Union has its own system, whereas a central advertising bureau or supply source, could provide for all this. This could be accomplished by a convention. A better system in the granting and collecting of private loans could be had than we now have, and above all, we should begin to arrange a better affiliation between our Trades Unions so as to make our Trade Union movement more effective.

We should pave the way for a better system of conducting strikes in the various trades, and financial and other support to them, so that there would not be so much scabbing done by one branch of organized labor upon another.

Each year's convention of the A. F. of L. boasts of the long and continued success of the A. F. of L. and when we examine the whole matter, we are really where we were at 25 years ago, with reference to power as an organization, while the manufacturers and employers have immeasurably advanced. They have usurped power which we should have, and it is time we were beginning to learn this, and to take steps to recover what we have lost.

The labor movement of America is divided into all kinds of factions, and all are honest in their purpose, and all mean to reach the same goal, but experience teaches us that the main organization of labor, the A. F. of L. as it is at present constituted, has outlived its usefulness. It has done its duty up to a certain point, but it has not kept pace with industrial developments. It is retarded by those in control, and there are thousands in the ranks who know this and who want to remove the obstruction. Of course, we are aware that there will be all kinds of abuse, misconstruction of our motive and invective hurled at us by those in power, and through their influence, and by those who have blindly followed in their path. But there is no time for delay to give this any attention.

We know what we have had, and we know what we have got. In industrial conflicts we get it in the neck more and more each year. The powers that be are becoming more arrogant and more powerful each year, and well they might, through their apparently perfectly entrenched position given them by the American working class sovereigns, who are told to steer clear of politics.

Fellow workers, isn't it about time for us to stop in our labors and see whither we are drifting? Aren't we going backwards instead of forward? And any member who knowingly allows such to continue is not true to our movement.

The school whose sentiments I express is not of the pessimists, Union wreckers, suckers, mud slingers, or anarchists, and all the other vile names hurled at it in the capitalist press and, parrot-like, imitated by the labor press of pure and simple unionism for the purpose of protecting the job holders and job getters.

Arouse yourselves ye workers of America. Throw off the lethargy which has taken possession of you. Be men as you should be. Animate yourselves with the spirit of progress before your condition becomes such that violence will be the manifestation of your dissatisfaction, and which will render your object impossible of achievement.

It is not necessary to stretch our necks so that we may look around in the sky for our Utopia while we have our feet on solid ground, as we are accused by the Judases in the labor movement. We are here on earth, and while here we want to do something practical for ourselves and not pass resolutions of empty, meaningless nothings. We have been far outstripped in the race by our masters and we have done it by following our old tactics. It is time to call a halt. Let the progressive element in our union take this matter in hand, rally around the standard, attend the meetings of the unions. Insist on all other members doing likewise, then summon the powers at your command in view of a genuine awakening of our craft such as we have never had. Educate your craftsmen in favor of a convention.

Show the pure and simplers that you are not the enemies of unions as they would like to have you be. Show them that you are the best friends that the union has, that you are with them, but that you want to change conditions that produce effects which we have to combat from year to year. Show them that you have always been their friends, that you always will be, and that you have no axe to grind that they are not a part owner of. Educate them to the necessity of a radical change in the policies of the American labor movement, to be brought about by instructions from the rank and file to our A. F. of L. delegates, and not to be governed from above as has been done.

What voice have you had in the framing of the policies of the A. F. of L. in the past? None whatever, only to mechanically endorse what the labor leaders, in all their dignity and wisdom have seen fit to frame up for you, and then when we are confronted with a strike of one branch of organized labor we have the paradoxical spectacle of other branches of the A. F. of L. scabbing it on the strikers.

And again, we have been named by the masters, such as captains of industry and their satellites, not to take politics into the union, but to pick out and endorse one or the other of the various candidates for office which they select for you, either on the Rep., Dem. or Pro. tickets, and then say, a good union man will vote for one of these, and that those who will not are not good union men. Your labor leaders have learned to repeat all this bosh, and you have listened to them so long till you have the situation as exemplified in the recent action of the Washington, D. C., courts in the Gompers, Mitchell Morrison Buck's stove case. Your political action of the past is coming back to you with interest. Not one representative of labor in Congress, the Cabinet, or Courts of the land to do your bidding, and yet you have with your votes, at the behest of your leaders and their conservative policy, elected every one of these congressmen and judges to make your laws, and to pass on their validity. You suffer under these acts, but yet you go right on following the same worn-out policy.

The American labor movement does not belong to those whom we have put at its head. The movement is the crystallization of class action, the expression of class discontent. Those whom we put at its head are expected to execute the dictates of the rank and file, and not vice versa as we have it now.

So comrades of our craft let us join hands with each other, and with our comrades in other crafts in our land so that we may make our movement what it ought to be. Let us ameliorate our condition so that we may finally emancipate ourselves. Let us awaken to the fact that there are no real friends outside of our movement. Our friends are in our ranks. Our power lies with ourselves. Time is precious it waits for no one. While it is fleeting let us improve our opportunities and not exhaust them in fallacies.

Any student of the times can not help but admit that soon we will be helpless with the tactics and policies which we now have.

In closing, I may add that I am not aware as to whether or not I am voicing the sentiment of the proposers of the convention amendment. I hope I am. However the time has long been ripe for such action as is herein outlined and advanced for your consideration, which I hope and trust will be favorable.

Yours fraternally,

L. P. Hoffman.

ORGANIZER'S REPORT.

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 6, 1909.

The reduction of the initiation fee of $2 as per the amendment of Local 500, which took effect September 1 and ended November 30, caused a general agitation and renewed effort to organize the unorganized cigarmakers of Tampa. A manifesto was issued stating that a committee of three were to be selected from each factory and said committee to be known as an organizing committee, whose duty it was to make speeches in the shops and personally canvass among their shopmates, talking unionism and urging them to join the International Union and report in detail their findings each week to the joint advisory board. As expected, all committees were discharged by the manufacturers at the termination of the first week's work of agitation, and notice served on all cigarmakers prohibiting speechmaking or performing any act other than cigarmaking. The denial of the manufacturers to permit agitation in their factories by no means discouraged the cigarmakers or changed any of the well defined plans of the joint advisory board. Hence other committeemen were appointed who took the places of those discharged, and these men renewed the agitation more vigorous than before.

The seventy-five large manufacturers, realizing the determination of the cigarmakers to organize, made no further effort to retard the progress of the committees. Considerably over 300 cigarmakers have joined the International Union during the past three months, and if all goes as expected Tampa will be thoroughly organized in a short time. The manufacturers and a committee appointed by the joint advisory board are now drafting a new bill of prices and when they complete their work the same will be submitted for approval. It will be the 1901 bill with improvements. Every shop will pay the bill, and that is something which has never been done before. The cigarmakers are using conservative methods this time and are meeting with success. It pays to follow the experiences of the International Union, and credit is due to the cigarmakers and officers of the several unions of Tampa for the cool and deliberate judgment used in organizing and arranging for better conditions. There has been no strike nor will there be, but there is a business understanding with employer and employe. President G. W. Perkins was here in Tampa for ten days and he addressed meetings of the cigarmakers, packers and selectors each night. His sound advice to the cigarmakers has had the desired effect, and they are now convinced that President Perkins' judgment and experiences is the proper thing for them to follow. Organizer Jos. E. Roach of the American Federation of Labor and myself accompanied President Perkins and addressed the meetings. The meetings were conducted in Spanish, and our speeches were translated by Mr. Sinirez of Local 500.

There are now over 6,000 members of the International Union in Tampa. Every packer and selector is organized. Tampa for the past five weeks has averaged a weekly shipment of cigars a little in excess of a million a day. One week the shipment was 7,090,000. The following week was 7,120,000. This will give an idea of the industry.

Geo. R. French,
International Organizer.

Toronto, Dec. 24, 1909.

Continuing my journey eastward from Regina I reached Brandon, Manitoba, otherwise known as the Wheat City. It is the second city in size and importance in the province, and is situated on the banks of the Assinaboine river, having a fine agricultural country around it. There are two factories here (union) wherein, according to some of the members, employment is anything but steady, it being subject to long layoffs, sometimes of months' duration. This, together with the general unfitness of the buildings used for factories, makes the life of the cigarmakers in Brandon as happy as that of the proverbial policeman.

The relations between the two factories appear to be anything but friendly, altogether making a state of affairs not conducive to the best interests of Union 378. In an address to the union I endeavored to impress upon the minds of the members that they were banded together for the common good, that there was no place in the union for shop jealousy or personalities, that those things must be laid severely aside if the union is to make progress. In company with the president of the union I visited the Trades and Labor Council, who were interested in devising ways and means, to build a Labor Temple. Considering the high price of suitable land, and the small number of unions in the place I think our fellow workmen of Brandon would be well advised to delay the project for a while. There is a good showing of label goods here and a very fair demand, which I have every reason to believe the union will do their very best to increase.

On my arrival at Winnipeg, Man., I immediately met and consulted with the officers of the union regarding the local situation with the result that we immediately began a strong label agitation amongst the local unions. Accompanied by Mr. Beigue, recording secretary, and on one occasion by Mr. Rose, financial secretary, we visited and addressed the local bodies, in some instances visiting and addressing as many as four meetings a night, making a strong plea for assistance in building up a strong demand for union labelled goods in Winnipeg, I have the assurance of the union that the agitation thus began will not be allowed to lapse, but that it will be supplemented by the issue of advertising matter in the shape of calendars, etc., that our delegates will attend the meetings of the central body more regularly, and also that of the label committee of the central body which has to a very great extent heretofore been neglected.

The local situation is by no means good; although in some respects better than it has been, but such as it is, it calls for the very best effort our people there can put forth, if the situation is to be bettered. I have strong hopes that it will. The union appears to be well officered, and the members well aware that something must be done to improve the situation.

Fort William and Port Arthur are twin, but rival cities, situated at the head of Lake Superior, all of the transcontinental Canadian railway lines converge here, and most of the farm products of the great plains of the Canadian west are transhipped here to the lake freight carriers; everyone here believes that a second Chicago is to be located in this locality. Truly its growth is remarkable as is also the price of real estate. With its great railway service, and immense elevators and splendid dock facilities, together with the growing trade of the west, a second Chicago does not seem a very idle dream. There are two small factories here (union) making cigars, and with trade increasing. There is a good showing of label goods, and a fair demand as both cities are fairly well organized.

I was fortunate in being invited to attend and address a meeting of representatives of the different unions called together to form a building fund for the purpose of building a labor temple, whereat I made a strong plea for a better demand for the union label on cigars, which same was well received.

Sudbury, Ont., is something of a railway, and mining center, and also a fair market for cigars, has a fair show of union goods but little or no demand, much the same may be said of Parry Sound, which used to be a great lumbering center, all of which seems to have gone across the sound to its younger rival Victoria Harbor, which is a wet town, while Parry Sound is dry, although by no fault of its own, for it appears that the founder of the place in presenting the town plot made it a condition forever, that no intoxicating liquor should be sold within its bounds.

I have not changed my opinion of the Canadian west, the last great west, as a land of boundless opportunities, in agriculture, lumbering, mining, in anything in which a man may honestly put his hand to. All over its broad extent, towns that grow into cities are springing up almost every day, and in many of these we have the modest little buckeye, that often develops, as the country populates, into the full fledged cigar factory employing many hands.

So mote it be.

Fraternally yours,

W. V. Todd, Org.

LOST CARDS

Section 11. Any member losing or destroying his loan book shall not be entitled to receive any benefits or a duplicate loan book before the expiration of two months, and financial secretaries of local unions must notify the International President of such loss or destruction immediately, the same to be published in the official Journal by the International President. The International President shall be the only person to issue a duplicate.

Members having lost their traveling cards take notice:

No duplicate card will be issued for lost card unless the full name of members, the card number, the date of initiation and the union where the card was last deposited are given. Members who lose cards are not entitled to benefits until they secure duplicates. No duplicate cards are issued except upon application through some secretary, when the time limit of two months has expired.

Month after month unscrupulous men impose upon secretaries and members under the plea of lost cards. The constitution provides a punishment for lost cards. Its purpose is to stop the carelessness and the traffic made with full cards by permitting them to be held as security.

Don't issue letters to any member claiming lost card unless you know his actual standing.

Secretaries have no right to issue certificates in place of lost cards. Members who secure employment should be entered as admitted to the union.

Secretaries should be careful and enter all loans granted and repaid and all balances carried from one card to another in letters and figures. The issue of duplicates will be delayed in all cases where information is not complete.

Secretaries should examine due books where claim of lost card is made. Report full name, number, date and place of initiation and when and where card was last deposited.

Private loans will be entered on duplicates issued upon request of unions.

Enter all loans granted in figures and letters.

Secretaries will please notify this office as to whether any private loans are due on cards reported lost, otherwise they are issued with only the International loan account. This does not release members from their just obligations to the unions. The absence of the private loans, however, quite often cause members to overlook those loans and suspensions follow.

REPORT OF DELEGATES.

To the Officers and Members of Cigar Makers' International Union:

Fellow Workers: It becomes our duty and our privilege to submit to you our report on some of the things of interest discussed and acted on by the delegates to the twenty-ninth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, held at Toronto, Can., Nov. 8th to 20th, inclusive. Also of the work being done at the convention of the Union Label Trades Department held in the same city Nov. 5th and 6th.

The convention of the Union Label Trades Department was called to order at 10:30 a. m., Friday morning, Nov. 5th, by President Lennon.

Mr. Joseph Thompson, Commissioner of Industries for the city of Toronto, welcomed the delegates and assured them of a hearty welcome from the people of Toronto.

Mr. L. H. Gibbins, chairman of the Board of Business Agents, also spoke in welcome, as did Mr. James Watt of the Toronto Label Committee.

President Lennon's report was listened to very attentively by the delegates and at its conclusion was loudly applauded.

The report of Secretary-Treasurer Tracy was quite lengthy and covered all the points of interest pertaining to the label trades. His report showed that 87 national and international unions are now affiliated, making in all an approximate membership of 365,000 affiliated with the department. He also said that several international unions are now considering the matter of affiliation, and he predicted that before the first of the year we would have an affiliation of 450,000. The following subjects were touched upon by the secretary in his report: Affiliation of unions, assistance to haters, Max Morris, local departments, farmers' organizations, method of advertising, woman's union label league and trades union auxiliary, and universal design. Total receipts for six months (the life of the department) were $2,782.74. The expense for the same period was $1,691.30, balance on hand, Sept. 30th, 1909, $1,091.44.

Your delegates were placed on important committees, Smith on president's report and French on label propaganda.

Resolutions offered by Cigar Makers' delegation and unanimously adopted by the convention:

Resolved, That the secretary treasurer by and with the consent of the executive board shall from time to time, consult with the officers of the national and international unions on well defined plans, whereby and through the sale of union labelled products may be further advanced, and through voluntary cooperation calculated to reach the desired ends.

Resolved, That the secretary treasurer be and is hereby instructed to investigate and submit to affiliated unions such of voluntary co-operations as in his judgment will enable the organizations to co-operate in an effort to jointly advance the sale of label products in the most economical manner possible.

Many matters that were of interest to the work of agitating and advocating the promotion of the sale of union made goods was considered by the convention and the recommendations of the committees which was adopted will be of beneficial results to the organizations using union labels, store cards and buttons, during the coming year. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, John B. Lennon, Journeymen Tailors; first vice-president, John F. Tobin, Boot and Shoe Workers; second vice-president, J. W. Hays, Typographical Union; third vice-president, Owen Miller, Musicians' Union; fourth vice president, Jacob Fischer, Journeymen Barbers; fifth vice-president, John J. Manning, Laundry Workers' Union; secretary-Treasurer, Thomas F. Tracy, Cigar Makers' International Union.

Respectfully submitted,

Samuel Gompers,
Thomas F. Tracy,
John T. Smith,
Geo. R. French,
J. Mahlon Barnes.

The twenty-ninth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor was called to order at 10 a. m., Monday, Nov. 8th, by President Gompers who introduced Mr. Oliver, Mayor of Toronto, who welcomed the delegates on behalf of the citizens of the city. Dr. Beaume, Minister of Public Works, was introduced and welcomed the delegates on behalf of the Province of Canada. Mr. Wm. Glockling, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, addressed the convention on behalf of the trade unionists of Canada. All of which was responded to by President Gompers.

Committee on credentials reported that 314 delegates were entitled to seats, representing 87 national and international unions, 22 state bodies, 63 central labor bodies, 13 trade and federal labor unions, 6 fraternal organizations. President Gompers announced his committees, your delegates were honored by being placed on important committees. Tracy on president's report, French on resolutions, Barnes on labels, and Smith on adjustment. President Gompers submitted his annual report. The members may have some idea of what the report contained when we say it took him over three hours to deliver the same. During the entire time you could have heard a pin drop. Every delegate kept his seat and listened very attentively to every word. It was indeed a wonderful report and dealt with all the points of interest affecting the general labor movement. We would suggest that all members of the C. M. I. U. read the report. It can be found in the November Journal. Among the points touched on in the report were, organization and growth, summary of injunction, contempt and appeals, free speech and free press, court of appeals' decision, legislation anti-trust laws, injunction, eight hour bill, employer's liability and automatic compensation laws, department of labor, ship subsidy bill, census bill, Asiatic exclusion, convict labor, child labor, immigration, litigation, the boycott-judicials opinion, labor's practical political action, department and labor conference, industrial education, European tour, fraternity of labor, Hatters' strike, Steel Workers' strike, Porto Rican labor movement, American Federationist labor press and organizers. Each of these subjects was handled with care, every detail and phase of the question was gone into and at its conclusion the delegates rose as one man and applauded and cheered for the grand old man who has done so much for the general uplift of humanity. The committee on president's report, concurred in all that President Gompers had to say on each one of the above subjects, the report of the committee was unanimously adopted by the convention.

Secretary Morrison made an exhaustive report of work done in his office the past year. Receipts for the year was $371,005.53; expenses, $203,702.07, leaving a balance on hand, Oct. 1st, 1909, $167,303.46, of which $51,426.32 is in the general fund and $115,877.13 in defense fund for local trade and federal labor unions. One can get an idea of the growth of the American Federation of Labor, when the secretary informs us that the receipts for 1891, the first year of its existence, were $174 and the expenses for same period $154. The total receipts for the 29 years were $2,055,009.29 and the expenses for that period were $1,887,705.83.

Money appropriated to be used for the legal defense fund of the officers and members of the American Federation of Labor in the injunction suit was $44,297.98. Expenses during the year were $6,273.61, leaving a balance on hand, Oct. 1st, 1909, $38,024.37. One hundred and seventy-six charters were issued during the year, of this number 3 were granted to the following internationals, Operative Plasterers, Brotherhood of R. W. Clerks and the Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill workers. Two departments as follows: railroad employee, union label trades department. Two state branches, 40 central bodies and the rest of local and federal labor unions.

Treasurer John B. Lennon reported on having deposited in six different banks in Bloomington, Ill., in certificates and subject to check, $165,303.46.

First Vice-President Duncan read the report of the executive council showing the work by the council during the year. The council held six meetings, 91 subjects of various matters were taken up by them.

The fraternal delegates to England, Brother Frey of the Molders' and Brother Larger of the Garment Workers' made an interesting report on what is being done by our British brothers across the pond.

Jerome Jones of Atlanta, Georgia, fraternal delegate to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, reported of the conditions of our Canadian brothers. Both reports were well received and it was the unanimous opinion of all that the fraternal greetings now existing between the United States, Great Britain and Canada be continued.

The report of the special committee on industrial education who were appointed at the Denver convention, showed that the committee had the matter well in hand and recommended that the committee be held over another year and they would be in a position to make a final report on this most important question. Concurred in by the convention.

President Gompers introduced to the delegates the fraternal delegates to this convention from the British Trades Congress, Messrs. A. H. Gill and J. R. Clymers, both of whom are members of Parliament. They made very interesting addresses relative to legislation secured through the efforts of the British Trades Congress. The remarks of both delegates were well received.

Mrs. Margaret Drier Robins, president of the National Women's Trade Union League, addressed the convention on the condition of the women workers of this country.

The Electrical Workers' controversy was taken up by the committee on law. The committee recommendations were concurred in by the convention and it was the opinion of all delegates that this long drawn out fight will come to a successful termination.

Efforts are being made to amalgamate the Elevator Constructors with the Machinists' International Union.

Conferences have been arranged between the International Union of Car Workers and the Brotherhood of Car Men. Much business was done that will be beneficial during the coming year to the entire membership of the American Federation of Labor.

It was regularly moved and seconded, that all that portion of the president's report in regard to the Buck's Stove & Range Company, the litigation in connection therewith, the report of the executive council, the report of the committee on president's report and Vice-President Mitchell's speech on the same subject be compiled in pamphlet form for propaganda purposes. Adopted unanimously by the convention.

The following officers were unanimously elected for the ensuing term: President, Samuel Gompers, Cigar Makers' International Union; first vice-president, James Duncan, Granite Cutters; second vice-president, John Mitchell, United Mine Workers; third vice-president, James O'Connell, Machinists' Union; fourth vice-president, D. A. Hayes, Glass Bottle Blowers; fifth vice president, Wm. D. Huber, Brotherhood of Carpenters; sixth vice-president, Joseph Valentine, Molders' International; seventh vice-president, John R. Alpine, Plumbers and Gas Fitters; eight vice-president, Henry B. Perham, R. R. Telegraphers; treasurer, John B. Lennon, Journeymen Tailors; secretary, Frank Morrison, Typographical Union; fraternal delegates to the British Trades Congress, Wm. B. Wilson, United Mine Workers, T. V. O'Connor, Longshoremen; delegate to the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress, John J. Manning, Laundry Workers. St. Louis, Mo., secures the next convention.

In conclusion your delegates want to express their gratitude to the officers and members of Local Union No. 27 for courtesies shown during our stay in Toronto. Each of us bring back some pointers that will be of some interest to the local unions of our craft that we will come in touch with, relative to label agitation. Respectfully submitted,

Thomas F. Tracy,
J. Mahlon Barnes,
Geo. R. French,
John T. Smith.

For obvious reasons I can only agree to those parts of the above report which make no reference to me. Samuel Gompers.

FOR CHAIN OF DRUG STORES.

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 18.—The incorporation under the Delaware laws of the United Drug Stores Company, with a capitalization of $1,000,000 was announced yesterday. The concern is backed, it is said, by the owners of the United Cigar Stores Company. Plans have been perfected to take over many retail drug stores throughout the country, as was done in the cigar trade, and to build a drug manufacturing plant.

Charles A. Eckles, of Philadelphia, who has a half dozen drug stores in Wilmington, is one of the promoters. The incorporators as named in the charter papers are "Wilmington incorporating agents." They are W. W. Day, F. E. Janvier and E. B. Waples. The initial drug store of the combine will be opened here.

The amendment of Union 10, Providence, R. I., as published in the December Journal, as follows:

Amend Section 156 by adding the following to the last line:

Or to manufacturers who send out loose labels to their agents, or representatives, in any locality.
Sec. 156 to read as follows:

Each local union shall furnish, through its shop committeeman, to all strictly union shops, free of charge, as many of the labels as may be required from week to week for all cigars actually made by members of the union and persons holding retiring cards. All label orders shall be signed by the shop collector. The label orders are to be furnished by the International President at cost. No shop shall be considered a strict union shop unless the packers of the shop are members of the International Union, and the apprentice laws of the local union be complied with. Where the manufacturer deals in Chinese, tenement house or scab cigars, it shall be optional with local unions to withhold the label from such firm. It shall be optional with local unions to grant the union label to any manufacturer or firm whose name or firm name appears in or about the box containing Chinese, tenement house or scab cigars, or whose name or firm name appears on or about such non-union cigars. All labels issued must bear the ink stamp. It shall be optional with local unions to paste them on the boxes. But in no case shall the union label be used in a factory in the United States which pays less than $7.00 per thousand, and no less than $1.00 for packing per thousand, and in Canada, which pays less than $6.00 per thousand for mold work—5 molds of 20 bunches.

Nor shall it be allowed on any cigars sold for less than $20.00 per thousand. This shall not debar local unions from establishing a price above $20.00 per thousand. No union shall be allowed to furnish the labels for cigars made in whole or in part by machinery. It shall be optional with local unions to grant labels to members who are not employing any journeymen if they have not been members for one year. This shall not apply to members suspended who were, prior to their suspension, members of the International Union for one year or longer, provided they be reinstated within six months after suspension. But in no event shall a manufacturer be permitted to use the label who offers presents as an inducement for the sale of his goods, or to manufacturers who send out loose labels to their agents or representatives in any locality.

Received the endorsement of 297, Canton; 102, Kansas City; 90, New York; 150, Sioux City; 269, Nashua; 72, Burlington; 129, Denver; 99, Ottawa; 315, St. Cloud.

Union 275, Aberdeen, offers the following amendment to the constitution:

(1) An election shall take place in March, 1910, the date to be set by the International President, for the purpose of electing a commission of (3) three members.

(2) It shall be the duty of this commission to visit Arizona, New Mexico, California, Colorado and Utah for the purpose of investigating the climate and advisability of locating a home for aged, sick and disabled members of the C. M. I. U. of A.

(3) Also to ascertain as close as possible the cost of building and maintaining the same and to suggest laws governing the qualification for entering the home; also rules for running the same.

(4) After the deliberations of the commission they shall make a full report to the International President, who shall have the same printed in the official Journal and have a copy sent to each local union, who shall vote on each section of the report separate.

IN MEMORIAM

In reporting deaths kindly comply with the following, and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of members. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the record of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such cards, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the letter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

The following unions adopted resolutions of regret and condolence, relating to death or deaths as follows, and ordered charter draped in mourning for thirty days:

Union 46, Grand Rapids, Mich.—Jas. Wardhaugh, No. 65290, who died October 9th, 1909. Three members of the union and three of the K. O. T. M. acted as pallbearers; Chas. Wandell, No. 7074, who died December 10th. Three members of the union and three of the Danish Society acted as pallbearers.

Union 332, San Diego, Calif.—Ed. T. Scott, No. 68474. Union attended funeral in a body.

Union 122, Brooklyn, N. Y.—Wm. R. Torres, No. 89085, who died on December 27th, 1909. Committee from the union attended the funeral.

129, Denver.—Valentine Nuss, No. 20732, who died at St. Anthony's Hospital Dec. 9th. Funeral attended by Committee from the Union. Interment at Riverside Cemetery. C. W. Stone, who died Dec. 29th; after suffering for a year and nine months from a paralytic stroke. Funeral services attended by Cigarmakers, Red Men, F. O. E. and I. O. O. F. After the services the remains were conducted to the depot for shipment to his old home in Jamestown, N. Y., for burial.

Union 132, Brooklyn, N. Y.—Mrs. Rachel Strauss, wife of Wm. Strauss. The union adopted resolutions of sincere condolence to Wm. Strauss and family in their bereavement.

Yours fraternally,

A. STRASSER,

International Financier.

I have examined the accounts of the following unions, viz.:

Union 128, El Paso, Tex.

I found the books in fairly good condition here. All members of the union are working. I attended a meeting of the union last night and suggested they appoint committees to visit the different unions here (28 in all) and ask them to call for the Cigarmakers' Union label. In this way they can win Kohlberg's shop, who employs about seventy-five cigarmakers. C. F. Ederle, moving here from Colorado Springs, who is running a union shop of ten men, will be his only competitor. Mr. Kohlberg told me he had no objection to the union or the men joining it, but he says he has no call for the label. Following is statement:

Actual funds on hand Nov. 1, 1907.....$ 449.57

Union 285, Ft. Worth, Tex.

The books and accounts of this union have been kept in good shape since the last examination. The members are doing considerable agitation here and they are getting good results. There are more union cigarmakers at work in this town than in any other town in Texas, on good jobs, too. The members deserve a lot of credit for their good work. Following is statement:

Total funds on hand Jan. 1, 1909.....$ 56.10

Union 346, San Antonio.

The books here have been kept very poorly by Secretary Chas. Rossy. The ledger shows that he (Chas. Rossy) did not pay any dues at all. John Rottman (49768) drew three weeks' benefit (out-of-work) and also his traveling card in April when the ledger shows him owing twelve weeks' dues. I charged the union with $9.00 illegal out-of-work benefit. C. M. Gabbart, the present secretary, is keeping the books in good order. There are two more union cigarmakers in San Antonio and seven jurisdictional members. The other trades, such as the bartenders and the building trades, are well organized. This ought to make a good cigar town. Following is the statement:

Union 369, Sherman, Tex.

I found the books and accounts of this union in extra good shape. All bills on hand and properly signed. There is not much activity here, but all members of the union are working, mostly on 5c goods. Following is statement:

Balance on hand Dec. 28, 1908.....$ 261.66

PRIVATE LOANS

Sec. 196. Local unions shall have the right to suspend members for non-payment of local indebtedness, and hold traveling cards until such indebtedness has been paid. See Sec. 106 also.

The following unions request the collection of private loans from the respective persons, and return same to union making request.

Union 52, Elmira, N. Y., writes: "The following members had better pay their private loans before the next issue of the Journal or they will read their suspension instead of a 'dun.' We think that three years is long enough for a member to have private loan without paying it back, and there are others waiting to receive who are glad to return it. 'Positively the last call.' 7438, Wm. Mosher, 50c; 66708, J. F. Ryan, 50c; 96341, Arthur Chant, 50c; 84549, D. Fonseca, 50c; 24575, Philip Toffer, 50c; 65280, H. Bingham, 50c.

Will secretary holding the card of James Knudtson, No. 81929, please collect Private Loan amounting to $3.50 and forward same to Union 56, Leavenworth, as they need the money.

The names of all members owing Private Loans to Union 122, Warren, Pa., received six months ago, or more, will be published in the February Journal unless we hear from them.

Notice to secretaries of local unions, where I am indebted for Private Loans—"It will be one year in February since I became disabled by rheumatism. I am still disabled."—Wm. Cosgrove.

Union 129, Denver, Colo.—List of members owing private loans: F. R. McIntyre (43488), $6.00; Sam Ratner (36252), $15.00; D. Greenberg (1584), $15.00; E. R. Murphy (115702), $3.50; H. M. Good (53280),

UNION NOTES

Union Notes by Union 97, Boston: Union 97 invited Hon. David S. Rose, mayor of Milwaukee, to speak in Boston on the social, moral and economic aspect of the license question.—The meeting was held in Faneuil Hall. All labor organizations were invited, cards were placed in all the stores with our Blue Label on top, and the audience listened to one of the most interesting addresses ever delivered on the question. The arguments of prohibitionists were riddled. Pres. Wiener of 97 presided.—Ten dollars was donated to free home for consumptives.—Since president addressed liquor dealers' association there has been a marked improvement in saloons.—All candidates for mayor use union cigars at their headquarters.—Curtail sale of trust tobacco and cigarettes and you have them beat.—Child labor must go, and it will.—Now is the time to organize.—Let us add an old age pension to our chain of benefits in 1910.—Jurisdiction members are doing good work in Brockton.—Effective work has been done in Cambridge.—Boom the label; if you don't get results immediately don't lose courage, but keep at it, results will follow.—97 passed resolutions of regret on death of Louis Lipp, an old member of 97.—Death benefits are paid quicker by the C. M. I. U. than any other organization.—Why do druggists patronize the trust?

Union 122, Warren, Pa., writes "C. A. Lewis, you haven't as yet made good the $3.00 you owe this union. You better pay or you will get all the publicity you are looking for. Secretaries please collect this as it is a fine against said party."

The following members were expelled from Union 467 because they acted as strike breakers under the jurisdiction of No. 374, Mayaguez: Ramon Olivero, No. 5301; Epefania Soviano, No. 5284, and Flor la Torre, No. 5281.

Sec'y holding the card of J. Gellhausen, No. 21564, please inform Sec'y of Union 297, Canton, Ill., at once.

Sec'y of Union 3, Paterson, N. J., would like to hear from Fergus Fay.

The Sec'y of Union 38, Springfield, Ill., has changed his headquarters to the Jefferson Hotel, where he can be seen at 7:45 a. m., noon, and from 5:00 to 6:00 p. m. Cannot be seen at the shop.

The secretary of Union 5, Rochester, N. Y., desires to hear from T. K. Miller, No. 5763.

If Julius Wolf will correspond with the Secretary of 242, York, Pa., he will be informed of something that will be of great interest to himself.

Any secretary holding the card of H. Allen, No. 84810, will please charge up to him on card, and collect $5.25 and remit to the secretary of Union 42, Hartford, Conn. This is on account of a board bill which he failed to pay when he left town.

Union 317 requests John Ryan to send in his board bill within thirty days or be fined $5.00.

E. Shindell, No. 12984—It is now more than two years since you left here and up to date have neglected to fulfill your part of the agreement made at that time. Would be pleased to hear from you.—W. C. Hableib, Secretary of Union 34, Chippewa Falls.

Any secretary holding the card of James Maher, No. 46992, or knowing his whereabouts, kindly notify the secretary of Union 278, London.

Union 27, Toronto, wishes to hear from Geo. Cooper, No. 84862, in reference to the board bill he left unpaid, or action will be taken.

The state of trade in Denver, Colo., is not at all good. There have been a lot of members out of work for past three months, besides all the large shops have been laying off for past three weeks, running the unemployed list up to about 300. Some of the shops have resumed now but still there are quite a number of our members out of work. It is to be hoped that this state of affairs will not continue for long, but there is nothing to indicate a change soon. We would not advise traveling members to come this way with expectation of catching on.

Union 228, San Francisco, Calif., reports business dull.

LOCAL FINES

Note.—Fines below $5 are not published in the Journal. See Sec. 195.

Sec. 137. Members having been fined by local unions shall pay such fines on the following basis: $10 or less, 10 per cent of weekly wages and benefits paid by union; or amounts more than $10, 15 per cent, aside from payments on loans as provided by the constitution.

Union 307, Reno, Nev., fined E. M. Turner $10.00 and annulled card No. 35742 for working against the interests of the International organization and organized labor in general by conduct unbecoming a union man, allowing himself to be placed on the unfair list of the Reno Central Trades and Labor Council, for allowing his store to be painted by scab painters when union painters could be employed.

Union 368, Port Huron, Mich., fined Thomas Forbes (88100) and Joseph B. Schreider (113574) each $10.00 for allowing themselves to be suspended.

Union 290, Janesville, Wis., imposed a fine of $5.00 upon Max C. Reef (3489) for allowing himself to become suspended.

Union 315, St. Cloud, Minn., placed a fine of $5.00 upon S. G. Rogers (99833) for allowing himself to become suspended.

Das im November-Journal veröffentlichte Amendement der Union 129, Denver, Colo., lautet wie folgt:

„Die Verfassung soll, wie folgt, amendiert werden:

Die nächste Sitzung (Konvention) der C. M. J. I. soll in Indianapolis, Ind., abgehalten werden und am Montag, den 9. Mai 1910 beginnen. Die notwendigen Verrichtungen für Erwählung von Delegaten u. s. w. bleibt dem Ermessen des Internationalen Präsidiums überlassen.

Wurde gutgeheißen von: 90, New York; 402, Highland Centre; 315, St. Cloud; 437, Cairo; 55, Montreal; 213, New York; 23, Indianapolis; 107, Erie; 174, Joliet; 167, Osoffo; 42, Hartford; 102, Kansas City; 318, Chattanooga; 491, Huron; 253, Oatland; 232, Sellersville; 32, Louisville.

Der rechte Zeitpunkt ist da.

In der ganzen Geschichte der Arbeitsbewegung in diesem Lande hat es vielleicht nie eine Zeit gegeben, in der die Gelegenheit zum Organisieren günstiger oder die Nothwendigkeit dazu größer war. Vieles hat zusammengewirkt, um diesen Zustand hervorzubringen. Dinge und Elemente, die nie zuvor in dem Arbeiterkampfe zu berücksichtigen waren. Gewaltige durch große Vereinigungen von Kapital und Anstrengungen geschaffene Mächte haben die gründlichere und vollständigere Organisation der Arbeiter zur wichtigsten Nothwendigkeit gemacht, die, wenn sie unbeachtet und ungethan gelassen wird, der Sache der Arbeit mehr als verhängnisvoll werden muß. Vereinigung und gemeinsame Anstrengung werden uns nicht nur größere Erleichterung, erhöhte Freiheit und bessere Zustände bringen, sondern sind durchaus nothwendig, um uns in den Stand zu setzen, Das, was wir schon gewonnen haben, zu halten und seinen Verlust zu verhindern. Unzählige Hände erheben sich gegen die Arbeitsorganisation, besonders die Hände Derer, die in ihr nur den furchtbaren Verfechter des Geringeren gegen die Liebergriffe der bevorzugten Macht und des Monopols sehen. Die wenigen Bevorzugten und die vielen Schmarotzer widersetzen sich der Förderung der Arbeit und möchten deshalb nicht nur jede Vorwärtsbewegung seitens der Arbeit hemmen und verhindern, sondern es für Alle die im Schweiße ihres Angesichts arbeiten zum Verbrechen stampeln, wenn sie sich zu gegenseitigem Schutze und zur Besserung ihrer Lage organisieren. Um die Wünsche aller dieser Gegner zu bereiten und ihre Verwirklichung zu verhindern, müssen sich die Arbeiter nach den Grundfäsen der Gewerkschaften organisieren, und, wie bereits gesagt, ist die Zeit nie günstiger und die Nothwendigkeit nie dringender dazu gewesen, als jetzt.

Damit die Arbeitsmassen vorwärts kommen und sich für ihre Anstrengungen einen einigermassen entsprechenden Erfolg versprechen könnten, ist es zuerst nothwendig die größere Mehrzahl in eine große Armee organisierter Arbeit einzumustern. Dann kommt ihre Erziehung aber zuerst und vor allen Dingen muß ihre Einmusterung kommen. Es muß alles daran gesetzt werden, so viele wie möglich in Reih' und Glied zu bringen, denn die wahre Stärke jeder Bewegung, besonders wirtschaftlicher Natur, liegt in der ahl Jdhl Derer, die an ihrer Förderung und Ausbreitung den engsten Antheil nehmen. Nichts sollte unversucht und ungethan bleiben, was dem Erfolg dienlich sein oder der Organisationsarbeit helfen könnte. Keine Mühe sollte für zu groß erachtet werden, die eine Vermehrung der Mitgliedschaft in den Reihen der Arbeit zum Zwecke hat, denn nur durch Opferwilligkeit und Mühe nach dieser Richtung hin kann der Plan ausgeführt werden, der den Arbeiter schützt und seine Stellung sichert.

Der erfolgreichste Organisationsplan, der Plan, der die besten Resultate gegeben und die größten Vortheile gebracht hat, der allerbeste Plan ist der, der von jedem einzelnen Unionmanne alltäglich ausgeführt werden kann. Große Paraden und öffentliche Versammlungen, gelegentlich von gesellschaftlichen Vergnügungen begleitet, machen wunderbares Aufsehen, bringen hier und da Resultate und sind mitunter ziemlich erfolgreich, da es den Bestand der Mitgliedschaft und ihre Zunahme zeigen, aber ihr Erfolg hält nicht den Vergleich mit dem Erfolge aus, den die Bemühungen des Einzelnen haben, wenn er in der Stille als Organisator arbeitet. Er ist der mit dem wahren Gewerkschaftsgeiste besetzte Unionmann, der ruhig wirkt, ohne Bezahlung oder Versprechungen, beständig und ruhig für das Beste, was er thun kann, verpöhtet, verhöhnt und oft zurückgesetzt oder verleudet, er ist es, der sich mannhaft auf dem von ihm gewählten Pfade abmüht, der am Ende den größten Gewinn bringt. In unserer ganzen Organisation giebt es nicht einen Einzigen, der nicht in größerem oder kleinerem Maße die Gelegenheit hätte, auf diese Weise unsere Mitgliedschaft zu vergrößern, wenn er sich nur die Mühe geben wollte. Es ist durchaus nicht immer notwendig, irgendwelche bedeutende Opfer zur Gewinnung eines neuen Mitgliedes zu bringen, und Niemand bemüht sich vor den Folgen seiner Bemühungen zu scheuen. Hier und da, wo sich die Gelegenheit dazu bietet, ein Wort zur Rechtfertigung des Gewerkschaftsprinzips, eine ehrliche Darstellung seiner Bedeutung und der guten Folgen, die nach gründlicher Organisation für alle Arbeiter zu erwarten sind, wird mehr Gutes und gründlichere Arbeit für Organisation thun, als lautes Prahlerei, Knüttel und Trompetenschall. Der ruhige Arbeiter in der Werkstätte, der seine nicht zur Union gehörenden Kameraden über die Vorteile der Organisation unterrichtet und ihnen zeigt, daß es unsere Pflicht und Schuldigkeit gegenseinander ist, uns gegenseitig zu helfen; er ist es, der die Union aufbaut und in die Stellung gebracht hat, die sie jetzt einnimmt. Es ist dieser selbe ruhige, beständig und gewissenhaft arbeitende, unermüdbare nie rastende Mann, der einmal die Unionbewegung auf die Höhe bringen wird, die sie einzunehmen bestimmt ist, und die ihr ursprüngliche zum Ziele geführt wurde. Die Zeit ist reif, die Ernte ist fertig, stellt euch auf euren Platz unter den Arbeitern, und strebt mit allen euren Kräften dem hohen Ideale zu, das nur durch Organisation erreicht werden kann.

L'amendement de l'Union 129, Denver, Colorado, tel qu'il a été publié dans le Journal de novembre, est comme suit:

"Amende la constitution comme suit:

"La prochaine session (convention) de la C. M. I. U. sera tenue à Indianapolis, Indiana. Elle sera ouverte le lundi 9 mai 1910. Les changements nécessaires pour l'élection de délégués, etc., seront laissés à la discrétion du Président International."

Cet amendement a reçu l'approbation de 90, New-York; 402, Richland Centre; 315, Saint Cloud; 437, Cairo; 58, Montréal; 213, New-York; 33, Indianapolis; 107, Erie; 174, Joliet; 167, Owosso; 42, Hartford; 102, Kansas City; 318, Chattanooga; 491, Huron; 253, Oakland; 232, Sellersville; 32, Louisville.

C'est au Labour Organise Qu'on le Doit, Non à la Philanthropie.

Une certaine école par correspondance pose la question suivante dans une de ses annonces: "Vous trouvez-vous dans la foule qui, à huit heures, se hâte vers son travail? et ensuite, inassuée qu'avec une éducation technique on peut se libérer de la hâte vers le travail de huit heures du matin".

Voici ce qui vient à l'esprit quand on lit cette annonce: "Il y a combien de temps que cette hâte vers le travail avait lieu à huit heures du matin? Si cette annonce avait paru il y a quelques années, au lieu de mettre 'la hâte de huit heures du matin' c'eût été celle de six ou sept heures du matin, et la question se pose: est-ce la philanthropie du manufacturier, de l'entrepreneur ou de n'importe quel patron qui nous a valu cet avantage d'aller plus tard à notre besogne quotidienne?"

Non - c'est l'organisation du travail qui a mis tout cela au pas et par le sacrifice de bien des milliers de dollars en grèves, dans les cas où l'amélioration ne pouvait être obtenue autrement, que la journée de travail a été réduite de dix heures à huit ou neuf.

Et une fois que l'organisation du travail eût mis cela au pas, les patrons d'ouvriers non organisés furent bien forcés de suivre, histoire de se conformer à la "coutume".

La Difference.

Il y a des homes qui ne disent pas grand-chose au coin des rues au sujet de leur unionisme, mais qui montrent leur sentiment par leurs actions, alors qu'il y en a d'autres qui vont toujours criant très fort leurs opinions sur l'unionisme et cependant portent des souliers "scab", des vêtements idem, chiquent du tacac "scab" et fument des cigares "scab". On ne peut pas toujours apprécier l'unionisme d'un homme par la grandeur des discours qu'il tient. Pas beaucoup.

Que Tous Ceux Qui Sont Surfaits Reçulent.

"Trop d'unionisme" est le titre d'un article publié par un journal socialiste.

Qu'est-ce que "trop d'unionisme" veut dire?

Il y a beaucoup trop de choses en "isme" qui cherchent à abattre l'unionisme; et l'unionisme a une mission à remplir qui le tiendra fort vivant et bien longtemps après que les autres "ismes" auront cessé d'être.

Ce dont on a besoin, c'est encore davantage d'unionisme—non pas le genre d'unionisme qui court à l'aveuglette dans une chasse à l'oe, mais celle qui a foi en les principes du labeur organisé et croit que grâce à lui on finira par obtenir un ère de justice et d'humanité aussi rapprochée que possible de l'idéal et obtenue par des moyens plus abordables que n'importe lesquels qui ont été suggérés jusqu'à ce jour.

Non, il n'y a pas trop "d'Unionisme"; ce qu'il y a, c'est trop de "guerre à l'unionisme".

Le Non-Unioniste Sans But.

Le labeur ne s'attend à rien d'autre du non-unionisme que des salaires dérisoires et des conditions serviles de travail. Le nonunionisme n'a aucun but et n'est inspirée que par un vague et chimérique espoir, trop souvent dé trompé, hélas! que la nécessité d'imposer le travail à l'individu pourrait bien n'être que transitoire. Ainsi donc, on ne s'attend de la part du nonunioniste à rien de ce qui peut tendre à améliorer et à protéger les conditions du travail. Il est sans défense, quelque bonnes que soient ses intentions, quelque excellente que soit la qualité de son nonunionisme. J'insiste sur ce point pour faire bien voir que les conditions politiques qui sont une si sérieuse menace pour les intérêts du labeur organisé, de même que les autres regrettables influences qui contrecarrent la prospérité du labeur organisé, montrent bien à celui l'urgence d'un remède et la nécessité de l'appliquer avec énergie.

Grevistes Nonunionistes.

Le plus étrange phénomène de l'histoire industrielle des Etats-Unis d'Amérique s'est produit au cours des quelques mois qui viennent de s'écouler.

Il y a eu plus de grèves impliquant plus de métiers différents et un plus grand nombre d'individus, parmi les ouvriers nonunionistes travaillant dans des soi-disant "ateliers ouverts", que parmi les artisans unionistes.

Au bas mot, 20,000 ouvriers en étoffes, 10,000 ouvriers en fer et en acier, 6,000 ouvriers en bois, 5,000 manoeuvres de chemins de fer et au moins 10,000 autres appartenant à d'autres métiers, tels que l'exploitation de mines, le travail des quais de débarquement, la manoeuvre de traméas urbains et autres n'ayant pas d'union, se sont mis en grève en différents endroits, de New-York à la côte du Pacifique.

Les statistiques les plus modérées fient à 50,000 le nombre des ouvriers nonunionistes hommes et femmes, qui se sont mis en grève au cours des 90 derniers jours, le total dépassant de 30 à 40 pour cent le nombre des unionistes qui ont eu à avoir recours à la grève.

Il semble donc que "L'atelier ouvert" n'est pas une garantie contre les troubles ouvriers et qu'il est loin d'amener un état de choses qui autorise les salariés à abolir leurs organisations et à se livrer pieds et poings liés à la douce merci des patrons.

Le Beau Temps.

Nous n'apprécions jamais le beau temps que lorsque la pluie et le brouillard nous environnent. Nous n'apprécions jamais les bonnes choses de la vie jusqu'à ce que la maladie nous ait terrassés. Nous n'apprécions jamais un ami à sa juste valeur jusqu'à ce qu'il soit parti. Nous distribuons généreusement les fleurs sur les cercueils, mais sommes fort avares de louanges aux vivants. Nous sommes lents à tendre la main aux gens en détresse, mais par conta, nous nous empressons de critiquer à la moindre occasion. Nous sommes une famille de gens bien mal faits, après tout. Nous faisons toujours ce qu'il faut quand il ne le faudrait pas.

Au lieu de former une société éprise du beau temps, du soleil et de sa lumière, nous en avons formé une qui aime tout le contraire. Philanthropes nous devrions être et misanthropes nous sommes et sommes beaucoup à l'être. Nous sommes tristes quand nous avons des raisons d'être joyeux et abattus quand nous aurions raison d'être courageux. Nous sommes une grande bande de pessimistes, alors qu'il nous serait si facile d'être tous optimistes. Et tout cela à cause de notre naturel morbide. Joignons-nous aux rares gens d'esprit non abattu: rejetons loin de nous la tristesse du doute et de la crainte.

No es él que mas grita él que mas razón tiene. Tampoco se destruyen los males que dañan a los trabajadores diciendo de estos que son unos degenerados porque sufren esos males. La injuria no dignifica al injuriado, y dice mal en boca del maestro y peor en la del hermano.

Comprendemos que haya a veces motivo para emplear la frase dura contra el adversario, y comprendemos que en tales casos así se emplee; pero entonces debe ser tan razonada que resulte como engarzada en el mismo razonamiento.

En pues nuestra opinión que el unionista debe dar ejemplo de moderación en las discusiones en que se vea envuelto.

Para decir al pueblo la verdad que sustentamos, no es necesario usar maneras descompuestas ni que nuestro semblante se congestione motivado en el excesivo calor que pongamos en la peroración. Por eso no ha de creernos más el auditorio aunque algunas veces nos aplauda subyugado.

Si un compañero de esos fogosos dice que es un traidor ó un degenerado el que no sea unionista, no traerá al seno de la Unión ni siquiera un nuevo afiliado; esto es positivo.

En cambio, si yo digo uno y otro día que cada obrero debe unirse con otros obreros para constituir una fuerza respetable que sea capaz de defender los intereses de todos; y si a esto que digo agrego ejemplos que pongan de relieve la verdad de mi dicho, es seguro que las filas de la unión iránse aumentando con nuevos compañeros cada día, que vendrán a ella por el convencimiento propio, y por conveniencia también pues no solo va el hombre a donde encuentra calor para sus ideas, sino que acude igualmente a donde ve sus intereses garantizados.

De este modo, nuestra propaganda debe desarrollarse tranquila y serena, como mansa cor-riente cristalina, por encima de las pasiones humanas.

No importa que aparezca debilidad nuestra corrección y nuestra sensatez; al cabo resplandece la verdad y tiene que enmudecer la vociferancia, porque, como bien se ha dicho, "no es él que mas grita él que mas razón tiene". A lo cual podemos agregar, que la gritaría suele ser signo vehemente de anormalidad mental.

Muchos trabajadores son lo contrario de lo que piensan ser, de lo que creen ser. Otros son lo que son, porque creen honradamente que si fuesen de otro modo serian malos obreros y quizás malos ciudadanos. De este modo, es la ignorancia la que guía la mayor parte de los actos que ejecutan los hombres que se creen dueños de un criterio inteligente é ilustrado. En muchos casos, no es responsable de los fracasos que sufre la colectividad ningún individuo particular, porque todos los componentes de ella actúan en la bondad de sus métodos y doctrinas; más en otras ocasiones la responsabilidad de lo malo que resulta debe caer sobre determinados individuos, que, a sabiendas, guían a los trabajadores por senderos escabrosos.

Los malos pastores, con sus descuidos, dan lugar a que penetre el lobo y haga destrozos en el rebaño.

Pero no solo son los descuidos de los directores los que ocasionan graves males a los obreros. Lo que más daño les causa es la oposición sistemática de los compañeros que entran en las Uniones con el criterio formado de que en ellos no hay nada bueno, ó que casi todo lo que se hace y se acuerda ha de ser malo necesariamente.

Cuando los individuos en cuestión evolucionan subgustionados por ese prejuicio, impiden que se haga nada útil; y en cambio fomentan el desconcierto y el disgusto en el seno de la colectividad hasta reducirla a la impotencia.

Dos causas principales son las que engendran esa clase de oposición que tantos daños ocasiona. Llámase la una, sectarismo de escuela; y tiene algo, quizás mucho, de elevado y noble, puesto que la Historia muestra en sus páginas mejores, ejemplos honrosos de hombres que han ido con la frente alta a sufrir los horrores de un martirio cruento, sacrificándose en aras de ideales estupendos que mas tarde resultaron aberraciones ideológicas.

El otro motivo que tanto hiere y perjudica a las colectividades obreras, es el desprecio de aquellos miembros que, no queriéndolas por su propia virtualidad, si no para fines personales, penetran en ellas buscando representación, y luego, cuando se ven desairados porque otros son elegidos, se entregan arteramente a la siembra de semilla de discordia, la cual no tarda en producir cosecha de odios en el seno de la comunidad.

Con tra esas dos causas de los males que hemos indicado, solo hay un remedio: Que los hombres inteligentes amantes del unionismo, estén siempre alerta para desbaratar los argumentos erróneos de los rectorios ideólogos, y así mismo que tengan la valentía necesaria para presentar el cuerpo, ó hacer frente, a los rudos ó Arteros ataques que inflera el despecto.

La enmienda de la Union 129, Denver, Colo., conforme lo publicado en el diario del mes de Noviembre, dice:

Reformese la constitución de la manera siguiente:

La próxima sesión (convención) de la C. M. U. tendrá lugar en Indianapolis, Ind., comenzando el día Lunes, 9 de Mayo de 1910. Los necesarios cambios para la elección de delegados, etc., se dejará a la discreción del Presidente Internacional.

Se ha recibido el endoso de 90, New York; 402, Richland Centre; 315, St. Cloud; 437, Cairo; 58, Montreal; 213, New York; 33, Indianapolis; 107, Erie; 174, Joliet; 167, Owosso; 42, Hartford; 102, Kansas City; 318, Chattanooga; 491, Huron; 253, Oakland; 232, Sellersville; 32, Louisville.

Lo siguiente nos llega de un corresponsal y sin firma alguna:

He notado en el Diario del mes de Diciembre, que la Union 129 Denver, ofrece una enmienda llamando una convención para el mes de Mayo. De lo que yo entiendo, el resultado de la dicha enmienda, bajo nuestro sistema de votar, no se podrá saber mucho antes de la última parte del mes de Abril. De ese modo, las Uniones de Porto Rico, casi no tendrán tiempo para elegir sus delegados para que ellos lleguen a tiempo a Baltimore, donde deben atender la convención. Si se desea tener un a convención es menester de bar suficiente tiempo para que todos tengan una oportunidad en elegir sus delegados, y para que tengan derecho a la representación.

Dodatek unie č. 129 v Denver, Colo., který byl uveřejněn v listopadovém Journalu, jak následuje: Doplňte stanovy takto:

Přístí schůze (konvence) Mezinárodní Doutníkářské Unie budiž konána v Indianapolis, Ind., počínaje pondělkem dne 9. května 1910. Nutné změny, pokud jde o volbu delegátů atd., bud'ť ponechány dobrozdání mezinárodního předsedy.

Došlo schválení čísla 90, New York; 402, Richland Centre; 315, St. Cloud; 437, Cairo; 58, Montreal; 213, New York; 33, Indianapolis; 107, Erie; 174, Joliet; 167, Owosso; 42, Hartford; 102, Kansas City; 318, Chattanooga; 491, Huron; 253, Oakland; 232, Sellersville; 32, Louisville.

Důležitost krátké pracovní doby.

Všecky tak zvané neúspěchy uniového hnutí možno svěsti na agitaci pro zkrácení pracovní doby. Bývaly časy, kdy byla dvacíti- a třicetihodinová denní doba pracovní obecným zvykem. Když začaly unie agitovati pro desetihodinovou dobu pracovní, bylo jim vytýkáno, že zasahují neprávem do obchodu a zároveň bylo předpovízáno, že setká se činnost jejich s nezdarem. Ale ačkoli v některých jednotlivých případech unie nevítežily, desetihodinová doba pracovní stala se přes to skutkem. Totéž svědčilo se při devítihodinové době pracovní. Osmihodinová doba pracovní potkávala a potkává se dosud a totéž opozici. Ale přes to vše stane se i ona skutkem.

To nebyl žádný snímek, který pravil: Krátká doba pracovní není přizrak, který se zrodil z rostoucího vlivu fmeslných jednot. Jest to nevyhnutelný a pokrokový směr civilizace, a civilizace sama dává a bude dávat podnět k pokrokovému hnutí, jehož účelem jest zkrácení pracovní doby. Pokud já vím, není ani jednoho zaměstnavatele, jenž podrobil krátké pracovní dobu spravedlivé zkoušce a který by si přál vrátiti se k staré, delší době dělné. A ty země, jejichž dělníci jsou nuceni pracovati denně největší počet hodin, aby udrželi svůj život na nejnižším normálu, jsou u samého úpatí civilizace.

Unie, domáhajíc se kratší doby pracovní, nemínula se nikterak rozumem. Chopila se prostě počinnu v hnutí zdravém a bezpečném. Hleděla udržeti dělnictvo v souhlasu s duchem pokroku. A ve všech jejich snáích převládala tatáž poňutka. Unie jest nejmocnějším prostředkem amerikanizování, který vůbec existuje.

"Otevřená dílna" znamená tučnou pečení pro zaměstnavatele a nemastný oukrop pro dělníka.

"Otevřená dílna" znamená smlouvání s jednotlivci, jehož si tak velice přejí nepřátelé organizované práce.

"Otevřená dílna" znamená neobmezené zaměstnávání žen a dětí.

"Otevřená dílna" znamená, že má být zaměstnavatel sám jediný soudcem, zač stojí vaše práce.

"Otevřená dílna" udílí zaměstnavateli právo, aby byl členem organizace, jejímž účelem jest zameziti placení lepší mzdy, ale upírá dělníkovi právo, býti členem dělnické organizace.

"Otevřená dílna" odnímá dělníkům možnost solidního spolupůsobení v zápasu o zlepšení svého postavení.

"Otevřená dílna" jest totéž, jako prohlášení, že někdo může zlepšiti poměry, kdežto jiní mohou z toho těžiti bez vlastního přičinění.

"Otevřená dílna" upírá lidem právo, prodávati svou práci za podmínek, které si oni sami vyvolili.

"Otevřená dílna" jest prohlášením, že může některý jednotlivec konati zákonitým způsobem skutek, který jest nezákonným, pokouší-li se o jeho provedení soubor jednotlivců.

"Otevřená dílna" ponechala by rozluštění továrního zdravotnictví a nestřežených strojů úplně v rukou zaměstnavatelů.

"Otevřená dílna" znamená, že bude zaměstnavatel pánem a ty otrokem.

Člen dělnické organizace může a má býti účasten všech schůzí své organizace, máje vždycky na mysli její nejlepší zájmy a jednaje podle toho. Neopomene ničeho, co by mohlo dopomoci uniovým zájmům k pokroku, bud'ťe bedliví, jde-li o ochranu vašich dělnických práv, bud'ťe důslední a opravdoví, dovolávajíc se spravedlivých požadavků svých jednot, bud'ťe snášliví, pokud jde o různici se názory vašich spoludělníků, snažte se přispěti k rozkvětu svých organizací používáním praktických a rozumných prostředků a napomáhejte hnutí všeobecným způsobem tím, že nebudete kupovati žádných jiných výrobků mimo ty, které jsou označeny uniovou známku.

408. Houghton	100	445. Billings	100

NOTICE TO SECRETARIES.

On and after February 28 do not use any numbers from 20001 to 43000, inclusive, unless the numbers become vacant on your own books, except to give old numbers to members owing loans. Secretaries in need of numbers for new members not owing loans should send to the International Office for them.

The Constitution, twentieth edition, contains an error. The amendment of Union 97, Boston, reference accepting cards from foreign countries, took the place of the old law. Through mistake both the amendment and the old law are included. The last paragraph, or last twelve lines of Section 67, on page 20, is the old law and doesn't belong in the Constitution.

NOTICE.

Financial secretaries when granting loans should, as required by Section 104, enter loans in figures and letters. It is not necessary to punch cards.

The amendment adopted to Sections 76 and 77 does away with the issuance of retiring cards to all who continue to pay dues as beneficiary members.

Retiring cards are only for those who pay up and actually terminate all connection with the union in so far as the payment of dues is concerned.

Members who transfer from the 30-cent list to the 20-cent beneficiary membership list are simply changed from one class to another and deducted from one and added to the other.

Members who have not paid 30-cent dues for three years and quitting the trade under Section 76 and wishing to qualify for Section 77 as a bene-fiary member should be kept on without any other change than to make a note of the intention on the ledger page. If such member desires to travel to another jurisdiction he should be given a transfer card and his intention to qualify as a 20-cent beneficiary member written on the transfer card. Such beneficiary members are not entitled to any benefits except sick benefits after one year's membership and whatever death benefits their term of membership entitles them to.

If you hold any loan cards of no further use send them to this office.

Before granting or accepting retiring cards secretaries and members should consult Sections 76 and 77 of the Constitution.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS AND MEMBERS.

In printing the nineteenth edition of the Constitution, an omission occurs in Section 77, on line 7. A comma and the words "and local assessments," should follow "International assessments." The sentence to read: "All international assessments, and local assessments levied for label agitation purposes." This amendment as published in another place is correct.

MEMBERS OUT OF WORK ARE NOT ENTITLED TO THE SIXTEEN WEEKS' PRIVILEGE IN DUES UNLESS THEY NOTIFY THE SECRETARY WEEKLY BEFORE THE EIGHTH WEEK. THIS INCLUDES TRAVELING MEMBERS WHO SHOULD ALWAYS CARRY A CERTIFICATE AND HAVE SAME SIGNED WEEKLY.

Items for the Journal should be placed on separate slips of paper—not the backs of reports, etc.—in order to insure prompt publication, and should reach this office not later than the 10th of each month if intended for current publication.

NOTICE.—How to duplicate Loan Cards.

It frequently occurs that new secretaries through error or lack of knowledge, transfer the amount a member "has coming" instead of what he owes. In duplicating a card, figure up all the member has borrowed and subtract all he has paid, and if there is a balance against the member transfer to new card in red ink and figures and letters the amount due the International Union. Also enter on new card all that may be essential that you find on the old, then sign and seal it. Send the old card to the International office.

Unions when notifying this office of change in secretary will please at once give the new secretary's address, if possible, so as to obviate delays, mistakes, etc.

In reporting deaths, kindly comply with the following and you will save time and unnecessary work. Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of member. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the records of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such card, but place on your letter the information necessary as the latter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

If secretaries when ordering supplies will place the order on the regular blank, it will greatly simplify the work here and avoid unnecessary delay for those who order the supplies. We receive an average of 300 pieces of mail in the office daily. Sometimes an order is sandwiched into a two or three-page letter containing three or more different subjects, and there is danger in such cases of an order being overlooked. Hence we ask that in order to save unnecessary delay and annoyance you order on the regular blank, giving your name and address.

DECISIONS OF PRESIDENT

M. Goeman appealed against 97, Boston, for suspending her for non-payment of dues. The appeal was sustained.

P. Sherle appealed against 32, Louisville, for compelling him to refund a private loan. The appeal was not sustained.

Austin P. Kaveney appealed against 97, Boston, for refusing to compel a member to buy his stamps, etc., through the shop collector. Mr. Kaveney basis his appeal on the wording of section 27, local by-laws. The union contends that a member can pay dues direct to the secretary, and cites its by-laws, section 20, as proof. While section 27, local laws, provides that the shop collector shall collect all money due the union, it does not, nor does any other section, actually compel a member to pay his dues to the collector. While Mr. Kaveney is morally right, the union is within its technical right in taking the action it did. The appeal was not sustained.

J. F. Fenton and F. A. Keegan appealed against 303, Woonsocket, for refusing to declare one of its members ineligible for office on account of a dispute over some local money which amounted to not over $8. The union claims the member was not a defaulter. The appeal was not sustained.

M. Lemon appealed against 97, Boston, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The appeal was not sustained.

L. Kraut appealed against the label committee of New York for refusing him the use of the labels. The appeal was not sustained.

H. Feinstein appealed against 97, Boston, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The decision is that he be placed on the 90 days' list and restored to membership.

A. Jorgensen appealed against 97, Boston, for placing him on the 90 days' list. The appeal was not sustained.

L. Davidson appealed against 97, Boston, for suspending her for non-payment of dues. The decision is that she be placed on the 90 days' list.

W. H. Little appealed against 73, Alton, for fining him $9.90 for employing an apprentice contrary to the local laws. The appeal was not sustained.

W. Cordles appealed against 295, Scranton, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The decision is that he be reinstated, owing to extenuating circumstances, and placed on the 90 days' list.

J. R. De Jong appealed against Union 97, Boston, for placing a member on the out of work list who had been discharged for being in a fight with a fellow-workman, which caused discharge of both. Appellant claims the member should not have been placed on the out of work list, but should have been punished by the union. If either or both were entitled to punishment it could have been imposed by fine, but not by depriving of out of work benefit. The appeal was not sustained.

I. Susman appealed against 97, Boston, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. Appellant shows that he paid the dues, in time, to a neighbor, who forgot or neglected to pay them to the secretary. The appeal was sustained.

J. Breinin appealed against 6, Syracuse, for fining him $25. The appeal was not sustained.

W. Schewe appealed against 187, Covington, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The appeal was not sustained.

INTERNATIONAL FINES

The International Executive Board approved the application of Union 129 Denver, Colo., to fine E. W. Fair No. 87335, $25.00 for allowing himself to become suspended, owing the union balance of private loan of $22.00. Following is the vote: Affirmative—7.

Approved application of Union 118, Peoria, Ill., to fine John W. Lucas No. 101127, Maynard Westerfield No. 112821, Chas. O'Malley No. 82729 each $100.00 for working in the unfair shop of F. P. Lewis. Following is the vote: Affirmative—6. The other member favored a $50.00 fine.

Approved application of Union 129 Denver, Colo., to fine Israel Reichman and Phillip Seidner $20.00 each for persistently doing team work and working overtime. Also approved extra fine of $10.00 placed upon Phillip Seidner for seeking the discharge of a fellow member, making total of $30.00. Following is the vote: Affirmative—7.

Approved application of Union 109 Aberdeen, Wash., to fine P. F. Larson No. 97454 $25.00 for scabbing. Following is the vote: Affirmative—7.

Approved application of Union 44, St. Louis, Mo., to fine Richard Baer No. 58157, $25.00 for working below the Bill of Prices. Following is the vote: Affirmative—7.

Approved application of Union 389 Paris, Ill., to fine C. L. Kruse No. 115635 and J. W. Lucas 101127 each $25.00 for scabbing in the shop of H. A. Bridgman. Following is the vote: Affirmative—7.

Approved application of Union 36, Topeka, Kan., to fine W. H. Johnson No. 77438, $25.00 for running an unfair shop and talking against the interests of the union. Following is the vote: Affirmative—7.

Approved application of Union 378 Brandon, Man., to annul the card and fine James Dillon No. 50934, $100.00 for running a scab shop; to annul the card of and fine Louise Schill No. 120358, $75.00 for scabbing and acting as spy for James Dillon; to annul the card of and fine Frank Shimek No. 83682, $50.00 for working as a foreman in Dillon's shop and trying to get good union men to go to work in the same shop; to fine Joseph Hall No. 83681, $25.00 and annul his card, for selling cigars for James Dillon. Following is the vote: Affirmative—6. The other member favored a fine of $50.00 for James Dillon and Louise Schill, and $25.00 for Frank Shimek.

Approved application of Union 6, Syracuse, N. Y., to fine J. J. Flynn No. 17247, a suspended member, $25.00 for continuing to work in a shop that was closed to union men, after being requested by the Executive Board to discontinue working there. Following is the vote: Affirmative—7.

Approved application of Union 440, Tampa,

Fla., to fine Gerardo de Diego, No. 89925, $15.00 for faults as delegate in Cuesta & Rey Co. shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative—6. Negative 1.

Approved application of Union 450, Oklahoma City, Okla., to fine D. G. Gibson, No. 99753, $25.00, for working in a scab shop in Lawton, Okla., which has been closed for over two years to Union men. Following is the vote: Affirmative—7.

CORRESPONDENCE

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 1, 1910.

At the recent convention of the Union Label Trades Department held at Toronto, Ont., especial attention was called to the W. U. L. L. and its splendid helpfulness to the trade union movement was highly commended and all labor was urged to assist in building up and maintaining this organization. All agree that women spend the greater part of the family income especially in so far as the actual living expenses is concerned. In these times of high prices the organized worker should at least see to it that his money is expended for union products wherever possible. In order to accomplish this it is necessary to first organize the purchasing agent of the family and the W. U. L. L. presents the easy means to accomplish this purpose. The initiation fee is small, the dues are nominal and always left to the wishes of the majority of the local leagues. There are no restrictions as to membership which embraces all women regardless of occupation and men who are accepted as members, but without vote.

It is said that the hand that rocks the cradle governs the world. Regardless of whether this is true or not we know that the hand that rocks the cradle spends the most of the family income.

Increased wages, shorter hours and improved shop conditions for the head of the family means better conditions for all of the family. If it is right for the men to strive for better conditions through the unions it is right from all standpoints for them to see to it that the women spend the money for union products. The W. U. L. L. is the ready means whereby they can be taught to do this. Help yourself, the family, the little children and all concerned by helping us to organize and maintain locals of the W. U. L. L. Information concerning the league, how to organize, etc., can be obtained from Anna Fitzgerald, president.

Fraternally yours,

Anna Fitzgerald, Pres.,
3309 Adams Street.

Aberdeen, S. Dak., Feb. 3, 1910.

To Officers and Members of all Local Unions of G. M. I. U. of A.:

We, the officers and members of Union 275, Aberdeen, So. Dak., feel it our duty to put before you the true character of one, E. H. Wilson, cigarmaker, lately suspended and fined by this local for defamation of officers and members. We do not feel as the fine alone is sufficient denunciation of a man of his stripe. This member has joined, and has been suspended no few times in the last few years. He has also made statements that his card was held by 275 on account of a shortage in order that he may obtain employment in a union shop, whereas he left Aberdeen owing a board bill and also in debt to many of the boys. We have received many communications from secretaries asking as to the truth of his statements which were all false. There are many other things which if published would condemn this man to every true union man, but it is unnecessary as we feel that this is sufficient to warn any member who may come in contact with him.

Officers and members of 275 Aberdeen, So. Dak.

Robt. M. Jackman, Secy.

Trinidad, Colo., Feb. 4, 1910.

Elsewhere in this issue of the Journal will be found an amendment submitted by Union 499 for the purpose of building a Home for aged, invalid and infirm members of our craft.

Believing it is the desire of the majority of our members that such institution be established, the better to care for those who are suffering from afflictions which makes them unable to work, for the old, and for the infirm, a place where they may go and receive the care and attention necessary to hasten a recovery, and where the old shall have the comforts and privileges that the aged enjoy.

It is also well known, that members suffering from tuberculosis need, and should have the best of care, such as only can be provided in an institution of this character, we of Colorado particularly, have seen members sent to this state, suffering from this dread disease, with nothing to see them through but the sick benefit, which is wholly inadequate to give them even the barest necessities. Climate alone does not cure, but when combined with absolute rest, freedom from worry, and proper diet, frequently effects a cure in a short time.

Many such members are sent to Denver, and the sick benefit paid out by Union 129 alone, for the year 1909, was $2,994.90, not to mention what they paid out of their local fund, provided for by local assessments.

As for those who from the effects of old age, general break-down, bad heart, asthma and catarrhal troubles we can state with freedom, that according to statistics from the Printers' Home, that an average of two-thirds of their members partaking of the comforts of their Home have been discharged as cured.

The maintenance of a Home of this character, according to the provisions of the amendment, should not be as much as that of the Printers' Home, they having paid on an average ten cents per month per member, for a period of eighteen years, the age of their Home, and they have no out-of-work or sick benefits to assist them, a feature which will aid us considerably from a financial standpoint.

In the preparation of the amendment we were aided and guided largely by the information so kindly furnished us by the Superintendent of the Printers' Home.

We firmly believe that such an institution as provided for in the amendment is an absolute necessity, and while it may not benefit such members who do not wish to take advantage of it for the reason that they have all these advantages at their private homes, this Home is intended for those unfortunates of our craft, who when they are old, or those whose health is shattered, and unable to bear the burden longer, need not be dependent on charity to provide their wants, where the sick will receive proper care and attention, quickly recover and again take up the battle of life. For these reasons we urge the necessity of building and maintaining the Home, and earnestly ask the local unions to indorse the amendment.

T. C. Hammer, Secy.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14, 1909.

Dear Sir and Brother:

The Census Bureau, in taking the 1910 census, as authorized by Congress, will enter more fully into the investigation of vocational occupations, including mortality, than heretofore. I am writing to impress upon you and all of the officers of the labor movement of our country, for themselves and their organizations and trades, the importance of giving the fullest possible information to the census enumerators when they call on you in regard to the specific character of the work, and also of seeing that precise information is given according to the certificates of death of the members of the organizations.

Labor's co-operation with the census officials and the enumerators can but have the best influence with all workers, whether organized or unorganized. If the officers of the labor organizations in general will impart to the representatives of the Census Bureau accurate information, the data will be the basis for the full census report upon vocational mortality, and this I take it must result in a better understanding, with consequently wiser legislation, as relates not only to mortality but to disability.

It is of great importance to all labor and to all the people that the Census Bureau shall be able to discriminate accurately between different occupations as to their risk of mortality, and therefore if you will kindly give the enumerators information as to the different kinds of occupations embraced in your organization as distinguished by the risk, according to your best judgment, this will aid the Bureau in making its classification of occupations. It is important that this information be got ready as early as practicable, as the Census Bureau will take up this question within a few weeks.

Permit me also to suggest to you and to all the officers of all labor organizations that the officers and members of local unions be prepared to give readily and accurately the fullest information to the Census Bureau and its enumerators.

Sincerely hoping that, in the interest of labor well as that of the general public regarding this important subject, all will give this information fully and at the earliest convenience, when called upon to do so, I am,

Fraternally yours,

Sam'l Gompers,
President American Federation of Labor.

Keokuk, Ia., Feb. 4, 1910.

We have for years in the past spent many thousands of dollars each year to advertise our blue label. I have noticed for some time that whenever we read in the Journal or otherwise of label agitation, it nearly always says, "Boost the Blue Label," which is all we have to fight opposition. The saying "The blue label is all we have is true, in fact too true. We are getting more cigarmakers all the time, our jobs are worth next to nothing, conditions are, it seems to me, getting worse in a great many ways and the bosses nearly always complain of the competition they encounter when selling cigars. Competition such as the difference in prices paid between the union bill of prices and the non-union bill; also our bosses can not give prizes away, and that we all know is what made the American Tobacco Company. Our bosses are a long ways from being in paradise, and I for one don't envy them their position. Why should we spend so much money to advertise for our bosses' benefit first and then ours. Every year we as a whole, spend enough money to open up an Int. factory of our own to employ a great amount of men, and each man employed would be one good drummer. As it is now we can not sell cigars for our bosses, but if the Int. union owned the factories we could boost our own cigars all the time. No one could get out an injunction against us compelling us to quit working for ourselves and our own interests. Our blue label is the best thing out, but it does not reach the spot any more. I know that and we need not try to fool ourselves when we have to force the bosses, at times, to put the label on the boxes.

One good factory in a good union city, with a brand of good five, ten, and higher-priced cigars, would certainly be a pleasure for me to live to see. For I am sure that we would soon have them all over the country. Let us all lay our own personal feelings aside and work for one great, good cause, "our own union factories." We have enough cigarmakers if we had our own factories we would not need to turn out the apprentices we do now. All we would need to do would be to boost our own cigars and make jobs for our own union brothers. I sincerely hope some good writer will take up the space in our Journal along this line instead of the personal articles which have appeared in the Journal for years past.

A Cigarmaker.

Decatur, Ill., Feb. 5, 1910.

Trade is extremely dull in this city at the present time. "Cause" enforcement of local option law. This city and the township in which it is situated voted on the local option question just twenty-one months ago. The election was carried by the drys or local optionists. The law was never enforced until the last few weeks; up to that time it was a huge farce. We have had a change of administration in the police department within the last month or six weeks. "Consequence" the law is rigidly enforced. There was in existence and doing business up to the above stated time at least fifty soft drink establishments, and each and all of them carried a full line of union-made cigars. Mostly the home product. These markets for our goods are now closed, you might say, with crepe on the door. However, the drug store, cigar store, etc., with their many alluring packages, are doing the cigar business. It goes without saying that these places are not any too favorable to the union goods. Take the average smoker if he is not a dyed in the wool union label advocate, when he is confronted with a cigar case full of cigars in fancy boxes, stylishly packed, tasty labels, etc., and the dealer persuading him to try one of these, he surely has the union label foremost in his mind if he does not capitulate. It is really surprising how the trade has fell off since this law has been enforced. The small shops or buckeyes are simply doing nothing, and really there seems no near relief in sight. The business here was affected considerable as soon as the saloons were voted out, but with much expenditure of money for label agitation we managed to maintain a half way showing. But if the present condition continues it don't look good for the future. Cigarmakers throughout the country who will be advised from one who has had actual experience, whatever you do use your best endeavors to defeat your enemy "local option." We, however, have one refuge in view, this local option question will again be submitted to the voters here on April 12, 1910. If we are fortunate enough to carry the day and we again have the licensed saloon it will bring a revival of trade and Decatur will be as of yore.

This union has arranged to place their label of Blue Song on the market, so that any local, no matter how small the membership, will be able to purchase them. Chas. Wright, Secy.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 1, 1910.

We believe it is most essential at this time for us to issue a statement on the convention amendment we offered some time ago, and which has been submitted to a popular vote of the unions.

The question has been raised as to the enormous amount of money the convention will cost. We are fully alive to the situation, and have been all the time. We are not inclined to promote June picnics and junketing trips for any one. Such the convention would be, to a great extent, it is claimed, we do not affirm or deny this as our experience has not been associated with such in the past. But we will say that we are more than willing to forego conventions if what we desire is done without them. Amendments after amendments have been proposed for home and other beneficial measures, and did not even receive the required number of endorsements. We deplore the indifference of the members. We submitted an amendment in May, 1907, as follows:

"A committee of three to investigate the advisability of the Int. Union establishing and maintaining a Home for the Aged and Invalid members. The committee to secure all possible information and data and report within 90 days the results of this work, and recommend such action by the Int. Union as in its judgment would be for the best interests of the membership."

We are sorry to say, the amendment lacked endorsements, and mind you, this amendment was offered at the same time Boston offered its amendment for a convention. The committee to furnish statistics, data, cost, finance, climatic conditions, etc. It would have aided the convention in arriving at results.

Union 44 offered an amendment in November, 1909 Journal, to establish a Bureau of Publicity. We advocate the same thing in article relative to convention amendment, not having received the required number of endorsements, can not be submitted. While we did not believe said bureau should be financed by assessments annually or semiannually, we can say it voiced our ideas. The finances we thought should be made possible by using the $1.00 per capita tax now allowed to local unions.

The members have always voted favorably on convention amendments. They have postponed the convention from time to time, never defeating any amendment to hold a convention. That seems to express the sentiments of the members in the matter.

We are advised when the sick benefits of unfortunate members cease or if not sufficient to keep him, to tell him, the lord knows brother how you can live without money, we have paid you what the constitution allows, we are through with you, we never have and never will we hope.

As to the fadists, dreamers and world improvers, if we did not have them we would not appreciate the safe, sane and practical men of our time.

In reply to the Int. Pres. ruling that part of the amendment naming Indianapolis, Ind., as the convention city, out of order, let us say that we differ with him. We are of the opinion that all resolutions, conclusions and recommendations of the Detroit convention were and are subject to whatever action the members of the C. M. I. U decide by popular vote.

Perhaps we should have mentioned Amend. Sec. 3 when we decided on Indianapolis. It was a matter of economy with us, being centrally located we thought it was the best place, but we do not want to be a stumbling block if that should prevent the convention. We waive at this time.

We were anxious to hold the convention as early as possible. We delegated the president the authority in our amendment, knowing he was fully acquainted with everything that would bring quick results if the amendment was carried.

We are willing to postpone if the membership desires so. We do not seek to disfranchise nor do we encourage snap judgment, and had not intended to violate any written or unwritten law of the C. M. I. U.

In conclusion, let us say that we can be found at all times working for the best interests of the members, and if our amendment is defeated will keep right on with amendments until those measures advocated by us are enacted.

Fraternally yours,

Union 129, Denver, Colo.

Caguas, P. R., Feb. 4, 1910.

The work here is in bad condition. Each week the manufacturers lock out a great many cigarmakers. The wages are very low. The material is of a very bad quality and the cigarmakers cannot make even a hundred cigars a day. All the manufacturers are against the trade unions, particularly against the Cigar Makers' International Union and this local union. They don't say in so many words that they are against the union, but their actions speak to this effect. We intend to strike here for an increase in wages.

With best wishes for all the members of the C. M. I. U. and all union men, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

P. Vega Santos.

La Grange, Ga., Jan. 31, 1910.

Local 478, of La Grange, Ga., wishes to thank Mr. F. R. Knight, manager of the La Grange Cigar Co., through this column, for his action in helping us to organize this local in the way of asking his cigarmakers to join us, and also promising that he would employ nothing but union men and would help us in any way that he possibly could to make our local a good one.

R. R. Cone, Secy.

Notes by Union 97 Boston.

Label Committee of No. 97 always are doing something to boom our label.

First. Our new design to place in barber shops, saloons and restaurants.

Second. Committee sent to Chamber of Commerce.

Third. Efforts to get union made cigars in the clubs.

Fourth. In the show cases in the large office buildings.

As we were warned to be on the alert long ago by International President that wherever the label is well advertised the trust will endeavor to gain a foothold, this heartless combination has placed all leading union brands on sale here and in Brockton below cost. They have two objects in view; first, to drive out competitors; second, to get the smoking public to smoke their product. Well, we will have to wait and see if our government can do anything to curb the monster.

New England Conference, as usual, is a wide-awake organization and easily outranks the other trade councils.

No. 97 is to be credited with formation of a label section of Boston Central Labor Union.

Why does the government guarantee Manila cigars when they know nothing about them?

Cold snap had quite an effect on business.

There never was a time in the history of our industry when it was so necessary for to boom the label as the present.

Brockton retail dealers are organized.

We can whip the trust, but each must do his share.

When shall we add the old age pension to our chain of benefits?

There are more accidents and deaths amongst the unorganized than organized.

Longevity and immunity from accidents due to better conditions and shorter hours are secured through the trade unions.

Better homes, lesser rentals, higher standard of living, raising of school age.

This is the transition period.

Organize the workers.

Build up the movement.

Results will follow.

REPORT OF INTERNATIONAL FINANCIER.

Fort Madison, Ia., Feb. 5, 1910.

Since last report have examined the accounts of the following unions, viz.:

No. 23, Springfield, Mo.

The books and accounts here are in good order. The secretary tries, that makes them look better. Surplus in stamps because some of the members leave them with the secretary. You better keep them in your due book or some time you will do this with the wrong fellow, then there is liable to be trouble and it will be you for it. It is only fair that you attend to keeping your own due book and stamps. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Aug. 1, 1907	$ 418.09
Receipts to Jan. 1, 1910	1,235.08
Expended over percentage in 1907	15.75
Total	$1,660.92
Expenditures to Jan. 1, 1910	1,362.83
Balance would be Jan. 1, 1910	$ 298.09
Receipts to Jan. 31, 1910	42.19

 In possession Treas. H. H. Janson.... 24.87

Total$ 694.39

Deficiency of union Jan. 1st, 1910.....$ 1.00
 This $1.00 is a correction of International office of loans collected during 1908, not included in amount held against ex-Secy. R. Massey.

No. 163, Marysville, Kans.

This little union has sure had its share of trouble. Over the limit in dues for most of its members. The new secretary seems capable and says he will do the right thing, and am sure he will and can do nicely. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Aug. 1st, 1907.....$101.60
 Receipts to Jan. 1st, 1910..... 268.80

Total$370.40

Deficiency of union Jan. 1st 1910.....$ 51.24
 This deficiency does not include amount expended over percentage during year 1909.

No. 322, Joplin, Mo.

The books and accounts here are really in good order. Benefit cards and vouchers for expense all on file. Accounts balanced at the end of every month. The trouble was when ex-Secy. John H. Hebbeln retired from office. After refunding $40.00 he still was short in cash $100.05, beside $2.40 errors in accounts. No attempt to mix up things, simply got away with the money. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Aug. 1st, 1907.....$1,941.80
 Receipts to Jan. 1st, 1910..... 929.05
 Expended over percentage, 1908..... 11.82

 In possession Fin. Secy. Chas. A. Patterson95
 Total$ 490.60

Deficiency of union Jan. 31st, 1910.....$ 117.07
 This balance and deficiency for Jan. 31st, 1910, does not include amount expended over percentage during 1909.

No. 419, Salina, Kans.

The books and accounts here are in very good order, everything considered. Ledger nicely posted. Small surplus in stamps. Benefit cards in good order. Vouchers for expense all on file except for November and December, 1909. Corrected small difference in the bank account. Trade in this locality very quiet for home-made cigars. Modern business methods must be applied or they never will be better. No good reason for present conditions. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Aug. 1st, 1907.....$376.90
 Receipts to Jan. 1st, 1910..... 418.25
 Expended over percentage in 1908..... 15.85

Cigar Makers' Official Journal

ISSUED MONTHLY.

G. W. PERKINS, Editor and Publisher.

Entered as Second-Class Matter, Nov. 28, 1894, at the Post Office at Chicago, Ill., under Act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $1.00 per year. Single copies ten cents. Advertising rates furnished on application.

CHICAGO, FEBRUARY 15, 1910.

The trade union movement came into existence as a living necessity for the protection and advancement of the producing classes. It seeks to obtain to-day a fair share of the wealth created for the use, well-being and comfort of the masses. The trade unions are not content to pass rosy resolutions glorifying a Utopian future and starving to death in an effort to reach it. It rather insists that the workers shall receive every dollar it can justly demand for the use, advancement and well-being of the present toilers. It is the natural, logical and most feasible means whereby and through which the workers can protect and advance their material, economic and social well-being. And in this connection it has done more than any other or all agencies combined. The trade unionist does not know and does not pretend to know what the future state shall be. While he hopes it will be better than the present, he is most concerned and rightly so in what is best for himself and his fellow workers right now, and how best to obtain it. Experience and common sense teaches, and all men with sound minds know, that the trade union movement is the proper working class movement. They are also mindful of its imperfections and shortcomings and they manfully strive to correct them instead of trying to destroy the movement itself. They also know that the ability to do good and go ahead is always handicapped not by the unions or its system but by the non-unionists who have failed to fall into line and do their share in the good work so necessary for the well-being of all workers. All true trade unionists hope for a better living existence and all know that the trade union movement is paving the way for a higher moral, social, economic and scientific life for all mankind. The trade union movement will live to fulfill the most sanguine expectations and claims of its most enthusiastic supporters.

Congressman Lundin has introduced a resolution in Congress authorizing the appointment of a committee composed of seven members to investigate the various systems of old age insurance, old age pension and annuities that are now in operation in the different countries of the world. There is no question but what there is a growing sentiment in the minds and hearts of all right thinking people, whether they are members of unions or not, that the old age pension should be established. The trade union movement is committed to this policy, mostly however by resolutions instead of substantial acts and laws. Very few of the International Unions of this country have so far adopted the old age pension. While the Cigarmakers International Union has its out of work benefit system, it however cannot be truthfully claimed as an old age pension because the young as well as the old participate in this benefit. The out of work benefit is one of the grandest benefits a labor organization can adopt. Still there is no benefit which so appeals to the kindly human instinct like the benefit that rightly takes care of the one who handicapped by the infirmities of old age finds it hard to successfully compete in these sordid times with the younger generation. The skin-flint alleged reformer says "save your money," in the face of the absolute fact that it really costs all anybody receives as a wage earner to maintain a decent living. As a matter of fact it is the one who spends his money that makes countries great industrially and commercially. The one who goes out and spends his money is a greater boon to society at large than the miser who hoards it. The fact remains that a great majority of us don't save whether we are able to or not. The man or woman who goes through life doing their full duty, their share of work, have earned and are justly entitled, when overtaken by old age and its attendant infirmities, to a living based upon right instead of charity. All such have a right to at least spend their declining years without depending upon charity or suffering privation in the matter of food, shelter and clothing. No honestly inclined, kindly disposed, right thinking, human beings can justly deny this. The trade unions in this as in all other reforms calculated to benefit human kind took the initiative and pointed out the way. Some have already adopted the old age pension benefits and all should do so, whether the state does so or not.

All things considered there is no doubt that the trade-union movement is responsible for what is known as the public school system, an institution whose power for good results is unsurpassed by any other public institution. Early in the struggles of the workers for better conditions, and when they were compelled to meet in secret, when it was a crime in the eyes of the law for the working men to meet to discuss trade affairs, they soon discovered that what they wanted next to a union along craft lines was more and better education. By association they soon brought out the fact that only the children of the rich were given an opportunity and enjoyed the priceless advantage of securing an education. All schools were private and costly. Out of all this grew the agitation for and final establishment of the public school system. The advantages of this system are so varied and extensive and so well known that it is impossible in limited space to even tell where its benefits commence or approximate the limit of its magnificent advantages.

The federal government is making an effort to increase the rates of mail on second class matter, which if adopted will materially increase the cost of all official organs and trade union papers and periodicals. The President of the United States says that the federal government pays the railroads $100.00 a ton for carrying second class matter, while well informed people say that the express companies pay the railroads only $50.00 a ton for carrying second class matter by express. The express cars go on the same train, start and reach their destinations at the same time the mail cars do. The natural question is "Why is the postoffice compelled to pay the railroads twice as much per ton as the express companies, for carrying the same matter." Newspapers, periodicals, magazines and printed matter constitute the means for disseminating educational matter for the masses. The so-called common people and trade unionists especially should earnestly protest against any increase in the cost for hauling their periodicals.

Interest in the anti-tuberculosis campaign now being waged throughout the United States is evidenced by the fact that in the year 1909, 163 new anti-tuberculosis associations were formed, 133 tuberculosis sanatoria and hospitals were established, and 91 tuberculosis dispensaries were opened. Compared with previous years, this is the best record thus far made in the fight against consumption in this country.

During the year 1909, forty-three more associations for the prevention of tuberculosis were formed than during the previous twelve months, and sixty-two more hospitals and sanatoria were established. On January 1, 1910, there were in the United States 394 anti-tuberculosis associations, 386 hospitals and tuberculosis sanatoria and 265 special tuberculosis dispensaries.

Never before have so many different groups been working for one common end. At the present time, schools, women's clubs, labor unions, churches, children's organizations, state legislatures, municipal bodies, insurance companies, fraternal organizations, bill posters, laymen and doctors of every creed and color are all banded together in one effort to rid this country of consumption.

Some time ago Secretary Dickenson obtained considerable notoriety, especially in the trade, by issuing a notice instructing the army and navy departments not to purchase tobacco and cigars from the American Tobacco Company Trust, basing his order upon the grounds that it, the Trust, was an illegal combination, within the meaning of the Sherman Anti-Trust law. The order may have been given in good faith, it may not have been simply a bluff, we have been told by one who claims to know that while the purchasing agents involved in the order do not buy direct of the Trust, that while they purchase from other agencies, they nevertheless use just as much of the Trust products as ever.

The carping critics of trade unions and trade unionists always base their narrow minded fault-finding criticism on the few bad things the unions sometimes do, instead of judging us from the broad middle ground or on the average. No one denies but what there is occasionally a mistake made but they are usually the mistakes of the head instead of the heart. These unfair critics are mighty quick to see the bad and loud in their denunciation but they will not see any of the many good things the union does, even with a magnifying glass, and they would not admit it if they did.

The American Cigar and Tobacco Trust employs about 80 or 90 per cent women and children at starvation wages in the manufacture of its cigars. Who is the greatest benefactor in any community, the union manufacturer who employs men at fair wages who spend what they receive in the community or the Trust which employs nearly all women and children at small wages? The Trust takes the children out of the schools and playgrounds and puts them at work at starvation wages and puts the father on the street, a wayfarer in search of honest employment.

We reproduce herewith a photograph of a stripping room in a Philippine cigar factory. The lack of clothing for the girls displayed by the picture is largely due to the fact that they work for wages that would not be car fare for a girl in this country. A full fledged cigar maker receives from 15c to 37c per day for making cigars. Cigars now being made in factories constancy of meeting each night for a period of three months, the diligence and combativeness of these men who spurned criticism for adopting new methods, which were foreign to the cigarmakers of Tampa. This within itself shows leadership, reason, judgment and prudence.

The old method handed down for generations was "feast in the pan," strike, everybody, quit work, tie up the industry and wait develop-increased in price and modified to benefit the cigarmakers, 240.

Every Londres exceeding 5 inches in length and diameter, No. 42, will be paid $35 per thousand.

During my stay in Tampa I worked with the committee at their meeting, but did not visit the manufacturers, all the business was transacted in Spanish.

The industry of cigarmaking is of a greater magnitude in Tampa than generally supposed. It is a fact that the city is putting out a million cigars a day. It is estimated that six thousand and six hundred cigarmakers are at the benches, and four thousand other people share in their production.

The wages before the new bill went in effect was $168,000 per week, and now it will be a great deal more. Everything points to a successful year in Tampa, yet it must be expected that now and then there will be some difficulty, but the J. A. B. of Tampa are equal to the emergency and all will end well.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED

Union 499 offers the following amendment to the Constitution:

1. That an assessment of (3) three dollars be levied on each (30) thirty, and (15) fifteen-cent member, payable in (12) twelve monthly assessments of (25) twenty-five cents each, said assessments due on the first Saturday in each month, commencing June, 1910.

The purpose of this assessment is, to establish a home for invalid, aged and infirm members of the Cigar Makers' International Union of America, said home shall be located in one of the following states or territories, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico or Arizona.

2. The proceeds of this assessment shall be held by the local unions until such time as seven trustees have been elected, who shall give suitable bond or bonds, to be approved by the International Executive Board, said trustees shall then take charge of all moneys collected for the home.

(b) That within (60) sixty days after the adoption of this amendment, the International President shall notify local unions to make nominations for seven trustees, the election to be conducted in accordance with the popular election laws of the Constitution. The trustees so elected shall hold office until the second general election after the adoption of this amendment, or until their successors shall be elected, and thereafter be elected at every general election.

(c) No member shall be eligible to the office of trustee unless he shall have been a member in good standing for a period of (5) five years prior to the election.

(d) Each member of the Board of Trustees shall receive as compensation the sum of (5) five dollars per diem and transportation by the shortest route to and from the place of meeting.

3. The duties of the trustees: To select a site for the home, and erect suitable buildings thereon, the cost not to exceed one hundred thousand dollars, to be known as "The Union Cigar Makers' Home," the same to be incorporated under the laws of the state or territory where located; the articles of incorporation to be ratified by the International Executive Board; the trustees to meet annually at the home, and to make an annual printed report.

The Board of Trustees shall elect a Board of Directors when the home is incorporated; to appoint a superintendent who shall have charge of the home, under the direction of the Board of Trustees; to elect one of their number president, one vice-president, and one secretary-treasurer.

The president of the board shall be empowered to call a meeting of the Board of Trustees whenever necessary until the completion of the home, and once a year thereafter.

The Board of Trustees are to make all rules and regulations governing the home.

4. For the maintenance of the home, special assessments shall be levied on all (30) thirty, and (15) fifteen-cent members, according to the recommendation of the Board of Trustees; and all sick and out-of-work benefits of the inmates of the home—less dues and international assessments—shall go into the home fund.

5. Any (30) thirty or (15) fifteen-cent member in good standing of a local union of the Cigar Makers' International Union of America who has been such for a period of three continuous years, may apply for admission to the home. Application must be made upon the form provided by the trustees, be indorsed by the local union with which he or she is affiliated, and set forth, by a physician's certificate, their physical condition at the date of application. When passed upon favorably by the admission committee, a certificate of admission is such as the above are now admitted duty free to this country and contain a government stamp which claims they—the cigars—are made "By cleanly operatives in a sanitary factory under the control of the board of health."

The daily papers recently printed a story that John D. Rockefeller, who is said to be one of the largest stockholders in the American Tobacco Co. the Trust, gave $5,000,000 to the anti-saloon movement. If this is true, and it has been persistently rumored that it is, then how do the saloon people who sell the cigars of the Trust feel about it. Every time they buy a Trust made cigar they contribute something towards the fund that is being used to put them out of business.

The self-constituted critic of the trade union movement and its loyal supporters, who is always howling against the unions and their representatives, does about as much damage as the little dog barking at the moon. He fools himself and possibly disturbs the policeman.

REPORT OF ORGANIZER.

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 5, 1910.

To make a bill of prices in Tampa is in no degree a small task, and the commendable manner in which it was accomplished by the committees who were elected to regulate and make a complete new bill, deserve applause of every member of the International Union. The ments. How often this has proved disastrous; it has retarded, and in many instances retrograded the workers to conditions unheard of. Perhaps there is not a community better acquainted with this than Tampa, and for all that there are yet some who are willing to experiment with infamy.

The departure from the old and unsound method of substituting fairness and commonsense, meeting the manufacturers in a business way and agreeing upon a uniform bill of prices, and not a cigarmaker losing a day's work is indeed something to feel proud of. Never before was this accomplished, where the union men and the manufacturers have agreed on one common plan, to tote fair with each other, and have one price in all factories.

It may be well to say that the joint advisory board submitted the bill of prices to all the locals and out of that great number of men there was but three votes against the proposition.

The committee secured the various shapes and brands of cigars from every factory in the city, and set a price on them, and then reported to a committee from the manufacturers, and the two agreed upon the prices. It has been a great victory and the increase in wages to the cigarmakers will be over $150,000 per year.

For the lack of space I will give a brief statement of the new bill: Number of cigars increased in price, 141; number of cigars decreased in length, 27; number of cigars decreased in diameter, 72; total number of cigars issued by the secretary of the board, which must be presented to the superintendent on arrival at the home.

The amendment of Union 37, Fort Wayne, Ind., as published in the January Journal, as follows:

Sec. 134½. A quarterly assessment of 25c shall be levied on all 30c due members of the International Union on the first Mondays in January, April, July and October, the money collected from the above assessments shall be placed in a fund reserved for the purpose of building and maintaining a cigarmakers' home for aged and infirm members, and also to establish a weekly benefit for superannuated members.

Amend Sec. 118 by adding to section: "Except 30c due members, who are over 60 years of age and who have been paying dues continuously for a period of not less than 15 years and who are not barred by Sections 122, 125, 128 or 130 from drawing benefit. Such members shall be entitled to register and draw out of work benefit at any time."

Amend Section 121 by adding: "This section shall not apply to 30c members who have paid dues for not less than 15 years and who are over 60 years of age."

Received the endorsement of 138, Newark; 102, Kansas City; 299, Middletown; 318, Chattanooga; 215, Logansport; 375, Anaconda; 315, St. Cloud.

The amendment of Union 275, Aberdeen, S. D., as published in the January Journal, as follows:

(1) An election shall take place in May, 1910, the date to be set by the International President, for the purpose of electing a commission of (3) three members.

(2) It shall be the duty of this commission to visit Arizona, New Mexico, California, Colorado and Utah for the purpose of investigating the climate and advisability of locating a home for aged, sick and disabled members of the C. M. I. U. of A.

(3) Also to ascertain as close as possible the cost of building and maintaining the same and to suggest laws governing the qualification for entering the home, also rules for running the same.

(4) After the deliberations of the commission they shall make a full report to the International President, who shall have the same printed in the Official Journal and have a copy sent to each local union, who shall vote on each section of the report separate.

Received the endorsement of 138, Newark; 102, Kansas City; 318, Chattanooga; 210, Rome; 129, Denver; 216, Logansport; 315, St. Cloud.

Note.—At the request of Union 275, the word "May" has been substituted for "March" in the first line of this amendment, as published in the January Journal.

Union 316 offers the following amendment to the International constitution:

Amend Sec. 67 by adding after the word "adoption" on the last line, the following:

"And except in the 1st and 9th districts of Pennsylvania, where the initiation fee for applicants for membership shall be 50 cents for a period of three months, beginning the first day of the month following the adoption of this amendment."

"That should the results in increased membership from the operation of this amendment justify an extension of time the International Executive Board is hereby empowered to extend the time for an additional three months or such additional periods as they may deem necessary."

Sec. 67 as amended to read accordingly.

The amendment of Union 77, Minneapolis, Minn., as published in the December Journal, as follows:

Amend Section 219 of the Constitution by adding "And if adopted shall take effect and remain in force from the first day of the month succeeding the official publication of its adoption."

Received the endorsement of 331, Crookston; 141, New York; 150, Sioux City; 491, Huron; 14, Chicago; 212, Superior; 129, Denver; 315, St. Cloud; 61, La Crosse; 306, Pueblo; 41, Aurora; 372, Marshall; 98, St. Paul; 5, Rochester; 245, Ashland; 208, Kalamazoo; 138, Newark; 69, Three Rivers; 221, South Bend; 217, South Chicago; 15, Chicago.

Having received the required number of endorsements, will be submitted to popular vote.

The amendment of Union 10, Providence, R. I., as published in the December Journal, as follows:

Amend Section 156 by adding the following to the last line:

Or to manufacturers who send out loose labels to their agents, or representatives, in any locality.

Sec. 156 to read as follows:

Each local union shall furnish, through its shop committeeman, to all strictly union shops, free of charge, as many of the labels as may be required from week to week for all cigars actually made by members of the union and persons holding retiring cards. All label orders shall be signed by the shop collector. The label orders are to be furnished by the International President at cost. No shop shall be considered a strict union shop unless the packers of the shop are members of the International Union, and the apprentice laws of the local union be complied with. Where the manufacturer deals in Chinese, tenement house or scab cigars, it shall be optional with local unions to withhold the label from such firm. It shall be optional with local unions to grant the union label to any manufacturer or firm whose name or firm name appears in or about the box containing Chinese, tenement house or scab cigars, or whose name or firm name appears on or about such non-union cigars. All labels issued must bear the ink stamp. It shall be optional with local unions to paste them on the boxes. But in no case shall the union label be used in a factory in the United States which pays less than $7.00 per thousand, and no less than $1.00 for packing per thousand, and in Canada, which pays less than $6.00 per thousand for mold work—5 molds of 20 bunches.

Nor shall it be allowed on any cigars sold for less than $20.00 per thousand. This shall not debar local unions from establishing a price above $20.00 per thousand. No union shall be allowed to furnish the labels for cigars made in whole or in part by machinery. It shall be optional with local unions to grant labels to members who are not employing any journeymen if they have not been members for one year. This shall not apply to members suspended who were, prior to their suspension, members of the International Union for one year or longer, provided they be reinstated within six months after suspension. But in no event shall a manufacturer be permitted to use the label who offers presents as an inducement for the sale of his goods, or to manufacturers who send out loose labels to their agents or representatives in any locality.

Received the endorsement of 297, Canton; 102, Kansas City; 90, New York; 150, Sioux City; 269, Nashua; 72, Burlington; 129, Denver; 99, Ottawa; 315, St. Cloud; 114, Jacksonville; 49, Springfield; 291, San Jose; 44, St. Louis; 98, St. Paul; 5, Rochester; 94, Pawtucket; 69, Three Rivers.

Not having received the required number of endorsements, will not be submitted to popular vote.

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

The following are the only alterations or amendments to the Constitution adopted since the Detroit (1896) convention, and not published in the 20th edition of the Constitution:

By Union 54, Evansville, Ind.

Amend Section 193 by adding, on line 4, the following: "Of financial secretary, treasurer, trustee and member of the finance committee. This shall apply to all past and future offenses." The section to read as follows: "Any officer or member of the International Union or any officer of any local union who shall obtain money or benefits under false pretenses, or who shall appropriate any money belonging to the union to his own use shall not be eligible to hold the office of financial secretary, treasurer, trustee and member of the finance committee of any local union or the International Union. This shall apply to all past and future offenders. And notice of all defalcations and misappropriations of moneys shall be forwarded to the International President, who shall publish the same in the Official Journal. Defaulters shall not be entitled to receive any benefits prescribed in this Constitution until their defalcations have been paid by them."

LOST CARDS

Section 11. Any member losing or destroying his loan book shall not be entitled to receive any benefits or a duplicate loan book before the expiration of two months, and financial secretaries of local unions must notify the International President of such loss or destruction immediately, the same to be published in the Official Journal by the International President. The International President shall be the only person to issue a duplicate.

Members having lost their traveling cards take notice:

No duplicate card will be issued for lost card unless the full name of members, the card number, the date of initiation and the union where the card was last deposited are given. Members who lose cards are not entitled to benefits until they secure duplicates. No duplicate cards are issued except upon application through some secretary, when the time limit of two months has expired.

Month after month unscrupulous men impose upon secretaries and members under the plea of lost cards. The constitution provides a punishment for lost cards. Its purpose is to stop the carelessness and the traffic made with full cards by permitting them to be held as security.

Don't issue letters to any member claiming lost card unless you know his actual standing.

Secretaries have no right to issue certificates in place of lost cards. Members who secure employment should be entered as admitted to the union.

Secretaries should be careful and enter all loans granted and repaid and all balances carried from one card to another in letters and figures. The issue of duplicates will be delayed in all cases where information is not complete.

Secretaries should examine due books where claim of lost card is made. Report full name, number, date and place of initiation and when and where card was last deposited.

Private loans will be entered on duplicates issued upon request of unions.

Enter all loans granted in figures and letters.

Secretaries will please notify this office as to whether any private loans are due on cards reported lost, otherwise they are issued with only the International loan account. This does not release members from their just obligations to the unions. The absence of the private loans, however, quite often cause members to overlook those loans and suspensions follow.

No cards will be issued in any case where the full information required is not given.

Hence members simply delay the issuance of their duplicates by failure to furnish complete data. This is done to protect members and prevent unscrupulous fellows from imposing on secretaries.

The following have owed private loans to Union 357 for over six months and the union requests that they pay up as we have no interest in the C. P. R. and need the money. R. Craig, Financial Secretary, Union No. 357, Vancouver, B. C.: F. Timler (1047), $2.00; C. Wolff (113603), $2.00; F. H. Hansen (85088), $3.50; M. Riedel (67445), $3.50; M. Bazel (120684), $3.50; W. Mead (10940), $3.50; J. O'Hearn (36125), $3.50; E. Donlan (116677), $4.00; Louis Polack (9788), $4.00; F. Schatter (10000), $4.00; Andrew Anderson, $2.00; J. Byrnes (70537), $2.00; James Brown (66930), $4.00; W. Balfour (119065), $4.00; W. Cristoll (109383), $2.00; E. O'Brien (97889), $2.00; P. M. Maloney (106375), $4.00; J. J. This is only a few of the traveling members that owe this union and we would be pleased to hear from them first as their loans have been standing anywhere from a few months to a number of years and they should make some effort to repay these loans. The members of this union have to assess themselves from time to time to replace the deficiency caused by the loans granted members. We will have to advertise a lot more next month if we do not hear from them either by way of an excuse for not paying or by paying up at least some of their indebtedness.

Union 498, Everett, Wash., requests all members owing private loans to please pay up as we need the money or the enforcement of the constitution will follow. Secretary please notify members of same and collect amount opposite each who owe for 1909: John Hess (27831), $2.85; Frank Tschida (17152), $1.50; W. E. Kelley (43104), $1.00; John Lewis (81406), $1.00; H. Fortier (85230), $1.00; G. Felver (98723), $1.00.

Union 139, Long Hill, Conn., requests the following traveling members to make payments of private loans immediately or the union will take action: Leo Elizer, 50c; J. Harwood, 50c; F. McKenzie (81765), 50c; Wm. Jennings (61886), 50c; L. M. Sullivan (48510), 50c; B. Sullivan (66652), 50c; W. Kane, 50c; P. Creagan (108216), 50c; Philip Kempf (46381), 50c; J. Follette (84762), 50c; E. Frisch (5852), 50c; W. Mosher (7438), $1.00; J. Stettler, 50c; J. Driscoll (87752), 50c; Forest Oellert, 50c; R. McGraw, 50c; John Arnold (74708), 50c; J. Union 134 request the following members to pay private loans they received: J. Ramberger, No. 93956; W. Heasley, No. 203623; G. Weinberg, No. 60159; G. Reed and Carl Getz.

Secretary holding the card of Vincent Miller, No. 12527, please collect $2.40 private loan he owes to Union 193, Jefferson City, and $7.50 unpaid board bill.

Members owing Union 97, Boston, Mass., private loans who do not pay the constitutional percentage on same will be suspended.

The following members owe Union 483, Gloversville, N. Y., private loans: H. Allen, 50c; C. Duplain, 50c; F. Harding, 50c; T. Miller, $1.25; J. Purtell, $1.00; J. Trout, 50c; W. E. Connor, 50c; E. W. Fisk, 75c; J. Stettler, 50c; H. J. Mellow, 50c; J. Trainor, 75c. Secretaries please take notice.

The main building of the Printers' Home was dedicated in 1892. The average number of residents is 150, the average cost per resident being $30 a month.

IN MEMORIAM

In reporting deaths kindly comply with the following, and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of members. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the record of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such cards, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the letter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

The following unions adopted resolutions of regret and condolence, relating to death or deaths as follows, and ordered charter draped in mourning for thirty days:

Union 95, St. Joseph, Mo.—George L. Lewis (88385), who died here January 1, 1910. Committee attended funeral.

Union 375, Anaconda, Mont.—John W. Frinke, president of the local union, who died December 30. The union attended the funeral in a body. The remains were shipped to Tacoma, Wash., for burial.

Union 72, Burlington, Ia.—Guy Harbaugh, who died December 22, 1909. The union attended the funeral in a body.

Union 25, Milwaukee, Wis.—J. A. Wacanta (89661), who died on January 7, 1910.

Union 482, Wausau, Wis.—Harry E. Sere (71156), who died at Mercy Hospital, Antigo, Wis., January 26. Funeral services were attended by Cigar Makers and F. O. E. The remains were conducted to the depot for shipment to home in London, Ont., for burial.

Union 26, South Norwalk, Conn.—John P. H. Mohring, who died January 9, 1910. Union furnished two pallbearers and the Sons of Herman, four.

REPORT OF INTERNATIONAL FINANCIER.

Since last report have examined the accounts of the following unions, viz:

Union 15, Chicago, Ill

The books and accounts here are very nice. All accounts balanced at the end of every month. Funds always in bank. Stamp account correct. Ledger posted to show members' standing in dues, also benefits drawn. Benefit cards and original vouchers for expense on file in the rotation in which the benefit is entered. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand April 24, 1905.....	$ 2,441.68
Receipts to Dec. 1, 1909.....	23,938.32
Expended over percentage in 1905-6-7-8...	759.72
Due to International Union on examination.....	41.77
Total	$27,181.49

Total

Deficiency of union Dec. 1, 1909..... $ 4.00

Union 111, Des Moines, Iowa.

The books and accounts here are in better condition than when last examined; still room for improvement. More care must be taken when granting benefit. Illegal benefits are ugly affairs. So many of the members here are slow in the payment of dues. Benefit cards in fair order. Vouchers in good order. Corrected small errors in dues accounts. Cash account correct. More care must be taken with the ledger. An old member that knows better was paid sick benefit still owing $10.00 illegal benefit from last examination, which must be returned immediately to avoid trouble; prominence of such members only aggravate the offense. Section 106, reference the collection of loans, must be complied with. Strong talk don't go—it is a case of settle, comply with the law, or trouble will follow. Amount expended over percentage during 1909 not included in this examination. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Sept. 1, 1907.....	$5,472.31
Receipts to Dec. 31, 1909.....	4,791.01

Expended over percentage in 1907.....	62.87
Due International Union on examination..	435.85
Total	$10,762.04
Expense to Dec. 31, 1909.....	5,208.60
Balance should be Dec. 31, 1909.....	$5,553.44
Funds of Union—

Total $4,657.70

Deficiency of union Dec. 31, 1909..... $ 895.74

Union 174, Joliet, Ill.
The books and accounts here are in excellent condition. All benefit cards and vouchers endorsed by whoever receives the money, on file in the rotation in which they are entered in the accounts. Cash and stamp accounts correct. Ledger nicely posted and all cash reported just as it should be—correspond with the bank book all the time. Statement as follows:
Balance on hand Oct. 1, 1907..... $1,462.56
Receipts to Dec. 1, 1909..... 2,696.95
Expended over percentage in 1907-8..... 40.09

Total $4,199.60

In possession Fin. Sec. N. J. Green..... 35.04

Total $ 412.18

Deficiency of union Dec. 1, 1909..... $ 40.09
This deficiency is the amount expended over percentage during 1907 and 1908 and not yet replaced.

Union 177, Council Bluffs, Iowa.
The books and accounts here are not in good order. Benefit cards on file, also all vouchers, but they are not endorsed. Entered interest to Jan. 1, 1910, in the Jan. 1, 1910, receipts. The balance due on amount embezzled by ex-Fin. Sec. Carl C. Johnson at time of examination ($40.00) was secured by note endorsed by a reputable business man. The balance as per this examination for Jan. 1, 1910, does not include amount expended over percentage. Statement as follows:
Balance on hand Aug. 1, 1908..... $ 111.33
Receipts to Jan. 1, 1910..... 595.73

Total $ 707.06
Expense to Jan. 1, 1910..... 515.13

Balance on hand should be Jan. 1, 1910..... $ 191.93

In possession Fin. Sec. E. Burke..... 22.20

Total $ 512.20

Deficiency of union Dec. 1, 1909..... $ 4.97
This deficiency is the amount expended over percentage during 1908 not yet replaced.

Union 223, Ottumwa, Iowa.
Here is one union that needs fixing. Liberal doses of ginger. They can spend their percentage and then some. That is the limit on what has been done. Looks like the present financial secretary and other officers were awakened to the necessity of doing something. Have hopes for the future. There is a chance here. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Feb. 1, 1906..... $ 394.56
Receipts to Jan. 1, 1910..... 1,076.71
Expended over percentage in 1906..... 35.33
Expended over percentage in 1907..... 41.29
Expended over percentage in 1908..... 44.32
Expended over percentage in 1909..... 34.89

Total $1,627.20

Balance should be Jan. 1, 1910..... $ 578.10

Funds of Union—
Jan. 1, 1910, in Iowa Nat. Bank..... $329.56
In possession Fin. Sec. Jno. C. Fisher..... 23.90

Total $ 353.46

Deficiency of union Jan. 1, 1910..... $ 224.64

This balance includes amount expended over percentage during 1909. One nice lot of illegal percentage to be replaced.

Union 496, Waterloo, Iowa.

The books and accounts here are in very good order. No attempt to mix things up by ex-Secretary John Knudson (72492); he simply took the money, $81.87, the amount embezzled. The union has agreed with him that he should work, the financial secretary to collect his wages, pay his dues and apply balance on amount stolen. Agreement made and signed before notary by himself and wife. Seems like he ought to remember this. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Feb. 1, 1908..... $ 155.74
Receipts to Jan. 1, 1910..... 610.81
Due International Union on examination..... 1.20

Total $ 767.75

Balance should be Jan. 1, 1910..... $ 256.57

Funds of Union—
Jan. 1, 1910, in Security Savings Bank..... $166.03
In possession Fin. Sec. Ed. M. Tyman..... 1.51

Total $ 167.54

Deficiency of union Jan. 1, 1910 (including amount embezzled)..... $ 89.03

Yours fraternally,
W. A. CAMPBELL,
International Financier.

M. Lundin, membre du Congrès, a soumis une résolution au Congrès autorisant la nomination d'un comité composé de sept membres chargés de faire une investigation des différents systèmes d'assurances et de pensions pour les vieillards et d'annuités qui sont en ce moment en opération dans les différentes parties du monde. Il n'y a pas de doute qu'il existe un sentiment très prononcé, et qui va augmentant dans l'esprit et le cœur de toute personne bien pensante, qu'elle soit ou ne soit pas membre d'unions, en faveur de l'établissement de pensions pour les vieillards, autrement dites, "pensions de retraite." Le mouvement unioniste favorise ce mouvement, davantage il est vrai par des résolutions platoniques que par des actes et des décrets effectifs. Un très petit nombre parmi les Unions Internationales de ce pays ont adopté jusqu'à présent les pensions de retraite. Alors que l'Union Internationale des Cigariers a son système de bénéfice pour les sans-travail, celui-ci ne peut cependant être appelé véritablement "pension de retraite," vu que les jeunes participent à ce bénéfice, tout autant que les vieux. Le bénéfice des sans-travail est parmi les plus grands qu'une association ouvrière puisse adopter. Il n'y a pas de bénéfice qui appelle plus fortement à l'instinct humain de bonté que celui qui sert à prendre soin, et avec justice, de l'ouvrier qui, aggravé par les infirmités de la vieillesse, trouve difficile de lutter avec succès en ces temps de matérialisme et de faim de lucre, contre la jeune génération. Le réformateur à cœur de pierre dit: "Economisez donc votre argent," alors qu'il est bien établi que l'ouvrier doit employer tout son salaire pour qu'il puisse vivre décemment. Le fait est que c'est celui qui dépense son argent qui fait les pays grands industriellement et commercialement. Celui qui sort et dépense son argent fait davantage pour la société que l'avare qui l'accumule sans profit pour lui-même ni pour personne. Le fait bien établi est que la majorité n'économise pas, qu'elle soit capable de le faire ou non. L'homme ou la femme qui va dans la vie en faisant tout son devoir, sa part de travail, a gagné et a droit, lorsque vient la vieillesse et avec elle, son cortège d'infirmités, à des ressources basées sur la justice et non sur la charité publique ou privée. Tous, nous avons ce droit, lorsqu'arrive la vieillesse, de vivre nos dernières années sans avoir à dépendre de la charité ou à encourir des privations en nourriture, logement ou vêtements. Aucun être humain, pourvu qu'il ait des inclinations honnêtes, des dispositions bienveillantes et pense avec justesse, ne peut dénier la vérité de cette maxime. Les unions ouvrières, en ceci comme en ce qui concerne les autres réformes calculées en vue de profiter à la race humaine, prirent l'initiative et indiquèrent la route à suivre. Quelques-unes ont déjà adopté les retraites ouvrières: toutes devraient y venir, que l'état y vienne ou non.

Le mouvement des retraites ouvrières naquit de la nécessité de protéger les classes ouvrières et de favoriser leur avancement matériel et moral. Il tend à obtenir une part légitime de la richesse créée par les masses pour leur service, développement et confort. Les unions ouvrières ne se contentent pas de passer des résolutions couleur de rose glorifiant un avenir utopique tout en se laissant mourir de faim dans leurs efforts pour y atteindre. Elle insiste plutôt pour que l'ouvrier reçoive tout l'argent auquel il a droit pour l'appliquer à son développement moral et matériel et son confort. Elles sont le naturel, logique et très applicable moyen par lequel l'ouvrier peut arriver à ce degré de bonheur matériel, économique et social. Et dans ce but, elles ont fait plus que toutes les autres agences combinées. L'ouvrier associé ne sait pas et ne prétend pas savoir ce que son état sera dans l'avenir. Tout en espérant qu'il sera meilleur qu'il ne l'est à présent, il porte plus d'intérêt, et en cela il a bien raison, à ce qui serait meilleur pour lui-même et pour ses camarades maintenant, et aux moyens de l'obtenir. L'expérience et le sens commun nous enseignent, et tout homme avec des vues saines le sait fort bien, que les unions ouvrières sont le mouvement légitime des classes ouvrières. Elles sont également conscientes de leurs imperfections et, virilement, cherchent à les corriger, au lieu de détruire le mouvement lui-même. Elles savent également que leur capacité de faire bien et d'aller de l'avant est toujours contrecarrée non par les unions elles-mêmes, ni par leurs systèmes, mais par les nonunionistes qui n'ont pas cru devoir prendre part au mouvement et assumer leur part du bon travail si nécessaire à assurer le bien-être de tous les travailleurs. Tous les unionistes dignes de ce titre espèrent arriver à une meilleure condition de vie et tous savent que le mouvement des unions ouvrières pavent le chemin pour arriver à une vie plus haute moralement, socialement, économiquement et scientifiquement parlant de l'humanité tout entière. Le mouvement des unions ouvrières vivra jusqu'à ce qu'il ait accompli les espérances les plus brillantes et les promesses de ses plus enthousiastes et fidèles partisans.

Le Trust Américain des Cigares et du Tabac emploie environ 80 ou 90% de femmes à des salaires de famine pour la fabrication de ses cigares. Qui est celui qui fait le plus de bien dans une communauté: le fabricant unioniste qui emploie avec des salaires honnêtes des hommes qui dépensent ce qu'ils gagnent parmi la communauté tout entière, ou le Trust qui n'emploie presque que des femmes et des enfants avec de petits salaires? Le Trust prend les enfants à l'école et à la récréation et les met au travail à des salaires de famine tout en mettant leur père sur le pavé, en quête d'un emploi honnête.

La idiosincracia, ó sea lo que comunmente llamamos modo de ser del buen asociado, distinguelo de varias maneras de todos los que no los son; pero especialmente hay una que sobresale de todos.

Un buen compañero de los que militan en la Unión Internacional, jamás dará motivo para que nuestros enemigos nos ataquen con algún fundamento, ó visos de razón.

Así como el asociado discolo y despechado, ana a siempre á caza de pretextos con que formar camorra y para atacar entidades en la organización, á veces con el manto hipócrita de que trata de servirla, el otro, en cambio, ó sea el buen asociado, disculpa los defectos que nota en ella y en todo caso los señala en las mitins correspondientes, cuando es preciso para curarlos de buena fé.

Pero todavía hace mas el asociado que está con nosotros por entera convicción: El no calla cuando debe hablar. Cuando es necesario pregonar las excelencias y las virtudes de nuestra Sociedad en todos lados y ocasiones, y á toda hora haya dispuesto á contribuir á la mayor perfección de ella. Cuando tiene que señalar algun vicio, alguna deficiencia ó se ve precisado á acusar á alguien eso lo hace con el propósito de dignificar, y nunca para ejercer mezquinas venganzas ni dar rienda á pasiones de baja estofa.

Los miembros afiliados á la Union Internacional de Tabaqueros de América están moralmente comprometidos y obligados á tratarse como se tratan en una familia los que son buenos hermanos.

Aquellos individuos que penetran en ella subrepticamente, y siembran cimiento de zizaña en su seno, y gozan alegrías pérdidas cuando alguna entidad colectiva ó personal de la Institución sufre disgustos por descalabros ó contratiempos, esos están muy lejos de ser elementos saludables para la colectividad, sean quienes sean y valgan lo que valieren.

¿Quien podría comprender el cariño de un hermano que so-pretexto de querer mucho á la madre introdujese en el hogar discordias y rencores?

En tal caso, todo hombre sensato habría de decir imperiosamente: Ese, si es cariño, es de muy mala clase.

Contra un elemento tan nocivo como ese que indicamos, debe siempre estar prevenida la Internacional de Tabaqueros, puesto que ella tiene grandes y pequeños enemigos que la acechan para herirla en el menor descuido.

Esto no quiere decir que nuestra Sociedad haya de estar lanza en ristre constantemente dando á los enemigos mayor importancia de la que tengan efectivamente: Nada de eso.

Pero tampoco debe ser tolerante al extremo de consentir que se la bata en sus propias tiendas. Esos descuidos se pagan caros y no debe incurrir en ellos quien tenga espíritu de conservación.

El Sr. Lundin, miembro de Congreso, ha pasado en este una resolución autorizando la nominación de un Comité compuesto de siete miembros encargados de proceder á una investigación sobre los diferentes sistemas de seguros para ancianos, así como también de las pensiones de retirada y de las rentas anuales que son al presente en servicio en las diferentes partes del mundo. No cabe la menor duda que existe un sentimiento muy fuerte y que va aumentando en el espíritu y en el corazón de toda persona de mente recta, sea ó no sea miembro de una unión, en favor del establecimiento de pensiones para los ancianos. El movimiento unionista favorece á este movimiento; más, es verdad, por medio de platónicas declaraciones que por actos efectivos. Una muy pequeña minoridad entre las Uniones Internacionales de este país ha adoptado hasta la fecha las pensiones para ancianos. Mientras que la Unión Internacional de Cigarreros tiene su sistema de fondos beneficiarios para los obreros fuera de trabajo, este no se puede legítimamente llamar "pensión para ancianos," puesto que sirve para ambos viejos y jóvenes. El beneficio en favor de ancianos es el mayor y más justo que una unión obrera pueda adoptar. No hay beneficio que sonre más al instinto humano de bondad que el que sirve á proveer, y con justicia, á las necesidades del obrero que dificultada por la vejez y sus enfermedades, encuentra difícil luchar, en esta época áspero deseo de uero, contra la joven generación. El reformista dotado de un corazón de piedra, dice ligeramente: "Economize Vd. su dinero," pero ya bien se sabe que el obrero tiene que gastar todo su sueldo para vivir con decencia. El hecho es que él que sale fuera y gasta su dinero es el que hace grandes los países, industrialemente y comercialmente. El que gasta su dinero hace más para la sociedad que el avaro que lo acumula sin beneficio para los otros ni para sí mismo. Además, la verdad bien establecida por la observación, es que la mayoría no economiza, que lo pueda hacer ó nó. El hombre ó la mujer que va por la vida desempeñando su parte de la tarea común y haciendo todo su deber, tiene derecho, cuando viene la vejez y con ella triste comitiva de enfermedades, á disponer de recursos obtenidos sobre la base de la estricta justicia y no de la caridad pública ó privada. Todos nosotros tenemos derecho cuando venga la vejez, á vivir en paz nuestros últimos años de existencia sin tener que depender de la caridad ni soportar privaciones de alimentación, habitación ó vestido. Ningun ser humano, con tal que sea honesto, bondadoso y de mente recta, puede negar la verdad de esta afirmación. Las uniones obreras, en esto como en lo que se relaciona á las otras reformas calculadas en vista de la mejoración material y moral de la raza humana, tomaron la iniciativa é indicaron la vía. Algunas han adoptado ya las pensiones para ancianos: todas lo deberían hacer, que el Estado lo haga ó no lo haga.

El movimiento de las uniones obreras nació de la necesidad de proteger á las clases obreras y de favorecer su adelanto material y moral. Su objeto es: obtener una parte legítima de la riqueza originada por el obrero y aplicarla al bienestar de este. Las uniones obreras no se contentan de pasar resoluciones color de rosa glorificando un porvenir utópico, dejándose al mismo tiempo morir de hambre en sus esfuerzos para llegar á él. Insisten al contrario, y con mucha razón, sobre el hecho que el obrero ha de recibir todo el dinero á que tiene derecho, hasta la última peseta, para aplicarlo á su desarrollo material y moral. Son las uniones el medio natural, lógico y más aplicable mediante el cual el obrero puede llegar á ese grado de bien-estar material, económico y social. Y con ese objeto á la vista, hacen ellas más que todas las otras agencias combinadas. El obrero unionista no sabe, ni pretende saber, lo que será el porvenir. Al mismo tiempo que espera, sin embargo, que será mejor que el presente, se ocupa más, y en eso tiene perfecta razón, de lo que sería mejor para él mismo y sus compaños ahora mismo, y de los medios para obtenerlo. La experiencia y el sentido común nos enseñan, y todo hombre de vistas sanas bien lo sabe, que las uniones obreras son el legítimo movimiento de las clases trabajadoras. Las uniones tienen al mismo tiempo conciencia de sus imperfecciones, y lealmente, hacen lo posible para remediarlas, en vez de destruir de un golpe á las mismas uniones. Saben también que su capacidad de hacer el bien y de ir adelante es siempre impedida, nó por las uniones ellas mismas, ni por sus sistemas, sino por los que no pertenecen á las uniones, es, decir los que no han querido asumir su parte del trabajo tan necesario para asegurar el bien-estar de todos los trabajadores. Todos los unionistas dignos de ese nombre esperan llegar á un estado de vida mejor y todos saben que el movimiento en favor de las uniones allanan el camino que conducirá la humanidad entera á una condición más elevada, hablando tanto bajo el punto de vista moral, que bajo el punto de vista económico y científico. El movimiento de las uniones tendrá vida, y buena vida, hasta que haya realizado las esperanzas más brillantes de sus más entusiastas partidarios.

Člen poslanecké sněmovny Lundin předložil v kongresu resoluci toho smyslu, aby byl ustanoven výbor, sestávající ze sedmi členů, který by podrobil vyšetřování různé soustavy pojištění pro případ stáří a starobní pojištění, jaké jest nyní zavedeno v různých zemích světa. Nikdo nemůže o tom pochybovat, že se rozmáhá smysl pro starobní pojištění v myslích všeho lidu, at' jest členem unie nebo nikoli. Uniové hnutí drží se rovněž této zásady, ačkoliv většinou se obmezují na pouhé resoluce, místo aby podnikalo rozhodné kroky nebo vydávalo příslušné zákony. Velice málo Mezinárodních unií v této zemi schválilo doposud starobní pojištění. Doutníkářská Mezinárodní Unie má sice fond pro členy, kteří jsou bez zaměstnání, avšak to nemůže být nazýváno starobním pojištěním, jelikož z toho těží mladí jako stáří členové. Fond pro členy bez zaměstnání jest nejznamenitější podporou, jakou může dělnická organizace zavést. Avšak žádná podpora nedotýká se tak lidského srdce, jako ta, z které těží všelikými chorobami ohrožované stáří, jež nemůže soutěžit v těchto hamižných časech s úspěchem s mladším pokolením. Tak zvaní reformátoři volají na vás "Sporte!" ačkoli by mohli vědět, že dělník nevydělá fakticky více, než co potřebuje na holé živobytí. A mimo to jest pravdou, že přispívají k průmyslovému i k obchodnímu rozkvětu země pouze ti lidé, kteří utrácí svůj výdělek. Kdo jde mezi lidi a utrácí své peníze, přispívá více k blahu společnosti než lakomec, který je schovává do punčochy. Pravdou jest, že většina z nás nie neuspokojí, nehledě k tomu, je-li jim to možno, nebo není. Muž nebo žena, kteří konali po celý život svou plnou povinnost a pracovali, co se od nich žádalo, vydělali jistě tolik peněz a jsou k nim oprávněni, když přikvácí na ně stáří a nezbytnými chorobami, aby mohli být živi z důchodu a nikoli z dobročinnosti. Všichni takoví lidé mají právo na to, aby strávili svá poslední leta bez dovolávání se dobročinnosti a bez postrádání nutné potravy, přístřeší a šatstva. To by nepopřela žádná poctivá, srdečná a správně myslící lidská bytost. A dělnické unie postavily se v čelo tohoto hnutí, jako ve všech reformách, jejichž cílem byl prospěch lidstva. Některé přijaly do svého programu starobní pojištění a vlastně měly by tak učiniti všechny, bez ohledu na to, zdali to činí stát nebo nikoli.

Hnutí dělnických unií dostalo se do proudu jako nutná potřeba ochrany a pokroku výrobní třídy. Dnes jest účelem tohoto hnutí, aby vytěžilo z práce slušný podíl pro potřebu a blaho dělníků. Dělnické unie nespokojí se dnes tím, aby schvalovaly resoluce, v nichž mluví se o různé budoucnosti a při tom aby jejich členové hladověli k smrti. Místo toho snaží se unie dopomoci svým členům ke každému dolaru, jehož mohou se spravedlivě dožadovati za svou práci. Je to přirozený, logický a nejvíce viditelný prostředek, kterým mohou fedrovati dělníci své hmotné, hospodářské i společenské blaho. A v tomto smyslu bylo tím získáno více než jakýmkoli jinými prostředky. Člen řemeslnické unie neví a také se nedomnívá, že by věděl, jaký bude stav příští společnosti. Třebas by doufal, že bude v budoucnosti lépe než dnes, přece se zajímá především o přítomnost a to právem, přemýšleje, co by jemu a jeho spoludělníkům mohlo prospěti hned nyní a jak dalo by se toho nejsnáze dosíci. Zkušenost a rozum nám praví, že jest uniové hnutí pravým třídním hnutím, z něhož vyplývá dělnictvu prospěch. My známe také vady tohoto hnutí i jeho nedostatky a snažíme se mužně napravit je, místo abychom se pokoušeli o zničení samého hnutí. Členové unií vědí také, že jim nepřekážá v ko-nání dobra a v pokroku unie, nebo soustava toho hnutí, nýbrž lidé neuniovi, kteří se nepřidali k organizaci a nevykonali svůj podíl práce, která jest tak potřebná pro blaho všeho dělnictva. Všichni řádní členové řemeslnických unií doufají, že domohou se lepší budoucnosti a všichni vědí, že připravuje uniové hnutí cestu pro lepší morální, společenský, hospodářský i vědecký život celého lidstva. Uniové hnutí splní nejdůležitější naději a očekávání svých nejoblíbenějších zastánců.

Samozvaný kritik uniového hnutí a jeho oddaných podporovatelů, který brojí vždycky proti uním a jejich zástupcům, působí asi tolik škody, jako pejsek, který štěká na měsíce. Dělá si sám ze sebe šašky a nanevšest způsobí štrapáci policajtovi.

American Cigar and Tobacco Trust zaměstnává asi 80 nebo 90 procent žen a děti při výrobě svých doutníků za žebračskou mzdu. Kdo pak prospívá vlastně nejlépe své obci — uniový továrník, který zaměstnává muže za slušnou mzdu, muže, kteří utratí svůj výdělek v obci, kde bydlí, nebo trust, který zaměstnává skoro výhradně ženy a děti za bídnou mzdu? Trust dělá děti ze školy a z hřiště a žene je do práce za žebračskou mzdu a jejich otce vyhazuje na ulici, aby se toulali po sháně za poctivým zaměstnáním.

V denních listech byla nedávno zpráva, že přispěl John D. Rockefeller, který prý jest největším podnikem v trustu "American Tobacco Co." $5,000,000 do fondu protisalonické ligy. Je-li to pravda, jak se dlouho tvrdilo, bylo by zajímavé vědět, co tomu říká hostinští, kteří prodávají trustové doutníky. Kdykoliv koupí tyto lidé trustový doutník, odvádějí příspěvek do fondu, jehož bude použito k jejich vyhladovění.

Samozvaní kritikové dělnických unií a jejich členů opírají své nepřiznivé posudky obyčejně o nějaké poklesky, kterých se unie někdy dopouštějí, místo aby nás pouzovali průměrně. Nikdo z nás nechce uprati, že stávají se tu a tam v našem hnutí chyby, ale to jsou z pravidla poklesky rozumu nebo úsudku a nikoli srdce. Tito zlobní kritikové vidí na nás hned každou poskvrnku a honem ji odsuzují, ale nikdy nevidí hromadu dobrých věcí, které unie koná a neviděli by jich, ani kdyby jim někdo půjčil drobnohled a kdyby je v tom případě viděli, zapleli by to.

Der Kongressabgeordnete Lundin hat im Kongress eine Resolution für die Ernennung eines aus sieben Mitgliedern bestehenden Komitees eingebracht, das die verschiedenen Systeme von Altersversicherung, Alterspensionen und Leibrenten, die jetzt in den verschiedenen Ländern der Welt in Kraft sind, untersuchen soll. Es ist keine Frage, daß in Sinn und Herz aller recht denkenden Leute, ob Mitglieder von Unions oder nicht, die Einführung der Alterspension immer freundlicher werden. Die Gewerkschaftsbewegung hat sich zu diesem Grundsatz zwar bekannt, aber nicht nur durch Beschlüsse anstatt durch greifbare Taten und Gesetze. Nur sehr wenige Internationale Unionen dieses Landes haben bisher die Alterspension angenommen. Die Internationale Zigarrenmacher-Union hat zwar ihre Unterstützung für Arbeitslosse, doch kann das wahrheitsgemäß nicht als eine Alterspension angesehen werden, weil sowohl junge wie alte Leute Vortheil davon haben. Die Unterstützung Arbeitsloser ist eine der großartigsten Vortheile, die eine Arbeiterorganisation einführen kann. Und doch findet keine Unterstützung bei gutheißenden Menschen einen besseren Anhang als diejenige, die in der rechten Weise für die sorgt, denen es durch die Schwächen des Alters behindert, in diesen harten Zeiten schwer fällt, mit dem jüngeren Geschlechte zu konkurrieren. Der knauserige angebliche Reformator sagt: "spart euer Geld," angesichts der unumstößlichen Thatsache, daß ein Lohnarbeiter wirklich Alles, was er verdient, wieder ausgeben muß, um anständiges Leben zu können. In der That ist der, der sein Geld verausgabt, derjenige, der den Staat in Industrie und Handel groß macht. Wer ausgibt und sein Geld ausgiebt, ist für die Gesellschaft im Allgemeinen ein größerer Segen, als der Geizhals, der es aufsperrt. Und außerdem bleibt es eine Thatsache, daß die größere Mehrgahl von uns nicht spart, ob sie dazu imstande ist oder nicht. Den Mann oder die Frau, die in ihrem Leben ihre volle Pflicht, ihre Arbeit nach Kräften thun, verdienen mit Recht, wenn sie alt und schwach werden, ein Leben, das auf Recht, anstatt auf Wohlthätigkeit gegründet ist. Sie Alle haben ein Recht, ihren Lebensabend so zu verbringen, daß sie wenigstens nicht von Wohlthätigkeit abhängig sind, oder an Nahrung, Kleidern und Unterkommen noth leiden müssen. Kein ehrlicher, gutheißiger, rechtlich denkender Mensch kann das verneinen. In dieser wie in allen anderen Reformen, die zum Wohle der Menschheit bestimmt sind, haben die Gewerkschafts-unions den ersten Schritt gethan und den Weg gezeigt. Einige haben die Altersversorgung bereits eingeführt, und Alle sollten es thun, ob der Staat es thut oder nicht.

Die Gewerkschaftsbewegung tritt als eine dringende Nothwendigkeit zum Schutz und zur Förderung der arbeitenden Klassen in's Leben. Sie sucht heute einen gerechten Theil des Wohlstandes, den sie schafft, für den Gebrauch, das Wohlergehen und Behaglichkeit der Massen zu erhalten. Die Gewerkschafts-Unions sind nicht damit zufrieden, rosigte Beschlüsse anzunehmen, die eine utopische Zukunft verherrlichen, und im Bemühen, das zu erreichen, zu Tode zu hungern. Sie bestehen lieber darauf, daß die Arbeiter jeden Dollar, den sie rechtlich beanspruchen dürfen, für ihren Gebrauch, ihre Förderung und ihr Wohlergehen in der Gegenwart empfangen sollen. Es ist das natürliche, logische und beste Mittel, wobei und wodurch die Arbeiter ihr materielles, wirtschaftliches und gesellschaftliches Wohlfühlen schützen und fördern können. Und in dieser Beziehung hat die Bewegung mehr als irgend eine andere oder alle zusammen geleistet. Der Unionmann weiß nicht und giebt auch nicht vor zu wissen, was und wie der Zukunftsstaat sein soll. Er hofft zwar, daß er besser sein wird als der jetzige, aber am meisten, und das mit Recht, liegt ihm an dem, was gleich jetzt am Besten für ihn selbst und seine Kameraden ist, und wie es am Besten zu erreichen ist. Erfahrung und gesunder Menschenverstand lehren, und alle Menschen, die ihn haben, wissen es, daß die Gewerkschaftsbewegung die eigentliche Arbeiterbewegung ist. Auch sind wir uns der Schwächen und Fehler bewußt und streben muthig danach, sie zu bessern, anstatt die ganze Bewegung zu vernichten. Auch wissen wir, daß wir in dem Gutthun und Vorwärtsschreiten stets gehindert werden, nicht durch die Unions oder ihr System, sondern durch die Nicht-Unionleute, die er verabsäumt haben, sich anzuschließen und ihr Theil an dem für die Wohlfahrt aller Arbeiter so nothwendigsten guten Werke zu thun. Alle Gewerkschaftsleute hoffen auf eine bessere Lebenszeitung und alle wissen, daß die Gewerkschaftsbewegung den Weg zu einem höheren sittlichen, gesellschaftlichen, wirtschaftlichen und wissenschaftlichen Leben für die ganze Menschheit ebnet. Die Gewerkschaftsbewegung wird fortleben und die frohesten Erwartungen und Wünsche ihrer enthusiastischen Anhänger erfüllen.

Der eigennützige Kritiker der Gewerkschaftsbewegung und ihrer treuen Anhänger, der stets gegen die Unions und ihre Vertreter brüllt, schadet ungefähr soviel, wie der Hund, der den Mond anbellt. Er narrt sich selbst und stört möglicherweise den Polizisten.

Der amerikanische Zigarren- und Tabak-Trust beschäftigt in seinen Zigarrenfabriken ungefähr 80 oder 90 Prozent Frauen und Kinder um Hungerlöhne. Wer ist der größere Wohlthäter in einem Gemeinwesen, der Union-Fabrikant, der gut bezahlte Männer beschäftigt, die ihr Geld in dem Gemeinwesen ausgeben, oder der Trust, der fast alle Frauen und Kinder mit kleinen Löhnen anstellt? Der Trust nimmt die Kinder aus der Schule und von den Spielplätzen und stellt sie mit Hungerlöhnen an die Arbeit und wirft den Vater auf die Straße, der auf der Suche nach ehrlicher Arbeit herumwandern muß.

Die Reiter: berichtet kürzlich, daß John D. Rockefeller, der einer der größten Aktionäre in der American Tobacco Co., dem Trust, sein soll, der Anti-Saloon-Liga $5,000,000 gegeben habe. Wenn das wahr ist, und es geht fortwährend das Gerücht, daß es so ist, wie denken die Wirthe darüber, die die Zigarren des Trusts verkaufen? Jedesmal, wenn sie vom Trust gemachte Zigarren kaufen, steuern sie etwas zu dem Fonds bei, der dazu benutzt wird, sie aus dem Geschäft zu treiben.

Die Bundesregierung bemüht sich, das Porto für Postfachen zweiter Klasse zu erhöhen, was, wenn verwirklicht, den Preis aller offiziellen Organe, Gewerkschaftszeitungen und Zeitschriften erhöhen muß. Der Präsident der Vereinigten Staaten erklärt, daß die Bundesregierung den Bahnen $100.00 für die Beförderung einer Tonne von Postfachen zweiter Klasse zahlt, während von gut unterrichteter Seite behauptet wird, daß die Expressgesellschaften den Eisenbahnen nur $50.00 für die Beförderung einer Tonne von Postfachen zahlen. Die Expresswagen gehen mit demselben Zuge, fahren zur selben Zeit ab und erreichen ihre Bestimmung zur selben Zeit, wie die Postwagen. Die natürliche Frage ist: Warum ist die Postverwaltung gezwungen, den Eisenbahnen doppelt so viel wie die Expressgesellschaften per Tonne für die Beförderung derselben Sache zu bezahlen? Zeitungen, Zeitschriften, Magazine und Drucksachen bilden die Mittel zur Verbreitung erzieherischer Literatur. Das sogenannte gewöhnliche Volk und besonders die Gewerkschaftsleute sollten ernstlich gegen jede Preiserhöhung für die Beförderung ihrer Zeitschriften protestiren.

Die heißenden Kritiker der Gewerkschafts-unions und Gewerkschaftsleute begründen ihre engherzigen, tabulenden Kritiken mit dem ewigen Schlichten, das die Unions mitunter begeben, anstatt uns im Großen und Ganzen und im Durchschnitt zu beurtheilen. Niemand leugnet, daß gelegentlich Fehler begangen werden, aber das sind gewöhnlich Irrthümer des Kopfes und nicht des Herzens. Diese ungerechten Kritiker sind sehr rasch dabei, das Schlechte und Auffallende anzugreifen, wollen aber nie etwas von dem vielen Guten sehen, das die Union thut, noch nicht einmal mit dem Mitrost, und würden es nicht eingestehen, wenn sie es thäten.

NOTICE TO SECRETARIES.

On and after February 28 do not use any numbers from 20001 to 43000, inclusive, unless the numbers become vacant on your own books, except to give old numbers to members owing loans. Secretaries in need of numbers for new members not owing loans should send to the International Office for them.

The Constitution, twentieth edition, contains an error. The amendment of Union 97, Boston, reference accepting cards from foreign countries, took the place of the old law. Through mistake both the amendment and the old law are included. The last paragraph, or last twelve lines of Section 67, on page 20, is the old law and doesn't belong in the Constitution.

NOTICE.

Financial secretaries when granting loans should, as required by Section 104, enter loans in figures and letters. It is not necessary to punch cards.

The amendment adopted to Sections 76 and 77 does away with the issuance of retiring cards to all who continue to pay dues as beneficiary members.

Retiring cards are only for those who pay up and actually terminate all connection with the union in so far as the payment of dues is concerned.

Members who transfer from the 30-cent list to the 20-cent beneficiary membership list are simply changed from one class to another and deducted from one and added to the other.

Members who have not paid 30-cent dues for three years and quitting the trade under Section 76 and wishing to qualify for Section 77 as a beneficiary member should be kept on without any other change than to make a note of the intention on the ledger page. If such member desires to travel to another jurisdiction he should be given a transfer card and his intention to qualify as a 30-cent beneficiary member written on the transfer card. Such beneficiary members are not entitled to any benefits except sick benefits after one year's membership and whatever death benefits their term of membership entitles them to.

If you hold any loan cards of no further use send them to this office.

Before granting or accepting retiring cards secretaries and members should consult Sections 76 and 77 of the Constitution.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS AND MEMBERS.

In printing the nineteenth edition of the Constitution, an omission occurs in Section 77, on line 7. A comma and the words "and local assessments" should follow "International assessments." The sentence to read, "All International assessments, and local assessments levied for label agitation purposes." This amendment as published in another place is correct.

MEMBERS OUT OF WORK ARE NOT ENTITLED TO THE SIXTEEN WEEKS' PRIVILEGE IN DUES UNLESS THEY NOTIFY THE SECRETARY WEEKLY BEFORE THE EIGHTH WEEK. THIS INCLUDES TRAVELING MEMBERS WHO SHOULD ALWAYS CARRY A CERTIFICATE AND HAVE SAME SIGNED WEEKLY.

Items for the Journal should be placed on separate slips of paper—not the backs of reports, etc.—in order to insure prompt publication, and should reach this office not later than the 10th of each month if intended for current publication.

NOTICE.—How to duplicate Loan Cards.

It frequently occurs that new secretaries through error or lack of knowledge, transfer the amount a member "has coming" instead of what he owes. In duplicating a card, figure up all the member has borrowed and subtract all he has paid, and if there is a balance against the member transfer to new card in red ink and figures and letters the amount due the International Union. Also enter on new card all that may be essential that you find on the old, then sign and seal it. Send the old card to the International office.

Unions when notifying this office of change in secretary will please at once give the new secretary's address, if possible, so as to obviate delays, mistakes, etc.

In reporting deaths, kindly comply with the following and you will save time and unnecessary work. Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of member. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the records of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such card, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the latter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

If secretaries when ordering supplies will place the order on the regular blank, it will greatly simplify the work here and avoid unnecessary delay for those who order the supplies. We receive an average of 300 pieces of mail in the office daily. Sometimes an order is sandwiched into a two or three-page letter containing three or more different subjects, and there is danger in such cases of an order being overlooked. Hence we ask that in order to save unnecessary delay and annoyance you order on the regular blank, giving your name and address.

DECISIONS OF PRESIDENT

J. R. K. Collins appealed against 1, Baltimore, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The appeal was not sustained.

T. J. Erooms et al. appeared against 71, Elgin, for levying an assessment and donating money to a Christmas dinner. The union replied that it had rescinded its action. Appeal dismissed.

R. E. Barnett appealed against 192, Manchester, for refusing to try 21 or 22 members for working over the eight hour limit, and for laying the charges on the table and dismissing them. The appeal was sustained.

L. M. Howard appealed against 452, Petoskey, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. Appellant shows that he had paid dues to another union while on the road. The appeal was sustained.

J. Vernet appealed against 131, Jersey City, for fining him $25. The appeal was not sustained.

B. Dettle appealed against J. A. B. Brooklyn for refusing labels to a certain manufacturer. The appeal was not sustained.

I. Reichman & P. Seidner appealed against 129, Denver, for fining them $20 and $30, respectively. The appeal was not sustained.

S. W. Morris et al., jurisdiction members, appealed against 129, Denver, for compelling them to pay a local assessment of $2 for the relief of the unemployed and to replace deficiency. The appeal is not sustained. However, jurisdiction members, when compelled to pay these assessments must be allowed their share of all assessments for use in the place in which they may work.

W. Handen appealed against 1, Baltimore, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The appeal was not sustained.

J. Schonum appealed against 1, Baltimore, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The appeal was not sustained.

Approved the application of Union 102 Kansas City, Mo., to fine H. Gerber No. 68294, $25.00 for working in the unfair shop of the Jenkins Cigar Co. Following is the vote: Affirmative—7.

Approved application of Union 229 Birmingham, N. Y., to fine Elmer Kirkland $50.00 for working in the unfair shop of F. B. Richards & Co. Following is the vote: Affirmative—6.

WHAT IS A STRIKE BREAKER?

A strike-breaker is to his trade what a traitor is to his country; and, though both may be useful to one party in troublesome times, when peace returns they are detested alike by all; so when help is needed a strike-breaker is the last to contribute assistance and the first to grab a benefit he never labored to secure. He cares only for himself, but he sees no further beyond the extent of a day, and for money and worthless approbation would betray his friends, his family, and his country. In fact he is a traitor on a small scale, who first sells his fellowmen and is himself forever sold in his turn by his employer, until at last he is despised by both and deserted by all. He is an enemy to himself, to the present age and to posterity.—Exchange.

CORRESPONDENCE

Washington, D. C., Mar. 1, 1910.

Dear Sir and Brother:

In conformity with the instructions of the Toronto Convention of the American Federation of Labor, and in accordance with the recommendation of the conference held at Pittsburgh, Pa., which was endorsed by the Executive Council of the A. F. of L., the International Unions are urged to request their members to contribute ten cents each in support of the great contest which has been and is still being made by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, in defense of the rights of the workers as against the aggressions of the United States Steel Corporation. The officers of the organization advise that with some additional financial help victory may be shortly attained, particularly among the Tin Plate Workers.

In addition it may be said that charges against the United States Steel Corporation have been presented to the President and by him referred to the Attorney General. Two interviews have been had with the Attorney General and the evidence will be presented to him within a few days from this date.

Charges will be preferred against the Corporation before the Governors of Indiana, Ohio and other states.

Everything will be done by all to aid in the splendid defense being made by the Iron, Steel and Tin Plate Workers.

Kindly carry out this suggestion as promptly and as thoroughly as possible, so that the members of the respective organizations may contribute ten cents each at the earliest possible moment to aid our fellow workers.

Send all contributions to John Williams, Secretary Amalgamated Association, 503 House Building, Pittsburg, Pa.

Trusting that the compliance and response to the request contained in the above will be prompt and generous, and with kind regards, I remain,

Fraternally yours,
Samuel Gompers, President,
American Federation of Labor.

Allentown, Pa., Feb., 1910.

The problem has long confronted us, "How can we make a better demand for our blue label that we cherish so highly? How can we get the unorganized cigarmakers to unite with us and march under our banner?"

In 1901 I. B. Kuhns, of McSherrystown, Pa., now an organizer of the C. M. I. U. of A., passed through Allentown. It happened that we had a meeting that evening, and he was asked to address the meeting. In his address he said: "I don't know if the cigarmakers of Union 91 are dead, but I know they are fast asleep. Why don't you organize a central trades council in Allentown?" He then went on and told us what a central body was. The benefits to be derived thereof, especially for the cigarmakers. The next meeting a committee of three was appointed to try to organize a central body and within a few weeks thereafter a central body was effected in Allentown.

Previous to this time for four years there were no labels issued whatever. After the central body was effected the delegates of our union started right in to preach blue label, and within a few weeks we had a few buck-eyes using the label. The demand for the label has been slowly on the increase ever since and today we have twelve shops, employing about thirty cigarmakers, using the label. I verily believe that had Mr. Kuhns not made that declaration he did, there would not be a central body in Allentown today, and no demand for our label whatever.

Now, fellow workmen, what can be done once can be done again. Get together, have a committee appointed, and organize central bodies where there are none at present, and then watch the demand for the label grow and add new members to your union.

C. M. Benfer, Secretary.

Antwerp, Feb. 21, 1910.

I beg to inform you that our eighth International Congress will be held in Copenhagen, Denmark, according to the resolution adopted by our seventh International Congress held in Stuttgart in August, 1907, from August 21st to August 28th of this year.

I have the pleasure of inviting to this Congress the American Fellow Craftsmen, Cigarmakers and Tobaccoworkers, and beg you to be so kind as to send delegates to this Congress. Their presence would be very desirable and also very profitable for themselves, and much ought to be done for the benefit of our American friends, and much can and must be done to fortify our organization.

I hope you will accept my friendly invitation, and present you my greetings.

Sincerely and fraternally yours,

Henrie Jugters.

P. S.—Later the address of the House of Congress and the order of the day will be brought to your notice. If you wish to bring forward any points, please send them to me three months before the beginning of the Congress, that is before the 21st of May, 1910.

New York, March 8th, 1910.

Union 251 desires to thank the following Unions for their kind support of the benefit, for Mr. R. Cantor and Mr. Wm. Paley, members of Union No. 251, and also request of Unions, who have not made settlement to kindly do so at once, so the committee can make its final report:

IMMIGRATION.

By David Goldstein.

The annual report of the Commissioner-General of Immigration, just issued, contains some data of interest to cigarmakers. It declares to be "without foundation" the charge, which seems to have been circulated in 1908, to the effect "that the Division of Information was furnishing strike breakers to cigar manufacturing firms in Pennsylvania."

It appears "On Oct. 23, 1908, Emanuel Cadlak, of New York City, called at the N. Y. branch of the division and made the statement that 400 cigar workers were wanted by the Harrisburg Cigar Co., at Harrisburg, Pa. He stated labor conditions were good, that no strikes or labor troubles were in progress, and that the union scale of wages would be paid. On Oct. 24 (one day later), when the matter was referred to the division, a letter was sent to the Secretary of the A. F. of L. inquiring whether there was a strike or lockout in progress or in contemplation, also the union scale of wages in Harrisburg. The letter was answered on the same day by the president of the A. F. of L., who, among other things, said he could not definitely answer either question you propound, but I can state that there are now in the U. S. fully 25 per cent of the cigar makers of the country unemployed! On receipt of this communication, on Oct. 24 (same day), the secretary of Cigarmakers' Local Union No. 244, of Harrisburg, was written to with request that he inform the division as to the regular union scale of wages which prevails in the cigarmaking industry in your district. We would like this in details, showing wages paid to female as well as male help; also inform us if there is a scarcity of labor existing in the Harrisburg cigar factories at this time. That letter was dated Oct. 24, 1908; an early reply was requested. An answer was received on Nov. 13, 1908, (20 days later), in which the secretary said: "Positively no demand for cigarmakers, union or nonunion . . . Union wages start at $7 per 1,000 to $13 per 1,000." The question referring to strikes or lockouts was not answered.

"Through unofficial channels it was learned that no strike was then in progress and that no strike had taken place in recent years in the cigar trade in Harrisburg or vicinity.

"On Nov. 5, 1908, Mr. Cadlak again called and as agent of the Columbia Cigar Co., of Columbia, Pa., made application for 100 girls to go to Columbia to engage in cigarmaking. He made the same statement concerning labor conditions as in the case of the Harrisburg Cigar Co. It appears that Mr. Cadlak about this time inserted an advertisement in certain New York papers, published in foreign languages, advising those desirous of going to Harrisburg and Columbia to apply at the New York branch of the division (of Information, Bureau of Immigration) for particulars. This was unauthorized by anyone connected with the division, and information concerning it was not received until workmen applied for details as to terms of employment in response to said advertisements. Those who called were given such information as could be gathered. A number, perhaps 30, went to Columbia. When reports were received to the effect that they were not being treated properly, the inspector in charge of information work wired the division on Nov. 20, 1908, as follows: 'Advisable to investigate Columbia and Harrisburg cigar factories.' Immigrant Inspector John J. Grgurevich, attached to the Baltimore immigrant station, was detailed by the Bureau to investigate conditions in the cigar factories not only in Harrisburg and Columbia, but in adjoining territory as well. Instructions were issued to branch offices of the division not to direct any persons to either Harrisburg or Columbia until after a thorough investigation had been made, but notwithstanding this fact a number of those applying at the New York branch of the division, who were advised not to go, went to both places."

The Commissioner-General of Immigration says that "Mr. Grgurevich made a thorough and painstaking investigation and submitted a full and comprehensive report of his findings"; that Mr. Grgurevich's report is too lengthy to print in the annual report of the Bureau.

I wrote to the Information Bureau for more detailed information of the investigation made by Mr. Grgurevich. Chief T. V. Powderly very courteously responded with a typewritten copy of the inspector's work. Though the inspector's report is a lengthy one, it is of so much value to our craft that I believe it should be printed in our Official Journal. Mr. Powderly writes me "I regard Mr. Grgurevich's report as very good, it gives one a fair idea of conditions in your trade in that section of Pennsylvania and the fact that it was not written by a cigarmaker or a union man makes it more interesting."

The report makes it plain that if our union officials would keep the Information Division informed of strikes, lockouts, attempted misrepresentations of economic conditions, violations of the contract labor laws, etc., the Government stands ready to do its best to hold in check the efforts of unscrupulous manufacturers to undermine the American standard of living through the agency of the Immigration Bureau.

Office of the Commissioner,

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 1, 1908.

Chief, Division of Information, Washington,
D. C., (through official channels).

Sir:—Complying with instructions contained in your letter, November 23d, Bureau letter Nov. 24th, and Commissioner's of Baltimore letter of Nov. 24th, I have the honor to state that I left official station Nov. 24th, and returned to official station Nov. 30th, and beg to submit the following report:

During my investigation I visited Harrisburg, Steelton, Columbia, Allentown, Coplay and Chester, Pennsylvania. Although commencing in Harrisburg, I submit first the occurrences in Columbia, which led to this investigation, in connection with a number of laborers directed thereto by the Division of Information, New York office.

Between November 10th and 20th, 1908, twelve men and twenty women were directed from New York to the Columbia Cigar Co., at Columbia, Pa., arriving there at different dates.

Upon arriving there were put to work, the women to cigarmaking and the men to stripping of tobacco leaves. The first two persons to arrive were Albert Orme and his wife. Following is a sworn statement from Mr. Orme: State of Pennsylvania, County of Lancaster—ss.

On this 27th day of November, in the year one thousand nine hundred and nine, before me, the subscriber, an Immigrant Inspector, personally appeared Albert Orme, a resident of No. 242 Walnut Str., Columbia, Pa., and being by me duly sworn and examined did depose and say: My name is Albert Orme; 25 years old; married; wife's name, Ada Orme; English from England. I came to the United States with my wife and landed in New York ex steamship Baltic, on September 17th, 1908. On Nov. 7th, 1908, I signed an agreement with the Agent of the Columbia Cigar Company of Columbia, Pa., which was represented to me by said Agent, and corroborated by Inspector C. L. Green, of the Bureau of Information, Immigration Service, to be as follows: I was to work in the cigar factory as stripper at $1.00 a day, and my wife as cigarmaker learner at $3.00 a week. This salary was going to be paid to us until we have learned the trade, after which my wife was to be put to work at piece work, while my salary was to be increased also. Besides, we were to get free lodging for six months. We left New York, N. Y., Nov. 10th, arriving at Columbia at 11:30 p. m., on the same day. Nov. 8th, being Sunday, we both reported to Mr. MacCarthy, a foreman of the Columbia Cigar Co., at the factory. He received our introduction letter and told us to report for work on the following morning (Nov. 9th). I told Mr. MacCarthy that my salary was to be $1.00 per day and my wife's $3.00 per week, and he said "all right." On Monday, Nov. 9th, 1908, we reported for work at the factory. I was put to work stripping tobacco leaves, and my wife to learn cigarmaking at a suction table. A few hours after I started to work, the stripping foreman, Mr. Kaufman, came to me and told me that I was going to be paid one cent per every pound of tobacco I would strip. I told him that such was not my agreement with the agent of the Company in New York, and that I accepted said agent's offer of work under condition that I would get $1.00 a day. He told me that he did not know anything about such an agreement, and that I would have to work at 1 cent per pound. I complained to Mr. Shock, who is the manager of the factory, but he also stated that there was no such agreement made and that I must have been misinformed. I worked there five full days, and stopped working Friday evening, Nov. 13th, and received as my salary for said five days the sum of 75 cents, (seventy-five cents). My wife also stopped working and received $2.50 as per agreement.

I am now in a destitute condition. Have no funds, and had to turn my jewelry to the boardinghouse keeper as security for our board and lodging, having no money to pay for it.

Albert Orme.

Subscribed and sworn to before me the day and year first above written.

U. S. Immigrant Inspector.

All the others kept working until November 19th, when the facts became known to all. They all left the factory and through the efforts of the Mayor, Mr. A. G. Beatie, Mr. Shock, superintendent of the Columbia Cigar Co., offered to send them to Harrisburg where the men could get the promised wages. Thir-téen accepted this offer, two women remained working in Columbia, and the rest scattered, most of them returning to New York. Mr. Orme and his wife went to the Harrisburg Cigar Co.

It appears that the source of all the trouble was that the Columbia Cigar Co. refused to pay the men $1.00 a day, as offered to the men in New York by Mr. Emanuel Cadilak, an accredited agent of said company. All other promises were carried out.

I shall now report my investigation, beginning with Harrisburg. I arrived there Nov. 24th and next morning visited the Harrisburg Cigar Co., which employs about 1,300 persons, seventy men at stripping and "kasing" in machine rooms, at packing, etc., at from $1.00 up; the rest women and girls who receive $3.00 a week while learning the trade and then from 27 1-2c. to 30c. per hundred cigars. They work ten hours a day, and eight and a half on Saturday, have no Sunday work, and they have certain holidays off with pay. No cigars are made by hand. The "bunching" of the "filler" is made by hand, but the rolling of the "wrapper" around the filler is made by means of a so-called "suction table," which is a "machine."

The Harrisburg Cigar Co. and factories in Lancaster, York, Dallastown, Winsor, Harrisburg, Steelton, Middletown, Columbia, Ephrata, Scheonich and Rothville, in that part of the country, are all branches of the United Cigar Manufacturers Co. of New York, of which Mr. Fred Hirschhorn in New York is the head, and which is represented as an independent concern, fighting the trust.

Mr. Keppel, superintendent of the Harrisburg factory, told me that Mr. Cadilak is the accredited agent of his company and that he complied with all agreements made with Mr. Cadilak, but that in the future he would object to employing men as he needed no more. However Mr. Keppel keeps an advertisement permanently in the local papers, for girls to learn cigarmaking. He said that there were no unemployed female cigarmakers in that part of the country, but seemed to know very little about the male cigarmakers, saying that organized cigarmakers would not work in his factory anyway on account of the "suction table." Upon being confronted with Mr. Cadilak's statement that the regular Union scale for that district was paid in his factory, he evaded a direct answer, saying that such were the wages paid at his factory, adding that the salaries in his factory were not guided by, nor complied in accordance with the Union scale of wages.

He gave as causes for the present need of help the fact that many former employees had returned to Europe and the fact that business was steadily increasing. He said he could use a thousand more employees, would start a new factory if necessary.

As to the thirteen employees of the Columbia Cigar Co. who had been transferred to Harrisburg, Mr. Keppel told me they had been put to work and all the original agreements made with Mr. Cadilak were being complied with. I interviewed almost all of these thirteen persons also some people who had been directed here through our office in New York, and they all seemed very well satisfied. However, they complained that they had found out that their transportation which had been paid for them, would be deducted from their wages, a fact which they said had not been mentioned to them in New York. Mr. Keppel said he would do all he could to prevent this deduction.

Mr. A. E. Cook, secretary of the Local International Cigarmakers' Union, stated that there were many organized and unorganized cigarmakers unemployed, in that part of the state, and that the Harrisburg Cigar Co. did not employ them because they would not work for the wages paid, which are less than half of the lowest union wages. He also objected to this factory because of its immense output made possible by machine and team work.

I learned from Mr. Harry A. Schuman, former foreman at the factory, that the company never paid union wages, and never instructed men in cigarmaking, and that the output of the company was over a million cigars a week.

I spoke with two women who had been working at the factory for over a year and were earning from ten to twelve dollars a week, averaging 600 cigars a day. They complained about deductions made in wages for shortages.

Assistant Postmaster S. W. Fleming, of Harrisburg, Miss Ella M. Stitt, Gen. Secy. of the Y. W. C. A. of Harrisburg, and Mr. W. L. Gorgas, cashier of the Harrisburg National Bank, all spoke very favorably of the Harrisburg Cigar Co.

I found the prices of board and lodging, etc., pretty nearly as stated in the application for help.

At Steelton conditions were very much the same as at Harrisburg.

The conditions at Columbia are also very much the same as in Harrisburg, the factory there employing about 150 persons only 12 of whom are men. Mr. Shock, superintendent of the factory, blamed Mr. Cadilak for all the trouble in regard to the men sent there from New York, stating that he had never had any instructions to pay such wages. The women employed in this factory seemed to be very well satisfied.

I visited Mr. A. G. Beattie, the Mayor of Columbia, who was still very much incensed against the Cigar Company on account of the foreigners sent from New York, whom he said had been treated with great injustice. However, he could tell very little about the factory, it being practically a new concern in the city.

From Supt. F. Seegers of the factory at Allentown, and Mr. E. Edelstein, general superintendent of the Victor Thorsch Company factories in Allentown and Coplay, I learned that the factories of Allentown and Coplay, established by Victor Thorsch, had been owned for the last three years by T. J. Dunn & Co. of New York, the management of which consists of Theo. Werner, Frank McCoy and B. F. Corell, the last named gentleman having made and signed the applications for help for the Coplay, Allentown and Chester factories. The firm has no connection with the United Cigar Manufacturers Co. of New York, the owners of the factories at Harrisburg and Columbia, and was represented to me as a thoroughly independent concern.

The factories in both Allentown and Coplay employ mostly foreigners, and but a small percentage of men. They work ten hours and forty minutes a day, Saturdays five hours, and no Sunday work. No deductions are made on account of shortages. Cigar rolling is done on suction tables.

Mr. Edelstein confirmed everything stated in the application for help, except that he had not yet been advised in reference to employing men. He stated that the shortage in help had been caused by so many former employees returning to Europe.

Mr. S. A. Knause, secretary of the Local of the Cigarmakers' International Union, had about the same objections to the factories of Allentown and Coplay as those mentioned by the secretary of the local union to the factory at Harrisburg. He said, however, that there were very few cigarmakers out of work in that section of the country.

Conditions at the Delaware Cigar Co. at Chester, Pa., were much the same as in Allentown and Coplay. Mr. Charles Dutkin, the superintendent, told me they were under the same management. This firm also has a factory in Harrisburg, called Dauphin Cigar Co.

Mr. Dutkin confirmed every point represented in the application for help, stating further that he had not been advised yet as to employing men, and that the large emigration of former employees and scarcity of female help in Chester and vicinity, were the main causes for applying for help through our office.

John J. Grgurevich, Immigrant Inspector.

LOST CARDS

Section 11. Any member losing or destroying his loan book shall not be entitled to receive any benefits or a duplicate loan book before the expiration of two months, and financial secretaries of local unions must notify the International President of such loss or destruction immediately, the same to be published in the Official Journal by the International President. The International President shall be the only person to issue a duplicate. Members having lost their traveling cards take notice:

No duplicate card will be issued for lost card unless the full name of members, the card number, the date of initiation and the union where the card was last deposited are given. Members who lose cards are not entitled to benefits until they secure duplicates. No duplicate cards are issued except upon application through some secretary, when the time limit of two months has expired.

Month after month unscrupulous men impose upon secretaries and members under the plea of lost cards. The constitution provides a punishment for lost cards. Its purpose is to stop the carelessness and the traffic made with full cards by permitting them to be held as security.

Don't issue letters to any member claiming lost card unless you know his actual standing.

Secretaries have no right to issue certificates in place of lost cards. Members who secure employment should be entered as admitted to the union.

Secretaries should be careful and enter all loans granted and repaid and all balances carried from one card to another in letters and figures. The issue of duplicates will be delayed in all cases where information is not complete.

Secretaries should examine due books where claim of lost card is made. Report full name, number, date and place of initiation and when and where card was last deposited.

Private loans will be entered on duplicates issued upon request of unions.

Enter all loans granted in figures and letters.

Secretaries will please notify this office as to whether any private loans are due on cards reported lost, otherwise they are issued with only the International loan account. This does not release members from their just obligations to the unions. The absence of the private loans, however, quite often causes members to overlook those loans and suspensions follow.

IN MEMORIAM

In reporting deaths kindly comply with the following, and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of members. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the record of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such cards, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the letter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

The following unions adopted resolutions of regret and condolence, relating to death or deaths as follows, and ordered charter draped in mourning for thirty days:

Union 491, Huron, S. Dak.—Wm. P. McFarren, who died January 7th, 1910. The union attended the services in a body and committee followed remains to place of interment.

PRIVATE LOANS

Sec. 196. Local unions shall have the right to suspend members for non-payment of local indebtedness, and hold traveling cards until such indebtedness has been paid. See Sec. 106 also.

The following unions request the collection of private loans from the respective persons, and return same to union making request.

Members owing private loans to Union 475, Fitchburg, Mass., please pay up as we need the money.

The following members will please pay their private loans before our next regular meeting, April 7th, or stand by the action of this union: H. L. Bender (73312), $10.00; Fred Doxey (46111), $5.00; J. J. Hamm (100235), $7.00. By Union 461, Edmont, Alta.

Members owing private loans to Union 94, Pawtucket, R. I., are requested to settle at once if working; if out of work, notify at once.

Union 25, Milwaukee, Wis.: "If Emil Feige (100187), does not pay the private loan he owes to Union 25 within sixty days from the issue of the Journal he will stand suspended; also Charles Cooper (6277)."

Union 160, Milford, Mass., requests members owing this union private loans to please pay up.

Secretary holding the card of Vincent Miller please collect $3.00 private loan granted him by No. 387 and send same to the secretary of Union 387, Yankton, S. Dak.

Members owing Union 33, Indianapolis, Ind., private loans must pay up or they will be published in the next issue of the Journal.

Union 291 of San Jose, Cal., would request those members owing private loans to pay up as we now need the money. Some of the accounts are ancient.

Union 486, New Westminster, B. C., requests the following members owing private loans to pay up before the 4th of May, 1910, or be suspended. This is final: Geo. Sehm (65893), $2.00; C. O. Foster (113633), $2.00; O. Mayrlich (49383), $2.00; H. Meek (111564), $2.00; M. W. Balfour (119065), $2.00; James Brown (66930), $2.00; F. Schatter (10000), $2.00.

The following members will please appear in person (or by mail), at our next meeting to be held April 26, 1910, and show cause why they should not be suspended for non-payment of private loan: J. F. Ryan (66708), David Fonseca (84549), Arthur Chant (96341), Harvey Hubert (94260), J. Burns (82096), J. P. Courtney (36326). There are several others who will be treated likewise if they do not make an effort to pay their private loans to Union 52, Elmira, N. Y.

Union 129, Denver, Colo., hereby gives notice to secretaries and members owing this union that 60 days from the date of this article, all members owing this union will be suspended. We have given notice from time to time that members owing us and unable to pay should drop us a card, giving some excuse for not paying, but very few have taken the pains to comply with this request. We also give notice for the benefit of members who land in Denver without funds and ask this union for a private loan as soon as they come for the purpose of maintaining them or for continuing their trip to some other place, that the private loans have been suspended by this union for a period of 90 days.

We herewith furnish a list of members in other parts of the country that owed this Union March 1: B. J. Conroy (7272), $22.40; D. Greenberg (1584), $15.00; John Parshler (22733), $10.00; F. R. McIntyre (43488), $6.00; Sam Ratner (36252), $15.00; E. R. Murphy (115702), $3.50; Jacob Ascher (57993), $20.00; Jacob Updike (74313), $5.00; H. M. Jones (120375), $2.00.

While we know that some of these members are paying off their loans as fast as they can, we also know that some of them are making no effort at all.

If secretaries will call their attention to the constitution and enforce collection of percentage on their wages instead of allowing them to pay whenever they feel like it we will greatly appreciate it.

Secretaries holding cards of the following members please collect amounts opposite their names, and members failing to comply will be dealt with according to constitution: P. W. Snyder (100103), $2.00; Chris. Michelson (14279), $2.00; A. H. Meyer (486), sick expenses for hospital, doctor bill, etc., $81.75; W. Kunzner (18576), $1.00; Thos. Sharkey (68602), for hospital, doctor bill, etc., $16.00.

Secretaries please use their best efforts to collect the above and we may do the same for you some day, and if any of the above members fail to comply please notify Sec'y. 445, Billings, Mont. It will be well for them to get busy.

Secretaries please collect the amount the following members owe and send to Union 451 before the next issue of the Journal: M. Melcher (14963), 50c; Ike Imboden (4730), 50c; W. Cosgrove (34923), 50c; J. Whitehall (11089), 50c; G. L. Lewis (88315), 50c; E. A. Young (102647), 50c; Harry Chisholm (115781), 50c; Wm. Mead (10940), 50c; Wm. King (115107), 50c; J. Bacon, $4.75; John Collins (15425), 50c. These loans have been standing over a year and there are others that owe private loans we would like to have paid before the next issue of Journal or their names will be published.

Union 122, Warren, desires to hear from the following members regarding private loan due this union. We need the money as other boys are coming through: Otto Lorenz (11052), Mayer Miller (86206), C. Schausten (39386), J. B. Welsh 52063 H. J. Mellon (66596), J. Trei (35974), H. W. Burt (60283), L. Bushey (2856), Geo. Nagle (21287), F. S. Lobban (51345), Jos. Stadler (3456), J. AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

The following are the only alterations or amendments to the Constitution adopted since the Detroit (1896) convention, and not published in the 20th edition of the Constitution:

By Union 54, Evansville, Ind.
Amend Section 193 by adding, on line 4, the following: "Of financial secretary, treasurer, trustee and member of the finance committee. This shall apply to all past and future offenses." This section to read as follows: "Any officer or member of the International Union or any officer of any local union who shall obtain money or benefits under false pretenses, or who shall appropriate any money belonging to the union to his own use shall not be eligible to hold the office of financial secretary, treasurer, trustee and member of the finance committee of any local union or the International Union. This shall apply to all past and future offenders. And notice of all defalcations and misappropriations of moneys shall be forwarded to the International President, who shall publish the same in the Official Journal. Defaulters shall not be entitled to receive any benefits prescribed in this Constitution until their defalcations have been paid by them."

CHICAGO, MARCH 15, 1910.

Great indignation and some apprehension exists in all quarters over the decision in the Hatters' case, in which the HATTERS' DAMAGE CASE. Hatters were held for damages for $222,000.00, for alleged conspiracy and boycotting the Loewe Hat Company, of Danbury, Connecticut. Briefly stated, the Loewe Hat people broke their relations with the United Hatters and the fight started. Loewe instituted proceedings against the United Hatters under the Sherman Anti-Trust Law for conspiracy and obtained damages. The case originally went to the Supreme Court of the United States on the joint statement of facts, for the purpose of determining whether the lower courts had jurisdiction and whether a labor organization indulging in a boycott came under the operation of the Sherman Anti-Trust law. Our austere and highest court in the land held that the Hatters by boycotting the Loewe Co. were engaged in a conspiracy and were subject to punishment under the law set forth in the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. The Sherman Anti-Trust Law was originally passed for the stated, acknowledged, and sole purpose of curbing and controlling the Trust. It was understood and agreed at the time that it had no application whatsoever to organized labor. About the only punishment, however, dealt out under the operation of this law has been heaped upon the shoulders of organized labor. It is true that Judge Landis imposed a $29,000,000.00 fine on the Standard Oil Company but an obliging judge of some other Court immediately took it off. It is also true that cases are now pending in the Courts against the Tobacco Trust and against the Standard Oil people, and an effort is now being made to punish the Beef Trust. Hence we find that while the law was passed ostensibly for the purpose of punishing others, thus far it has only hit those for whom it was never intended. Hence the indignation and justly so, of all labor at the unfair, unwarranted and outrageous action.

The question of apprehension is an entirely different matter. Insofar as we know there is nothing in the law or in any decisions rendered that will destroy, arrest or make unlawful the main activities of the Trade Union Movement, which still has a right—at least we think it has—to organize, strike for an increase or against a reduction of wages, to shorten hours of labor, and to otherwise improve the material, moral and intellectual welfare of its membership, but under the decision we are denied the right of the secondary boycott in interstate cases, and if we indulge in it are said to be acting in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, and subject to three-fold damages. In the Loewe case, the jury under peremptory instruction from the judge, brought in a verdict of $74,000.00, which the Judge promptly tripled, making the amount of damages assessed against the Hatters $222,000.00.

An appeal has been taken and our understanding is that the Hatters will further contest the case, exhausting all of its legal rights for redress and justice, even to the last ounce. In this they have the backing, morally and financially, of the entire labor movement.

By the very nature of things trade unions are not what is known as a trust and never can become one. A great LABOR UNIONS many interested people NOT TRUSTS. with malice aforethought are trying to convince a credulous public that our trade unions are in the nature of trusts.

Everybody knows that a simon pure trust is an association of a few very rich men banded together for the purpose of monopolizing and controlling certain industries. By methods best known to themselves they buy or steal all other concerns engaged in a certain line. The product when thus controlled is manipulated for the benefit and enrichment of the few regardless of the welfare of the masses. The masses haven't the money to get in on the good thing and would not be let in if they had.

On the other hand a trade union has no limitation to its membership. It seeks to have all workers unite for their mutual advancement and best interests. The trade unions cause a more just and equitable distribution of the wealth it is largely instrumental in creating. They enable the masses, the workers, to retain a more just share of the wealth it creates. Trade unions as a combination benefit the masses.

There is absolutely no comparison between a real trust and a combination of toilers insofar as ultimate results are concerned. The one robs the masses for the enrichment of the few while the other robs nobody, it simply enables the toilers to retain that which rightfully and justly belongs to them and thus distributes it among the masses.

Since everybody is now taking a crack at the trusts, Rockefeller, the king of the trust builders, has recently got ROCKEFELLER busy and an obliging public MILLIONS. daily press from one end of the land to the other has regaled the dear public with a statement detailed and otherwise with the enormous sums he has given to charity.

Not only have they told us of the enormous sums he has given but they tell us of the great amount he is going to hand out in the future.

The highest amount we have seen stated as having been parted with by oily John was $137,000,000.

A casual glance at the list of his beneficiaries shows that the great bulk of it went to colleges. Very few of the masses or so-called common people are fortunate enough to reach any of these colleges to which the money went. The great mass of the boys and girls go to work at some gainful occupation long before they reach the college age, and if they were not at work they could not afford to go to college. The children of the rich are the ones generally speaking who go to college, hence they are the direct beneficiaries of the Rockefeller millions. Those who least need it, get it. Those who worked and helped earn it get none of his millions as charity or otherwise. Rockefeller's millions are largely invested in the Tobacco Trust, which employs women and children exclusively at starvation wages. Rockefeller's millions are wrung from the life blood of women and innocent children who are denied the right to go to even the public schools. The Tobacco Trust won't give a man a job if they can help it. It prefers women and children because they will work cheaper.

What the workers want and demand is justice, fair wages, a living wage, not charity. The Tobacco Trust built up and maintained by Rockefeller's millions is doing its level best to pauperize the masses. It does not employ union people. It employs mostly women and girls at starvation wages. Rockefeller and his partners are robbing the masses of fair wages and trying to square himself with the public by giving some of his ill-gotten gains to help the colleges. Rockefeller says "Charity, charity."

Little children who should be in the public schools but working in Trust Cigar factories are contributing through Rockefeller, funds with which to endow colleges in which the children of the rich may obtain an education.

We republish herewith an editorial we wrote and published in the September, 1894, issue of the Official Journal, nearly PROPHETIC. 16 years ago, as follows:

"Organized workingmen should beware of all anti-trust and anti-monopoly laws. In nine cases out of ten, all such laws contain vague provisions, however, that are neatly covered up and hidden from view by cunning phraseology, that when occasion may require are turned into instruments of torture for the very people whom the law was supposed to benefit, and they never injure or in any way control monopolies."

Recent events, especially in the case of the hatters, bare out the assertions made in the foregoing quoted editorial. The Sherman anti-trust law was enacted ostensibly for the purpose of curbing and controlling trusts and monopolies. At the time this law was passed it was asserted that it was not intended to in any way affect organized labor. The only ones to be hit by the law so far are the hatters. The real trusts, monopolies and combinations in restraint of trade have so far escaped.

The Trade Union movement came into existence an absolute necessity, and despite anything that may be said to the contrary it is the natural, logical and only strictly class conscious movement

TRADE UNION EFFORTS. now in existence. We recognize, point out and denounce the heartless brutalities existing in the industrial and social lives of the great masses of the workers; indeed the Trade Unionists were the first to point out the frightful inequalities, low wages, long hours and unsanitary and other conditions which militate so harshly against defenseless workers. Other movements have taken up the cry, and parrotlike screech in denunciation of these conditions, and cunningly and covertly attempt to make it appear that the Trade Unionists condone and endorse such conditions. The facts are that the Trade Unionists were the first to point out, the first to try the only proper and sensible means to overcome these conditions, and no one and no association has done more to improve the economic condition of the masses than the Trade Unionists and the Trade Union movement.

The Trade Union movement takes the common sense, businesslike, and tangible means to get results, regardless of how we may feel or what the conditions over which we have no control may be. The Trade Unionists know the conditions and know that they can only be remedied by unity of action in all things, through organized effort, working in collective harmony, for better wages, shorter hours, and improved shop conditions. These we know to be the first steps in the effort to bring about better social and economic conditions for all wage workers.

Men differ violently, viciously, and persistently on religion, politics and abstract theories, and fight to the last for their individual opinions. All men, however, agree that good wages and shorter hours are a good thing and the Trade Unionists say the only way under present conditions to achieve them is by Trade Union effort.

Any political party to be successful must take in the landlords, bankers, lawyers, manufacturers, merchants, professionals, doctors, etc. The trade union movement is composed of real wage earners only. No use asking who has the real simon pure class conscious movement.

There is nothing in the Sherman Anti-Trust Act or any other law that we know anything about, which prevents a Union man, and others for that matter, from patronizing the Union manufacturers and buying only such goods as bear the Union Label.

Any American citizen still has a right individually at least, to buy only such hats as bear the Union Label of the United Hatters.

REFERENDUM VOTE.

On amendments of Union 148 Caguas, and Union 129, Denver. The amendment of Union 148 Caguas, reference Section 92, was not adopted, and the amendment of Union 129, Denver, reference Convention of the C. M. U. was not adopted.

The following unions returned vote on amendments too late to be included in the count: 119, 10, 244, 405, 128, 384.

The following unions failed to return vote on amendments: 21, 43, 51, 78, 105, 151, 183, 190, 218, 248, 298, 313, 320, 321, 328, 333, 337, 338, 346, 350, 356, 364, 366, 374, 376, 385, 386, 389, 390, 392, 401, 418, 436, 441, 465, 473, 474, 481, 485, 489.

The above unions having failed to return vote on amendments are hereby given notice to show cause why a fine of $5.00 should not be imposed in compliance with Section 219 for such failure.

REPORT OF INTERNATIONAL FINANCIER.

Chicago, Ill., March 8, 1910.
Since last report have examined the accounts of the following unions, viz.,

No. 34, Chippewa Falls, Wis.

The books and accounts here are certainly in excellent condition. Cash and stamp accounts correct. Ledger indexed and posted to show each member's standing in dues, benefits drawn, etc. All benefit cards, original bills for expense and vouchers on file in the rotation in which they are entered for every item of expense. All accounts balanced and verified until errors are about impossible. Unions having officers that can and will do their work as it is here are fortunate. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Sept. 1, 1906.....	$1,095.11
Receipts to Jan. 1, 1910.....	2,646.45
Claims expended over percentage, 1907.....	1.40
Total	$3,742.96
Expense to Jan. 1, 1910.....	$2,757.22
Correction, percentage for 1907.....	1.40
Total	2,758.62

Balance would be Jan. 1, 1910.....	$ 984.34

Union 61, La Crosse, Wis.

The books and accounts here are in good order. Benefit cards and vouchers for expense all on file. Ledger correctly indexed and posted showing the members' standing in dues, also all benefits drawn, etc. Cash and stamp accounts balanced at the end of each month. The deficiency as shown in this statement is caused from an item in expense for June, 1908, not being allowed at the International office. Any amount expended over percentage during year 1909 is not included in this statement. Account as follows:

Balance on hand Sept. 1, 1907.....	$1,552.74
Receipts to Jan. 1, 1910.....	2,297.74
Total	$3,850.48
Expense to Jan. 1, 1910.....	$3,144.72
Allowed by Int. President.....	9.00
Total	$3,153.72

Balance would be Jan. 1, 1910.....	$ 696.76
Receipts for January, 1910.....	79.49
Total	$ 776.25
Expense for January, 1910.....	134.70

Balance would be Feb. 1, 1910.....	$ 641.55
Funds of Union—

This deficiency is the amount expended over percentage during year 1909.

Union 85, Eau Claire, Wis.

The books and accounts here are not in as good order as this statement would indicate. Several members here are over the limit in dues. If this is continued it will make trouble for somebody. You better get right, then stay there. It pays to be real members of the union, especially so when you need benefits. There has been several errors in the dues accounts of the members. Corrected a small error in the stamp statement. All benefit cards and vouchers for expense on file. Corrected the statement of cash in possession of officers. Explained to the treasurer and secretary how to balance their accounts, showing cash, if any, in their possession at the end of each month. Statement as follows:

This deficiency is the balance not replaced on amount embezzled by ex-Sec. Wagner. The balances given in this statement do not include any amount expended over percentage during year 1909.

Union 88, Dubuque, Iowa.

Had endorsed vouchers for officers' salaries and postage been filed, as all original bills for expense and benefit cards have, the books and accounts here would have been in excellent condition. Accounts nicely balanced and ledger correctly indexed and posted, showing all benefits and when members are out of work, etc. This is the first time the secretary-treasurer has not had all the money in the bank at the end of the month in two years. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Sept. 1, 1907.....	$ 497.68

The books and accounts here are in excellent condition. Benefit cards and endorsed vouchers for expense all on file. Ledger correctly indexed and posted. The treasurer and secretary correctly balance their accounts at the end of every month. Cash and stamp accounts correct. The $25.90 claimed in possession of the treasurer Feb. 1st was deposited in bank Feb. 3d. The manner in which the ex-secretary posted the ledger and balanced the accounts has been very correctly and nicely continued. Statement as follows:

The books and accounts here are being handled a little better all the while. Experience and a little help is all that is needed. I gave them all the help I could. The one "bad feature" here is the manner in which a few of the members pay dues—away behind. LOCAL FINES

Note.—Fines below $5 are not published in the Journal. See Sec. 195.

Sec. 197. Members having been fined by local unions shall pay such fines on the following basis: $10 or less, 10 per cent of weekly wages and benefits paid by union; or amounts more than $10, 15 per cent, aside from payments on loans as provided by the constitution.

Frank Jens (102292) and John Strum (26264) were fined $10.00 each for allowing themselves to become suspended by Union 172, Davenport, Iowa.

Union 38, Springfield, Ill., fined the following each $5.00 for allowing themselves to be suspended: D. W. Ryan ($2902), Louise A. Bauer (4166).

Union 387, Yankton, S. Dak., fined J. W. Scully (105874) $9.50 for allowing himself to be suspended and for conduct unbecoming a union man.

Union 290, Janesville, Wis., imposed a fine of $8.40 on George Berey, $5.00 for allowing himself to become suspended and $3.40 that this local spent for committee work in collecting wages due two members that worked for him.

Union 368, Port Huron, Mich., fined Will Devine (50434) $10.00 for allowing himself to be suspended.

Union 8, Hoboken, fined A. Saqui (23261) $10.00 for buying and selling cigars not bearing the Blue Label.

Mr. W. H. Minge was fined $4.50 board bill and $1.00 additional for failing to pay same before leaving town by Union 41, Aurora, Ill.

Union 375, Anaconda, Mont., has fined Ed. Longly (98690) $6.00 for allowing himself to become suspended. Secretaries should not in the future believe his story about having left his card or losing it, but make him pay an initiation fee.

He owes in addition to above, $26.75 on previous fine and $10.00 International loan.

Union 455, Galena, Ill., fined Oswald Huber (119849) $5.00 for allowing himself to become suspended.

Union 228, San Francisco, Calif., has placed a fine of $5.00 on J. Goldstein (85113) for allowing himself to become suspended for non-payment of dues.

Nach hat jeder amerikanische Bürger das Recht, wenigstens persönlich nur solche Güte zu kaufen, die das Gewerkschaftszeichen der vereinigten Gutmacher tragen.

Nichts in dem „Sherman Anti-Trust Act“ oder irgendeinem andern Gesetz, das uns bekannt ist, verbietet es einem Gewerkschaftler, noch irgend jemand anders, die Gewerkschaftsfabrikanten zu begünstigen und nur solche Artikel zu kaufen, die das Gewerkschaftszeichen tragen.

Um erfolgreich zu sein, muß eine politische Partei die Grundbesitzer, Bankiers, Advokaten, Fabrikanten, Kaufleute, Fachleute, Ärzte u. s. w. einschließen. Die Gewerkschaftsbewegung setzt sich nur aus wirklichen Lohnarbeitern zusammen. Es hilft nichts, zu fragen, welches die echte „Simon“ Klassenbewegung ist.

In Religion, Politik und den abstrakten Theorien widersprechen sich die Menschen hartnäckig, bösartig und andauernd, und sie kämpfen bis zum Letzten für ihre persönlichen Meinungen. Sie stimmen jedoch alle überein, daß gute Löhne und kürzere Stunden eine gute Sache sind, und die Gewerkschaftler behaupten, daß das einzige Mittel, sie unter den heutigen Verhältnissen zu erreichen, die Gewerkschaftsbewegung ist.

Die Gewerkschaftsbewegung.

Die Gewerkschaftsbewegung verdankt ihr Dasein einer absoluten Nothwendigkeit, und was immer man auch Gegenheiliges behaupten mag, sie ist die natürliche, logische und einzige streng Klassenbewegung, die es gegenwärtig giebt. Wir kennen, erklären und beurtheilen die herzlosen Brutalitäten, unter denen das industrielle und soziale Leben der großen Masse zu leiden hat. Ja, die Gewerkschaftler waren die ersten, die auf die schrecklichen Ungleichheiten, niedrigen Löhne, langen Stunden und gesundheitswidrigen und anderen Verhältnisse hinwiesen, von denen die vertheilungslosen Arbeiter so unbarmherzig bedrückt werden. Andere Bewegungen haben in den Ruf eingestimmt und versucht, schlau und hinterlistig den Anschein zu erwecken, daß die Gewerkschaftler solche Verhältnisse beschönigen oder gar gutheißen. Es ist aber Thatsache, daß die Gewerkschaftler den ersten Antrieb gaben und den ersten Versuch machten, mit den einzig richtigen und vernünftigen Mitteln diese Verhältnisse zu beseitigen, und Niemand und keine Vereinigung haben mehr zur Verbesserung der ökonomischen Lage der Massen beigetragen als die Gewerkschaftler und die Gewerkschaftsbewegung.

Die Gewerkschaftsbewegung schlägt den vernünftigen, geschäftsmäßigen und praktischen Weg zum Erfolg ein, ohne Rücksicht auf Gefühle oder die Beschaffenheit von Zuständen, die sich nicht beherrschen lassen. Die Gewerkschaftler kennen die Verhältnisse und wissen, daß sie sich nur verbessern lassen durch vereintes Handeln, organisiertes Bestreben und harmonische Gesamtarbeit für bessere Löhne, kürzere Stunden und bessere Arbeitsverhältnisse. Wir haben erkannt, daß dies die ersten Schritte sind in der Richtung, die zu besseren sozialen und ökonomischen Verhältnissen für alle Lohnarbeiter führt.

Die Rockefeller-Millionen.

Seit man von allen Seiten über die Trusts herfällt, hat Rockefeller, der König der Trust-Bauern, es sich angelegen sein lassen, und die zu vornehmende Tagespresse hat es aufgenommen, das liebe Publikum zu bestürmen mit einer ausführlichen und auch sonst veranschaulichten Aufstellung der gewaltigen Summen, die er für wohltätige Zwecke hergegeben.

Nicht nur haben sie uns von den gewaltigen Summen erzählt, die er schon gegeben, sondern sie nennen uns auch den großen Betrag, den er in der Zukunft herauszudenken will.

Der höchste Betrag, nach dem, was uns darüber zu Gesicht gekommen, von dem sich der ölige John getrennt haben soll, war $137,000,000.

Wenn man die Liste der Nutznießer überfliegt, zeigt es sich, daß die große Masse den Hochschulen aufloß. Sehr wenige der Massen oder der sogenannten gewöhnlichen Leute sind so günstig gestellt, daß sie eine dieser Hochschulen, denen das Geld zufließt, in ihrem Bereich haben. Die große Masse der Knaben und Mädchen müssen sich lohnende Arbeit suchen, lange ehe sie das Hochschulalter erreichen, und wenn sie nicht arbeiten, können sie sich den Hochschulbesuch doch nicht leisten. Es sind die Kinder der Reichen, die im Allgemeinen die Hochschulen besuchen, und sie also sind die eigentlichen Nutznießer der Rockefeller-Millionen. Wer's am wenigsten braucht, bekommt es. Die aber dafür arbeiten und sie verdienen helfen, bekommen nichts von den Millionen, weder als Spende oder sonstwie. Die Rockefeller-Millionen sind großenteils in dem Tabak-Trust angelegt, der Frauen und Kinder ausschließlich zu Hungerlöhnen beschäftigt. Rockefeller's Millionen werden aus dem Lebensblut von Frauen und unschuldigen Kindern gepreßt, denen man sogar das Recht auf die öffentlichen Schulen vorenthält. Der Tabak-Trust giebt keinem Manne Arbeit, wenn er drumhür kann. Er zieht Frauen und Kinder vor, weil sie billiger arbeiten.

Was die Arbeiter wollen und verlangen, ist Gerechtigkeit, angemessene Löhne, von denen sich leben läßt, aber keine Wohlthätigkeit. Der Tabak-Trust, aufgebaut und erhalten von Rockefeller's Millionen, thut sein Bestmögliches, die Massen arm zu halten und zu machen. Gewerkschaften giebt er keine Arbeit. Er beschäftigt meistens Frauen und Mädchen zu Hungerlöhnen. Rockefeller und seine Theilhaber betrügen die Massen um angemessene Löhne und versuchen dann das Publikum zu verführen, indem sie etwas von ihrem mit Unrecht erworbenen Gewinn zur Unterstützung der Hochschulen hergeben. Rockefeller ruft: „Wohlthätigkeit! Wohlthätigkeit!“

Kleine Kinder, die in den öffentlichen Schulen sein sollten, aber in den Trust-Zigarrenfabriken arbeiten, tragen durch Rockefeller zu den Fonds bei, mit denen die Hochschulen bedacht werden sollen, in denen die Kinder der Reichen dann ihre Bildung erhalten.

Cualquier ciudadano americano tiene todavía el derecho de comprar, a lo menos, los sombreros que traen consigo, la etiqueta de los Fabricantes Unidos de Sombreros.

No hay nada en al acto contra los Trusts de Sherman, ni cualquier otra ley, que conozcamos, que impida una persona afiliada a una Unión, ni cualquier otra, de favorecer a los manufactureros unionistas ni de comprar solamente artículos que lleven la etiqueta de la unión.

Todos los partidos políticos, para alcanzar éxito, han de incluir los propietarios, banqueros, abogados, manufactureros, negociantes, hombres de ocupaciones liberales, doctores, etc. El movimiento de las Uniones Obreras se compone solamente de los verdaderos trabajadores, los que ganan salario. No hay que preguntar cual es el movimiento verdaderamente puro y de clase.

Los hombres disputan violenta y ferozmente, y con persistencia, sobre asuntos religiosos, sobre política y cuestiones abstractas y están listos a combatir hasta no más por sus opiniones personales. Todos los hombres están de acuerdo, sin embargo, sobre el hecho que buenos sueldos y horas cortas de trabajo son una cosa buena. Y las Uniones Obreras dicen que la única manera de obtener esos mejoramientos, es bajo las condiciones presentes, el esfuerzo unionista.

Esfuerzos Unionistas.

El movimiento en favor de las Uniones Obreras vino a la luz como una necesidad absoluta y, a pesar de cuanto se pueda decir en contra, es el natural, lógico y solo estrictamente consciente movimiento de clase que exista. Reconocemos nosotros, senalamos y denunciamos las brutalidades crueles que se cometen en la vida industrial y social de las grandes masas de los trabajadores. Verdaderamente, somos nosotros, los Unionistas, quienes hemos sido los primeros que hayan indicado las espantosas desigualdades, los salarios ínfimos, las larguísimas horas de trabajo que tan pesadamente incumben al salariado. Otros movimientos han alzado el grito a su vez, chillando desgarradamente, como loros, en contra de las mismísimas condiciones y, astutamente y bajo cubierto, quieren dar a entender que las Uniones Obreras condonan y aprueban las tales condiciones. La verdad es que los Unionistas fueron los primeros que senalaron, los primeros que ensayaron el único conveniente y lógico medio de remediar, esas condiciones y que ninguna persona ni asociación de personas, ha hecho más en pro del mejoramiento de la vida industrial y social de los trabajadores, que los Unionistas y las Uniones Obreras.

El movimiento unionista emplea el medio razonable, tangible y práctico de obtener los resultados deseados, sin consideración por los sentimientos de uno ni preocupación por las condiciones sobre las cuales no tiene supervisión. Los Unionistas conocen las condiciones tales como son y saben que esas condiciones solo se pueden remediar por medio de un esfuerzo organizado de una unidad de acción en todas circunstancias. Saben que se ha de trabajar en armonía colectiva para obtener mejores salarios, horas menos largas y talleres más sanitarios. Estos ya sabemos son los primeros pasos en el esfuerzo que se está haciendo para obtener condiciones económicas y sociales más favorables en la masa de los trabajadores.

Los Millones de Rockefeller.

Desde que todo el mundo está atacando a los Trusts, Rockefeller, el rey de los constructores de Trusts, se ha puesto aforadamente al trabajo y una prensa diaria y complaciente, de una extremidad del país a la otra, ha regalado el buen público con una lista detallada y completa de las sumas enormes que ese Señor ha dado por caridad.

No solo nos dice la prensa cuales son las sumas enormes que él ha dado por caridad, sino que también nos anuncia cuales son las que en futuro dará.

La suma más grande que hemos vista inscrita en la lista de las caridades del petrolero John, es de 137,000,000 de dólares.

Bueno, pues, una mirada aún fortuita a la lista de los beneficiarios de ese caballero, muestra que la mayor parte del dinero fué dada a los colegios. Muy pocos son los que, entre la masa de los salaridados, de los que comúnmente se llama "la gente común," tienen la suerte de ir a cualquiera de los colegios a los cuales fué regalada tanta plata. La mayoría de los niños y de las niñas tiene que trabajar penosamente mucho tiempo antes de llegar a la edad en que se entra en los colegios.

Los hijos de los ricos son, hablando de una manera general, los únicos que van a los colegios; así pues, son ellos los únicos que disfrutan de los millones de Rockefeller. Son los que menos los necesitan que los reciben. Los que han contribuido por su trabajo a amontonar esos millones, no reciben nada, por caridad ni de ninguna otra manera. Los millones de Rockefeller son en mayor parte invertidos en el Trust del Tabaco. Este hace trabajar principalmente mujeres y niños con salarios ridículos. Los millones de Rockefeller son arrancados a la sangre y a la vida misma de mujeres y de niños inocentes a los cuales se rehusa aún el derecho de ir a las escuelas públicas. El Trust del Tabaco no emplea hombres si lo puede evitar. Prefiere mujeres y niños, porque estos trabajan más barato.

Lo que los trabajadores necesitan y exigen es justicia, salarios razonables, salarios que les permitan vivir, y no caridad. El Trust del Tabaco, edificado y mantenido por los millones de Rockefeller hace todo lo posible para empobrecer a las masas. No emplea gente de las Uniones. Emplea sobre todo mujeres y jóvenes pagándoles sueldos ínfimos. Rockefeller y sus asociados están robando a las masas los sueldos decentes que estas deberían recibir y para justificarse en los ojos del público, dan parte de sus ganancias mal adquiridas a colegios. Rockefeller dice "Caridad, caridad."

Los pequeñuelos que deberían estar en las escuelas públicas pero que al contrario trabajan en las fábricas del Trust del Tabaco, están contribuyendo, por medio de Rockefeller, dinero para colegios donde los hijos de los ricos reciban educación.

N'importe quel citoven américain a encore le droit individuel de n'acheter au moins que les chapeaux portant l'estampille unioniste de l'Union des Chapeliers Unis.

Il n'y a rien, dans l'acte dit "de Sherman," contre les Trusts, ni dans aucune autre loi dont nous ayons connaissance, qui empêche un homme appartenant à une Union, et toutes autres personnes, d'ailleurs, de patronner les fabricants unionistes et de n'acheter que des marchandises portant l'estampille d'une Union.

Tout parti politique, pour réussir, doit s'incorporer les propriétaires, banquiers, avocats, fabricants, marchands, gens de professions dites libérales, docteurs, etc. Le mouvement des unions ouvrières n'est composé, lui, que des seuls salariés. Il n'y a pas à demander quel est le mouvement véritablement de "classe" et véritablement pur.

Les hommes diffèrent violement, vicieusement et avec persistance, sur les questions religieuses, sur la politique et sur les théories abstraites. Ils sont prêts à combattre jusqu'au bout pour leurs opinions individuelles. Tous Rockefellerovým k fondům, z nichž udílí se nadace kolegům, kde dostává se vyššího vzdělání dětem boháčů!

TO BE READ TWICE A DAY.

Man, union or non-union, give heed to this advice:

When you purchase goods, see that they are union made—that they bear the union label. The union label stands for good wages, good conditions, sanitary surroundings.

Hark! The United States government has permitted one hundred and fifty million cigars to be imported into the United States which were made under the most filthy conditions imaginable.

Men, women and children in the Philippine Islands, suffering with skin disease and all manner of corruption, made those cigars. The tobacco is housed in the huts with the children, cats and dogs, and a Filipino dog—human or connie—has no more respect for a pile of tobacco than he has for a hitching post.

The children consume watermelons, and to eat watermelons causes one to drink water, and children do not care where they drink, and besides a pile of tobacco makes a pretty comfortable bed for a Filipino. Now if you will read between the lines and let your imagination have a little exercise, you can picture what a nice smoke you are having from a cigar made from the filthy tobacco and moistened on the end that you have in your mouth with the spittal from a greasy, fish-oil bucks' mouth or that of his less cleanly wife or filthy children.

You smoke these cigars with glee, but, my dear friend, if you could only see the surroundings and the filth that is attached to these cigars, you would not only read this twice, but you would be more careful in the selection of the cigar you smoke.

The Union—BLUE—label on a box of cigars insures cleanliness and freedom from contaminating diseases.

Don't buy cigars from the trust. Look for the Blue Label on the Box.—Labor Standard, Orange, N. J.

Secretary of War Dickinson has shown one way to scotch the trust, if not to kill it. All there remains to do is for the public to follow the example, and presto! the trust's goose will be cooked. Mr. Dickinson has notified the commissary general of the army that, in purchasing tobacco for the army, he must not buy goods of the American Tobacco Company, the American Snuff Company, the American Cigar Company, the American Stogy Company or the McAndrews and Forbes Company, because each of them has been adjudicated a trust in restraint of trade. The Secretary holds that it is illegal for the government to have dealings with any one of them.

Here is a hint to the American tobacco consumer. He has the "Big Stick" in his own hands. Neither courts nor anti-trust legislation could do half as much to kill a trust as a determination of the consumer not to contribute to its coffers. If the lead of the government were followed, something would be likely to drop in short order. Nor could this action be called a boycott, for the corporations complained of are violators of the law in a way which the American people believe is peculiarly injurious to their welfare.—The Boston Journal.

SOME NOTED TRAITORS.

Esau sold his birthright for a mess of pottage.

Judas Iscariot sold his Saviour for thirty pieces of silver.

Benedict Arnold sold his country for the promise of an officer's commission in the English army.

The modern strike-breaker sells his birthright, his country, his wife, his children, and his fellow-workmen for an unfulfilled promise from a trust or corporation.

A strike-breaker is a traitor to his God, to his country, to his family, and to his class.

A real man is never a strike-breaker! Be a man!—Exchange.

UNION BUSINESS

In accordance with Section 61 of the Constitution, the following unions are hereby notified and requested to remit the following amounts for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the office of the International Union:

42 Hartford	100	86 Mansfield	100
43 Urbana	100	88 Dubuque	100
45 Springfield	100	93 Omaha	100
48 Toledo	100	94 Pawtucket	100
49 Springfield	100	95 St. Joseph	100
58 Montreal	100	99 Ottawa	100
61 La Crosse	100	103 Ansonia	100
71 Elgin	100	104 Pottsville	100
73 Alton	100	105 Maysville	100
78 Hornell	100	109 Aberdeen	100
80 Danville	100	115 Canton	100
81 Peekskill	100	116 Cortland	100
82 Meadville	100	117 Orange	100
83 Nashville	100	123 Hamilton	100
84 Saugerties	100	124 Watertown	100
85 Eau Claire	100	130 Saginaw	100

NOTICE.

When a member changes from the 30c to the 20c list, or retires absolutely, all previous cards, in possession of the union, should be returned to the International Union.

NOTICE TO SECRETARIES.

On and after February 28 do not use any numbers from 20001 to 43000, inclusive, unless the numbers become vacant on your own books, except to give old numbers to members owing loans. Secretaries in need of numbers for new members not owing loans should send to the International Office for them.

The Constitution, twentieth edition, contains an error. The amendment of Union 97, Boston, reference accepting cards from foreign countries, took the place of the old law. Through mistake both the amendment and the old law are included. The last paragraph, or last twelve lines of Section 67, on page 20, is the old law and doesn't belong in the Constitution.

NOTICE.

Financial secretaries when granting loans should, as required by Section 104, enter loans in figures and letters. It is not necessary to punch cards.

The amendment adopted to Sections 76 and 77 does away with the issuance of retiring cards to all who continue to pay dues as beneficiary members.

Retiring cards are only for those who pay up and actually terminate all connection with the union in so far as the payment of dues is concerned.

Members who transfer from the 30-cent list to the 20-cent beneficiary membership list are simply changed from one class to another and deducted from one and added to the other.

Members who have not paid 20-cent dues for three years and quitting the trade under Section 76 and wishing to qualify for Section 77 as a beneficiary member should be kept on without any other change than to make a note of the intention on the ledger page. If such member desires to travel to another jurisdiction he should be given a transfer card and his intention to qualify as a 30-cent beneficiary member written on the transfer card. Such beneficiary members are not entitled to any benefits except sick benefits after one year's membership and whatever death benefits their term of membership entitles them to.

If you hold any loan cards of no further use send them to this office.

Before granting or accepting retiring cards secretaries and members should consult Sections 76 and 77 of the Constitution.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS AND MEMBERS.

In printing the nineteenth edition of the Constitution, an omission occurs in Section 77, on line 7. A comma and the words "and local assessments" should follow "International assessments." The sentence to read, "All international assessments, and local assessments levied for label agitation purposes." This amendment as published in another place is correct.

MEMBERS OUT OF WORK ARE NOT ENTITLED TO THE SIXTEEN WEEKS' PRIVILEGE IN DUES UNLESS THEY NOTIFY THE SECRETARY WEEKLY BEFORE THE EIGHTH WEEK. THIS INCLUDES TRAVELING MEMBERS WHO SHOULD ALWAYS CARRY A CERTIFICATE AND HAVE SAME SIGNED WEEKLY.

Items for the Journal should be placed on separate slips of paper—not the backs of reports, etc.—in order to insure prompt publication, and should reach this office not later than the 10th of each month if intended for current publication.

NOTICE.—How to duplicate Loan Cards.

It frequently occurs that new secretaries through error or lack of knowledge, transfer the amount a member "has coming" instead of what he owes. In duplicating a card, figure up all the member has borrowed and subtract all he has paid, and if there is a balance against the member transfer to new card in red ink and figures and letters the amount due the International Union. Also enter on new card all that may be essential that you find on the old, then sign and seal it. Send the old card to the International office.

Unions when notifying this office of change in secretary will please at once give the new secretary's address, if possible, so as to obviate delays, mistakes, etc.

In reporting deaths kindly comply with the following and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of member. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the records of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such card, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the latter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

If secretaries when ordering supplies will place the order on the regular blank, it will greatly simplify the work here and avoid unnecessary delay for those who order the supplies. We receive an average of 300 pieces of mail in the office daily. Sometimes an order is sandwiched into a two or three-page letter containing three or more different subjects, and there is danger in such cases of an order being overlooked. Hence we ask that in order to save unnecessary delay and annoyance you order on the regular blank, giving your name and address.

DECISIONS OF EXECUTIVE BOARD

Washington, D. C., April 2, 1910.

In the case of the appeal to the Executive Board, C. M. I. U. of A., by Union No. 3, of Paterson, N. J., against a decision rendered by the International President, the vote was as follows:

Affirmative—None.

Negative—Tracy, Gariepy, Fitzgerald, Cronin, Bradford and Gompers.

The basis of the appeal was Union No. 3 fined a member $100 and annulled his card for alleged violation of his duty as a union man by selling union-made cigars below the minimum prices of Paterson. The union claims that as these cigars were sold below the minimum prices the member was doing an injustice to the manufacturers of Paterson. The member claims that he violated no International law when he sold none but union-made cigars, and did not sell below the Constitutional limit.

The International President bases his decision upon substantially the following grounds: That this member was not a manufacturer and sold only union-label cigars, which he had a perfect right to do, and to decide otherwise would be putting a boycott upon the product of union men; that the fining of the member and annulling a 29-year card of a man whose record had heretofore been without a blemish was an injustice which the International President could not sustain; that there is nothing in the Constitution prohibiting the action for which this member was fined and expelled.

In accordance with the vote cast and above recorded, the decision of the International President is sustained.

Fraternally,

Samuel Gompers,
First Vice-President.

DECISIONS OF PRESIDENT

Jas. McVag appealed against 94, Pawtucket, for refusing to reduce his fine. The appeal was not sustained.

A. J. Cushinic appealed against 6, Syracuse, for fining him $50 for selling cigars below the limit. The appeal was not sustained.

Geo. Ignatz appealed against 69, Three Rivers, for refusing his claim for sick benefit. The appeal was not sustained.

L. W. Maloney appealed against 451, Bushnell, for fining him $50. The fine is hereby reduced to $20.

W. Moss appealed against 54, Evansville, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The appeal was not sustained.

P. F. Larson appealed against 109, Aberdeen, for fining him for taking a job as a stevedore. Appellant claims he did not know it was a strike job or that he had no right to work there and that he was not told by any one of the real facts in the case. The fine is hereby reduced to $10.

F. M. Wolf appealed against 487, Baker City, for refusing to take action against a certain shop. The appeal was not sustained.

INTERNATIONAL FINES

The International Executive Board approved the application of Union 368, Port Huron, Mich., to fine Mr. Frank Reimar $50 more for working in a strike shop and taking a striker's job in the Detroit Cigar Co., Detroit, Mich., and to fine Mr. Joseph Schneider, No. 113574, $50 for working in a strike shop and taking a striker's job in the Detroit Cigar Co., Detroit.

Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Approved the application of Union 22, Detroit, Mich., to fine the following members for going to work at the Detroit Cigar Co. now on strike: Richard Etzler, No. 14622, $15; Jas. Abramson, No. 46970, $15; Sarah Helle, No. 35998, $15; H. Weisgerber, No. 5438, $15; Frank Maroonney, No. 58079, $30 (this member overcharged shop collector's fee, which he failed to return); and to fine Chas. Dornbrook, No. 3666, $50; Gusta Palaska, No. 27098, $50; and Emma Holler, No. 10917, $50 each for quitting unions jobs to go to work in the strike shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Approved the application of Union 493, Tampa, Fla., to fine Ciriaco Rivero, No. 1161, $35, and to invalidate the retiring card of Pedro Rivero or else make him pay $25. The first fine was imposed for neglect of his duty as a delegate of the union in the factory of M. Perez. The second fine was imposed because Mr. Pedro Rivero, as foreman in the M. Perez factory, employed a non-union man when he knew that there were fifty unemployed selectors in the city. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7. Note—One member voted that the alternative fine on Pedro Rivero should be subject to the approval of the Executive Board.

Approved the application of Union 110, Washington, D. C., to fine Earl Carr, No. 104438, and H. M. Cooper, each $200; Mr. Carr for drawing all his out of work benefit and filling up his card with loans and then deliberately applying for a job in the closed shop of H. F. Offerdinger; and Mr. Cooper for conduct unbecoming a union man. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 6. The other member voted that the fines be $100.

Approved the application of Union 130, Saginaw, Mich., to fine Wm. Butler and Emerson Dean each $50 for working at the Wolverine Cigar Co., a strictly scab shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Approved the application of Union 208, Kalamazoo, Mich., to fine G. B. Parent, 24518, $50 for running a scab shop; also that he should deposit $50 for proper use of the label in case he unionized his factory in the future. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Information has just reached us that the union textile workers of New York have made arrangements with several manufacturers to put the union label on all kinds of knit underwear and coat sweaters. They ask that organized labor give these manufacturers their loyal support.

Further information can be obtained from Mr. Edward M. Hayes, Secretary, Box 123, Cohoes, New York.

CORRESPONDENCE

Elgin, Ill., March 30, 1910.

I desire to call the members' attention to the amendment proposed by Union 71, to Sec. 106. In support of the same just look over the lengthy list of members published every month. It leads one to believe there are a great many members who are paying private loans, and they ought to have the same protection that is accorded to members paying international loans (especially as they are paying for the same), the postal card receipt to be mailed by the member to the union that is to receive the money, will have a tendency to make the secretaries more prompt in remitting.

Again, you will note the amendment we propose does not change the intent of that portion of the section, but adds to the same, and we believe if the amendment is adopted it will save a great deal of trouble to some members, and assure more prompt payments of private loans.

Members will think it over and see if our amendment does not merit your endorsement.

F. W. Seybold, Sec.

Springfield, Mass., April 11, 1910.

Please publish the following in the Official Journal for April and oblige:

"Local No. 49, Springfield, Mass., wishes to warn secretaries and members regarding the following gentlemen: W. J. Taylor, No. 2479, joined this local May 10, 1909. He owes a private loan of $38.05, to No. 269, Nashua; fines to No. 407, Norwich, $10; No. 21, Marlboro, $10, and to No. 21, Marlboro, $19 board bill. He worked here some time before this union learned of this indebtedness. He left here without his card and drew a private loan of 75 cents on his due book from No. 206, N. Adams. Members should not listen to this man's hard luck story, as he is taking advantage of sympathy. Suspended by this local April 4 for non-payment of dues."

"Important to the following: H. Gouder, No. 106650; B. F. Parsons, No. 81612, and H. O. Delafuenta, No. 42826. Local 49, Springfield, Mass., wishes to hear from you. We consider we have been very lenient and have given you plenty of time. Must hear from you soon or will be forced to take action."

Wm. J. Murphy, Cor. Sec.

Decatur, Ill., April 7, 1910.

The township election held here April 5 to 10 was a complete victory for the anti-local optionists, or wets. Also a repudiation of W. A. Sundayism and fanaticism. The campaign was bitterly fought, especially by the local option forces. Their stock in trade was vilification and abuse. Every one who did not agree with them were robbers, hold-up men, drunkards, and general law violators. They had every speaker of note that espouses their cause that they could procure to speak here, W. A. Sunday, John B. Lemon, Seaborn Wright, ex-Governor Handy of Indiana, and others too numerous to mention. Also the local ministers, who were very active with few exceptions. However, the township was voted wet by a majority of 537, overcoming a majority of 1,047 by the local optionists in 1908. A great change in sentiment in two years—a change of 792 votes. The anti-local optionists conducted a quiet and businesslike campaign, having but one speaker, Mayor Rose of Milwaukee, who delivered a sensible and eloquent address to a crowded house.

Two other cities in the jurisdiction of this local voted wet that formerly were dry, Pana and Assumption. We know here that having the saloon restored will help the trade much. We expect a revival as soon as a license ordinance is drawn up and passed by the city council, which we hope will be amicably adjusted inside of a month. We have no ordinance here now, the council having repealed the old one about the time the township voted dry.

The members of this local are much elated over the victory and they know that trade will be, as it was before the saloon was substituted by the blind pig. We always handled the legitimate saloon trade here and can safely say that there was not a better home trade town in the country; could state positively that 99 per cent of the 5-cent trade was union-made goods, and a very large amount of this was home product. I think we can thank local option for bringing to our city a United Cigar Store, one of which is making preparation to open as soon as their building is completed. I know of nothing that ever happened here to so retrograde and place obstacles in the path of organized labor as did local option.

Charles Wright,
Secretary.

St. Louis, Mo., April 7, 1910.

Your attention is directed to the amendment offered by the joint unions of St. Louis, Mo., published elsewhere in this issue of the Journal. The purpose of this measure is to establish means, making it possible for the International Union through its president and executive board, to advertise, agitate and promote the use of our blue label whenever occasion presents itself.

Numerous amendments providing for label advertisement through the channels of the International Union have been submitted in the past few years, in almost every instance definite plans and set rules were laid down, provision for extra assessments were included, laws, regulations, salaries and expenses for label agitators and organizers were provided for, thus impressing many with the idea that an entire new department would be created, which would entail a vast expenditure of money, as well as additional officers. We have always favored some plan whereby the International Union could take part or rather conduct a bureau of label advertisement and agitation, believing that not only from a financial standpoint would there be considerable advantage but a more general and systematic plan likewise could be established whereby our label would become more conspicuous throughout the country. Every hamlet, town and city could be reached at the expense of all, not as it is at present the burden resting upon those willing and who actually recognize the necessity of continually agitating and advertising the blue label. Becoming so imbued with the idea that often they invade the territory which rightfully belongs to others (not that the others object to such invasion, to the contrary welcome such trespassing).

The writer to emphasize the above contention suggests that you follow him just for a little while. Sections 76 and 77 (Retiring Card Laws) provide that all 20 cent members must pay all local assessments levied for label agitation purposes. In unions like ours they pay their share, viz., the same as all 15 and 30 cent members. The same applies to 20 cent retiring card holders in every local that indulges in label advertising to any extent worth speaking of. How many locals, however, do not levy one five cent piece for label agitation and advertise only to such an extent as the $1 per capita allowed by Section 165 permits? Thus it is plainly evident that we are not always placed on an equality with the other fellow, despite our efforts in his as well as our own behalf.

The defeat of such measures referred to in the foregoing were in some instances no doubt caused on account of the additional expense which might have been incurred; again, fear of some one getting an easy thing, or through a lack of interest or indifference as to the necessity of advertising the label on an extensive scale. The membership in each instance being justly entitled to their respective views, result—the International Union is left powerless and without one penny to boost the weapon (blue label) of which it is sole owner, dictates the conditions governing the use of same, but actually helpless in promoting a more wholesome and spontaneous demand for same at least only to a limited extent, viz., through the services of the organizers and label agitators who as we understand rely entirely upon certain locals for a supply of literature.

The amendment offered by the St. Louis unions proposes that ten per cent of the $1.00 per capita allowed local unions for label agitation, revert to the International Union to be used as provided for by said amendment, and will net about four thousand dollars or a little more per year. While not a munificent sum to set the world on fire with, it nevertheless would mean a great deal to the International President and Executive Board whenever an opportunity arose where effective label agitation, advertising by literature, stereopticon displays, etc., could be accomplished.

To illustrate, the Union Label Trades Department of the A. F. of L. advises the International President that the Farmers' Educational Co-operative Union will convene in annual session in St. Louis about May 2, 1910. Delegates from all sections of the United States will be in attendance. The tollers of the farm will congregate to confer and deliberate upon matters of mutual interest to themselves as well as consider the importance and necessity of a closer affiliation with the workers of the urban districts. Booths will be erected in an auditorium for the display of union products, labels, cards, buttons and statistics pertaining to unionism and in general offering an opportunity to acquaint those in attendance with the mission of the union label, stamps, buttons, etc., designating the union product from that of non-union and output of penal institutions.

The locals of this city in turn were advised of the coming event and the splendid opportunity that presents itself and the good that might be accomplished by co-operating with the expected visitors, which to a limited extent will naturally take place. What really should be done to bring lasting and beneficial results is the important question.

The International constitution contains no provision whereby the President and Executive Board can when found expedient enter into any advertising or label display which would reflect credit to our International organization. The convention of Farmers' Union being of a national scope, the unions located at the seat of the meeting most naturally do not feel that they should bear the brunt, furthermore cannot always provide the necessary finances, hence oftentimes golden opportunities are lost.

We wish to impress upon the membership that we are not attempting to provide label agitation through the International Union for our immediate district (the locals here spend annually from three to four thousand dollars for said purpose which speaks for itself. The convention of the Farmers' Educational Co-operative Union will have come and be over with long before the fate of our amendment will have been determined, so that it must be evident that we are actuated solely because we recognized the necessity of providing some means at least whereby the International Union can do effective work and reach districts requiring label agitation whenever in the judgment of the President and Executive Board occasion arises.

In conclusion we contend that the amount of money withdrawn from the local unions through the 10 per cent proviso of the amendment referred to is so small proportionately it will hardly be noticed, while on the other hand it offers opportunities to the International Union without any apparent additional expense to the membership. That we feel our proposition will meet with a hearty response, viz., sufficient endorsements on the part of local unions and a rousing vote from the membership demonstrating their willingness to at least give the matter a fair trial and ascertain the possible achievements of such a plan.

Phil H. Mueller, Secy.
Joint Unions 44 and 281.

Amsterdam, March 5, 1910.

In proposing amendment to Sec. 156 Local 231 really believes it to be to the best interest of the label for a uniform system of advertising. In the amendment we offer it gives each local power of spending its own per capita and also sees a way for uniform advertising. If amendment is adopted we will have the same ad in every quarter of the United States and Canada where a newspaper finds its way, and by a simultaneous action it naturally puts more force to argument. Local 231 has done a lot of newspaper advertising, and we are getting results. Candy merchants have taken down displays of nonunion cigars, also taken them from view of patrons. If you have noticed you will admit that all the large concerns in all branches of business have a uniform system. Pick up a New York or San Francisco paper and you see the same ad. So if it pays them, why shouldn't we get results and results are what we are after. For years we have practically been wasting money on novelties. Novelties only find their way to a few; newspapers reach every one with intelligence. We, Local 231, have run ads as readers mostly, displayed the label several times, and at present are showing the label at moving picture houses. But people know our label; we want them to know what it stands for. We hope to see amendment meet with required number of endorsements and finally go through. We believe our president is capable of writing good ads, and as we also believe that the greater part of the per capita is wasted, with little result, we look forward to a new and better advertising system.

O. A. Gage.

The Norfolk 1907 convention of the American Federation of Labor designated the second Sunday in May of each year as Labor's Memorial Day, and recommended that the trade unionists observe that day as the occasion for appropriate ceremonies in commemoration of our departed fellow trade unionists.

REPORT OF INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZER.

Atlanta, Ga., February 5, 1910.

Brunswick, Ga.—This city excels all commercial centers of the state of Georgia in the cigar industry, and perhaps a greater number of cigarmakers are employed in Brunswick than within the boundary of Georgia; yet Georgia is fast developing in the manufacture of cigars.

It might be well to state the kind of goods that are manufactured and the prices paid. Good wages are made in Brunswick and other cities in Georgia.

"Smokers" are the principal style of cigars manufactured. This cigar is five inches in length, and being nearly straight.

The "Smokers" are made by "hand" and the price for this cigar as described is $10 per thousand. I might say in connection to this that some of the shops that make Smokers pay $11 per thousand, providing the cigar is finished with a head, but the general Smoker as made in Florida and Georgia is twist head. Then there are some $8 jobs 4½ inches in length made in molds out of the same material as the "Smokers."

Perhaps it will appear ridiculous to some, when I stated that good wages are made making "Smokers," and perhaps I may be doubted as to the truth of my assertion, but nevertheless very few men leave the shops on Saturday with less than $20 in their envelope and some as high as $30 or more.

Some bills of prices with restrictions in them are so high that the cigars will not be made.

There is a great demand for the smokers.

This is of international importance and it must be, sooner or later, dealt with, if we desire to keep in the rank of progression. The idea is right here: you want work, and you want to make a decent wage, hence make it possible that you can have both.

Get the money. That is what you are making cigars for. Is it not better that you make the cigars at your city than to have the trust and non-union firms make them? Think it over, brothers.

Local 252, of Brunswick, Ga., is progressing nicely, and the membership is about sixty. Good officers and an excellent body of men, who are hustling and will no doubt unionize all shops in the city. I addressed the local.

Savannah, Ga.—There are but four card men in the city. One shop that employs about a dozen girls. This ought to be a good cigar town, as the prohibition laws have never been enforced in Savannah. Saloons wide open. No demand for the label here.

Americus, Ga.—One cigar factory that employs twenty of our members, and the same kind of work is made here as in Brunswick. Good local for a little city. The firm does not use the label, but believe that they will, as everything points that way. Cigarmakers' union is the only labor organization in the city.

Macon, Ga.—No cigarmakers in this city. Some label goods on sale. This is a good location and it would pay any one that is thinking of going in the business to consider Macon. Address the central body.

Atlanta, Ga.—This is the capital as well as the metropolis of the state of Georgia. Eight cigarmakers employed and not a union shop. About fifty people working at the trade, mostly girls. Strange to say that the label is in demand. Plenty of union-made cigars for sale at the stands.

One stand sells 1,000 label goods a day; these are smokers. Sold to the dealer for $40 per thousand, and retail for 5 cents straight.

There is a firm that sells 40,000 of these cigars a month here in Atlanta. These cigars are made in Florida. I found many stands that are selling from 300 to 500 label goods per day. Organized labor is giving the label support in Atlanta. More union made goods sold in Atlanta today than ever before.

There are 156 near-beer saloons in the city. Prohibition is a farce. The city lost $100,000 the first year of state wide prohibition. Today there is a proposition to bond the city for $3,000,000 to make improvements. Rents are unusually high, and a goodly number of vacant houses and stores. Am addressing the organizations.

REPORTS OF INTERNATIONAL FINANCIERS.

W. A. Campbell's Report continued from last month.

Union 372, Marshfield, Wis.

The books and accounts here are in much better condition than this statement might indicate. Cash and stamp accounts correct. All benefit cards and vouchers for expense nicely filed in the rotation in which the expense is entered in the accounts. Ledger correctly indexed and posted. There is one member here away over the limit in dues. This habit seems to be chronic with him; he will either mend his ways or it will be expensive for him. Statement as follows.

Union 336, Tampa, Fla.

The day book of this union is in a poor condition; the ledger is in a fair condition. There is a difference in the stamp account, which was partly caused by two shop collectors, who failed to return money for stamps entrusted to their care. The Fin. Secy. stated that under the rules of the union he is responsible for all stamps.

In the month of February, 1909, a voucher was issued for label agitation amounting to $250.00, which was signed by G. P. Bradford, John Klein, M. Campderro and Juan Estrada. Upon inquiry how much money each signer received of the money, how expended and who handled the money, information was refused. But upon further inquiry I ascertained that every signer received the amount of $35.00 as delegate expenses to the Florida State Federation of Labor, held in Palatka, Fla., in the month of January, 1909. Another $35.00 was paid to J. A. Roberts for the same purpose, who signed a separate receipt, making a total of $175.00, leaving the amount of $75.00 unaccounted for.

Being under the impression that the amount had been probably turned into the local fund, I asked for the production of that book, which was refused for several days, accompanied by threats of bodily harm.

The local book did not contain any entry which accounted for the missing $75.00. Subsequently I examined the books of the Joint Advisory Board, in order to ascertain whether the money had been paid to that body; but there was no record of such payment. Taking all the circumstances into consideration, with the refusal to produce books, etc., I reached the conclusion that G. P. Bradford, Fin. Secy., had guilty knowledge of having failed to account for the amount of $75.00.

When I commenced to examine the interest account I noticed that things were mixed up. Money deposited in the Cosmopolitan Bank was turned over to the Ybor City Bank, subsequently with two separate bank accounts in the same bank. From the Ybor City Bank all deposits were withdrawn and deposited in the First National Bank of Tampa. There was no record in the day book of the accrued interest for the month of October, 1909, in the Ybor City Bank.

Mr. G. P. Bradford, Fin. Secy., remonstrated against my intention to investigate the interest account, claiming that I failed to do so at the last examination, which was false. I audit the interest account of every local union.

As the books of the Cosmopolitan Bank and the Ybor City Bank had been returned to the bank, I requested the bank treasurer to give me the privilege of examining the old bank books, which was granted.

By the system of making out monthly reports to the International Union, the accrued interest, amounting to a balance of $104.85, would have been credited to the Financial Secretary and the General Fund would have lost the amount.

There was due on Feb. 1, 1909, for error account, both on receipts and expenses, by G. P. Bradford, Fin. Secy., $53.05, which he had failed to refund, claiming as an excuse that J. A. Roberts, ex-Fin. Secy., advised him not to pay it. At the same time he insisted that I should institute criminal proceedings against J. A. Roberts for failing to make good error accounts due on two examinations in the amount of $65.43. Under the laws of the state of Florida, after a Secretary has been notified of error accounts, which he cannot disprove and refuses to refund, it becomes a felony punishable by a term in a state's prison. It sounded rather strange to me that G. P. Bradford, Fin. Secy., was over-anxious to send J. A. Roberts, ex-Fin. Secy., to state's prison, while he was guilty of the same offense and could not plead the law of limitation, which is two years in the state of Florida.

Mr. J. A. Roberts, ex-Fin. Secy., agreed to pay the amount due by a promissory note, which reads as follows:

"Tampa, Fla., February 3, 1910.

"I hereby promise to pay to G. P. Bradford, Fin. Secy. of Cigar Makers' Union No. 336, Tampa, Fla., the sum of $65.43 (Sixty-Five Dollars and 43-100), due to said union for error account while acting as Financial Secretary of said union and recorded on the books. I promise to pay the above amount at the rate of $2.50 (Two Dollars and Fifty Cents) weekly until paid in full.

"Value received with use.

Union 356 Palatka, Fla.

The books of this union are in a poor condition. Some accounts in the ledger have not been posted from six months to one year. Judging from the average income, the members, excepting a few, are over the constitutional limit in the payment of dues. The day book for the month of August, 1909, contained an item of expenses, amounting to $400.00, as payment of tax to International Union, which is a false entry. There is a small difference in the stamp account. The shortage in the funds was replaced by R. J. Coleman, ex-Fin. Secy., a few days before my arrival. He still owes to the union $24.69, which includes error accounts at the last and present examination. The union allowed him 90 days to pay up the balance. Result as follows:

LOCAL FINES

Note.—Fines below $5 are not published in the Journal. See Sec. 195.

Sec. 197. Members having been fined by local unions shall pay such fines on the following basis: $10 or less, 10 per cent of weekly wages and benefits paid by union, or amounts more than $10, 15 per cent, aside from payments on loans, as provided by the constitution.

Union 208, Kalamazoo, Mich., fined G. B. Parent (24518) $5 for allowing himself to become suspended.

Mike Danaher (98931) was fined $5 for allowing himself to become suspended and $2.25 board bill, which totals $7.25.

Union 158, La Fayette, Ind., fined T. H. Rohde and Herman Kimmons $10 each for allowing themselves to be suspended.

Union 351, Mankato, fined Phil Laven (99604) $10 for allowing himself to become suspended, and Albin Miller (119494) $5 for allowing himself to become suspended.

Union 381, Watertown, Wis., fined Frank E. Kopp (105109) $4.80 for allowing himself to become suspended.

LOST CARDS

Section 11. Any member losing or destroying his loan book shall not be entitled to receive any benefits or a duplicate loan book before the expiration of two months, and financial secretaries of local unions must notify the International President of such loss or destruction immediately, the same to be published in the Official Journal by the International President. The International President shall be the only person to issue a duplicate.

Members having lost their traveling cards take notice:

No duplicate card will be issued for lost card unless the full name of members, the card number, the date of initiation and the union where the card was last deposited are given. Members who lose cards are not entitled to benefits until they secure duplicates. No duplicate cards are issued except upon application through some secretary, when the time limit of two months has expired.

Month after month unscrupulous men impose upon secretaries and members under the plea of lost cards. The constitution provides a punishment for lost cards. Its purpose is to stop the carelessness and the traffic made with full cards by permitting them to be held as security.

Don't issue letters to any member claiming lost card unless you know his actual standing.

Secretaries have no right to issue certificates in place of lost cards. Members who secure employment should be entered as admitted to the union.

Secretaries should be careful and enter all loans granted and repaid and all balances carried from one card to another in letters and figures. The issue of duplicates will be delayed in all cases where information is not complete.

Secretaries should examine due books where claim of lost card is made. Report full name, number, date and place of initiation and when and where card was last deposited.

Private loans will be entered on duplicates issued upon request of unions.

Enter all loans granted in figures and letters. Secretaries will please notify this office as to whether any private loans are due on cards reported lost, otherwise they are issued with only the International loan account. This does not release members from their just obligations to the unions. The absence of the private loans, however, quite often causes members to overlook those loans and suspensions follow.

Cigar Makers' Official Journal

ISSUED MONTHLY.

G. W. PERKINS, Editor and Publisher.

Entered as Second-Class Matter, Nov. 28, 1894, at the Post Office at Chicago, Ill., under Act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription price, $1.00 per annum in advance. Single copies ten cents. Advertisements as per rates on inside.

CHICAGO, APRIL 15, 1910.

With some satisfaction, and we trust some justification, we take pleasure in calling attention to the financial report published in this issue.

CONCERNING OUR FINANCES FOR 1909.

The report covers the entire financial transactions of local unions for the year of 1909 and when studied in connection with the table of benefits paid gives a comprehensive view and complete understanding, the extent and scope of benefits for what purpose, cost per member per year and the cost of all benefits per member. The report, recapitulation and table of benefits shows the entire financial transactions of the International Union.

The table also shows the amount of dues that were paid at the various stages. For the benefit of the younger members the present rate of death benefits has been paid since January 1, 1887.

Prior to 1886 we paid $4 per week strike benefit until the strike ended. Commencing January 1, 1897, we cut out one term of the out of work benefit, otherwise there has been no material change in the payment of benefits. The table shows when each benefit commenced. The constitution of course shows the present rates and benefits paid.

While the general fund shows a loss or decrease of $33,776.36, it was due to the continued depression in trade which is proven by the amount of out of work benefits paid, which amounted to $76,107.25. The amount expended for out of work benefits in a normal year of trade conditions in 1907 was only $19,497.50. The amount expended in 1908 for this purpose was $101,483.50. The table and recapitulation show that the decrease in the general fund was due to the depression in trade and the extra amount expended for out of work benefits. Since this money went to relieve the distress of our worthy members, who were out of work, no one will regret its expenditure, especially since we have such a formidable sum left and the prospects indicate that for this year the fund will show a balance to the good or gain side of the ledger. The amount expended for strike benefits dropped from $32,000 in 1908 to about $20,000 in 1909, and is gratifying, showing that despite the unsatisfactory condition of trade we had very few attempts at reductions of wages to resist. The amount expended for sick benefits shows the usual annual increase of from $184,755.69 in 1908 to $186,983.28 in 1909, although the increase in this connection was less than it has been for a number of years. The expenditures for death and disability benefits increased from $220,979.71 in 1908 to $238,284.47 in 1909, showing an increase of $17,304.76. The steady increase in the amount expended for this purpose is accounted for by the fact that each year more members are entitled to the full benefit of $550, and to the fact that a considerable sum is required to meet the disability claims. During the last eleven years the death and disability benefits have increased $143,344.64.

The total amount paid for each benefit since the adoption of the benefit system was: Traveling loan benefit, $1,180,694.83; strike benefit, $1,211,907.23; sick benefit, $2,909,434.88; death benefit, $2,366,863.21; out of work benefit, $1,266,865.36.

For the benefit of the student and those not familiar with our system who may study the recapitulation, it should be noted that assistance from unions and assistance to unions, which involves an item of $74,030 in receipts and $74,430 in expenditures, is simply money transferred from one union to another, and while it has to be so entered, it is really neither a receipt nor an expenditure. Including the amount on hand at the beginning of the year, the financial transactions for the year 1909 amounted to $1,552,831.46.

The total benefits paid during the year 1909 were $562,963.92 and the grand total of benefits paid since the chain of benefits system was adopted November, 1879, or in 30 years and two months, is $8,935,765.51.

The report recapitulation and table of benefits show only the financial transactions of local unions. The amounts required to maintain headquarters is included in the expenditures of local unions, but the amount expended by this office is not included. The receipts and expenditures for the general office are published monthly in the Official Journal.

While the outstanding loans are an asset the amount is not included in balance on hand.

One extremely gratifying fact is the substantial gain in membership. Despite the unsatisfactory condition of trade which remained with us the greater part of the year the membership increased from 40,354, thirty cent members, in 1908, to 44,414 thirty cent members in 1909. The membership all told including the 15c, 20c and 30c members is 51,477. Compared with 18 years ago and counting only the active members the gain in membership has been just 21,348 or nearly 100 per cent.

The soundness of our funds and our numerical strength, which all things considered will compare favorably with any other trade union in existence, is substantial grounds for satisfaction and we heartily congratulate the membership at large.

While the membership of the International Union has reached the highest point in its existence and now numbers over 51,000, including all classes, the necessity for continued effort in the direction of completing the organization of all cigarmakers is greater than ever before. The membership has been steadily advancing and is of a substantial character.

However, to maintain and increase wages we must organize the unorganized who are working for frightfully low wages.

Ours is a competitive trade and as long as the unorganized work for low wages they are a standing menace to the organized workers and their fair bills of prices.

Unions located in poorly organized districts with but few members cannot hope to fully succeed unless an earnest effort is made to bring the unorganized into the fold.

During the wet and dry campaign recently waged in many localities the prohibition orators were wont to declare the "demon rum" the cause of poverty.

Regardless of and entirely outside of the wet and dry issue we assert that poverty is largely if not wholly caused by low wages, long hours, lack of employment, diseases—largely preventable—and preventable industrial accidents and deaths. It is claimed that 500,000 industrial accidents occurred in the United States last year. Nearly all working men are only a few days or weeks from poverty's row and when an accident overtakes them they in most cases immediately feel the pinch unless cared for by the unions.

The wages of the average working man is used up to the last penny in purchasing sufficient bare necessities to maintain himself and family in an effort to keep body and soul together and to properly house and clothe them in actual necessities.

After this is done everybody knows, but some will not admit, there is nothing left to squander for intoxicating drinks.

The trade unions tell you the only simon pure, real cause of poverty and offer the only really remedy to remove it.

We say better wages, shorter hours with just and human laws which will tend to minimize industrial accidents and more wages with which to obtain better homes and better food will do more to eradicate poverty than all the other panaceas so far offered.

We know the real cause of poverty and emphatically object to having anybody regardless of whether they are prohibitionists or beneficiaries of the present low wage, long hours condition masquerading under any guise tell us or try to humbug the people into a belief that drink is the cause of all our woes, gloom, crime and poverty.

A prohibitionist has a right to be a "dry" and to vote accordingly, but he has no right to misstate economic facts in an effort to bolster up his cause.

The closer the workers get to and stick to the unions the further they will be from poverty.

The Rockefeller-Standard Oil-Tobacco trust combination would soon own and control all industries if it were not for the unions.

The farmers are rapidly organizing and gradually coming into closer touch for defensive purposes with the trade union movement.

The union paper makers recently went on strike to restore former wages and hours of labor condition and were promptly sued for $100,000 damages by the International Paper (Trust) Co.

Nearly every drug store in the country handles a large number of Trust made cigars and they know the Trust is rapidly installing trust drug stores with an idea of finally controlling the drug business. The druggists keep right on feeding the institution that is trying to put them out of business.

Every union in the jurisdiction of the American Federation of Labor is also urged to appoint a label committee, whose duty shall be to advocate the purchase of union-made products and to wait upon merchants and request them to have on sale the products of union labor, bearing wherever practicable union labels.—American Federationist.

Total products of cigars of the United States (for the month of February, 1910, and 8 months of the fiscal year beginning July, 1909): Month of February, 1910, 489,287,001; 1909, 424,080,096; increase 65,206,905. Eight months ending February 28, 1910, 4,265,625,844; 1909, 3,948,868,702; increase 316,757,142.

The latest story going the rounds of the trade is that the tobacco trust in connection with its United Cigar Stores Co. is putting in cut-rate barber shops and placing a finely fitted up cigar store in front.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED

Union 231, Amsterdam, N. Y., proposes the following amendment to take the place of Section 165, to read as follows:

Local unions shall be allowed $1.00 per capita on all 15-cent and 30-cent members out of the general fund for label agitation by newspaper advertising in their respective districts, the per capita tax to be based on the May report of local unions, such advertising to be commenced on adoption of this amendment, to be done simultaneously by all locals of C. M. I. U. of A. The advertising matter to be furnished by the International President through issue of Journal, so all locals will have same ad. In cities where there are more than one local label committees shall act jointly. This amendment to be in force for year 1910 only.

No. 472, Juncos, P. R., offers the following amendment:

Amend Section 55 by adding the following to end of said section:

"The President also shall appoint a special organizer for the local unions of Porto Rico, to serve for two years after the adoption of this amendment. The salary of this organizer will be one hundred ($100) dollars per month. Incidentals, railroad fares and all expenses are included in this salary.

"This organizer will translate all correspondence necessary between the International office and local unions in Porto Rico."

By Local 71, of Elgin, Ill.:

Amend Section 106 by inserting between the word "loans," on line 11, and the word "loan," on line 14, the following in place of the present words:

"Members in the payment of private loans must pay cost if money has to be remitted to another union. They shall be entitled, at their own expense, to a postal receipt to be mailed to the union having granted the private loan." Section to read accordingly.

Joint Unions 44 and 281, of St. Louis, Mo., offer the following amendment to Section 165 of the International Constitution:

Add after the word "unions," on line 6, the following: "Ten per cent of the one ($1.00) dollar per capita allowed local unions to be set aside for the International Union, the same to be used for label agitation and advertising purposes throughout the jurisdiction of the International Union. The International President, in conjunction with the International Executive Board to supervise the expenditure of the amount of money accruing by this proviso. No portion of this 10 per cent to be used for salary or expenses of the International organizers and label agitators. Sections 54 and 55 to provide for the latter."

Section to read:

Sec. 165. Local unions shall be allowed $1.00 per capita on all 15-cent and 30-cent contributing members per annum out of the general fund for label agitation by circulars, newspaper advertising, committees, etc., in their respective districts, the per capita tax to be based on the May report of local unions. Ten per cent of the $1.00 per capita allowed local unions to be set aside for the International Union, the same to be used for label agitation and advertising purposes throughout the jurisdiction of the International Union. The International President in conjunction with the International Executive Board to supervise the expenditure of the amount of money accruing by this proviso. No portion of this ten per cent to be used for salary or expenses of International organizers and label agitators (Sections 54 and 55 providing for the latter).

Section 2 of the Constitution provides that the session of the International Union shall be held whenever ordered by two-thirds of the members voting thereon.

Union No. 14, of Chicago, offers for your support the following proposition:

"That the next convention of the Cigarmakers' International Union shall be held on the second Monday in September, 1911."

The amendment of Union 316, McSherrystown, Pa., as published in the February Journal, as follows:

Amend Sec. 67 by adding after the word "adoption," on the last line, the following:

"And except in the 1st and 9th districts of Pennsylvania, where the initiation fee for applicants for membership shall be 50 cents for a period of three months, beginning the first day of the month following the adoption of this amendment.

"That should the results in increased membership from the operation of this amendment justify an extension of time the International Executive Board is hereby empowered to extend the time for an additional three months or such additional periods as they may deem necessary."

Sec. 67 as amended to read accordingly.

Received the endorsement of Unions 126, Ephrata; 12, Oneida; 117, Orange; 381, Watertown; 69, Three Rivers; 466, Easton; 58, Montreal; 478, La Grange; 72, Burlington; 278, London; 462, W. The amendment of Union 460, San Juan, P. R., as published in the March Journal, as follows:

By adding at the end of Section 210 the following:

District of Porto Rico.

A. The District of Porto Rico shall embrace the entire island and all local unions of the island, which shall elect a "Joint Advisory Board."

B. The "Joint Advisory Board" shall adopt rules of procedure calculated for the best welfare of the unions in Porto Rico, but not conflicting with the International Constitution.

C. The basis of representation shall be decided by the unions in Porto Rico, but shall be not less than one delegate for each local union.

Received the following endorsements: 5, Rochester; 174, Joliet; 16, Binghamton; 15, New York; 72, Burlington; 89, Ottawa; 69, Three Rivers; 341, Neenah.

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

The following are the only alterations or amendments to the constitution adopted since the Detroit (1896) convention, and not published in the 20th edition of the constitution:

By Union 54, Evansville, Ind.

Amend Section 193 by adding, on line 4, the following: "Of financial secretary, treasurer, trustee and member of the finance committee. This shall apply to all past and future offenses." The section to read as follows: "Any officer or member of the International Union or any officer of any local union who shall obtain money or benefits under false pretenses, or who shall appropriate any money belonging to the union to his own use shall not be eligible to hold the office of financial secretary, treasurer, trustee and member of the finance committee of any local union or the International Union. This shall apply to all past and future offenders. And notice of all defalcations and misappropriations of moneys shall be forwarded to the International President, who shall publish the same in the Official Journal. Defaulters shall not be entitled to receive any benefits prescribed in this constitution until their defalcations have been paid by them."

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

Any one knowing the whereabouts of the two sisters of Wm. Fernum, who died in Denver, Colo., November 5, 1909, notify secretary of Union 129, Denver, Colo. The sisters' names were when last known, Anna Fernum (or Ferman) and Mrs. Laura Johnson, and they lived in Hoboken or Jersey City, N. J., the former home of Wm. Fernum, who was an active member of the Turners in one of these cities back in the '80s and came to Denver in 1889 or 1890. There is a sum of money awaiting these two sisters, which can be had by proving their identity.

William Meade, your mother, Ellen Meade, died March 5, 1910. Write to your brother, Morris Meade, by Union 14, Chicago.

Secretary holding the card of Francis Harter (20106), initiated by Union 236, please notify his mother, Mrs. Henry Harter, 425 Rosenthal street, Reading, Pa.

Any one knowing the whereabouts of Eugene Caron will please advise Mr. Joseph A. Richard, 89 Elm street, Southbridge, Mass. His father and sister are anxious to hear about him.

Mr. F. Haunty would like to hear from Andy Kamber (106494). Important business.

Flora E. Baker would like to hear from C. C. Rice. Address Flora E. Baker, Forman, N. D.

James Sullivan, 22 First avenue, Gloversville, N. Y., would like to hear from Frank McCabe.

Mr. P. Vrenna, 109 West Main street, Meriden, Conn., would like to hear from John Bieterman and O. B. Connelly.

John Stochl is requested to write Olin Love, Woodburn, Ore.

Any one knowing the whereabouts of J. F. McEvoy (99403) please notify him that the members have kept his dues paid up, but to please send for his card as soon as possible, as they don't know that he cares to keep his card. By Union 339, Santa Barbara, Cal.

J. J. Lusier would like to hear from Walter E. Kelly. Address care of secretary, Union 486, New Westminster, B. C.

Mr. Philip Maesbroeck would like to hear from Mr. Jos. Schneider (82606) at once. By Union 39, New Haven, Conn.

Any member knowing the whereabouts of Louis Kamper, please inform him that his wife is sick at 818 West Broadway, Louisville, Ky.

Alek Johnson would like to hear from E. C. Tiebert, care of Goddard & Hanop Cigar Store, Ogden, Utah.

Paul G. Meyer of Oconomowoc would like to know the whereabouts of Joseph Maurer (83885). A letter from Maurer will be appreciated.

PRIVATE LOANS

Sec. 196. Local unions shall have the right to suspend members for non-payment of local indebtedness, and hold traveling cards until such indebtedness has been paid. See Sec. 106 also.

The following unions request the collection of private loans from the respective persons, and return same to union making request.

Members owing private loans to Union 475, Fitchburg, Mass., please pay up, as we need the money.

The secretary of Union 445, Billings, Mont., writes: "Through an oversight on the part of the secretary of Union 445, Chris Michelson (14279) was advertised as owing private loan to Union 445. Mr. Michelson's loan was paid April 1, 1909. I make this correction in justice to Mr. Michelson."

Union 84, Saugerties, N. Y., writes: "If James Dundon (8272) doesn't correspond with the secretary of Union 84, Saugerties, in thirty days from date in regard to private loan paid to Union 84 for board bill, he will be suspended by said union."

All members owing private loans to Union 183, Mendota, Ill., granted before January 1, 1910, if not heard from before the June Journal, will be published in the Journal and will stay there until the loans are paid.

Secretaries holding the cards of Chas. Crocker (48762), $2; E. M. Keon (40959), $1; and Thomas Clark (9035), 25 cents, private loans, please collect same in compliance with Section 196 of the constitution and remit to Union 220, New Orleans, La.

Local 51, Holyoke, Mass., wants the following members to show cause in writing or by personal appearance why they should not be suspended for non-payment of private loans: Alphonse Rouleau (96333), William Mosher (7428), John Trei (35974), Thos. Purtell (44394), A. Lavier (2117), and C. Maleny.

The following members will please pay their private loans to Union 453, Nevada City, before June 1, 1910, or the constitution will be enforced: Chas. Tessendorf (81838), $4; Arthur Barney (97068), $2; Wm. Gotthard (104420), $2; Phil Kempf (46381), $2; J. J. Pollard (86680), $2; Jas. Brown (66930), $2; C. W. Eastberg (86951), $2; W. J. Williams (64480), $2; Jno. Rostike (112486), $2.

Secretaries holding cards will please collect and remit private loans owing to Union 291, San Jose, Cal.: John J. Monahan (65842), $1; J. Engbert (12714), $1; Jos. J. Hamm (100235), $1; Walter Merrick (99607), $1; Bernard Hogan (59213), $1; Jos. Byrnes (70537), $1; Adam Braun (79414), $1; John Sykes (81979), $1; Chas. Eastberg (86951), $2; J. J. Pollard (86680), $1; Phil Kempf (46381), $1; and Lyle Potter, $1.

Union 129, Denver, Colo., hereby gives notice to secretaries and members owing this union that thirty days from the date of this article all members owing this union will be suspended. We have given notice from time to time that members owing us and unable to pay should drop us a card giving some excuse for not paying, but very few have taken the pains to comply with this request. We also give notice for the benefit of members who land in Denver without funds and ask this union for a private loan as soon as they come for the purpose of maintaining them or for continuing their trip to some other place, that the private loans have been suspended by this union for a period of ninety days.

We herewith furnish a list of members in other parts of the country that owed this union April 1: B. J. Conroy (7272), $22.40; D. Greenberg (1584), $15; John Farshler (22733), $10; F. R. McIntyre (43488), $6; Sam Ratner (26252), $15; E. R. Murphy (115702), $3.50; Jacob Ascher (57938), $20; Jacob Updike (74313), $5; H. M. Good (53280), $12; Aristob Hernandez (113461), $15; H. Korinek (63458), $20; E. B. Young (102647), $30; C. F. Beach (52573), $20; Wm. Kolkhorst (42014), $5; Mike Skarvetski (106363), $2; Ivar Cedervall (8129), $2; Paul Knorr (94118), $25; C. P. Brown (120674), $7; Fay C. Brown (103618), $2; M. W. Balfour (119065), $2; J. J. Monahan (65842), $2; J. J. Pollard (86680), $2; C. W. Eastberg (86951), $2; Jas. Sherman (61384), $3; J. J. Hamm (100235), $2; Arthur L. Carter (52730), $2; Alfred Van Wymersch (91023), $2; Jule Grazer (80561), $20; Chas. S. Hamilton (86621), $2; B. E. Beaupre (21716), $2; E. Enright (73406), $17; John Briant (114998), $2; A. Goldsmith (87913), $2; Jesse Grant (105185), $2; Jesus Gaville (115488), $17; R. W. Harrow (81772), $14; J. A. Rheim (21801), $2; Pedro Buena (118002), $2; S. R. Hutz (54319), $10; J. J. Ritter (37604), $6; F. Kemler (6089), $2; Chas.

Albach (7519), $11; J. F. McEvoy (99403), $2; Emil R. Snear (23718), $2; Thos. Vieau (86484), $2; W. J. Williams (64480), $2; C. L. Jones (120375), $2.

While we know that some of these members are paying off their loans as fast as they can, we also know that some of them are making no effort at all.

If secretaries will call their attention to the constitution and enforce collection of percentage on their wages instead of allowing them to pay whenever they feel like it, we will greatly appreciate it.

Union 224, Salt Lake City, at its last regular meeting, held March 14, suspended the following members for failing to pay their private loans due this union: E. Fiege (100187), $2.50; J. A. Rhelm (21301), $12; J. J. Monahan (65842), $2; W. Bal-four (119065), $2; J. J. Pollard (36680), $2; F. R. Brown (103618), $2; J. Murry (66119), $2; W. Van Wymersch (91093), $2; F. Hanson (85088), $2; and C. W. Easterly (86951), $2.

UNION NOTES

Notes by Union 97, Boston: We will again change our board signs of label, as we have a new design.—Committee has done good work visiting labor organizations.—Committee has induced one of the large shoe factories where non-union cigars are on sale to place union made tobaccos and cigars on sale.—Chelsea will have license this May; this will help our craft some.—Trust is cutting prices on union goods with the twofold purpose of driving out their competitors and curtailing sale of union goods, but we are onto the game and we shall fight this cut-throat competition.—At last government guarantee on Manila trash will go, but it is still objectionable. It seems to be an advantage to manufacture in our island possessions, no matter what the result may be to home industry.—While the output of cigars from the Ninth District of Pennsylvania is not so large as in former years, yet they made 1,378,950 more cigars in February, 1910, than in January of this year.—The pamphlet under the title, "The Tobacco Trust," issued by the New England Conference, is a valuable addition to the craft. It will certainly open the eyes of the retailer, especially the druggist, to their methods of the snake.—Label committee has interested the Chamber of Commerce in the extension of trade.—Why not enact a law giving any member 60 years of age who has been for 25 years a member of our craft unable to work at the trade $3 per week?—The trust is not a little pig, but a herd of swine.—Organized labor, composed of free men and women, will always demand the right to stop working when they so desire and to buy where they please. See the point?—Well, judges are human, and subject to their environments.—We demand to be well fed, clad and housed while we are working and enough to support us in our old age.—How much ought to be the wage of a family of five, consisting of husband, wife and three children, receive to support them in the way an American family ought to live?—Some of our legislators want to prevent the circulation of trade journals; others to legislate us out of existence.—Lend every effort to the prevention of tuberculosis.—Raise the school age; educate the rising generation.—There ought to be a free university in every state.—Does your hat bear the label?

Notice to secretaries of local unions, where I am indebted for private loans: "I am still disabled."—Wm. Cosgrove (34923).

Secretary holding the card of David Lossel (106185) please collect $2 private loan and $1.75 board bill, which he owes Union 323, or hold his card.

Information is wanted of the whereabouts of Wm. Smith, known as "Fine and Dandy" Smith, by Louis Weiner, president of Union 325, Spokane, Wash.

A. G. Carlson, Box 221, Hawarden, Iowa, writes: "Secretary holding the card of W. E. Knight let me know at once, and hold the card after notifying me."

Union 73, Alton, Ill., writes: "Any one going to work at W. F. Brockman's shop at Jerseyville, Ill., stands fined $25, as this shop has been closed by Union 73, Alton, Ill."

Union 129, Denver, Colo., wants to inform the traveling members that trade is very dull in this city and vicinity, there being about thirty out of work, and some of the shops have been on a limit for the past month, with no prospects of improvement in trade, for the present at least; besides stock conditions are not what they should be in any of the shops.

Secretary of Union 246, Salamanca, N. Y., would like to hear from J. E. Heslin (50501).

All cigar makers and packers are requested to keep away from Jacksonville, Ill. Trouble on. No cards accepted.

Secretary of Union 387, Yankton, S. D., would like to hear from L. C. Rhodes.

Secretary of Union 183, Mendota, Ill., would like to hear from Mr. James Ward and Mr. Frank Eaberle.

Notice to financial secretaries: If you hold cards of any of the following named, please send them to the International office: Richard Clair, J. J. Rogers, Charles Duke, H. C. Brake, Ed F. Quinn. Regardless of numbers or when initiated.

Mr. J. E. Butler, secretary of Union 102, Kansas City, Mo., can be seen during working hours only. Any secretary holding the card of Harry Barber (95307) kindly notify the secretary of Union 117, Orange, N. J.

The secretary of Union 103, Ansonia, will transact no business at his house at 18 Clifton avenue. That only is his mail address. Traveling members can see him at Martinez's factory, 112 Beaver street, from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. There are no private loan or boarding orders.

Any secretary holding the card of Grover Kutchild (95345) will confer a favor by writing to the secretary of Union 77, Minneapolis.

Any one knowing the whereabouts of Adolphus Massey, formerly of Brunswick, Ga., will confer a favor by notifying the secretary of Union 252, Brunswick, Ga.

Notice to secretaries: Frank Wood (71425) was suspended by Union 186 for not depositing his card per Section 113. If he presents card, take it up and send to International Office. He is strictly no good. By Union 186, Flint, Mich.

Will any secretary holding the card of Alex Matchekosky (101850) please collect 75 cents and forward the same to the secretary of Union 140, St. Catherine's?

Union 396, Northampton, requests union holding card of A. C. Kayser, No. 20917, to please collect board bill of $5 and fine of $5 from Fred Thiesse (98714).

Due book of Jas. F. Collins was found and he can have same by writing to the secretary of Union 283, Geneva, N. Y.

By 97, Boston: Get busy and insert an ad in papers explaining government label on Manila cigars; also conditions under which cigars are made.

Child labor must go.

What is a living wage?

You have a weapon, boom it. Talk label morning, noon, and night. It is the best investment you can make; it costs money, but it pays good interest.

Let the boys in Pennsylvania do all they can to build up the craft. This is the psychological moment. Organize, organize, and organize. Add the old age benefit to our chain and it will be complete.

IN MEMORIAM

In reporting deaths, kindly comply with the following, and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of members. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the record of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such cards, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the letter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

The following unions adopted resolutions of regret and condolence relating to death or deaths as follows, and ordered charter draped in mourning for thirty days:

Union 132, Brooklyn, N. Y.—Godfrey Raphael (43898), who died March 24, 1910, of pneumonia.

Union 25, Milwaukee, Wis.—John Muth (51806), who died March 29, and Fred Dreher, Jr. (39863), who died April 1.

Union 444, Walla Walla, Wash.—Joseph Artzers, who died March 27 of heart disease; remains were shipped to his home, Topeka, Kas.

Union 212, Superior, Wis.—Secretary John Reiter, who died March 30, 1910. The union attended the funeral in a body. The remains were shipped to Chippewa Falls, Wis., for interment. Union 212 wishes to thank Union 34 for their kindness in attending to the last sad rites.

Union 14, Chicago, for Valentine Hild, who died Nov. 11, 1909; Wm. Winguth, who died Nov. 24, 1909; Aug. Schwemm, who died Dec. 4, 1909; Paul Owels, who died Dec. 11, 1909; Chas. Peters, who died Dec. 16, 1909; Otto Eckert, who died Jan. 5, 1910; John Kent, who died Jan. 10, 1910; Geo. Gaiser, who died Jan. 25, 1910; Wm. Edeling, who died March 1, 1910; Alb. Palludan, who died March 8, 1910; Max Kleierner, who died March 12, 1910.

NOS FINANCES POUR L'ANNÉE, 1909.

C'est avec une satisfaction que nous croyons être bien fondé que nous avons le plaisir d'appeler l'attention sur le rapport financier publié dans ce numéro. Le rapport couvre les transactions financières complètes des unions locales pour l'année 1909 et lorsqu'on l'étudie en le comparant à la table des bénéfices payés, il donne une idée très nette et très complète de l'étendue et de la portée des bénéfices, de leur raison d'être, du coût par membre et par an et de prix de revient de tous les bénéfices par membre. Le rapport, la récapitulation et la table des bénéfices, montrent les transactions financières complètes pour l'année 1909.

La table montre également les sommes dues qui furent payées aux différentes périodes. Pour la gouverne des membres les plus jeunes, on dira que la taux actuel des bénéfices de mort a été en vigueur depuis le 1er janvier 1887.

Avant 1886, nous payions $4 par semaine comme fonds de grève, jusqu'à la fin de la grève. A partir du 1er janvier, 1897, nous avons supprimé un terme du bénéfice des sans-travail. Par ailleurs; il n'y a pas en due changement notable dans le paiement des bénéfices. La table montre quand chaque bénéfice a commencé. La constitution, cela va de soi, montre les taux actuels et les bénéfices payés.

Bien que le fonds général montre une perte ou une diminution de $33,776.36, ceci est dû à la durable crise dans le commerce qui, ce qui est prouvé la somme payée aux sans-travail qui s'est élevée à $76,107.25. La somme dépensée dans le même but dans une année normale, celle de 1907, ne s'éleva qu'à $19,497.50. La somme dépensée dans ce but en 1908 fut de $101,483.50. La table et la récapitulation montrent d'ailleurs que la diminution a été occasionnée par la dépression dans les affaires du pays et par les sommes extraordinaires dépensées pour les sans-travail. Puisque cet argent a servi à soulager nos membres en détresse, personne ne regrettera qu'il ait été dépensé, d'autant plus qu'il reste en caisse une aussi formidable somme et que tout fait espérer que cette année les livres montreront un gain important. Les sommes payées comme bénéfice de grèves ont diminué, au contraire. De $32,000.00 en 1908, elles sont descendues à $20,000.00 en 1909, et c'est pour nous un sujet de joie que, malgré la condition peu satisfaisante du commerce, nous n'ayons eu à combattre que si peu de tentatives de réduction du salaire. La bénéfice pour les malades montre l'augmentation accountumée: de $184,755.69 en 1908, elle a monté à $186,983.28 en 1909, bien que cette augmentation ait été inférieure à la moyenne depuis bien des années. Les dépenses pour bénéfices de mort et de mise hors de service ont monté de $220,979.71 en 1908 à $238,284.47 en 1909, soit une augmentation de $17,304.76. L'augmentation continue de la somme dépensée dans ce but s'explique par le fait que chaque année il y a davantage de membres qui ont droit à la retraite pleine de $550.00 et aussi par cet autre fait qu'une somme considérable est immobilisée pour faire face aux demandes de secours pour blessures incapacitantes au travail. Pendant les dernières années, les bénéfices pour cas de mort et d'incapacité ont augmenté de $143,344.64.

Pour la gouverne des personnes qui étudient les conditions et de celles qui ne comptent pas familiarisées avec nos unions et qui en étudient la récapitulation, nous dirons que l'assistance reçue des unions et qui leur est rendue et qui couvre une somme de $74,030.00 aux cerettes et de $74,430.00 aux dépenses, n'est somme toute que de l'argent transféré d'une union à l'autre et que, bien qu'elle ait été inscrite, elle ne peut pas être considérée comme dépense ni comme recette. En y comprenant la somme en caisse au commencement de l'année, les transactions financières pour l'année 1909 s'élèvent à $1,552,831.46.

Le total des bénéfices pour l'année 1909 fut de $562,963.92 et le total général des bénéfices payés depuis que le système a été inauguré, en novembre 1879, c'est-à-dire en trente ans et deux mois, a été de $8,935,765.51.

Le rapport, la récapitulation et la table des bénéfices ne montrent que les opérations financières des unions locales. Les sommes nécessaires pour l'entretien du quartier-général est comprise dans des dépenses des unions locales, mais la somme dépensée par cet office n'est pas donnée. Les recettes et les dépenses du bureau général sont données dans le Journal Official mensuel.

Les dettes flottantes, bien qu'elles scient de l'argent au crédit des unions, ne sont pas comprises dans l'argent en caisse au 1er janvier, 1910.

Un fait extrêmement plaisant est l'augmentation substantielle des membres. En dépit de la situation financière peu satisfaisante qui a duré une bonne partie de l'année, le nombre des membres a augmenté de 40,354, payant 30 sous en 1908 à 44,414 payant 30 sous en 1909. Les membres a augmenté de 40,354, payant 30 sous 20 sous et 15 sous, est de 51,477. En comparant avec il y a 18 ans, et ne comptant que les membres actifs, le nombre des membres a augmenté de 21,348, soit près de 100 pour cent.

Le bon état de nos finances et notre force numérique, tout bien considéré, soutiennent une comparaison favorable avec celles des autres unions. Ceci autorise la satisfaction que nous avons exprimés plus haut et nous félicitons sincèrement tous nos membres.

Recapitulation.

NUESTRO ESTADO DE HACIENDA POR 1909.

Es con bastante satisfacción y conoamos también que sea con razón para ella, que llamamos la atención sobre el informe de hacienda que publicamos en este número. El informe ampara todas las operaciones monetarias de las uniones locales durante el año 1909 y cuando se estudia en relación con la tabla de los beneficios pagados, da una buena idea de la extensión y del alcance de los beneficios, de la razón de estos, del coste por miembro por año y del coste de todos los beneficios por miembro. El informe, la recapitulación y la tabla de beneficios muestra las transacciones completas monetarias de la Unión Internacional.

La tabla muestra también el total de las deudas que han sido pagadas a las diferentes épocas. Para la instrucción de los miembros más jóvenes, diremos que la tarifa actual de beneficios de muerte ha sido pagada desde el 1o de Enero de 1887.

Antes del año 1886 pagábamos nosotros $4.00 por semana como beneficio de huelga hasta que la huelga concluyera. Principiando el 1o de Enero de 1897, suprimimos un término del beneficio de los sin trabajo; fuera de esta modificación, no ha ocurrido cambio importante en el pago los beneficios. La tabla indica exactamente cuando principiaron los diferentes beneficios. La constitución indica por supuesto las tarifas actuales y los beneficios pagados.

Mientras que el fonde general arroja una pérdida ó disminución de $33,776.36, esto ha sido ocasionado por la crisis general en el comercio, lo que se prueba por la suma de los beneficios pagados a los sin-trabajo, que ascienden a $76,107.25. La suma gastada como beneficio a los sin-trabajo en un año normal, en 1907, fué solo de $19,497.50. La suma gastada en 1908 por este propósito fué de $101,483.50. La tabla y la recapitulación muestran que la disminución en el fondo general fué ocasionada por la crisis comercial y la aumentación de los beneficios a los sin-trabajo. Puesto que este dinero ha servido a aliviar nuestros valiosos miembros que se encontraban sin trabajo, ninguno deplorará se haya gastado, sobre todo cuando tenemos una tan formidable suma en caja. Además, todo indica que este año el fondo arrojará un buen saldo en favor de las uniones. La suma gastada por beneficios de huelga descendió de $32,000.00 en 1908 a unos $20,000.00 en y es de dar gusto ver que a pesar de la crisis, hemos tenido muy pocas tentativas de reducción de salarios que combatir. La suma gastada por beneficios de enfermos muestra la acostumbrada aumentación de $184,755.60 en 1908 a $186,983.28 en 1909, aunque la aumentación en este beneficio haya sido menor que en años anteriores. Los gastos para beneficios de muerte y de miembros fuera de servicio aumentaron de $220,979.71 en 1908 a $238,284.47 en 1909, arrojando una aumentación de $17,304.76. La aumentación incesante de la suma gastada por este propósito se explica por el hecho que cada año un número mayor de miembros tienen derecho al beneficio entero de $550.00 y al hecho que una suma considerable se necesita para hacer frente a las reivindicaciones de los que han sido quistos fuera de servicio. Durante los 11 años pasados, los beneficios de muerte y de impotencia han subido de $143,344.64.

La suma total pagada por cada beneficio desde la adopción del sistema ha sido, beneficio de empréstitos de viaje $1,180,694.83; beneficio de huelga $1,211,907.23; beneficio de enfermos, $2,909,434.88; beneficio de muerte $2,366,863.21; beneficio de los sin-trabajo $1,266,865.36.

Para la instrucción de los que no conocen bien a nuestro sistema, se ha de hacer no tar que la asistencia de las uniones y a las uniones que incluye una suma de $74,030.00 en los ingresos y de $74,430.00 en los gastos, son simplemente transferencias de dinero de una unión a otra, y aunque las sumas han sido indicadas, sin embargo no son en realidad ni gastos ni ingresos. Incluyendo la suma en caja al principio del año, las transacciones monetarias del año 1909 se suman a $1,552,831.46.

El total de los beneficios pagados durante el año 1909 fué $562,963.92 y el total general de los beneficios pagados desde la inauguración del sistema, es decir desde el mes de noviembre de 1879 ó en treinta años y dos meses, ha sido de $8,935,765.51.

El informe, la recapitulación y la tabla de beneficios solo indican las transacciones monetarias de las uniones locales. Las sumas necesarias para mantener a los cuarteles generales están incluidas en los gastos de las uniones locales, pero las que han sido gastadas por esta oficina no lo son. Los gastos y los ingresos de la oficina son publicados mensualmente en el Oficial Journal.

En cuanto a los préstamos pendientes, aunque sean parte del caudal, no van incluidos en el total en caja el lo de Enero de 1910.

Uno de los hechos los más dignos de felicitación, es la aumentación notable de los miembros. A pesar de la mala condición del comercio que ha durado la mayor parte del año, el número de los miembros pagando 30 centavos se ha elevado de 40,354 en 1908 a 44,414 en 1909. La totalidad de los miembros incluyendo los que pagan 15, 20 y 30 centavos, es de 51,477. Comparando esta cifra con la de hace 18 años y contando solo a los miembros activos, la ganancia en el número de miembros ha sido de 21,348, ó sea cerca de 100 por ciento.

El buen estado de nuestros fondos y la fuerza numérica de nuestra unión, comparan muy favorablemente, todo considerado, con cualquier otra: esto es de alegrarse y nosotros congratulamos cordialmente a todos los miembros.

Nuestro finanzas r. 1910.

Se zadosuñinénim a doufáme, že také s oprávnénim potěšením obrácíme pozornost k finanční zprávě, která jest obsažena v tomto čísle. Zpráva tato týká se všech finančních transakcí místních unií za rok 1909 a porovnáme-li ji s výkazem podpory, jež byly vyplaceny, nabudeme úplného přehledu a porozumění pro rozsah a dosah podpory, k jakým účelům byly povoleny, co přišlo na jednoho člena ročně a co stály každého člena všechny podpory ročně. Zpráva, přehled a tabulka podpory jest věrným obrazem všech finančních transakcí Mezinárodní Unie.

Tabulka vykazuje také obnos poplatků, které byly u různých příležitostí odvedeny. Na úspěch mladších členů bylo podle nynější stupnice úmrtní podpory placeno od 1. ledna 1887.

Před r. 1886 platili jsme ve stávce $4 týdně podpory až do skončení stávků. Od 1. ledna 1897 přestali jsme vypláceti jednu lhůtu podpory pro případ nezaměstnanosti, ale jinak nebylo žádné podstatné změny v placení podpory. Tabulka ukazuje, kdy která podpora začala. Stanovy ovšem ukazují, co obnáší podpora v jednotlivých případech a kolik bylo vyplaceno.

Všeobecný fond vykazuje ztrátu nebo úbytek $33,776.36, ale to zavinila trvalá stísněnost obchodu, jak o tom svědčí obnos, který byl vyplacen jako podpora nezaměstnaným členům a činí $76,107.25. Suma, která byla vydána na podporu nezaměstnaným v roce, kdy šel obchod pravidelně, obnášela r. 1907 pouze $19,497.50. Roku 1908 bylo k tomu účelu vydáno $101,483.50. Tabulka a přehled ukazují, že stěnil se všeobecný fond proto, jelikož obchod váz a nezaměstnaným musely být vyplaceny mimořádně velké obnosy. Ale jelikož byly tyto peníze obráceny na podporu našich dobrých členů, kteří byli bez práce, nebude jich nikdo litovati, zvláště když zbyla nám v pokladně tak ohromná suma a jak se podobá, bude nám letošní rok opět finančně velice přízniv. Obnos, jehož si vyžádala podpora stávajících členů, klesl ze $32,000.00 r. 1908 asi na $20,000.00 r. 1909 a jest potěšitelným úkazem, že neudálo se v našem průmyslu přes všechnu obchodní tíseň mnoho pokusů o snížení mzdy, kterým byli byehom se museli stavět na odpor. Obnos, jaký byl vydán na podporu v nemoci, vykazuje obvyklý roční přírůstek a stoupl ze $184,755.69 r. 1908 na $186,982.28 r. 1909, ačkoli není tak veliký, jako po několika let býval. Výlohy na podporu úmrtní a členům práce neschopným vzrostly z $220,979.71 r. 1908 na $238,284.47 r. 1909, tedy o $17,304.76. Toto zvětšení vydání lze vysvětlit tím, že stává se každým rokem více členů oprávněnými k úplné podpoře v obnosu $550.00 a že jest třeba také značné sumy k hrazení podpory členům neschopným práce. Za posledních jedenácti let vzrostla podpora v případě úmrtní a členům neschopným práce o $143,344.88. Celkem byly na podporách vyplaceny, od té doby, kdy byly zavedeny, následující obnosy: Půjčky členům cestujícím $1,180,694.83; na stávky $2,366,863.21; nezaměstnaným členům $1,266,865.36.

Tomu, kdo se zabývá studováním našich poměrů a kdo není obeznán s naší soustavou, připomínáme, že příspěvi od unií a příspěvi uniím, které obnáší položku $740,030.00 v příjmech a $74,430.00 ve vydání, že jsou to pouze peníze přenesené z jedné unie do druhé a ačkoli to muselo být tak zaneseno, není to v skutečnosti ani příjem ani vydání. Připočteme-li obnos v pokladně na počátku roku, obnášely finanční transakce r. 1909 $1,552,831.46. Podpora bylo r. 1909 vyplaceno úhrnem $562,963.92 a celkem bylo na podporách vyplaceno od doby, kdy byl ten systém zaveden, totiž od listopadu 1879, tedy za třicet let a dva měsíce, $8,935,765.51.

Zpráva, přehled a tabulka podpory ukazují pouze finanční transakce místních unií. Obnos, který vyžadovalo vydržování hlavní úřadovny, jest zahrnut ve vydání místních unií, ale vydání této úřadovny není tam uvedeno. Příjmy a vydání hlavní úřadovny jsou uveřejňovány měsíčně v úředním Journalu.

Nesplacené půjčky, které jsou vlastně částí pokladní hotovosti, nejsou přes to uvedeny v té položce z 1. ledna 1910.

Zvláště potěšitelným faktem jest přibývání členstva. Ačkoli byly poměry v našem průmyslu neuspokojivé po větší část roku, přece vzrostl počet členstva ze 40,354 třicetiletých členů r. 1908 na 44,414 třicetiletých členů r. 1909. Celkem obnáší počet všech členů, 15c, 20c a 30c 51,477. Porovnáme-li to s počtem členstva před 18 roky a počítáme-li pouze aktivní členy, jest to přírůstek 21,348 osob čili bezmála 100 procent.

Hledíme-li k zdravým základům, na jakých spočívají naše fondy a k početní síle našeho členstva, můžeme směle říci, že snese naše unie velice dobře porovnání s kteroukoli jinou unií a blahopřejeme členům srdečně k tomuto úspěchu.

Ueber unsere Finanzen von 1909.

Mit einiger Befriedigung, zu der wir wohl berechtigt sind, machen wir uns das Vergnügen, auf den Finanz-Bericht in dieser Ausgabe hinzuweisen. Der Bericht umfasst die ganzen Geldangelegenheiten der lokalen Unions für das Jahr 1909, und er gewährt, wenn im Zusammenhang mit der Tabelle der ausbezahlten Unterstützungsgelder betrachtet, ein vollständiges Verständnis für die Größe und Ausdehntheit der Unterstützungsmethode, ihren Zweck, die Kosten für jedes Mitglied per Jahr und die Kosten aller Unterstützungen per Mitglied. Der Bericht, die Recapitulation und Tabelle der Unterstützungsgelder zeigt das ganze Finanzfeld der Int. Union.

Die Tabelle zeigt ferner den Betrag der Beiträge, die in den verschiedenen Stadien bezahlt wurden. Zum Nutzen der jüngeren Mitglieder ist die gegenwärtige Rate der Sterbegelder seit dem 1. Januar 1887 bezahlt worden.

Vor 1886 bezahlten wir $4 per Woche Streik-Unterstützung bis zum Ende des Streiks. Beginnend mit dem 1. Januar 1897 strichen wir einen Termin der Unterstützung bei Arbeitslosigkeit an, sonst ist aber keine wesentliche Aenderung im Unterstützungsverfahren gemacht worden. Die Tabelle zeigt, wann jede Unterstützung begann. Die Verfassung zeigt natürlich die gegenwärtig bezahlten Raten und Unterstützungen.

Wenn der allgemeine Fond auch einen Rückgang, eine Abnahme von $33,776.36 aufweist, so ist das doch nur der andauernden Geschäftstodung zuzuschreiben, wie schon aus den ausbezahlten Unterstützungen bei Arbeitslosigkeit in Höhe von $76,107.25 ersichtlich ist. Der Betrag der bezahlten Unterstützungen bei Arbeitslosigkeit im Jahre 1907, unter normalen Geschäftsver-hältnissen, war nur $19,497.50. Der 1908 für diesen Zweck aufgewandte Betrag war $101,483.50. Die Tabelle und die Recapitulation zeigen also, daß die Abnahme des allgemeinen Fonds von der allgemeinen Geschäftslage und der Mehrausgabe für Unterstützung bei Arbeitslosigkeit kam. Da dies Geld zur Unterstützung unserer würdigen Mitglieder benutzt wurde, während sie arbeitslos waren, wird diese Ausgabe wohl keinem leid thun, hauptsächlich da wir doch eine so gewaltige Summe übrig haben und die günstigen Aussichten für dies Jahr ein gutes Anschwellen der Gewinnseite unserer Abrechnung erwarten lassen. Der für Streikunterstützung ausgegebene Betrag fiel von $32,000.00 in 1908 auf ungefähr $20,000.00 in 1909, was zufriedenstellend ist, da es zeigt, daß wir trotz der Geschäftslage nur wenige Lohnbrückungsversuche zu bekämpfen hatten. Die Zunahme der bezahlten Krankengelder ist die gewöhnliche Jahreszunahme, nämlich von $184,755.69 in 1908 auf $186,932.28 in 1909, doch ist diese Zunahme im Zusammenhang genommen geringer, als sie seit Jahren war. Die Ausgaben an Sterbe- und Schadengeldern stiegen von $220,979.71 in 1908 auf $238,284.47 in 1909, eine Zunahme von $17,304.76. Die andauernde Zunahme der Ausgaben für diese Zwecke kommt daher, weil jedes Jahr mehr Mitglieder zu dem vollen Betrag von $550.00 berechtigt sind, und weil eine beträchtliche Summe nötig ist, um den Schadensansprüchen genügen zu können. Während der letzten 11 Jahre haben die Sterbe- und Unfallsgelder um $143,344.64 zugenommen. Die auf jedem Unterstützungsgebiet bezahlten Gesamtsummen seit der Einführung des Unterstützungs-systems waren:

Reisefarlehren $1,180,694.83;
Streikunterstützung $1,211,907.23;
Krankenunterstützung $2,909,434.88;
Sterbegelder $2,366,863.21;
Arbeitslosenunterstützung $1,266,865.36.

Zum Nutzen der Wißbegierigen und aller, die unser System nicht kennen, sollte man es beim Durchgehen der Recapitulation beachten, daß Unterstützungen von Unions und Unterstützungen an Unions, die $74,030.00 in Einnahmen und $74,430.00 in Ausgaben darstellen, einfach Gelbübertragungen von einer Union an die andere sind, und wenn sie auch so gebucht werden müssen, sind es doch weder Einnahmen noch Ausgaben. Den Kassensbetrag zu Beginn des Jahres eingeschlossen, haben die Finanzgeschäfte des Jahres 1909 eine Höhe von $1,552,831.46 erreicht.

Die während des Jahres 1909 bezahlten Unterstützungen waren insgesamt $562,963.92, und die Gesamtsumme der ausbezahlten Unterstützungen, seit das System im November 1879 in Kraft trat, also in 30 Jahren und 2 Monaten, beträgt $8,935,765.51.

Bericht, Recapitulation und Unterstützungen-tabelle zeigen nur die Finanzgeschäfte der lokalen Unions. Der für die Erhaltung des Hauptquartiers nötige Betrag ist in den Ausgaben der lokalen Unions eingeschlossen, aber die Ausgaben dieser Office sind nicht eingeschlossen. Die Einnahmen und Ausgaben der Haupt-Office werden monatlich in dem offiziellen Blatt veröffentlicht.

Die ausstehenden Darlehen, wenn auch zu den Beständen gehörend, sind nicht in dem Gesamtkassensbetrag vom 1. Januar 1910 eingeschlossen.

Außerordentlich zufriedenstellend ist der beträchtliche Zuwachs an Mitgliedern. Trotz der schlechten Geschäftsverhältnisse, die den größten Theil des Jahres andauerten, stieg die Mitgliederzahl von 40,354 30-Cents-Mitgliedern in 1908 auf 44,414 30-Cents-Mitglieder in 1909. Die ganze Mitgliederzahl, einschließlich der 15c-, 20c- und 30c-Mitglieder, ist 51,477. Verglichen mit der Zeit vor 18 Jahren und nur die aktiven Mitglieder zählend, hat der Zuwachs an Mitgliedern genau 21,348 oder fast 100 Prozent betragen.

Die Unerschütterlichkeit unserer Fonds und unsere Zahlenstärke, welche sich, wenn man alles in Betracht zieht, vorteilhaft mit jeder Gewerkschaft, die es giebt, vergleichen können, sind gute Gründe der Genugthuung, und wir gratulieren der Mitgliedschaft herzlich dazu.

Detailed (Referendum) Vote of Local Unions for Seventh Vice-President.

As no candidate received a majority of all votes cast, a second ballot was ordered. In compliance with the law—Section 52—Messrs. Wm. Strauss of Brooklyn, N. Y., and E. G. Hall, of Minneapolis, Minn., having received the greatest number of votes, were placed on the second ballot.

ORGANIZER'S REPORT.

New Castle, Pa., Mar. 6, 1910.

Having been appointed organizer about six weeks ago I entered upon my work at Denver, Pa., where I found business slow and the members of 161 not showing the enthusiasm they should in the work of organization. I returned there for three meetings the first, two being poorly attended, but the third was a splendid turn-out, and committee on organization was appointed and authorized to put various plans into effect to get new members. I visited jurisdiction towns where there are a great many non-union cigar makers and found some favorable sentiment towards joining the union. I devoted some time in York and jurisdiction towns and attended three meetings of 242. Those in attendance seem to be of a unit that the work of organization should be pushed.

Committee was appointed to lead the work. Sixteen members were initiated at the next meeting.

Union 236, Reading, mapped out similar plans to York and Beaver and have added thirty new members already. Visited two jurisdiction towns and found signs are hopeful.

Union 257, Lancaster, has entered upon the work in like manner.

Union 91, Allentown, has had two strikes in the last three weeks. At Emaus, Pa., 100 nonunion cigar makers and seven packers, the entire force at Jeitles & Blumenthals, struck against the foreman and for better shop and stock conditions. A meeting was advertised at which I was to be present to organize. The firm learning of this sent for the committee to settle all differences. The packers secured 10 cents per thousand increase and firm agreed to furnish new molds and adjust all grievances with committee from time to time.

The second strike started about ten days ago at the Victor Thorsche Co. in Allentown, where 200 girl rollers and bunch breakers struck for 6 cents increase per hundred or from 12 to 15 cents for bunches and from 27 to 30 cents increase for rolling. We shall organize and assist them. They are all non-unionists.

I was compelled to leave Allentown to attend conventions of Blue Label League and State Federation of Labor.

At South Bethlehem 6,500 steel workers of the Bethlehem Steel Company, part of the United States Steel Trust, are on strike for an advance in wages. Has been a non-union plant but since going out they have organized and are determined to hold out. Addressed one of their large strike meetings.

At Philadelphia everything was for a general sympathetic strike in aid of the street car men who have been on strike for two weeks and where the mayor and city administration seem to be lending every effort to assist the Rapid Transit Company to defeat the men. Hence the uprising for a general strike. Here too, the Russian Cossacks are in evidence, lending their aid to defeat the men, and I want to sound a warning note to the trade unionists of the entire country, that emissaries and representatives of the state administrations as well as paid agents of corporations and trusts are constantly visiting this state from almost every state in the Union to secure data and information with a view of having legislation enacted in their several states to establish a state police force or state constabulary or Russian Cossacks for use in strikes and industrial disputes and at the expense of the state government. The taxpayers instead of the companies, corporations and trusts employing private detectives and Pinkertons at their own expense.

Union 165, Philadelphia, held a general strike meeting March 4, which lasted till near midnight. And everything was strike talk. Vote carried to reinforce general strike and approve going out at 12 o'clock that night. Owing to the mind of every member being centered and occupied concerning the general strike and its progress and outcome, I did not have the time and could not get the consideration required to start a movement to organize.

To the local unions and the members of the first and ninth districts, I earnestly ask that a movement be started to organize by every local union and every member of every local union should lend every possible assistance.

I. B. Kuhn.

All wages-workers should be union men. Their progress is limited only by those who hold aloof. Get together, agitate, educate and do!

Don't wait until tomorrow; tomorrow never comes.

Don't wait for some one else to start; start it yourself.

Don't hearken to the indifferent; wake them up.

Don't think it impossible; 3,000,000 organized workers prove different.—American Federationist.

The foregoing table is one of the most complete historical resumes of the financial transactions of the International Union ever issued. It presents a bird's-eye view of the benefits paid, the cost per member per year and the cost per member for the given number of years, and the balance on hand at the end of each fiscal year. For instance, in the payment of Out-of-Work benefit the amounts fluctuate according to the state of trade. The highest cost per member per year for Out-of-Work benefit was $6.43-4-10 in 1896, and the lowest cost per member per year was 39¢ in 1903.

The Out-of-Work benefit has been paid for a period of twenty (20) years, commencing Jan. 1, 1890, and the average cost per member per year for the first ten years, was $3.29 1-10. This is instructive information, as the ten years in question were about equally divided between periods of normal trade condition and industrial stagnation. The average cost per member per year for the twenty years in which this benefit has been in operation was $2.11 4-10.

The 15-cent-dues-paying members receive strike, and not more than $50.00 death benefit. The 20-cent beneficiary retired members receive sick and death benefit, hence both are included when figuring the cost per member per year in the payment of benefits in which they participate, although in the tables they are given separate columns of membership and affiliation.

NOTE: The following explains the different kinds, periods and amount of benefits paid:

Loans: One-year members are entitled to a loan for transportation to the nearest union in whatever direction he or she desires to travel, but in no wise shall the loans exceed in the aggregate $20.

Sick Benefit: For the first sixteen weeks, $5 per week is paid, and $3 per week until the strike or lockout shall have terminated.

Sick Benefit: $5 per week; provided such sickness or inability shall have been for at least one week or seven days, but no member shall be entitled to any sick benefit for a longer period than thirteen weeks in any one year.

Death and Disability Benefits: These benefits are graduated, and are as follows: A member who shall have been such for two years, the sum of $50 is paid toward defraying funeral expenses including the said $50 funeral expenses, the International Union pays upon the death of a member, the sum of at least ten years, $50. Third—if the member has been such for at least five consecutive years, a sum of $200. Second—if the member shall have been such for at least ten years, $50. Third—if the member has been such for at least fifteen consecutive years, $50. The total disability benefit was adopted in 1902. This benefit is paid direct to the applicant or guardian, and is the same amount as in case of death, less $50.00, which is retained and paid towards defraying funeral expenses at time of death. A benefit of $10.00 is paid in the event of the death of a wife or widowed mother of a member.

Out-of-Work Benefit: Any member having paid weekly dues for a period of two years is entitled to an out-of-work benefit of $3 per week, and 50 cents for each additional day. No benefit is paid for the first one week after a member was discharged from employment or laid off. Any member receiving benefit for six weeks is not entitled to any benefit for seven weeks thereafter, and no member shall receive more than $64 during the period of one year.

NOTE.—The amounts to be replaced by local unions will be found in column of "Deficiency in Funds of Local Unions on January 1, 1910."

Deficiency in Funds of Local Unions on January 1, 1910.

Section 179 of the constitution reads as follows: Sec. 179. Unions expending more than the percentage provided for in Sec. 177 must replace the same within ninety days after receiving official notice. Failing to do so they shall be suspended. But local unions having a deficiency in their funds on Jan. 1, 1896, shall make up the deficiency upon the following basis: 50 cents per member per quarter. Any union failing to comply with this provision shall be suspended.

NOTICE.

When a member changes from the 30c to the 20c list, or retires absolutely, all previous cards, in possession of the union, should be returned to the International Union.

NOTICE TO SECRETARIES.

On and after February 28 do not use any numbers from 20001 to 43000, inclusive, unless the numbers become vacant on your own books, except to give old numbers to members owing loans. Secretaries in need of numbers for new members not owing loans should send to the International Office for them.

The Constitution, twentieth edition, contains an error. The amendment of Union 97, Boston, reference accepting cards from foreign countries, took the place of the old law. Through mistake both the amendment and the old law are included. The last paragraph, or last twelve lines of Section 67, on page 20, is the old law and doesn't belong in the Constitution.

NOTICE.

Financial secretaries when granting loans should, as required by Section 104, enter loans in figures and letters. It is not necessary to punch cards.

The amendment adopted to Sections 76 and 77 does away with the issuance of retiring cards to all who continue to pay dues as beneficiary members.

Retiring cards are only for those who pay up and actually terminate all connection with the union in so far as the payment of dues is concerned.

Members who transfer from the 30-cent list to the 20-cent beneficiary membership list are simply changed from one class to another and deducted from one and added to the other.

Members who have not paid 30-cent dues for three years and quitting the trade under Section 76 and wishing to qualify for Section 77 as a beneficiary member should be kept on without any other change than to make a note of the intention on the ledger page. If such member desires to travel to another jurisdiction he should be given a transfer card and his intention to qualify as a 20-cent beneficiary member written on the transfer card. Such beneficiary members are not entitled to any benefits except sick benefits after one year's membership and whatever death benefits their term of membership entitles them to.

If you hold any loan cards of no further use send them to this office.

Before granting or accepting retiring cards secretaries and members should consult Sections 76 and 77 of the Constitution.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS AND MEMBERS.

In printing the nineteenth edition of the Constitution, an omission occurs in Section 77, on line 7. A comma and the words "and local assessments" should follow "International assessments." The sentence to read: "All International assessments, and local assessments levied for label agitation purposes." This amendment as published in another place is correct.

MEMBERS OUT OF WORK ARE NOT ENTITLED TO THE SIXTEEN WEEKS' PRIVILEGE IN DUES UNLESS THEY NOTIFY THE SECRETARY WEEKLY BEFORE THE EIGHTH WEEK. THIS INCLUDES TRAVELING MEMBERS WHO SHOULD ALWAYS CARRY A CERTIFICATE AND HAVE SAME SIGNED WEEKLY.

Items for the Journal should be placed on separate slips of paper—not the backs of reports, etc.—in order to insure prompt publication, and should reach this office not later than the 10th of each month if intended for current publication.

NOTICE.—How to duplicate Loan Cards.

It frequently occurs that new secretaries through error or lack of knowledge, transfer the amount a member "has coming" instead of what he owes. In duplicating a card, figure up all the member has borrowed and subtract all he has paid, and if there is a balance against the member transfer to new card in red ink and figures and letters the amount due the International Union. Also enter on new card all that may be essential that you find on the old, then sign and seal it. Send the old card to the International office.

Unions when notifying this office of change in secretary will please at once give the new secretary's address, if possible, so as to obviate delays mistakes, etc.

In reporting deaths kindly comply with the following and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of member. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the records of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such card, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the latter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

If secretaries when ordering supplies will place the order on the regular blank, it will greatly simplify the work here and avoid unnecessary delay for those who order the supplies. We receive an average of 300 pieces of mail in the office daily. Sometimes an order is sandwiched into a two or three-page letter containing three or more different subjects, and there is danger in such cases of an order being overlooked. Hence we ask that in order to save unnecessary delay and annoyance you order on the regular blank, giving your name and address.

DECISIONS OF PRESIDENT

Peter Rogers appealed against the right of Union No. 12 of Oneida holding its general membership responsible for a deficiency of $76.72 in the accounts of the union in 1908. The evidence submitted shows that on Jan. 1, 1908, the office of secretary-treasurer was created and C. D. Cortright elected, with the agreement that he was to receive $35 per month if the percentage would permit, but a proportionate lesser amount if the percentage necessitated a reduction. The evidence shows C. D. Cortright drew $76.72 in excess of the amount permissible under the agreement. The appeal is sustained and the union instructed to force compliance with the agreement.

Union No. 35 of Dayton appealed against the action of the financier in charging $65 illegal sick benefit against Henry Frantz, he being 17 weeks in arrears at the time he reported sick. The appeal was not sustained.

Wm. A. Robichand appealed against the action of Union 65, Lynn, in reinstating Joseph Herwitz, No. 108384, who had been suspended by the secretary for failure to pay meeting fines. The appeal was not sustained.

Wm. T. Held, financial secretary, and eight others appealed against Union 439 of Carbondale in sustaining the appeal of W. F. McAndrews, whom the secretary suspended for illegal refusal to pay loans.

The evidence of J. J. O'Hara, the authorized shop collector, clearly and emphatically exonerates the member. The appeal is not sustained.

H. B. Simpkins appealed against 97, Boston, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The evidence shows that appellant was out of the city on business and tendered payment as soon as he returned. The appeal was sustained.

Mrs. Brown appealed against 58, Montreal, for fining her $10 for strike breaking. The appeal was not sustained.

P. H. Kaiser appealed against 131, Jersey City, for refusing to accept his retiring card. The union replied that he had worked at the trade without depositing his card for a long time. The appeal was not sustained.

O. Turner appealed against 186, Flint, for fining him $50 for learning his trade in a non-union shop. Turner claims he went to work in the shop when a mere boy as a stripper. The fine is hereby reduced owing to mitigating circumstances to $25.

H. C. Finkler appealed against 97, Boston, for placing him on the ninety days list. Appellant shows that he gave the money to the shop collector in time, but through a mistake the collector failed to give in his name as paying dues. The union on investigation verifies appellant's statement. The appeal was sustained.

Linder Bros. appealed against 331, Neener, for imposing fine of $50. Appeal cannot be recognized, having failed to appeal within the limit.

F. Volk appealed against Binghamton for fining him $25 for working in Richards strike shop. The appeal was not sustained.

H. Schnuld appealed against 90, New York, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The appeal was not sustained.

Phillip Laven appealed against 351, Mankota, for fining him $10. The appeal was not sustained.

INTERNATIONAL FINES

The International Executive Board approved the application of Union 32, Louisville, Ky., to annul the card of and fine Mr. John Bohn, No. 3264, $100 for taking the foremanship in an unfair shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative 5. Of the other two members, one approved a fine of $50 and the other disapproved the annulment of the card.

Approved the application of Union 456, Albia, Ia., to fine Thos. A. Evans $100 for quitting a union job and taking a job in a scab shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative 6. The other members approved a fine of $50.

Approved the application of Union 114, Jacksonville, Ill., to fine Herman Martin, No. 6352, $50 for working in the closed shop of D. Smith at Winchester, Ill. Following is the vote: Affirmative 7.

Approved the application of Union 455, Galena, Ill., to fine Oswald Huber, No. 119849, $25 for scabbing at the Standard Cigar Co. of Galena, Ill. Following is the vote: Affirmative 7.

Approved the application of Union 77, Minneapolis, Minn., to fine George Joseph, No. 17242; Robt. Landman, No. 80285, and Abe Diamond, No. 110562, each $25 for working in the closed shops of the Hooker Cigar Co. and Simon Epstein Cigar Co. Following is the vote: Affirmative 7.

Approved the application of Union 15, Chicago, Ill., to fine L. Newlander $25 for selling cigars below their price, and J. Kanter $25 for running a scab factory. Following is the vote: Affirmative 6. The other member disapproved the fine on L. Newlander if he did not sell the cigars below the constitutional limit.

Approved the application of Union 211, Victoria, B. C., to fine J. A. Gonzalis, No. 109653, $50 and annul his retiring card for having put in a retiring card, knowing the same to have been annulled by Union 357, Vancouver, previously. Following is the vote: Affirmative 5. One member approves only the fine.

Approved the application of Union 32, Louisville, Ky., to fine Elenora Gausepohl, No. 8797, and J. J. Snyder, No. 113602, each $50 and suspend them for going to work in an unfair shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative 5.

Approved the application of Union 331, Crookston, Minn., to fine E. Potretzke $100 and annul his retiring card and to fine C. A. Potretzke, No. 100,487, $25, and L. A. Lee, No. 102,633, $50, for conduct unbecoming union members. Following is the vote: Affirmative—5. Negative—2.

A talkative negro was on trial for a minor offense. The court rebuked him for his incessant chatter, and finally thundered:

"Do you know what a court is?"

"Yes, sah," said the colored man. "A cote am a place where they dispenses wif justis."

ORGANIZERS' REPORT.

It did not take much time after my arrival in this "Ocean bound city" to discover the deplorable condition of affairs that existed among the cigar makers, where clear Havana, Spanish hand work, made for $5 per thousand. Londres Grande made for $8 to $10 per thousand. The inactivity of the members of this Local Union, the pessimistic views held by all indiscriminately, not one of them seemed to see one faint hope in the future. Of course in the larger shops prices are better than those mentioned above. The low price jobs that I have quoted are made in the so-called "Buckeye Shops." One factory in particular employs 275 cigar makers, but in his "Buckeye Shop" he has had as high as 180 hands. In his big shop he pays the regular price for the different shapes and styles as is generally paid in Key West in the best shops. The prices vary on certain styles and shapes. There is no uniformity of prices, as the prices are different on the same job in different factories. I heard of only two large factories who had "Buckeyes" in connection with their higher paid shops, but there are many "Buckeye Shops" in Key West that employ from 15 to 75 workmen, also shops where the "Smokers" are made with seed wrappers and prices vary. I was told they pay as low as $6 per thousand, a cigar over five inches in length and very thick, twist head and bunch extended not covered by wrapper. After a careful survey of the situation as it exists here I proceeded to follow out the plan which had been prepared for me, first by having a special meeting called by the Local Union, the object being to interest them to the extent that they would see the desirability of putting their shoulders to the wheel and by united efforts increase the membership and assist in organizing those who were not in the International Union. The attendance at the meeting was very small indeed. The appearance at the next meeting of the members was less. I tried by every reasonable manner to bring them together, so did one or two members, but at each meeting the number that attended grew less. It was by a great effort that sufficient members were got together to form a "committee on organization" to attend the first meeting of the non-union Cuban cigar makers. The meeting was conducted in the Spanish language, chairman and secretary chosen by the Cubans. Speeches were made by Mr. J. R. Macias, assistant organizer. I also addressed the meeting in English, which was interpreted by a Cuban. It was passed at the meeting that a "mass meeting" be held at the San Carlos theater the following Sunday morning and that a manifesto be printed and distributed in all the shops and copies given to the cigar makers. The declaration of the principles of the International Union was published in Spanish and English. Not only were they placed in the large shops, but in coffee shops and other places frequented by the craft. Permit me to state that previous to the call of the mass meeting referred to, letters had been published in the "Key West Citizen," also the "Key West Journal" and those letters to the public translated and appeared in the Cuban paper, "El Centenela." Besides, a number of articles were printed in the last named paper advancing the principles of the International Union and urging the cigar makers of Key West to join the union, and that the only remedy was to join the union. In fact, agitation was carried on for a number of weeks by the Cuban organizer, Mr. Macias, and myself on all occasions everywhere and anywhere so that a big crowd would be at the meeting. Notwithstanding all the efforts that was made on the part of your representatives and the promises that was made to those that took an active part in bringing about the occasion to have a large gathering after all the preparations that was made, the mass meeting was a failure on account of the very small number that was present. It is unfortunate to state that of the many who promised me personally and those who made the same promise to others to attend the mass meeting failed, and an opinion had better be left unwritten. Our efforts finally resulted in organizing the wrapper selectors, who are an important factor to our trade in clear Havana centers. In affiliating them with the International Union I feel that we succeeded in planting the seed of unionism and making it clear to our craftsman in that city that their only hope lies in the International Union, and that when the work is again taken up in the fall we will do for Key West what was done in Tampa, organize the trade. Yours fraternally,

Frank Celcis,
International Organizer.

Reading, May 5, 1910.

Akron.—Label goods are on sale here and in the small jurisdiction towns. Union 301 being the only labor organization here, I attended four meetings of Union 301, one being a special meeting. Committee on organization now actively at work and some good results are looked for.

Reading.—Union 236 meets weekly and organization committee also meets weekly. Some effective work is being done. Since last report 32 new members have been added. Attended meetings of the union, also committee meetings and central body. Label in demand.

Lancaster.—Label in demand in city, but little demand in some of the jurisdiction towns. Union 257 meets Monday and committee meets Friday, weekly; good big committee and doing good work; members added every week. Committee visiting all labor organizations in city to secure their assistance and co-operation. Especially to get them to get their wives, daughters and sisters who make cigars to join the union.

Denver.—Attended meeting of 161, and their organization committee has not been as successful in their work as hoped for, but by continued effort I feel sure they will yet make some substantial gains in membership. Label in fair demand.

York.—Union label on sale at cigar stores and hotels. Good bartenders' local here, who help our cause. Committee on organization is doing fairly well and some new members being added.

Sellersville.—Attended good meeting of 232, and committee appointed. Look for some good results.

Allentown.—Attended meetings and campaign started by Union 91 that should result in an increase in their membership.

Lock Haven.—E. H. Young & Bro., of this city, who for a number of years conducted a large union shop at Farrensville, five miles from here, and discontinued manufacturing in 1907, and bought their cigars from non-union factories in the 9th district. In some manner while they operated a union shop they accumulated a vast amount of union labels and recently it was discovered they were placing these labels on the 9th district non-union cigars. I went to Youngs and bought 300 cigars and they placed the label on while I waited, and John Speaker and myself went to Snow Shoe, St. Mary's. Smithport, Ridgway and other towns in the jurisdiction, and secured some boxes of cigars from cigar stores and hotels, who bought the goods from Young and all were 9th district goods, bearing old union labels of 108, Lock Haven, 12th district. This was in direct violation of the law in this state protecting union labels of associations and unions of working men. We engaged counsel who notified Mr. Young to make satisfaction or he would be arrested. After he consulted his own attorney, and finding he appeared to be in it, he agreed to make settlement by paying $125 damages, and return to us the labels on hand, which proposition we accepted, and enough labels were returned to us to cover more than 100,000 cigars. Some time was devoted to getting information about United Cigar Manufacturers Company factories, located at Lancaster, York, Dallastown, Red Lion, Harrisburg, Steelton, Middletown and Columbia and Kingsports, who operates shops for them at Ephrata, Hopeland, Schoeneck, Rotheville and Lititz, all in the 9th district, employing about 3,500 cigarmakers, about 2,000 of these at the Harrisburg, Steelton, Middleton and Columbia factories are machine girls.

LOST CARDS

Section 11. Any member losing or destroying his loan book shall not be entitled to receive any benefits or a duplicate loan book before the expiration of two months, and financial secretaries of local unions must notify the International President of such loss or destruction immediately, the same to be published in the Official Journal by the International President. The International President shall be the only person to issue a duplicate.

Members having lost their traveling cards take notice:

No duplicate card will be issued for lost card unless the full name of members, the card number, the date of initiation and the union where the card was last deposited are given. Members who lose cards are not entitled to benefits until they secure duplicates. No duplicate cards are issued except upon application through some secretary, when the time limit of two months has expired.

Month after month unscrupulous men impose upon secretaries and members under the plea of lost cards. The constitution provides a punishment for lost cards. Its purpose is to stop the carelessness and the traffic made with full cards by permitting them to be held as security.

Don't issue letters to any member claiming lost card unless you know his actual standing.

Secretaries have no right to issue certificates in place of lost cards. Members who secure employment should be entered as admitted to the union.

Secretaries should be careful and enter all loans granted and repaid and all balances carried from one card to another in letters and figures. The issue of duplicates will be delayed in all cases where information is not complete.

Secretaries should examine due books where claim of lost card is made. Report full name, number, date and place of initiation and when and where card was last deposited.

Private loans will be entered on duplicates issued upon request of unions.

Enter all loans granted in figures and letters.

Secretaries will please notify this office as to whether any private loans are due on cards reported lost, otherwise they are issued with only the International loan account. This does not release members from their just obligations to the unions. The absence of the private loans, however, quite often causes members to overlook those loans and suspensions follow.

PRIVATE LOANS

Sec. 196. Local unions shall have the right to suspend members for non-payment of local indebtedness, and hold traveling cards until such indebtedness has been paid. See Sec. 106 also.

The following unions request the collection of private loans from the respective persons, and return same to union making the request.

The names of members who owe private loans to Union 179, Bangor, prior to Feb. 1, 1910, and who are not paid up by the next issue of the Journal will be published and the constitution enforced.

All private loans of six months' standing or over will be published in the next month's Journal. By Union 269, Nashua, N. H.

All members who have drawn private loans from Union 275, Aberdeen, S. D., prior to Jan. 1, 1910, please correspond with the secretary before the next Journal appears or their names will follow. "Come in with some of it, boys. There are others coming through who need the money you are keeping from us. If you can't repay it now, let us know."

All members owing private loans to Union 269, Nashua, N. H., of over six months' standing please pay up. Action will be taken at the next meeting.

Members owing private loans to Union 407, Norwich, Conn., are requested to pay up. There are a number of loans that have been out a long time and we are going to collect them or suspend the members that owe them.

Secretaries holding cards of the following named will please collect and remit to Union 291, their private loans: Chris. Urban (71611), $1.00; Louis Polak (9788), $1.00; Jas. Brown (66930), $1.00; John Rule, $1.50; John Dudding (29506), $1.00; M. De Witt (4437), $1.00; John A. Rhein (21301), $1.00; Fred Hansen (85088), $1.00; J. J. Gallivan, $1.00; Anton Volanki (66887), $1.00; Stanley Horling (82866), $1.00.

Secretaries please collect the following private loans before the next issue of the Journal and return to Union 451, Bushnell, Ill.: Mel Melcher (14963), 50 cts.; Ike Imboden (40130), 50 cts.; W. Crosgrove (34923), 50 cts.; John Collins (15426), 50 cts.; J. Whitehall (11089), 50 cts.; G. L. Lewis (88315), 50 cts.; E. C. Young (102647), 50 cts.; Harry Christholm (115781), 50 cts.; W. Union 486, New Westminster, B. C., requests secretaries holding cards of the following members owing private loans to kindly collect from them and remit to Union 486: W. Mead (10940), $2.00; James O'Hearn (38125), $2.00; Geo. L. Kreig (81769), $2.00; Chas. Crook (108481), $2.00.

Secretary holding the card of E. Dery, 104353, please collect $6 private loan and remit to Union 287, Marinette, Wis.

IN MEMORIAM

In reporting deaths, kindly comply with the following and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of members. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the record of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such cards, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the latter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank property filled out for all death benefits paid.

The following unions adopted resolutions of regret and condolence relating to death or deaths as follows, and ordered charter draped in mourning for thirty days:

Union 16, Binghamton, N. Y.—Wm. Bixley, who died February 13th, and John Keays, who died on March 25th.

Union 498, Everett, Wash.—Harvey Medlock, who died March 13th at Arlington, Wash. The remains were shipped to Seattle for cremation, accompanied by Harry F. Wallenhaupt. Union 498 wishes to thank Mr. Fred Boy, president of 188, Seattle, Wash., who met them at Seattle.

Union 91, Allentown, Pa.—Oscar George. Committee attended the funeral.

Union 491, Huron, S. D.—M. J. Stipl, who died April 2, 1910. Remains were shipped to St. Paul for burial. Union 491 desires to express their thanks for the kindness shown to the family of the deceased by Union 98, St. Paul.

Union 129, Denver, Colo.—J. D. Hollis (44679), who died April 13th. Remains were shipped to his old home, Paris, Ill., for burial. Arthur M. Brown (65289), who died April 25th. Funeral was taken charge of by union. Interment at Riverside cemetery.

CORRESPONDENCE

Detroit, Mich.

In his remarks to the Young Women's Christian Association, Bishop Charles D. Williams touched on the dangers facing working women and some of the ills that beset their paths.

In part spoke as follows:

"Hitherto your work has been to make the lives of girls pleasant and bring them under good influences during hours when they are unemployed. Now it is time to seek a remedy for economic conditions under which many girls have to work," he declared.

"Many working girls are going wrong today. What leads them into temptation? Partly because they seek a reaction from constant drudgery and long for excitement. But there is a greater cause. The report read tonight shows that it costs a girl from $2.50 to $6 a week for board and lodging in this building. There is no place in the city where it can be had as well and so cheaply. Yet that amount is the whole earning capacity of many girls. What is left for incidentals and clothes? I've heard of many occasions in which girls were advised to add to their income by means outside their regular employment. If you want to save the working girl you have to face such industrial conditions.

"In many establishments the girls are overworked. This drives them into temptation. They think about it during their idle hours. Two things are needed at once, a strict enforcement of the law limiting the number of hours of work for girls to 5 a week. In other cities this is generally given, but in Detroit it is denied in many places."

His view of the subject is correct in the main, although it does not go into details. The number of women employed at wages that preclude the possibility of them paying for their room and board, not even to mention clothing, is so large in Detroit that it is no wonder many of them find it necessary to augment their meager wages in questionable ways.

"With many of them it is impossible to obtain meals regularly, and they subsist on lunches of the 15 and 10-cent variety, that being about the limit of their expenditures. Even such an amount is sometimes prohibitive. With two in a room, they cannot get accommodations of room and board for less than $3.50 per week, and but few passable accommodations can be obtained at that rate; in addition, there is laundry, clothing, shoes, etc.

As the great majority work for from $3 to $5 per week, some idea of their struggle to make ends meet is apparent.

"If the girl happens to be pretty, she may be invited to a cafe for lunch by some of her male friends, and such an invitation often affords her the only opportunity to enjoy a real meal.

"There are phases to such invitations that are objectionable. The mere visit to a cafe is not in itself so, but if it leads to excessive indulgence in liquor or in too intimate an acquaintance, it may prove the downfall of the girl.

"Suppose she has been working long hours, struggling along with not enough to eat, wearing clothes that are shabby and unattractive, yet she has many personal attractions of face and figure that appeal to men. She meets some man with money and a desire to enjoy questionable pleasures. He first merely pays for her lunches; then he offers her theater tickets; then it passes to a little loan perhaps;

then to some clothing, and then—but what is the use. The pathway, well worn as it is, is patent to even the casual observer. The girl is not entirely to blame, although we generously accord it to her.

"She is giving her life to make some firm or individual wealthy. She is enabling him or them to enjoy life and its many pleasures. What does it matter what she is forced to do to live, as long as she is on the job ten hours or longer each day?

"Only too often the employer himself, or his subordinates, such as superintendents, managers and foremen, take advantage of such girls in their employ. This is so frequent as to prevent comment.

When the trials of the women who are compelled to work are considered, it is surprising that they are as good morally as they are, or perhaps they are simply discreet, and even then they are showing more consideration to society than society shows to them.

In the non-union cigar factories hundreds of young girls are employed. They are supposed to learn the trade. They work for a dollar a week for months. This dollar per week is not paid them in cash, but in shape of a promissory note on condition that they work for six months steady at this factory. If they should leave this factory before the six months, according to condition on said note, they would not receive any compensation for their services. A fac-simile of the genuine certificate follows:

on a wage that makes decency almost impossible.

Other stores do not care anything about that phase, even taking advantage of the plight of the girls themselves.

It would seem that the only solution of the question lies in the organization of the girls. The Garment Workers are organized, and the girls not only have good conditions, but they draw good wages upon which they are able to live decently.

They have demonstrated the advantage of organization among women and have shown what can be done to remedy many of the objectionable phases of this all-important question.

There is work ahead for Bishop Williams and the Y. W. C. A. and any other organizations that may care to take the matter up. The agitation in favor of the shirtwaist girls in Philadelphia and New York has proven an eye-opener to those women who tried to aid the strikers, and by giving them support they have improved their wages, hours and conditions. The same plan can be followed in Detroit along broad lines, and the agitation will bring about better wages and less danger of girls being forced to go wrong by circumstances over which they have no control.

WAGE CERTIFICATE

Checked on Pay Roll Book by

SUPERINTENDENT.

Detroit, Mich., February 9th 1910

On Saturday August 13th 1910 we hereby agree to pay to One Girl $1.00 Dollars

On condition that our Pay Roll books show that she has worked steadily in our Factory for a period of 6 months from the date of this Certificate.

Payable at our office.

San Juan Cigar Co.

By J. M. Newell Secy

They are mostly foreign girls, and as many of them live at home, they give labor practically for nothing.

They are and have been driving men from the cigarmaking trade, yet cigars are consumed wholly by men. It is developing women labor to a vengeance.

Some stores claim that they will not hire any girl that does not live at home, because such girls can better get along on $3 per week, which is about all they get.

Many of the large offices notoriously underpay their girls. The large mercantile agencies are addicted to this practice, and so are many of the large stores. Some pay good wages, but many of them do not, yet they expect their help to dress well and make a good appearance for business reasons. Some are particular as to the moral tone, in spite of the wages they offer, and demand decency published in the November, 1909, Journal. I am guilty in their eyes because I protested against the Joint Advisory Board of Porto Rico on the grounds of its being unconstitutional. Almost one-half of the members of the board are members of Union 460. Union 460, that is, its leaders, defend the Board because of the seven members composing the Board, three are members of Union 460, while the other nineteen unions on the island have together only four representatives. The other unions are at a distance from San Juan, the headquarters of the Board, and transportation is high (Ponce is 135 kilometers distant and the fare to San Juan is $10), and as a result the meetings of the Board are usually attended only by the San Juan members. This gives Union 460 three of the four representatives present, the other member being from Union 119, thus giving Union 460 a majority.

Since the Board is maintained for all the unions on the island, this is wrong. In closing, permit me to say that I am not fighting unions, but mistakes in the law.

Juan G. Garcia.

Amsterdam, N. Y., May 6, 1910.

I wish to call attention to members, that the amendment to Section 165, offered by Local 231, does away with most objections previously offered in amendments for label advertising, first, our amendment does away with any extra expense whatever, as we do not create any new department; second, it does away with any one, two or few men handling a vast amount of money, which has always been the bone of contention; third, it does away with an assessment. It is a fact, we have got to get a system of advertising our label, one that will be uniform—a system for building up our trade. You all know that our $1 per capita is pretty near wasted. Just think, around forty thousand dollars practically wasted; wasted because one small local buys calendars, another combs, another pencils, etc. Local 231, with fifty-one members, buying 100 calendars, 300 pencils, and court plaster. The calendar is good; get twelve months' advertising if it stays up that long. As a rule, pencils fall into the hands of children. We haven't put forth an argument that is convincing—reached only a few people out of twenty-eight thousand in the city of Amsterdam, and what few we send to jurisdiction members doesn't reach the many people of Montgomery county, with a population, I think, of some fifty or sixty thousand, whereas, with the rural free delivery Amsterdam papers reach all corners of the county. Now I think there isn't a union between Amsterdam and Utica, a distance of some sixty miles, with the city of Little Falls and several towns of a thousand to six or eight thousand between cities mentioned above. Then think of all the towns and cities down the Hudson below Albany; not positive, but I don't think there are more than five unions—and small ones at that—between Albany and New York. But with newspaper advertising we will reach all the people, because New York papers and papers published in cities where there is a union, will reach every one that reads. Would your novelties or calendars reach the same amount, or one-quarter of the people? I say No! Now you large unions may think that the smaller unions will be putting their burden on you. Quite to the contrary. The large unions would be getting just as much, if not more benefit, especially those in large cities, because they would get their benefit from newspaper advertising in their own city and most of dailies from large cities have a wide circulation in small cities, towns and rural sections. Just think of union-made cigars from large cities that are sold in small cities. Right here in Amsterdam we have union-made cigars from New England states, besides Albany, Troy, Oneida, Syracuse and several cities of more or less renown, and I know from personal observation that the same condition exists throughout New York state, and presume the same thing is universal, so there is no reason why amendment to Section 165 should not go through. Newspaper advertising is no experiment with the label. We tried it here, and besides our $1 per capita, we had a $1 assessment and spent it all on newspaper ads, run our label in moving picture houses, and got results. We can get results from the whole C. M. I. U. of A. if we go at it systematically. Now let's stop wasting thousands yearly. While this amendment is only for a year, let us get together, use the journal to expound our ideas, and may be we can get a small assessment of 25 cents or 50 cents, to be used exclusively in magazines, besides our $1 for newspapers. The press of the country today are not as antagonistic to unions as they were, and if unions would stop this novelty nonsense and use the press more for advertising, perhaps the press would become more friendly and give us a little editorial or write-up once in a while. You know when you affect a firm or man's finances one way or another, you also change his opinion. That $ $ is what every one is after. We're after steady employment for what members we have, and more members. We want to help the jurisdiction members more, and you know there are a lot of such members. Again, we don't know how soon the Trust will buy up some large factory; then we will have more members out of work. We want to tell the people about our blue label, and the principle it stands for; we want the smoker to know we believe in clean, sanitary conditions, fair wages and all that is elevating to mankind. Once get the people properly educated to the label and what it stands for, and we need have no fear of the Trust. We have many men of many minds, and lots of brains. Let's try and use our brains in building up our union. Think, only a short time ago, a cigarmaker by trade, a theatrical man by occupation, sold a product of his brain for more than two million dollars. Now you, brother reader, watch for a chance to vote for amendment to Section 165; talk it and advertise it, and see how many members we can keep working and get in the next year.

Fraternally yours,

O. C. Gage.

Washington, D. C., April 19, 1910.

To the Officers and Members of National and International Unions:

Greetings—As per the instructions of the last convention of the Union Label Trades Department, your attention is called to the union label of the Piano, Organ and Musical Instrument Workers' union. It is estimated that over two hundred thousand pianos and organs and numerous smaller instruments are produced yearly in this country. In purchasing these articles the union label, which on pianos and organs is found on the left hand side, inside, should be insisted upon. The names of agents handling union-made instruments will be sent upon request.

Unions issuing journals will have the heartfelt thanks of the Piano, Organ and Musical Instrument Workers' Union, and this department, if they will publish this letter.

Yours fraternally,

Thomas F. Tracy,
Secretary-Treasurer.

San Juan, P. R., April 3, 1910.

I do not wish to oppose the proposed amendment of Union No. 472, Juncos, but offer the following information in order that local unions may have an idea of the question they are voting upon.

The amendment proposes a joint advisory board governing the entire island of Porto Rico. This island is about 108 miles from east to west, and from 37 to 43 miles across, giving a total area of about 3,600 square miles. There are 19 unions on the island, three or four of which are very poor and small. The amendment provides for one delegate from each union, the headquarters of the board to be at San Juan, which is 135 kilometers from Ponce, 36 kilometers from Caguas, 50 kilometers from Juncos, etc. Transportation here is very high and I think the work would be very difficult for the proposed Joint Advisory Board.

Juan G. Garcia,
Secretary.

Quincy, Ill., May 5, 1910.

The tobacco trust were granted and erected a large sign advertising Bull Durham Tobacco in the grounds of the local ball club (Central Association). Organized labor made such a persistent fight against the sign that the local ball management had the sign taken down last Saturday, April 30, against protests and threats for suit of damage by the advertisers. We also sent notice to other central labor bodies in cities of the Central Association, and I believe there isn't a trust sign up in their ball grounds.

Labor unions all over the country ought to compel the baseball managements to remove signs advertising scab goods or cease patronizing them.

Fraternally,
Alex. Roswog.

Boston, Mass., May 1, 1910.

Committee on cause of high prices have reported to general court and find it is due primarily to depreciation in gold; also to decrease in number of cattle produced, caused by high price of grain, these being the principal factors.

Wages and hours of labor cuts the principal figure when we begin to study tables and conditions in vital statistics.

Average wage of workers must be figured not by the price per hour, but by amount earned per year.

Increased wages as a rule follow, but do not precede an increase of prices.

Increased wages are followed by improved methods of production, or increase of products.

Union 97 contributed $175 to Roxbury carpet weavers. They won the strike.

H. Abrahams.

Lockport, N. Y., May 7, 1910.

I see by the April Journal that the amendment of Union 499 of Trinidad has enough endorsements, to be submitted to popular vote. I, for one, will not vote for it; am not in favor of it. In 1892 or 1893, when we voted on the same question, one of our members was all taken up with it. He talked "home," in the shop, on the street, and all the time, but one day he came into the shop and said that he talked "Home" in his own home, and his wife said: "Look here, any man that doesn't look out for himself and his family, to see that they get a home of their own, ought to go over the hill to the poorhouse." That put a damper on him, and he even voted against the proposition. He said "we drink too much 'dope,' and we should save what we spend on 'dope' and then we would have something in our old days."

J. Umschlag,
Secretary.

Trinidad, Colo., May 4, 1910.

We wish to call your attention to the fact that the amendment offered by this local, 499, providing for the building and maintaining of a home for aged and infirm members of our craft having received a sufficient number of indorsements, will be submitted to you for a vote.

In view of the fact of the great number of our members who are becoming aged, and the great number who are sick and need the benefits that only such an institution will provide for them, and the further fact that nearly every organization of a like character is building, or has provided a home for their members, we believe that the present opportunity is a good one for the cigarmakers to build a home.

Believing that many of the members are of the opinion that a Home is a necessity and are willing to lend their moral as well as their financial support, we earnestly ask those members to lend their utmost endeavor to carry this amendment when it shall be voted on. Give this your earnest consideration and boost and vote for the Cigarmakers' Home.

T. C. Hammer Secretary.

Union 395, Waterbury, Conn., placed a fine of $9.99 on Harry Barber (95307) for conduct unbecoming a union man, leaving town without his card, and also $5.00 for board bill that this union went good for.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED

Union 9, Troy, N. Y., offers the following amendment to the International constitution:
 "Amend Sec. 166. Section to read as follows: 'Local unions shall, wherever practical, organize State, or Province, or District Label Leagues for state or district label agitation. Each local union in a state or district where a league exists, or thereafter be formed, must be a part thereof.'
 Same to take effect at once if adopted."

The amendment of Union 231, Amsterdam, N. Y., as published in the April Journal, as follows:
 The following amendment to take the place of Section 165, to read as follows:

Local unions shall be allowed $1.00 per capita on all 15-cent and 30-cent members out of the general fund for label agitation by newspaper advertising in their respective districts, the per capita tax to be based on the May report of local unions, such advertising to be commenced on adoption of this amendment, to be done simultaneously by all locals of C. M. I. U. of A. The advertising matter to be furnished by the International President through issue of Journal, so all locals will have same ad. In cities where there are more than one local label committee shall act jointly. This amendment to be in force for year 1910 only.

Received the endorsement of Unions 233, Sedalia; 72, Burlington; 89, Schenectady; 167, Owosso; 16, Binghamton; 483, Gloversville; 118, Peoria.

The amendment of Union 472, Juncos, P. R., as published in the April Journal, as follows:
 Amend Section 55 by adding the following to end of said section:

"The President also shall appoint a special organizer for the local unions of Porto Rico, to serve for two years after the adoption of this amendment. The salary of this organizer shall be one hundred ($100) dollars per month. Incidentals, railroad fares and all expenses are included in this salary.
 "This organizer will translate all correspondence necessary between the International office and local unions in Porto Rico."

Received the endorsement of Unions 316, McSherrystown; 72, Burlington; 160, Sioux City; 118, Peoria; 500, Tampa.

The amendment of Union 71, Elgin, Ill., as published in the April Journal, as follows:

Amend Section 106 by inserting between the word "loans," on line 11, and the word "loan," on line 14, the following in place of the present words, "Members in the payment of private loans must pay cost if money has to be remitted to another union. They shall be entitled, at their own expense, to a postal receipt to be mailed to the union having granted the private loan." Section to read accordingly.

Received the endorsement of Unions 158, Lafayette; 316, McSherrystown; 233, Sedalia; 129, Denver; 72, Burlington; 269, Nashua; 150, Sioux City; 182, Madison; 118, Peoria; 330, Alpena; 15, Chicago; 500, Tampa.

The amendment of the Joint Unions 44 and 281 of St. Louis, Mo., as published in the April Journal, as follows:

Amendment to Section 165 of the International Constitution:

Add after the word "unions," on line 6, the following: "Ten per cent of the one ($1.00) dollar per capita allowed local unions to be set aside for the International Union, the same to be used for label agitation and advertising purposes throughout the jurisdiction of the International Union. The International President, in conjunction with the International Executive Board to supervise the expenditure of the amount of money accruing by this proviso. No portion of this 10 per cent to be used for salary or expenses of the International organizers and label agitators. Sections 54 and 55 to provide for the latter."

Section to read:

Sec. 165. Local unions shall be allowed $1.00 per capita on all 15-cent and 30-cent contributing members per annum out of the general fund for label agitation by circulars, newspaper advertising, committees, etc., in their respective districts, the per capita tax to be based on the May report of local unions. Ten per cent of the $1.00 per capita allowed local unions to be set aside for the International Union, the same to be used for label agitation and advertising purposes throughout the jurisdiction of the International Union. The International President in conjunction with the International Executive Board to supervise the expenditure of the amount of money accruing by this proviso. No portion of this ten per cent to be used for salary or expenses of International organizers and label agitators (Sections 54 and 55 providing for the latter).

Received the endorsement of Unions 102, Kansas City; 182, Madison; 500, Tampa.

The amendment of Union 14, Chicago, Ill., as published in the April Journal, as follows:

"That the next convention of the Cigarmakers' International Union shall be held on the second Monday in September, 1911."

Received the endorsement of Unions 90, New York; 158, Lafayette; 316, McSherrystown; 129, Denver; 102, Kansas City; 227, Chicago; 118, Peoria; 330, Alpena; 15, Chicago; 500, Tampa.

The amendment of Union 460, San Juan, P. R., as published in the March Journal, as follows:

By adding at the end of Section 210 the following:

District of Porto Rico.

A. The District of Porto Rico shall embrace the entire island and all local unions of the island, which shall elect a "Joint Advisory Board."

B. The "Joint Advisory Board" shall adopt rules of procedure calculated for the best welfare of the unions in Porto Rico, but not conflicting with the International Constitution.

C. The basis of representation shall be decided by the unions in Porto Rico, but shall be not less than one delegate for each local union.

Received the following endorsements: 5, Rochester; 174, Joliet; 16, Binghamton; 13, New York; 72, Burlington; 89, Ottawa; 69, Three Rivers; 341, Neenah; 114, Jacksonville; 458, Cidra; 281, St. Louis; 472, Juncos; 467, Arecibo; 333, San Lorenzo; 194, Cayey; 148, Caguas; 388, Utuado; 374, Mayaguez; 493, Tampa; 386, Ciales; 190, Gurabo; 481, Bayamon; 118, Peoria; 500, Tampa.

Having received the required number of endorsements, will be submitted to popular vote.

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

The following are the only alterations or amendments to the constitution adopted since the Detroit (1896) convention, and not published in the 20th edition of the constitution:

By Union 54, Evansville, Ind.

Amend Section 193 by adding, on line 4, the following: "Of financial secretary, treasurer, trustee and member of the finance committee. This shall apply to all past and future officers." The section to read as follows. "Any officer or member of the International Union or any officer of any local union who shall obtain money or benefits under false pretenses, or who shall appropriate any money belonging to the union to his own use shall not be eligible to hold the office of the financial secretary, treasurer, trustee and member of the finance committee of any local union or the International Union. This shall apply to all past and future officers. And notice of all defalcations and misappropriations of moneys shall be forwarded to the International President, who shall publish the same in the Official Journal. Defaulters shall not be entitled to receive any benefits prescribed in this constitution until their defalcations have been paid by them."

By Union 77, Minneapolis, Minn.:

Amend Section 219 of the Constitution by adding: "And if adopted shall take effect and remain in force from the first day of the month succeeding the official publication of its adoption."

Section to read as follows: "Each local union shall have the right to propose, through the columns of the Official Journal, amendments to the International Constitution. Each union is required to act upon every amendment at their meeting next following the receipt of the Journal, containing such amendments, and report to the International President. Unions failing to comply with this provision shall be fined $5. But no union shall be fined for not taking action on a proposed amendment, unless the same has been submitted by the International President by circular. Any amendment receiving the endorsement of at least twenty unions shall be submitted to a vote of local unions within thirty days, and if adopted shall take effect and remain in force from the first day of the month succeeding the official publication of its adoption."

CHICAGO, MAY 15, 1910.

Any institution, be it political, civic, military, church or labor, to be entirely successful and of a benefiting and permanent character, must be officered and managed by honest men. Graft and the lust for power are the stumbling blocks to good legislation and government in the interests of the masses, whether it may be in a labor or political organization or party. All economic or labor organizations generally speaking, are controlled by the membership, this is especially so in our own organization.

It becomes the duty of the rank and file, the general membership, to always see to it that clean, honest, fearless, upright, conscientious men are placed in all responsible places, both locally and generally.

A hypercritical or bluffing demagogue in a responsible position in a labor organization can do more harm in a minute than a room full of honest men can right in a year.

Selfish and local interest often control the opinions of honestly inclined men; hence it requires more courage in some cases, to stand for the broad principle of right than it does to follow the selfish inclination of the many.

Fearless members who stand for the right because it is right, regardless of present or local environments are the ones who are generally successful. In the long run they are right, and for the best interests of all concerned, as a whole they should be sustained and upheld in all of their just actions.

Consistent and persistent faith in the trade union movement will surely result in the final organization of all wage earners. Despite the drawbacks, the hostile opposition of some employers and big capitalists and last, but not least, the indifference and often hostility of some of the workers themselves, we have over 3,000,000 organized workers now in the ranks.

From small and discouraging beginnings the movement has steadily increased in membership and usefulness. The pioneers in the movement refused to surrender or to be stopped by hostile judges, injunctions, jails, persecutions, want, privation and actual starvation, by their faith and steadfastness in the movement they inspired hope and confidence in the minds and hearts of the workers who in turn made sacrifices for principle, compared with which the so-called patriots in all other walks of life pale into insignificance.

Men with families have been evicted, driven out of town, humiliated and driven to the verge of despair, but the movement still went on and will continue until all workers are finally organized and a better industrial and social state established.

The recent successful struggle of the shirtwaist makers is an indication of what has been done, and is further indication of what can be done in other trades.

Faith in the movement is of vastly more importance than many imagine. All members should not only have faith in the movement, because results justify such belief, but they should show it by their actions and talk. If you have faith and express it on all occasions it will have its effect upon all with whom you may come in contact. Faith like many other things is contagious. The doctor who tells his patient that he is all right and will be well in a few days, inspires faith and does more good to the patient than his medicine does. The doctor who shakes his head, looks gloomy, etc., discourages and injures his patient. So it is in the trade union movement. Have faith in our union because results so far prove that you have a right to, and you will inspire others with your faith. For your own welfare and benefit it is necessary that we organize the trade as rapidly as possible. The sooner we organize the unorganized the quicker we will remove their competition and make the road to improved conditions more accessible. Don't be a doubter, have faith and be a booster for your own best interests. We gained over 4,000 members last year; let us double, or treble the number this year. It can be done; let us all make the effort. Faith in yourself and in the movement will help.

Detroit, Michigan, has grown to be a tremendous factor in the production of cigars.

CHILD LABOR.

Some idea of the frightful conditions under which cigars are made there can be obtained by a perusal of extracts of a speech delivered by Bishop Williams, and published elsewhere in this issue. Bishop Williams is not a cigarmaker, and is not in any way affiliated with the trade union movement. Hence his statements in this connection may be accepted as absolutely unbiased and a true portrayal of the facts from a wholly disinterested standpoint.

We understand that a number of big non-union factories in Detroit maintain a sort of kindergarten school for the purpose of teaching young girls cigarmaking. These little girls going to work in this kindergarten factory have to pay $5 in advance for alleged instructions, besides furnishing their own tools. They work the first thirty-six days without pay. As soon as these girls become able to make passable work they are turned over to the big non-union factories, which are in the pool, and which maintain this school. A fair sample of the manner in which some of the big factories are conducted is substantially as follows: The factory will put any number of little girls to work. Upon securing employment they get a certificate entitling them to $1 a week if they remain in the factory for six months. They don't receive a penny, simply get the certificate entitling them to $1 per week, which is only cashed at the expiration of six months, when they are paid in full. If they leave the factory any time before the six months has elapsed, the certificates are null and void, and they receive nothing. The manner in which these little unfortunates are paid is a direct violation of all moral decency and regard for business methods, if not a violation of the statutes and customs which provides for payment of legal tender. These big non-union trusts and independent factories are controlled by men with absolutely no conscience or regard for the well-being, financial, moral, or otherwise, of the unfortunates whom it may press into its employ. Millions of these cigars are turned out regularly and smoked by thousands of American citizens who profess a horror and aversion to child labor.

Section 169 of the Constitution provides that each local union shall deposit in an appointed bank, or purchase registered bonds of the United States or Canada. But in no case shall unions be allowed to deposit money in private banks.

The annual financial report for 1909, published in the April, 1910, Journal, gives the total interest on all deposits as amounting to $16,156.48.

On January 1, 1909, we started with a balance of $705,960.75, which, on an average rate of interest from 3 to 4 per cent, should have yielded at least $25,000 per annum. The interested reported averages about 2 per cent for 1909. There is evidently something wrong with the investments of the funds by the officers of local unions.

Part of Section 169 says: "The president of each local union shall be the custodian of the bank book; he shall act as general supervisor over all deposits."

With some unions it is difficult to deposit money on interest, because the system of savings banks is not established in the smaller places. But there is hardly a place where the banks will not pay interest on time certificates running from six months to a year, at a rate from three to four per cent.

Money for commercial pursuits is worth from 6 to 8 per cent, and in times of stringency, brings a much higher rate of interest.

The presidents of local unions, who are entrusted with the supervision of all deposits, should make it their business to make diligent inquiries in reference to deposits on interest. The union can then act accordingly.

A gain of $7,000 or $8,000 per annum in the interest on the union funds deposited, is a considerable item, which ought to be saved for the benefit of the members. We should have the full benefit of the commercial value of the money.

An honest kicker who kicks fearlessly and openly in the meeting because he thinks he is right is a useful member of a labor organization. He has the courage of his convictions and manfully stands up for a fair fight.

If he is right and can prove his case he has done some good for the movement. If he is wrong, or mistaken, the question is thrashed out in open meeting and usually justice will prevail. An honest kicker if shown that he is wrong will usually manfully acknowledge his mistake. On the other hand, a spiteful knocker, who does all of his knocking on the street corner and behind the back of the ones assailed, acts just like a cowardly sneak and does more damage to the trade union movement than the out and out scab. A genuine knocker acts like one with a natural born cowardly disposition or one who is a unionist in name only, and because he was forced in, or one who is paid for trying to prevent the growth of the union.

The Cigar Makers' International Union may justly take pardonable satisfaction in the fact that it is, practically speaking, as well organized numerically as any other purely industrial trade. There are only a few other trades that have a larger membership than we have. When conditions surrounding the trades are taken into consideration we, by comparison, are away in the van. Take, for instance, one or two building trade unions which have a vastly larger field to draw to than we have; theirs is not a competitive trade. They are not handicapped by women and children, and are protected by strong building trade councils. While, on the other hand, we have the women and children, the trusts, a competitive trade and a lesser number to work upon. We do not say this to boast or to detract from the other trades, but because it is a fact, and to lend encouragement to the loyal hard working members who have faith in our union and in the interest of renewed efforts to still further swell the ranks. Courage, faith and persistent hard work will win. Good luck to all other unions, may they grow and prosper, may we all grow in strength, usefulness and numbers.

The United Cigar Stores Company, which is an integral part of the trust, with its chain of cigar stores scattered all over this land of the free and home of the brave, sell the product of the big non-union, women and child labor, employing trust factories. These places are frequented by men, some of whom are unionists who profess and really are opposed to the employment of women to the exclusion of men and under all circumstances to the employment of children, who smoke the cigars made by little children who should be in school. The trust believes in putting the child in the work shop and the father in the play ground. This plan is bad for both and ultimately for society at large. The man who smokes cigars made by little girls who should be in school is an enemy to himself, to his fellow man, to the innocent little girl and to the establishment of an ideal state of society.

In a letter of recent date Secretary Hays of the International Typographical Union speaking of the progress made in the direction of the short hours movement so successfully conducted by that organization, says: "During the past two years the reduction in hours in the unions affected has amounted to 551,070 per year—an average of 234 hours, or 29¼ days of eight hours, for each member. For the three years 1905-1907 (report published 1908), the reduction in hours amounted to 7,200,000 per year, or a total of 21,600,000. This was the period covered by the eight-hour campaign. It will be seen that the good work has been continued during the past two years, and that the eight-hour day is now the standard workday of the trade."

Voluntary petitions in bankruptcy have been filed in the United States district court for the middle district of Pennsylvania, at Scranton, by William A. Hildebrand, a butcher, of York township, and F. J. Sneeringer, a cigar manufacturer, of Hanover. The scheduled liabilities in the Hildebrand case are $2,443.83 and assets $2,301. The scheduled liabilities of Sneeringer are $41,143.25 and the assets $20,255.28. Both cases have been referred to J. E. Vandersloot, referee in bankruptcy for this district.

The foregoing was clipped from one of our exchanges and shows that "Brother" Sneeringer is in serious trouble. Sneeringer, the cigar manufacturer, is also "President" of the "Universal Cigarmakers' and Packers' Union," a dual organization with an imitation of our label. Sneeringer's troubles have just commenced, a fact he will soon find out, as he must still reckon with the Cigarmakers' International Union for the alleged use and circulation of an alleged imitation of our union label.

Congressman Moon of Pennsylvania has introduced a bill in Congress entitled "An Act to Regulate the Granting of Restraining Orders and Injunctions," known as H. R. 21334. This bill is dangerous and destructive to the best interests of the people, especially organized labor. It really gives us no practical relief against the misuse and abuse of the injunction which we have suffered in the past, but if adopted will legalize this very practice which the judges have relegated to themselves and which they exercise without any statutory authority whatsoever. The bill has the backing of the administration; in fact is known as "President Taft's Injunction Bill." We suggest that every union send a protest over the name of the secretary and the seal of the union to your congressman and senator, and that each individual member be urged to at least send a postal card protesting against the adoption of H. R. 21334.

The daily press has recently regaled its readers with the statement that a few corporations have "voluntarily" increased wages. As a matter of fact in every single instance where wages have been increased it was because of the agitation first started by the unions and secondly in cases where the union was poorly organized it was because of the constant and ceaseless agitation of the trade unions and labor press against the inhuman condition and frightfully low wages existing in these institutions that caused them to take some action tardy and grudgingly at that.

The trade union and trade unionists are instrumental in bringing about all reforms that effect the workers or working conditions regardless of whether the workers are organized or not. The unions and unionists first direct public attention to conditions which appeal to the humane and conscious side of the growingly enlightened public and an intelligent public opinion once aroused to the side of justice is bound to make itself felt.

In an article, under correspondence from Detroit, Mich., and in editorials in this issue, we have called attention to the awful conditions prevailing in the trust and big non-union cigar factories, and your especial attention is directed thereto. The facts are not overdrawn, and they should be stated to every central labor union and by committee to every union in your town or city.

Without trade unions the condition of the producing masses of this country would become intolerable and hopeless.

It is impossible to keep a good thing down; that is why the trade union movement is up and always going higher.

The American Tobacco Co. trust is still paying large dividends, which are taken out of the blood and bones of its legions of underpaid women and children employees. The great American people keep on d—ning the trust, but at the same time smoking its cigars.

The trade union movement and its faithful defenders have been kicked, cuffed, abused, traduced, lied about and maligned more than any other movement or advocate in the world, but despite it all the movement is constantly growing stronger.

ONE PROGRESSIVE UNION'S SATISFACTORY RETROSPECT.

With pardonable satisfaction and ample justification President Perkins of the Cigar Makers' International Union, calls attention in the official organ to the finances of that organization for 1909. One extremely gratifying fact is the substantial gain in membership. Despite the unsatisfactory condition of trade which continued the greater part of the year the membership increased from 40,354, thirty cent members, in 1908, to 44,414 thirty cent members in 1909. The membership all told including the 15c, 20c and 30c members is 51,477. Compared with 18 years ago and counting only the active members the gain in membership has been just 21,348, or nearly 100 per cent.

The total amount paid for each benefit since the adoption of the benefit system was: Traveling loan benefit, $1,180,694.83; strike benefit, $1,211,907.23; sick benefit, $2,909,434.88; death benefit, $2,366,863.21; out of work benefit, $1,266,865.36.

The total benefits paid during the year 1909 were $562,963.92 and the grand total of benefits paid since the chain of benefits system was adopted November, 1879, or in 30 years and two months, is $8,935,765.51.

President Perkins very appropriately concludes: "The soundness of our funds and our numerical strength, which, all things considered, will compare favorably with any other trade union in existence, is substantial grounds for satisfaction."—Labor Review, Minneapolis.

The Cigarmakers' Journal, the official organ of the Cigarmakers' International Union of America, for April, contains an interesting table, showing the benefits paid by the organization from 1879 to 1910. This big organization paid during 1909 $562,963.92 for loans to traveling members, strike, sick, death and disability benefits. The grand total of benefits paid out in the past thirty years is $8,935,765.51.—Middletown Daily Argus.

Deficiency of Union March 28, 1910..... $ 87.95

This deficiency includes illegal benefits and amounts expended over percentage, also error of 60 cents in 30-cent dues.

385, Portsmouth, O.

Commenced this examination with International balance Jan. 1, 1908, as the old books and reports had been burned up. Lack of experience is the fault here. Explained to the secretary how to post his ledger, how to balance every member's dues account with every credit given, how to balance the cash and stamp account in the day book at the end of each month. The future will, I am sure, show better results. Statement as follows:

International balance Jan. 1, 1908.....	$286.01
Receipts to April 1, 1910.....	384.00

REPORT OF INTERNATIONAL FINANCIER.

Fairfield, Iowa, May 7, 1910.
Since last report have examined the accounts of the following unions, viz.:

No. 83, Nashville, Tenn.

Once more the old story—one man to attend to the work of the union, then wake up one day and express your surprise. Men who permit such things to occur refuse to hold office, do committee work, etc.; haven't time to do their part in anything unless it spells a good time. Never think about the needs of the union until it is too late. Where the members follow the laws laid down in the constitution and do their duty as officers and members it is almost impossible for conditions such as I found here to result. This statement tells its own story. Settlement was made apparently satisfactory to the members at a special meeting; new financial secretary elected, etc.

Statement as follows:
Balance on hand, April 1, 1908.....$ 796.27

No. 293, Fort Smith, Ark.

The books and accounts here are in very fair order. All original bills for expense signed by whoever received the money, on file. Benefit cards also corrected small difference in stamp account. The secretary assured me that the next call of the Financier would find their accounts fine and dandy, and I believe him, as he can keep them just as nice as he wants to—plenty of ability. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand April 1, 1908.....$ 234.44

Receipts to April 1, 1910.....864.19

Deficiency of union May 1, 1910.....$ 9.21

This deficiency will be increased $1.00 when a correction is made in loans collected by an ex-secretary.

Yours Fraternally,
W. A. CAMPBELL,
International Financier.

The balance of Financier Campbell's report will appear in the June issue.

LES COMMERÇANTS ET LES UNIONS.

Il y a une raison, sinon, d'autres, pour laquelle les hommes d'affaires, et surtout, parmi eux, les marchands, devraient favoriser le travail unioniste, de préférence au travail non-unioniste, si inférieur, et cette raison est que si le labeur est mal payé, l'ouvrier n'aura pas d'argent à dépenser chez le marchand. Tout homme d'affaires se rend compte, lorsqu'il se donne la peine d'y penser une minute, que le détaillant dépend, les salariés dans une proportion de 90% sur ses affaires. S'il avait à dépendre sur la clientèle riche pour vivre, le détaillant n'aurait devant lui qu'une bien petite chance de réussite. Si les travailleurs sont prospères, le marchand prospère dans son commerce et lorsque les salaires des travailleurs sont réduits, c'est autant d'argent enlevé à la caisse même du marchand et autant de bien-être au foyer. N'est-ce pas une raison suffisante pour que les hommes d'affaires de ce pays-ci supportent et encouragent les grandes masses du labeur organisé? Les unionistes dans ce pays ne sont pas si aveugles ni si sourds qu'ils ne sachent pas quels sont leurs amis. Ils connaissent les sentiments et l'attitude de tout homme d'affaires de quelque importance et une remarque négligente ou méprisante sur le labeur organisé parvient jusqu'aux salles de meeting des masses travaillantes, aussi vite qu'une remarque en sa faveur.

Il a été dit que l'anarchie et l'unionisme marchent la main dans la main, mais ils sont aussi séparés, aujourd'hui, que le ciel de la dernière demeure de l'homme qui aura déserté son union. Les unionistes aujourd'hui sont les os et les nerfs de la civilisation et de notre forme républicaine de gouvernement. En temps de guerre, l'unioniste est le premier à mettre le fusil sur l'épaule et à courir à la défense du drapeau, et il fera encore de même s'il en est besoin. Lest unionistes sont les champions du droit et de la justice et ils ont la virilité de résister à l'oppression de ceux qui voudraient extraire d'eux, goutte à goutte, les moyens d'existence de leurs femmes et de leurs enfants.

L'ouvrier est assez enclin à oublier avec facilité tout ce que le mouvement unioniste a fait en sa faveur. Il prend, ou plutôt accepte le bénéfice de plus hauts salaires et de plus courtes heures comme s'il lui était naturellement dû. Il lui est dû, certes; mais avec une restriction, la suivante: L'ouvrier en question a-t-il participé dans la mesure qui lui était personnelle à l'amélioration des conditions du travail dont il jouit à présent? A-t-il collaboré à son avènement? Enfin, a-t-il mis lui-aussi l'épaule à la roue et aidé à faire naître ces conditions meilleures?

Nous entendons souvent des membres d'unions déclarer que, puisqu'ils sont des membres en bonne et due forme, personne n'avait à douter de leur droit à accepter tout ce que le mouvement ouvrier a à donner. Le paiement des cotisations n'a fait pas l'unioniste; ce paiement n'est que l'évidence de la présence d'un membre dans l'union. Le véritable unioniste est celui qui a conquis le droit de profiter de l'amélioration matérielle de sa vie par son travail dans les comités, son effort continu, en saison et hors de saison, pour amener de nouveaux membres au troupeau; sa présence assidue à chaque meeting à moins qu'une vraie maladie ne l'en empêche; son travail loyal à soutenir la majorité lorsqu'une question était posée à son union locale; sa loyauté à supporter l'estampille des autres unions, de même qu'il s'attendait à voir soutenir notre carte d'atelier par les autres; sa participation active en vue de l'obtention de "longs salaires et courtes heures" pour ses membres; en un mot, cent différentes choses qui composent le véritable unioniste.

Etre fonctionnaire dans une union, c'est considéré comme une sinécure par tout le monde, excepté par les fonctionnaires eux-mêmes.

Tout travail est honorable. La meilleure vie est celle où les forces spirituelles et matérielles sont employées au mieux. Une vie indolente, qu'elle passe dans la richesse ou dans la pauvreté, est une vie dégradée et dégradante. Aucun homme ne peut servir Dieu qu'en servant ses frères, les autres hommes. Nous ne diffamons pas l'église, ni l'adoration de Dieu, en des places soit publiques soit privées, mais le plus fidèle et plus méritant adorateur de la divinité est celui qui s'acquitte de sa tâche quotidienne dans un bon esprit, se rendant compte qu'il est responsable de l'usage qu'il fait de son temps, de ses talents, de sa force et de ses opportunités. L'homme qui, suivant son habileté, fait le plus pour améliorer le sort des autres hommes, qu'il soit balayeur des rues ou homme d'état, chiffonnier ou prédicateur, est le meilleur homme sur la terre. La dignité du labeur ne dépend pas de la sphère de nos activités à un degré aussi voisin que celui du rapprochement de nos forces au point le plus élevé de notre faculté de faire le bien et d'être utile. Un ressemeleur au cœur bon est un travailleur plus digne et plus honorable que l'homme qui, n'ayant pas de capacité aucune pour les labeurs de l'intellect, méprise cependant le travail manuel et gâche son temps et son énergie en "suivant une profession."

El movimiento de uniones obreras presenta más grandes oportunidades para educarse á sí mismo sobre todos asuntos y sobre todo sobre los que más interesan á los trabajadores, que cualquier otra institución que conozcamos. Los periódicos no siempre pueden discutir tan libremente ni tan á fondo lo que es del mayor interés para los obreros, como los mismos obreros lo pueden hacer en sus reuniones. Vd. no puede entrar en una iglesia ni en una convención política y presentar por completo ni libremente sus opiniones sobre negocios industriales, pues los periódicos, las iglesias y los partidos políticos son necesitadamente acondicionados á las circunstancias en que se tienen que mover. Los periódicos tienen un surtido muy variado de lectores y de abonados y para no perderlos, no pueden ellos tomar partido demasiado libremente en contra del pensamiento y de las opiniones de los que contribuyen á soportarlos á ellos mismos con su clientela. Lo mismo en los partidos políticos, pero una unión obrera es la propia nuestra, nuestra posesión. En ella podemos expresar nuestros pensamientos, nuestras opiniones, dar luz á nuestras esperanzas, revelar nuestras anticipaciones y finalmente obtener lo que por medio de nuestros esfuerzos deseamos conquistar,—la fruición completa de nuestras esperanzas y de nuestros esfuerzos. Para mantener á este gran movimiento en condiciones que para nosotros mismos son de la más grande importancia, no deberíamos permitir á demagogos intrigantes de cambiar su ruta ó pervertir su destino; que es de ocuparse atentamente de los cigareros primero y de obtener para ellos las mejores condiciones de vida y de trabajo que las circunstancias lo permitan.

Uno de los más seguros caminos que conduzcan al fracaso es esa impetuosidad ciega que impele á los hombres á hacer lo que costosa experiencia les ha enseñado harto ya solo se puede hacer lentamente y por medio de un crecimiento racional y ordenado. Solo se necesita, quizás, unas pocas horas para modelar ó formar un lente de aumento grande, pero se necesita meses para templarlo y brufirlo debidamente para que sirva. Lo mismo pasa con las uniones obreras. A veces solo se necesita unas pocas horas para organizar á una unión, pero años para perfeccionarla, para ejercitar y educar á los elementos sin cesar cambiantes que la componen de manera á formar con ellos un cuerpo de combate inteligente, cohesivo y efectivo. Las desgraciadas condiciones industriales que nos afligen son el resultado de un crecimiento lento y ordenado, extendiéndose sobre un periodo de largos años y forman parte incorporada de nuestro sistema y tienen una influencia tan perniciosa sobre nuestra gente que es casi robarlos á ellos mismos el predicar la disminución de esas malas condiciones ó la abolición de ellas. Por esta razón, la política de la Unión Internacional de los Cigareros debe modelar sus acciones de manera que se aparten á las condiciones que existen y no á las condiciones tales como quisiéramos que fueran. Es verdad que pudieramos asaltar la fortaleza y deshacer muchas cosas en ella en un abrir y cerrar de ojos, pero un tal proceder no nos daría hombres de pensamiento y peleadores sin temor cuando se presentase condiciones necesitando de hombres de pensamiento y de hombres de coraje. El presente plan de campaña que se desarrolla tan diligente, enérgica é inteligentemente que se pueda, debe suministrar resultados que nos darán beneficios á todos nosotros sin obligarnos á sufrir de periodos de decadencia después de periodos de triunfo, lo que se acostumbra cuando se manobra con solo movimientos atolondrados é impetuosos.

Una organización que trata de efectuar cosas más grandes que la inteligencia y la experiencia medianas que sus miembros se han asimilado y pueden lógicamente tratar tiene que fracasar al fin y la mejor manera de premunirse contra este riesgo es de seguir el camino de la experiencia y de quedarse en la carretera de los resultados obtenidos y de los que todavía se han de obtener.

Hablar de una unión como de "La Unión," significando algo á parte de nosotros mismos, es emplear un calificativo equivocado. "Nuestra unión" es más exacto. La unión es como nosotros mismos la hacemos y no puedo elevarse más alto que sus unidades. Sin embargo, ya la hemos formado bastante bien. Nuestra unión es como las otras agencias humanas; se equivoca á veces, pero en comparación, se sostiene ventajosamente ante cualquiera de su especie, sea de caridad, religiosa ó social. Su camino ha sido peñascoso, pero la unión ha crecido, aún más fuerte y saludable cuanto más golpes ha recibido. En su infancia, mofada por la prensa y el púlpito, perseguida por el monopolio, escarnecida por los de los partidos políticos ó aún cargada á la bayoneta por la milicia, nuestra unión ha marchado serena, derribando á sus verdugos y transformando sus perseguidores en suplicantes. En los diez últimos años, gracias á los veteranos que habían enseñado el camino, sin anillos ni canciones, nuestra unión, ha visto efectuarse un gran cambio. Las columnas de la prensa abiertas, buscando, solicitando las noticias de sus acciones; académicos, cientistas, artistas esposando su causa, la iglesia golpeando á sus puertas para ser admitida; las publicaciones populares, los dramatisas, novelistas adoptando su papel, cortando sus favores. Hoy día, nuestra unión es un factor determinante en todas las funciones sociales, una arteria principal en el pulso del comercio, de la sociedad. Ella alza salarios, impide reducciones y detiene huelgas y lockouts por el simple hecho que existe. Ella promete fraternidad, sociabilidad, favorece temperancia y liberalidad. Sobre todo, es una fuerza de educación. Nuestra unión está fuera del seccionalismo; es el emblema de la democracia misma; no conoce ni credo, ni rango ni título. Se ríe de la voga común de la riqueza y rechaza á su caridad; para las clases "de arriba" tiene el más profundo desdén y vierte su desprecio sobre los oropeles y el cobre de sus engalonados defensores. Nuestra unión es la del pueblo. Nos glorificamos de lo que ha logrado y amamos á sus principios.

Hay todavía muchos, muchísimos trabajadores fuera de las filas del labor organizado. No hay razón válida por no juntarse al ejército de los unionistas. Estos son responsables para obtener cualquier adelanto de salarios y de condiciones de trabajo que se pueda. Los que no están organizados, disfrutan de esas ventajas sin tener que ser sometidos á los gastos necesitados para obtenerlas. Si se juntasen á los camaradas organizados, no habría límite á las ventajas que se podrían procurar por medio del esfuerzo unido. A organizarse, pues!

Si Vd. está recibiendo salarios justos y no pertenece á la unión, acuérdese sin embargo que es la unión quien mantiene altos los salarios. Que la unión venga á romperse, la escala de los salarios se irá á bajo, y Vd. muy Señor no-unionista mío, se encontrará con su salario reducido, juntito con todos los demás. Organízese y ayude para que se mantenga y mejore aún la escala de salarios y las condiciones de trabajo. El tiempo para hacerlo es AHORA.

Co unionismus dokázal.

Rodiny byly od sebe odděleny a prodány bez ohledu na jich cit, jako nějaký dobytek. Lid byl přiváděn do této zemi až do roku 1818 a prodáván za nejvyšší nabídky aby si oddělal cestovné a byl nucen sloužit od pěti do patnácti let, bez odvěvy, aby tak dluh splatil. Tyto nesnesitelné poměry trvaly, pokud tomu dělnické unie ne učinily konec. A my si dovolíme tvrdit, že by trvaly až po dnes, kdyby nebylo dělnických unií.

Každá výhoda, které se dnes dělnictvo těší u porovnání s dřívějšími poměry, byla docílena snahou dělnických organizací, a my tvrdíme, že nebyť dělnických unií, byly by poměry dnešního dělnictva právě takové, jaké byly před sto neb dvě stě lety.

Práce má být požitkem, avšak jak může člověk s chutí pracovat, když jeho život jest stále ohrožován neb jeho nos ucpán prachem? Utišit dílny zdravé a vzdušné, opatřit umývála pro muže a ženy, chránit jejich životy a když přijdou k úrazu po čas jejich zaměstnání zaplatit jim náhradu.

Někdy člověk, který vydělal nejvíce peněz pro sebe a platil lidem, kteří mu dopomohli k bohatství, jenom poloviční mzdu, skutečně myslí, že on jest nejlepší přítel práce — a vydává se za jedině schopného ochránce slabých, kteří nejsou schopni nalézt cestu k domovu bez jeho otcovské rady.

Co jest platná knihovna neb umělecká galerie člověku, jenž pracuje dvanáct hodin denně, ji tře, chodí dvě hodiny do práce a z práce a potřebuje k spánku deset hodin? Mnoho-li hodin mu zbyde ku čtení a úsměvu?

Mnozí unionisté jsou jako jiní lidé tvorové — dávají pět áky svým přátelům a vyhazují dolary jejich nepřítelům. Známe ženu jednoho mouldaře, jež kupuje neunionovou obuv a říká, že jí na tom nezáleží, jen když vydrží.

Jsou lidé — i v řadách organizovaného dělnictva — kteří věří, že dělnické hnutí má pouhý účel osobního zájmu, jehož jediným cílem jest peněžní zisk pro členstvo unií. Kdyby tomu tak bylo, stávalo by se dělnické hnutí pouhou nahodilostí — nemajíc dlouhého trvání — na cestě průmyslového vývoje. Skutečností však jest, že dělnické hnutí jest článkem lidského vývoje, bez něhož člověčenstvo by zakrášlo, pokrok by byl zastaven a konec všeho by byl nedaleký. — New Zealand Worker.

Není to příliš těžkým dávat přednost unionovému zboží před neunionovým. Vyžaduje to pouze o něco více námahy a na konec se to vyplatí. Jest to však nutným ze zásady a pak k vůli tomu, aby se přišlo k přesvědčení, že když se podporuje label jiných organizací podporuje se tím každý sám sebe.

Vlastní zájem nutí nás, abychom kupovali výrobky zhotovené bratrem unionistou a není žádného důvodu abychom se snížili na stupeň Kaina s otázkou na rtech: "Což pak já hlídám svého bratra?"

Bude Vám stále tvrzeno, že toto jest unionový klobouk, že toto jsou unionové střevice, že toto jest unionový doutník, že toto jest unionový oblek, ačkoliv nemajdete žádné stopy po unionové známce. Nevěřte tomu a i kdyby tomu bylo tak, byli byste spozdíli, kdybyste přijímali takové zboží. Pakliže label schází, jest to důkazem o nekalém úmyslu se strany výrobce. On chce z Vás udělat hlupce a podat se mu to, jakmile takové zboží koupíte.

Poslušnost k rozkazům své organizace jest jednou z prvních nutností k upevnění hnutí dělnických unií.

Ten kdo dobrovolně neposlouchá rozkazů nebrde nikdy dobrým vůdcem.

Kázeň jest velice nutnou věcí v dělnickém hnutí.

„Die Gewerkschaften verlangen keine Sonderrechte oder Privilegien, die nicht jedem einzelnen Bürger freistehen. Wir fordern Freiheit des Handels, immer innerhalb der Gesetze, und beugen uns der Strafe auf dem regelrechten Gesetzwege bei etwaiger Uebertretung. Wir verwahren uns aber und protestieren ganz entschieden gegen ein Regieren durch Einheitsbefehle, was nur ein anderer Name für industrielle Sklaverei und eine Verhöhnung unserer gepriesenen Demokratie ist. Wir fordern und verlangen freie Rede und freie Presse, wie sie uns die Verfassung verbürgt, die uns aber in einzelnen Fällen von Einheitsbefehl-Nichtern vorenthalten werden.“

„Wer keine Feinde hat, hat nie versucht, etwas zu thun. Er ist noch schlimmer als ein Wurm. Es ist besser, wegen guter Thaten gehaßt zu werden, als wegen Nichtstuns verhaßt zu sein.“ — „United Mine Workers Journal“.

„Es sollte eine Women's Union Label League in jedem Gemeinwesen geben. Zu viel von den Arbeitssöhnen wird dafür ausgegeben, Nicht-Union-Arbeitgeber und -Arbeiter zu unterstützen. Vergeßt eure Feinde, aber gedenkt eurer Freunde. Kauft nur Union-Label-Waaren. Die Frauen sollten helfen. Gründet Women's Union Label Leagues.“ — „The Eastern Labor News“.

„Die organisierte Arbeitswelt sollte ganz entschieden gegen die Erhebung von Korporations-Anwälten auf die Bank des Oberbundesgerichts protestieren. Durch beständige Aufklärung und Agitation haben wir es der Mittellasse begreiflich gemacht, daß Korporations-Vertreter im Kongreß nicht im besten Interesse des Landes ist. Vertreter von Korporationen sind aber im Oberbundesgericht noch gefährlicher als im Kongreß.“ — „Seattle Union Record“.

Offene Werksstätte.

Der sogenannte „closed Shop“ mag ganz verkehrt sein, vielleicht ist er verkehrt, wenn vereinzelt und abstrakt beurtheilt, aber er ist im Hinblick auf die Geschlossenheit des Kapitalismus anzusehen, in der einige wenige Arbeitgeber sich zusammenschließen und schlimme Zustände, unsichere Fabriken, niedrige Löhne hervorbringen und das Dasein untraglich machen. Und ferner ist trotz allem das System das beste, das die besten Resultate zeitigt; und wenn man bedenkt, daß der „open Shop“ all die bösen Zustände bestehen lassen hat, die das industrielle Amerika zum Spott und Hohn gemacht, und daß der „closed Shop“ allen Fortschritt und alle Besserung gebracht, kann man wohl zu der Ueberzeugung kommen, daß die erreichten Resultate den „closed Shop“ zu dem einzigen System machen, das den Bedürfnissen unserer Zeit genügt und der leidenden Menschheit die einzige Abhilfe bringt.

Es gibt ihrer, die ihren Nichtanstoß an die „Union“ damit entschuldigen, daß einmal ein Sekretär neunundachtzig Cents unterschlagen, aber mit Freuden nehmen sie eine 10 Stunden-Arbeit zu zwei Dollars den Tag an, wenn doch die „Union“, unterstützt von den Arbeitern in dem betreffenden Fach, ihnen eine 8 Stunden-Arbeit zu vier Dollars den Tag gäbe. Aus Furcht, daß vielleicht fünfzig Cents oder ein Dollar im Monat an Union-Beiträgen theilweise verheimlicht oder verthan werden möchte, rufen sie lieber fünfzig Dollars an die Arbeitgeber heraus. Die Grünschnäbel mancher Menschen sind wirklich mit Grüge angefüllt.

Eine große und reinigende Woge schlägt über unser Land, die das Unrecht beseitigen und die Ungerechtigkeit stürzen will, und hiermit sollte die große amerikanische Organisation, die auf Freiheit und Gerechtigkeit schwört, die Arbeiterbewegung, eins sein.

Vaterlands- und Menschheitsliebe haben höhere Ziele als Partei- und persönlichen Gewinn. Die Herrschaft der Gerechtigkeit sollte den Gewerkschaftlern ein Stern sein, der sie auf Wege führt, deren Ende Zustände in den Ver. Staaten sind, unter denen keiner unnötig Hunger, Blöße oder Armuth irgendwelcher Art leiden wird. Eine neue Zeit des politischen Lebens in unserm Lande ist im Werden, und schon in naher Zukunft wird es nicht möglich sein, die Stimme eines Mannes zu kaufen, und dann können wir in Wahrheit sagen, daß unser Land das größte, das beste und das reinste Land auf Erden sei, und die erwählten Männer werden die höchsten Ideale vertreten und die amerikanische Mannes- und Frauenwürde.

279 Plattsburg100	317 Wilkes-Barre100
280 Owego100	322 Joplin100
281 St. Louis100	326 Taunton100

NOTICE.

When a member changes from the 30c to the 20c list, or retires absolutely, all previous cards, in possession of the union, should be returned to the International Union.

NOTICE TO SECRETARIES.

On and after February 28 do not use any numbers from 20001 to 43000, inclusive, unless the numbers become vacant on your own books, except to give old numbers to members owing loans. Secretaries in need of numbers for new members not owing loans should send to the International Office for them.

The Constitution, twentieth edition, contains an error. The amendment of Union 97, Boston, reference accepting cards from foreign countries, took the place of the old law. Through mistake both the amendment and the old law are included. The last paragraph, or last twelve lines of Section 67, on page 20, is the old law and doesn't belong in the Constitution.

NOTICE.

Financial secretaries when granting loans should, as required by Section 104, enter loans in figures and letters. It is not necessary to punch cards.

The amendment adopted to Sections 76 and 77 does away with the issuance of retiring cards to all who continue to pay dues as beneficiary members.

Retiring cards are only for those who pay up and actually terminate all connection with the union in so far as the payment of dues is concerned.

Members who transfer from the 30-cent list to the 20-cent beneficiary membership list are simply changed from one class to another and deducted from one and added to the other.

Members who have not paid 30-cent dues for three years and quitting the trade under Section 76 and wishing to qualify for Section 77 as a beneficiary member should be kept on without any other change than to make a note of the intention on the ledger page. If such member desires to travel to another jurisdiction he should be given a transfer card and his intention to qualify as a 30-cent beneficiary member written on the transfer card. Such beneficiary members are not entitled to any benefits except sick benefits after one year's membership and whatever death benefits their term of membership entitles them to.

If you hold any loan cards of no further use send them to this office.

Before granting or accepting retiring cards secretaries and members should consult Sections 79 and 77 of the Constitution.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS AND MEMBERS.

In printing the nineteenth edition of the Constitution, an omission occurs in Section 77, on line 7. A comma and the words "and local assessments" should follow "International assessments." The sentence to read: "All International assessments, and local assessments levied for label agitation purposes." This amendment as published in another place is correct.

MEMBERS OUT OF WORK ARE NOT ENTITLED TO THE SIXTEEN WEEKS' PRIVILEGE IN DUES UNLESS THEY NOTIFY THE SECRETARY WEEKLY BEFORE THE EIGHTH WEEK. THIS INCLUDES TRAVELING MEMBERS, WHO SHOULD ALWAYS CARRY A CERTIFICATE AND HAVE SAME SIGNED WEEKLY.

Items for the Journal should be placed on separate slips of paper—not the backs of reports, etc.—in order to insure prompt publication, and should reach this office not later than the 10th of each month if intended for current publication.

NOTICE.—How to duplicate Loan Cards.

It frequently occurs that new secretaries through error or lack of knowledge, transfer the amount a member "has coming" instead of what he owes. In duplicating a card, figure up all the member has borrowed and subtract all he has paid, and if there is a balance against the member transfer to new card in red ink and figures and letters the amount due the International Union. Also enter on new card all that may be essential that you find on the old, then sign and seal it. Send the old card to the International office.

Unions when notifying this office of change in secretary will please at once give the new secretary's address, if possible, so as to obviate delays, mistakes, etc.

If secretaries when ordering supplies will place the order on the regular blank, it will greatly simplify the work here and avoid unnecessary delay for those who order the supplies. We receive an average of 300 pieces of mail in the office daily. Sometimes an order is sandwiched into a two or three-page letter containing three or more different subjects, and there is danger in such cases of an order being overlooked. Hence we ask that in order to save unnecessary delay and annoyance you order on the regular blank, giving your name and address.

NOTICE.

The vote on the amendment of Union 316, McSherrystown, in reference to reduction of initiation fee in Pennsylvania, which was adopted, and on the amendment of Union 499, Trinidad, in reference to the home for disabled members of C. M. I. U., which was defeated, closed too late to be published in this issue. The detailed vote on these amendments will appear in the July Journal.

DECISIONS OF PRESIDENT

G. W. Jines appealed against 250 Belleville for refusing his claim for sick benefit. The appeal was not sustained.

F. Prunier, Sec'y., appealed against 279 Plattsburg for granting benefit to a member who was able to attend to and did attend to his store and business. The appeal was sustained.

I. W. Krepps et al. appealed against 316 McSherrystown for granting labels to a certain shop under certain conditions. The appeal was not sustained.

L. Punke appealed against 208 Kalamazoo for fining him $200. The appeal cannot be recognized, having failed to appeal within the limit.

L. Mendel appealed against 251 New York for not compelling S. Prince to take a retiring card. The appeal was not sustained.

R. Todd appealed against 325 Spokane for granting funds from its local treasurer to an unauthorized strike. Section 194 prohibits the levying assessments in aid of unauthorized strikes. The appeal was sustained.

H. W. Hoech appealed against 441 Little Rock for refusing his claim for out of work benefit. The appeal was not sustained.

W. Connell appealed against 97 Boston for not allowing time on sick benefit that his card was in Hartford. 97 Boston replied that they placed him on the sick list from the time he reported in that union. The appeal was not sustained.

M. Oppenheim appealed against 251 New York in reference to counting the ballot in a recent election. The officers replied that only in cases where there was no opposition did the tellers fail to count the ballots and that in case where there was no opposition the candidate was elected anyway, and no necessity for counting the ballots. The appeal was not sustained.

INTERNATIONAL FINES

The International Executive Board approved the application of Union 138, Newark, N. J., to fine A. G. Brinkman, No. 102,023, $15 for leaving town with money that had been entrusted to him as shop collector to pay the dues of two other members, also with money that had been advanced to him by one of these members. Following is the vote: Affirmative—6.

Approved the application of Union 351, Man-kato, Minn., to fine Wm. Hazenkamp, No. 100-831, $25 for allowing himself to be suspended for the third or fourth time, each time taking a job in a non-union shop, paying below the bill of prices. Following is the vote: Affirmative—5. Negative—1.

Approved the application of Union 102, Kansas City, Mo., to fine Ollie Anderson, Hattie Lee, Lee Shellenbarger, Frank Thayer, Arthur Zinn, Charles Henkel and F. Krause $25 each for working in the non-union shop of W. E. Jenkins. Following is the vote: Affirmative—6.

Approved the application of Union 456, Albia, Ia., to fine Thomas A. Evans, No. 85,601, $100 for quitting a union job and going to work in a non-union shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative—5. One member favored a fine of $50.

Approved the application of Union 165, Philadelphia, Pa., to fine Pedro Suarez, No. 54,151, and J. E. Peacock, No. 97,821, each $50 and annul their cards for working against the interest of the union in the strike of H. D. Shivers & Co. Following is the vote: Affirmative—5. Negative—3.

Approved the application of Union 406, Crawfordsville, Ind., to fine Herman Sweitzer $100 for starting a scab shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative—6. Negative—1.

Approved the application of Union 47, Quincy, Ill., to annul the card of and fine Edward Seschwinder $50 for working against the interest of the union by putting a bunch breaking machine in his factory. Following is the vote: Affirmative—6. Negative—1.

Approved the application of Union 2, Buffalo, N. Y., to fine John Kain $25 for employing his son in violation of the apprentice laws. Following is the vote: Affirmative—6. Negative—1.

Approved the application of Union 33, Indianapolis, to fine Grace Murry, 20,200, $25 for going to work at the Burdena Cigar Co., an unfair shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative—7.

Approved the application of Union 98, St. Paul, Minn., to fine Frank Tschida, No. 17,152, and A. E. Levy, No. 52,761, each $25 for working in the closed shop of Kuhler & Stock. Following is the vote: Affirmative—6. Negative—1.

Approved the application of Union 110, Washington, D. C., to fine J. W. Petit and P. L. Thomas for working in an unfair shop, but reduced the fines from $200 each to $100. Following is the vote: Affirmative—2. Negative—1. Two members voted to reduce the fines to $50.

Approved the application of Union 225, Los Angeles, Calif., to fine W. C. Granville, No. 61,113, $25 and to require him to deposit $100 for further faithful use of the label, because he was found guilty of manufacturing a certain brand of cigars for a scab factory. Following is the vote: Affirmative—7.

Approved the application of Union 1, Baltimore, Md., to fine Joseph Adler, No. 55,984, $200 for holding job as foreman in a non-union shop, instructing three or four hundred girls in the work of the suction tables, etc. Following is the vote: Affirmative—5. The other two members approved a fine of $100.

Approved the application of Union 14, Chicago, Ill., to fine B. Kantor, No. 100,038, $25 for selling cigars at $19 per thousand; also to fine Julius Marks, No. 41,608, $50 for running a non-union cigar factory; also Jack Barnett, No. 100,019, $100 for overdrawing labels for 11,500 cigars.

CORRESPONDENCE

Tampa, Fla., June, 1910.

The periods of decadence in workingmen's organizations are more frequent than in any other kind of associations. And this happens because our societies are formed almost exclusively in the heat of altruistic ideas; in the formation of workingmen's organizations, practical and utilitarian purposes are considered as secondary questions, always to be disregarded before the magnitude of the ideal hoped for.

Generally an error is made to start with in founding workingmen's institutions, and that is the disregard of the reality of the daily life, and the dedication of the greater part of their energies to an ideal always uncertain, or at least very rectifiable.

Workingmen in nearly all countries base their happiness on some chimerical hope that will be realized "tomorrow," through their united forces. But it always happens that each group works in a different direction from the others, thus neutralizing their energies, and with the vanishing of their illusions there appears a mountain of obstacles that obstructs the best wishes of the organizers.

The doing and the undoing that is to be noted in this respect in all the towns where rises the question between capital and labor has no other cause, ignorance excepted, than the determination to arrive quickly at happiness, and to risk the little that we may enjoy at present by running after the image of justice delineated in the imagination of each laborer in a different manner.

Naturally, while the workers are starving themselves in this conquest for what seems so easily obtainable, and while they divide and sub-divide their force by the following of each group after the fiction of its fancy, the capitalists live completely at their ease, and busying themselves with the realities of the present, which we disdain with inconceivable stupidity.

Afterwards, when some shock of consciousness brings them back to reality, there is neither energy nor force left with which to resist the energy and force of the possessors of wealth, because they have wasted in intestinal strife the powers necessary for the defense of our dearest interests, and which are what furnish us our daily sustenance and the bread of our offspring—powers which, if rightly guarded, would produce for us the whole sum of good things that we might merit by our culture and our industry, and which we should be capable of maintaining and enlarging after having once conquered them.

When our time is taken up with interior squabbles there is no chance to attend to the labor matters that have relation to capital, and this latter interest, profiting by our unguardedness to its own benefit, not only takes all the advantage it can from the product of our labor, but also places itself in a good position to defend itself from our attacks whenever we make them.

What power of resistance or of attack can an army develop, that spends its time in continually weakening itself? None whatever. It only favors the adversary, tends to the enervation and discouragement of the public spirit, contributes to disbelief in the masses, and creates social indifference; weakens the faculties of the individual to the point of not appreciating his own worth; favors the wickedness of men and keeps the race in ignorance; sows pernicious distrust and venomous suspicions, and produces general confusion and discouragement.

In this direction the grouping of workingmen is passing through a critical period, from which will come out victorious those who have adjusted themselves already to the reality of the daily life, which consists, not only in keeping the scraps of bread, as some exasperating spirits think, but in preparing the laborers in different ways for the march in the evolution of progressive ideals.

Such is our institution. Such is the International Union of Cigarmakers of America; as such it lives and unfolds itself in an atmosphere not always very favorable. For this reason and because, while it is occupied with the present, it does not disdain the ideals of a future reasonably evolutive, it passes on through the years, linking them together without any interruption, until now these years amount to a half-century.

M. Fuente.

Chicago, June 1, 1910.

The motion of Union 14 of Chicago, calling a convention in September, 1911, will no doubt meet with the objection that it costs too much—the amount being given as from $80,000 to $100,000. It is hardly to be wondered at that the generality of members believe this when men of keen, analytical turn of mind will print such errors. There are two ways to arrive at the probable cost of a convention. One is to guess at it, and the other is to take known results and divide or multiply them by ascertainable facts and figures. The "guessing" way depends for its effectiveness on the general lack of knowledge of the question and naturally increases or diminishes the size of its figures in proportion as they may tend to support the argument the writer seeks to make. If some writers had stated the sum to be $45,000, or $47,000 it would not have appeared to support their argument of extravagance with the same force as it did by raising it to $80,000. The per diem of delegates is fixed by law and cannot be changed, except by a referendum vote. If the convention were held now we would have about 375 delegates. After the convention has been in session 14 days the allowance to delegates is reduced so much that few delegates can afford the luxury of prolonging the session; hence we may, at the worst, figure that the convention will not last over 16 or 17 days. At 17 days it would cost $42,562 for delegate expense. This is at the rate of $113.48 per delegate, and includes railroad fare and per diem. There will be a few delegates who will come a greater distance, but they will not change to any appreciable extent the general average. The last convention cost a trifle over $3,000 for all other expenses, including hall rent, committees, clerks, printing (before and after the convention), in fact everything, including even the additional paper and cost of Journal. We may allow $4,500 for all costs aside from the delegate expense and we have but a few thousand over one-half of lowest cost "guessed" at. I do not, of course, charge any ulterior or wrong motive in giving such exaggerated figures. Men who do not know cannot be expected to correctly state the facts. There is a strong belief that a convention must be held to meet the changing conditions in the industrial field. When we were a poor, feeble, struggling organization we did not hesitate to meet and be counted; neither the enemy nor the expense deterred us; but now since we are beset with enemies that need to be fought—since we have men, measures and means to meet the situation squarely and fairly we seem to hesitate. Every past convention has given us renewed courage to meet and devise ways to conquer our enemies. We might just as reasonably quit meeting in our unions because it costs something to hire halls, as to decry a convention because it may cost the International Union about 92 cents apiece out of its general fund for its 51,000 members to have a convention. Let us determine to meet in September, 1911, and I am sure that no one will regret it when they finally find how much benefit we have all derived from such a gathering.

F. G. Hopp.

Tampa, Fla., June 6, 1910.

In the April number, 1910, of this Journal I, G. P. Bradford, financial secretary of Local Union No. 336, was assailed in my good name by A. Strasser, international financier, in which I am charged by the said Strasser with appropriating $75 of the union's funds and failing to account for or make any explanation with reference to same; also with being short with my stamp accounts in the sum of $54.85; also being in arrears in the sum of $67.55. I was further charged with carrying two separate bank accounts with the Bank of Ybor City and, by innuendo, it was insinuated that the carrying of these two separate accounts was for fraudulent purposes, and I was further charged with acts of discourteous treatment accorded the said Strasser. To these several specifications and charges, I desire to enter an unqualified refutation. I am not short nor in arrears for one cent of any of said sums; I am not indebted to this local for one cent for any account whatsoever, but, on the other hand, the local union here is indebted to me in the sum of $155.91, as will more fully appear from the report of Mr. S. J. Kelly, an experienced auditor, whom I employed to audit my accounts as soon as I saw the charges made against me, and which report I inclose herewith with the request that the same be published along with this letter. I am guilty of crime, as charged in said attack upon me by Mr. Strasser, providing it is a crime to advance money to a local union, or to allow a local union to become indebted to its financial secretary. As to the charges of carrying two accounts at the same time in the Bank of Ybor City, I desire to say this union carried an account with the Bank of Ybor City and the Cosmopolitan Bank and Trust Company, also of Ybor City, and that the Bank of Ybor City and the Cosmopolitan Bank and Trust Company merged and consolidated and became the Bank of Ybor City, which fact necessitated the carrying of two separate accounts, and which fact was well known to Mr. Strasser at the time he filed his report and made his charges against me as to the affairs of this union. I unqualifiedly deny that any books were withheld from Mr. Strasser, but, on the contrary, I charge A. Strasser absolutely refused to balance or make any report whatsoever on the local book of this union. I further unqualifiedly deny that any discourteous treatment was accorded Mr. Strasser, or that there was any shortage of interest account with any of the banks used as depositaries by our local union. I charge that if A. Strasser had properly balanced the books of this union he not only would have found the apparent discrepancies charged against me to be untrue, but would have found that I was a creditor of the local union. Mr. Strasser refers to a statute of Florida under which I am guilty of felony, and if his charges against me were true, it was his duty as a true citizen, an honorable member of society and a faithful servant, who has the cause of unionism at heart, to see that I was brought to the bar of public justice.

Yours fraternally,

G. P. Bradford,

Fin. Secy., Union No. 336, Tampa, Fla.

I have audited local book of G. P. Bradford, financial secretary of Cigarmakers International Union, No. 336, 1612 Eighth avenue, Ybor City, Tampa, and find the following accounting from January 1, 1908, to January 1, 1910:

Receipts	$1,127.10
Expenditures	1,283.01

Which shows that the union is in debt to G. P. Bradford the difference between $1,283.01 expended, and $1,127.10 received, $155.91.

S. J. Kelly, Accountant.

Decatur, Ill., June 8, 1910.

Trade is dull in this city owing to the stand taken by a portion of the city council. These gentlemen are deadlocked on a license ordinance. There are six dry aldermen I suppose opposed to any ordinance, and eight are wet. The mayor, however, is with the minority and they want a steel-ribbed Sunday school affair or none. In consequence the majority are robbed of their rights and the city is deprived of a revenue, and the cigarmakers here are not busy. There seems to be no relief in sight.

C. Wright,
Secretary.

San Juan, Porto Rico, June 7, 1910.

Referring to the amendment to Section 210 of the International Constitution, proposed by Local Union 460 of San Juan, P. R., I think it is convenient to explain many things in favor of the same. The said amendment establishes special laws for Porto Rico, and it is perhaps necessary to explain them.

Porto Rico is an island of nearly one hundred miles long and thirty-six wide. The square extension is three thousand six hundred miles. There are 66 cities, five of them considered as principal cities, 20 as cities of second rank and the others of little importance. The tobacco factories are established in twenty cities of first and second rank. Seven powerful companies lead the business of cropping and manufacturing, and they also have a principal shop in the larger cities and several branches in the neighboring small towns. There are a great number of small shops; each one of them gives work to only 50 cigarmakers. The average of "Temene Houses" is five in each city, about three hundred in the island. All the products of the big companies and also those of the small shops are sent to the United States market. The "Temene Houses" sell their products in the island, in some instances to the big factories.

The experience of years and events has shown that the establishment of small factories in the inferior towns is in order to obtain lower prices and to have the workers in the most terrible conditions. The manufacturer gets all the profit in this fight of a city against the other, and the worker always loses his rights by lacking a general and complete organization.

It has been thus understood by the men of the labor movement in the island. The organizations of cigarmakers and other trades has since its beginning a general orientation. The Cigarmakers' Unions Nos. 460 and 467 of San Juan and Arecibo, in the last quarter of the year 1906, initiated the effective organization of the cigarmakers in the island helped by the International Union. They saw in a very practical way the utility of their work.

The special conditions of the population and cities of the island, and the rules under which the manufacturer here works, claim the adoption of this system: TO CONSIDER THE ISLAND AS ONLY ONE DISTRICT. The progress of organization here is sure with this measure.

According to what our Constitution now provides, to the hard and fast letter of the law, the island of Porto Rico would never have a J. A. B. We only have three cities in which the J. A. B. can be organized—San Juan, Caguas and Utuado. In the first, for uniting the two local unions that are in the corners of the city. In the other two, as in the other cities, for uniting Cigarmakers and Cigarpackers. It is impossible to establish these several J. A. Bs. for the purpose of joining the unions of the island, because the other cities cannot have more than one local union. Under these circumstances, and owing to the numerous branches, the purpose of the J. A. B., as provided by Constitution, would nil. The duties of this proposed body are to fix all troubles and arrange all difficulties between cigarmakers and employers. That is to say, organizing a J. A. B. for all the island.

The proposed amendment has three new rules:

1—That all the unions in the island may have only one J. A. B.

2—That this J. A. B. may adopt the rules for its government, if they are not in contradiction with the International Constitution.

3—That all the local unions have the representation of one delegate in the Joint Advisory Board.

The principal purpose of the amendment is absolutely necessary. The Porto Rican unions need a common head, a point of union for all the branches of our International Union.

Somebody, perhaps, believes that it is possible to have this very same common head with the creation of several joint advisories. Their creation is a wrong in our island because if the J. A. Bs. are limited to arrange difficulties in a city, what can they do here when the factories of a company are spread through the island? If we have two J. A. Bs. here, there would be twice more expenses. WE NEED AN ACTION SOUND AND CONSTANT. WE MUST HAVE ONLY ONE J. A. B. The creation of one more J. A. B. would also bring claims for the jurisdiction, and also a good number of complaints. Our collective education is very deficient yet.

Some others believe that it is enough for a L. U. to be under the immediate direction of the International Union, but we know that this has not been possible. By the difference of language and character, by the distance between the General Office and the island, and also by the irregular mail route of steamers, the I. U. has more trouble with our unions than with the great many in the United States.

The second part of the amendment contains a very democratic principle, considered as the universal basis of trade unionism. The amendment in its third and last part gives a represensation to all the unions and members of the island.

This aspiration is not opposed to the laws of our International Union. The International Executive Board keeps her powers. We do not try to create an independent board from the I. U., but it seems to me that the proposed amendment will favor the development of our organizations in this new country, that is now taking the first lessons in trade unionism.

If only one J. A. B. exists in P. R. there can be a perfect union of all our members in the island, because this one can rule over them following the wise instructions of the International Union. There has been a perfect administration during the four years of the vol. J. A. B. that we have now. All the local unions have contributed with a 2 per cent of their receipts, except the loans, fines and assessments, which sum has nearly raised to $20.00 monthly. These rents have been spent in offices, house rents, publications, correspondence, trips, salaries and general expenses that have been inspected and approved by the local unions.

Two important questions favor the adoption of the amendment: The strikes and propaganda. It sometimes happens, in many of our cities, that the workers go to a strike in an ineffective moment, without preparing and approving it. This quickness reveals our character. Some other times a city is on a legal strike but the company has branches in other cities and while a group is here in a great struggle, the other fellow workers are killing the cause of their brothers.

The manufacturer here says that he is not afraid of strikes because all his cigars are to be exported and he can move from one place to another. He wants to have his cigars made in the island, so he does not care for the place very much.

The control is always necessary in a strike. In the same way that the unions are the heart, let the A. B., we claim, be the head, the brain, that may act with the experience of events, the key of our welfare.

There is a general benefit for the tobacco workers of this island if we have only a J. A. B. In case of a general collection for propagating campaign much more can be done if all the unions give their donations, great or small. In case of two or more boards the contributions for each one of them would be very small, and no success could be obtained.

If all our L. U. follow the practice of assembling semi-annually or bi-annually as they please, they can do much in favor of the organization.

The amendment of L. U. 460 comes to make a law of what it has been customary in our unions. We are indebted to this custom for many things, being in the principal, the advancement we have conquered during the last four years.

Porto Rico cannot be compared to a state of the Union. Our industrial movement, our collective education, and our character need more time to give the best results.

I sincerely affirm that the proposed amendment would place this island in a very perfect condition, and I pray all the International brothers to vote in favor of the same, because it means more organization, and better conditions, under the beneficial influence of our International Union.

Fraternalty yours,

E. SANCHEZ LOPEZ.

UNION NOTES

Union 129, Denver, Colo., wants to give notice that in reporting Denver on the "fair" list that this means just what it says and no more. A great many members think that if a town is reported fair that there are jobs open. While most of our members are working now, the chances are that in three or four weeks from now the usual July lay-off will come and half of our members will be idle for from one to three weeks.

At the city election May 17th the members of this union declared a holiday and got out and worked in all the polls and precincts in the city in the interest of the "wets," with the result that the "wets" won out by a good majority and we are promised by the saloonkeepers that Denver union made goods will be pushed to the front in future, and we have reason to believe that they will keep their promise, knowing as they do that our influence and help may be needed by them again.

Union 129 finds that after about two years' trial of the $2.00 private loan to traveling members that it is not appreciated and have discontinued it. Evidently some of the members that received this loan thought that it was a present to them.

Notice.—Any person holding a will made by P. Crane (5651), or any person holding any claim against his estate, will please notify Union 5, Rochester, N. Y., by July 1st. Mr. Crane died at Rochester, N. Y., April 8, 1910.

Notice to Secretaries.—A. Gonzales ($6541) has in his possession a retiring card which was annulled by Union 357, Vancouver; also has a fine on him for $25.00 for working against the interests of the union. Secretaries of the Pacific Coast, take notice.

Any secretary holding the card of A. G. Brinkman (102023) please collect $4.85 he absconded with and remit to Union 138, Newark, N. J. Also make him pay the fine of $15.00 imposed for absconding with the amount stated above.

The secretary of Union 357, Vancouver, B. C., would like to hear from R. E. Carroll (70564).

Secretary of Union 247, Blue Island, Ill., writes that no loans will be granted during working hours. "Will John Hemlick please return the meal ticket which he accidentally carried away with him. I can use it." Signed George Thompson.

The secretary of Union 478, La Grange, Ga., would like to hear from W. J. Hirst (59823). Important business.

"Arthur H. Meyer (29021) at present is an inmate of the County Hospital and will be unable to be at work for some time. He is a charge of Local 188 at present. We, the undersigned, ask the secretaries of the locals he is indebted to not to suspend him for not paying, as he is in pretty bad shape and has promised as soon as he is able to make good." (Signed) Fred Roy, president; Jos. Kokesh, secretary, Union 188, Seattle, Wash.

Mike Riley can have his glasses by sending his address to Jack Zeis, Warren, Pa.

The secretary of 225, Los Angeles, Calif., will transact business from 4 to 5 p. m. only.

Secretary of Union 66, Lewiston, Me., will grant loans only during noon hour and supper hour hereafter.

Union 278, London, Ont., is still on strike. This union will not accept any cards nor grant any loans until the trouble has been settled.

Mr. H. S. Bender (73312) is hereby notified to appear at a regular meeting of Union 278, London, Ont., either in person or by letter on or before July 5, 1910, to give reasons why he should not be fined for working against the interests of the union. Regular meetings are held the first and third Tuesdays each month.

Union 162, Green Bay, Wis., will not recognize members without cards; due books don't go.

Secretaries please notice the card of E. M. Doherty (67738) should bear date of June 4th as being withdrawn from Union 34, as the secretary neglected to enter same on his traveling card.

Union 344, Atlanta, Ga., asks all cigarmakers to stay from Atlanta right now. There is a shop here that doesn't pay the bill, and they want men. It is bunch breaking and rolling system. It moved here from Chicago and it is the first one that we ever had, and we are going to try and freeze it out or make them pay the bill. They only pay $7 per M. $2.75 for breakers and $4.25 for rollers.

The following members will please communicate with secretary of Union 252, Brunswick, Ga., by the first of July otherwise they will stand suspended: D. Olin Harbison (6538), Valentine Lorenzo (7199), Raymond Lorenzo (7200), W. A. Veronee (15578), C. E. Love (6540), Humberto Lorenzo (7202), Charlie Milklin (15579).

The financial secretary of Union 55, Hamilton, Ont., desires to hear from H. Dorner (454).

If Jerry Crowe doesn't communicate with the Secretary of Union 430, Fulton, N. Y., by the next issue of the Journal he will hear something to his disadvantage. By Union 430, Fulton, N. Y.

Union 430, Fulton, N. Y., has suspended George H. Smith and fined him the amount of his indebtedness to Union 430.

The trade union movement is abused because it protects the otherwise defenceless worker against the merciless greed of the exploiters of such labor, but grows nevertheless because it is historically and naturally economically right.

State of Trade for June 1, 1910.

REPORT OF INTERNATIONAL FINANCIER.

No. 322, Creston, Iowa.

Clerically the books and accounts here are in very fair order. In the future vouchers for expense will be endorsed by whoever receives the money. At each visit here find all but two or three members away over the limit in dues (nearly the same ones behind every visit), neither do they return Intl. loans, Sections 73 and 106 will look different to them in a few days. Leaving instructions here is a waste of words, so this time I made up a list for the Intl. President, showing who owes loans and their standing in dues. Am of the opinion this will change things a little in Creston. There is only "one member" on the list who can offer age or anything else than neglect or worse as an excuse. On May 6th the Fin. Secy. deposited in bank $55.44, leaving in his possession at time of examination $2.10. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Aug. 1, 1908.....	$ 336.69
Receipts to May 1, 1910.....	266.83
Total	$ 603.52
Expense to May 1, 1910.....	319.37
Balance would be May 1, 1910.....	$ 284.15
Funds of Union—
May 1, 1910, in 1st Nat. Bank.....	$ 91.98

In poss. Treas. D. A. Wareham.....	2.99
In poss. Fin. Secy. Geo. Hall.....	55.44
Total	$ 270.75

Deficiency of union May 1, 1910.....$ 13.40
Deficiency same as per last examination to Aug. 1, 1908.

No. 401, Shawnee, Okla.

The books and accounts here are not in good order. Corrected the bank and stamp accounts. The present secretary will no doubt do the best he can. Am in hopes the future will show better results. The cigar trade is not what it should be. A little more energy on the part of local manufacturers would make quite a town out of this. There should be 15 or 20 cigarmakers here. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand April 1, 1908.....	$ 206.40
Receipts to April 1, 1910.....	183.80
Expended over percentage in 1909.....	12.02
Due to Intl. Union on examination.....	39.00
Total	$ 441.22
Expense to April 1, 1910.....	287.75
Balance should be on hand April 1, 1910....	$ 153.47
Funds of Union—
April 1, 1910, corrected amount in Oklahoma Nat. Bank.....	$70.00
In poss. Secy.-Treas. M. L. Noll.....	10.45
Actual funds of union	$ 80.45

Deficiency of union April 1, 1910.....$ 73.02
Of this deficiency Fay K. Brown, 108618, owes on account illegal sick and O. O. W. benefit.....$60.00
Expended over percentage 1909.....12.02
Ex-Secy. Wm. Westerfeld owes on account error in cash for March, 1909.....1.00

Total deficiency of union April, 1910.....$ 73.02

No. 450, Oklahoma City, Okla.

If Sections 175 and 176 had been better followed the books and accounts here would have been as near right as anybody's. Cash and stamp accounts correct. Vouchers endorsed by whoever receives the money and benefit cards on file for all expense. Ledger nicely posted; a pleasure to go over accounts such as these. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand April 1, 1908.....	$ 619.87
Receipts to April 1, 1910.....	958.00
Total	$1,577.87
Expense to April 1, 1910.....	1,269.92
Balance would be April 1, 1910.....	$ 307.95
Funds of Union—
April 1, 1910, in Am. Nat. Bank.....	$ 31.38
Certificate of deposit on Am. Nat. Bank.....	200.00
In poss. Fin. Secy. M. E. Forsythe.....	76.57
Total	$ 307.95

No. 489, Iola, Kans.

The books and accounts here are really in good order. The voucher stubs show that all vouchers are made out, but have been mostly lost, etc. Stubs all on file. Benefit cards all filed O. K. Cash and stamp accounts correct. Ledger posted nearly all right. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Aug. 1, 1907.....	$ 550.05
Receipts to April 1, 1910.....	1,384.52
Total	$1,934.57
Expense to April 1, 1910.....	1,656.12
Balance on hand would be April 1, 1910....	$ 278.45
Funds of Union—
April 1, 1910, in State Sav. Bank.....	$244.82
In poss. Fin. Secy. P. H. Bushgens.....	33.63
Total	$ 278.45

No. 490, Fairfield, Iowa.

If vouchers for expense had been endorsed by whoever received the money, the books and accounts of this union would have been in excellent condition as the ledger is nicely posted. Cash and stamp accounts correct, except a small surplus in 30c dues. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Sept. 1, 1907.....	$ 281.07
Receipts to May 1, 1910.....	787.35
Total	$1,068.42

Deficiency of union May 1, 1910.....$ 3.20
This deficiency is a balance not replaced on deficiency as per previous examination to Sept. 1, 1907.

Chicago, Ill., May 31, 1910.

Since last report have examined the accounts of the following unions, viz.:

No. 20, Decatur, Ill.

The books and accounts here are certainly in splendid condition. Funds promptly deposited. Ledger correctly indexed and posted. Vouchers, benefit cards and original bills for expense on file. Cash and stamp accounts correct. The financial secretary and treasurer certainly attend to their duties all the time. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Oct. 1, 1907.....	$3,372.30
Receipts to May 1, 1910.....	5,845.85
Expended over percentage in 1908.....	32.24

Total	$ 65.75
Deficiency of Union May 1, 1910.....	$ 5.16

No. 154, Lincoln, Ill.

If the vouchers for expense here were endorsed it would be hard to find treasurer's and financial secretary's accounts better kept. Cash and stamp accounts correct, balanced at the end of each month. Ledger correctly posted and indexed—shows complete standing of every member. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand March 1, 1908.....	$ 907.23
Receipts to May 1, 1910.....	1,290.15
Total	$2,197.43

No. 155, Mount Pleasant, Iowa.

The books and accounts here show lack of experience. Time will make a good secretary out of Ralph Walbel. He will try. Corrected the cash and stamp accounts. Gave the secretary all the help I could in the way of instruction. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Jan. 31, 1906.....	$ 110.00
Receipts to May 1, 1910.....	993.00
Expended over percentage in 1906.....	.42

This deficiency is the amount expended over percentage during year 1906 and not yet replaced.

No. 185, Paducah, Ky.

The books and accounts here are in fair order. Corrected the stamp account. Instructed the secretary how to balance each member's dues account with every credit given. Benefit cards all on file. Vouchers for expense not all endorsed. Home industry agitation will be tried here. A good try and Paducah will improve. More good jobs and steady work is the result. Go after it. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand March 31, 1908.....	$ 84.29
Receipts to May 1, 1910.....	975.50
Total	$1,059.79
Expense to May 1, 1910.....	993.32

Total	$ 66.17

No. 207, Carthage, Ill.

Very little system here. Gave the secretary instructions reference balancing cash and stamp accounts at the end of each month, how to make out vouchers and have them endorsed by whoever receives the money, for all expense, how to balance each member's dues account with each credit given. Corrected the reported money in bank, also in possession of the secretary. The secretary deposited $25.00 in bank at time of examination. Lack of experience is the trouble here. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Feb. 1, 1908.....	$ 204.80
Receipts to May 1, 1910.....	447.30
Due to International Union on examination.....	26.03

Deficiency of Union May 1, 1910.....$ 33.17

No. 250, Belleville, Ill.

Books and accounts here in very fair order. Benefit cards and endorsed vouchers all on file. Corrected the stamp account, also amount claimed in possession of secretary-treasurer Feb. 1, 1910. Ledger in very good order. Gave the secretary what help I could reference balancing his accounts at the end of each month. Also the member's dues accounts. Also corrected the amount still due to Union 250, Belleville, from ex-Sec. Ashton, a difference of $30.88. Statement as follows:

In possession Sec.-Treas. H. Wilhelm.....	92.72
Total	$1,092.72

The secretary had an unusual amount of cash in his possession owing to death benefit expense. Paid part of it while I was there.

No. 258, Streator, Ill.

The books and accounts here are in better condition than appearances would indicate. An honest attempt to do the right thing. Funds promptly deposited, etc. One thing here is the fact of having so much money in bank without interest. This must be changed immediately. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Oct. 1, 1907.....	$ 903.78

This deficiency is owing to having expended over percentage in 1909. The secretary had deposited in bank $25.00 before the examination.

No. 437, Cairo, Ill.

The books and accounts here are in very good order. Ex-Secretary Gilbert had some trouble, but at the time of this examination the funds were all right. Ledger nicely posted. Stamps O. K. All benefit cards and vouchers on file, but the vouchers not always endorsed. Left instructions reference Section 106 regarding the collection of loans. The habit of granting personal or private loans from International funds must be stopped. The deficiency is:

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED

The amendment of Union 9, Troy, N. Y., as published in the May Journal, as follows:

Amend Sec. 186. Section to read as follows: "Local unions shall, wherever practical, organize State, or Province, or District Label Leagues for state or district label agitation. Each local union in a state or district where a league exists, or thereafter be formed, must be a part thereof."

Same to take effect at once if adopted.

Received the endorsement of 318, McSherrystown; 91, Allentown; 141, New York; 231, Amsterdam; 72, Burlington; 22, Detroit; 213, New York; 280, Owego; 311, Auburn; 13, New York; 315, St. Cloud; 179, Bangor; 396, Northampton; 238, Reading; 2, Buffalo; 144, New York; 475, Fitchburg; 106, Ogdensburg.

The amendment of Union 231, Amsterdam, N. Y., as published in the April Journal, reference Section 165:

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

The following are the only alterations or amendments to the constitution adopted since the Detroit (1896) convention, and not published in the 20th edition of the constitution:

By Union 54, Evansville, Ind.

Amend Section 193 by adding, on line 4, the following: "Of financial secretary, treasurer, trustee and member of the finance committee. This shall apply to all past and future offenses." The section to read as follows: "Any officer or member of the International Union or any officer of any local union who shall obtain money or benefits under false pretenses, or who shall appropriate any money belonging to the union to his own use shall not be eligible to hold the office of the financial secretary, treasurer, trustee and member of the finance committee of any local union or the International Union. This shall apply to all past and future offenders. And notice of all defalcations and misappropriations of moneys shall be forwarded to the International President, who shall publish the same in the Official Journal. Defaulters shall not be entitled to receive any benefits prescribed in this constitution until their defalcations have been paid by them."

By Union 77, Minneapolis, Minn.:

Amend Section 219 of the Constitution by adding: "And if adopted shall take effect and remain in force from the first day of the month succeeding the official publication of its adoption."

Section to read as follows: "Each local union shall have the right to propose, through the columns of the Official Journal, amendments to the International Constitution. Each union is required to act upon every amendment at their meeting next following the receipt of the Journal, containing such amendments, and report to the International President. Unions failing to comply with this provision shall be fined $5. But no union shall be fined for not taking action on a proposed amendment, unless the same has been submitted by the International President by circular. Any amendment receiving the endorsement of at least twenty unions shall be submitted to a vote of local unions within thirty days, and if adopted shall take effect and remain in force from the first day of the month succeeding the official publication of its adoption."

By Union 316, McSherrystown, Pa.:

Amend Sec. 67 by adding after the word "adoption," on the last line, the following:

"And except in the 1st and 9th districts of Pennsylvania, where the initiation fee for applicants for membership shall be 50 cents for a period of three months, beginning the first day of the month following the adoption of this amendment."

"That should the results in increased membership from the operation of this amendment justify an extension of time the International Executive Board is hereby empowered to extend the time for an additional three months or such additional periods as they may deem necessary."

Sec. 67, as amended, to read accordingly.

IN MEMORIAM

In reporting deaths, kindly comply with the following and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of members. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the record of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send such cards, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the latter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

The following unions adopted resolutions of regret and condolence relating to death or deaths as follows, and ordered charter draped in mourning for thirty days:

Union 180, Danbury, Conn.—John Shields, who died June 1, 1910. Members attended funeral in a body.

Union 14, Chicago, Ill.—Adolph Fuchs, 23 years, who died March 31, 1910; Chas. M. Kuen, 55 years, who died April 1, 1910; Fred Wagner, 64 years, who died April 6, 1910; Henry Jordeman, 65 years, who died April 21, 1910; Oscar Glimm, 40 years, who died April 23, 1910.

Union 278, London, Ont.—J. R. Brock, who died May 24. The union attended the funeral in a body.

Union 162, Green Bay, Wis.—Henry Huerth, who died May 5, 1910. Union attended funeral in a body.

Union 129, Denver, Colo.—Manuel E. Parrondo (107910), who died May 10th. Funeral attended by committee from the union. Interment at Riverside Cemetery.

CHICAGO, JUNE 15, 1910.

There has never been a time in the memory of the writer, which extends back over thirty years of constant activity as a member of the International union, when we could not hear plenty of croakers saying: "Oh, what's the use?" and that "the trade is going to the dogs," and "there is no use trying: we can't organize." Despite the predictions of the pessimists, the men of faith, courage and determination have never allowed themselves to be discouraged or stopped in their work of building up the international union.

Thirty-five or forty years ago the trade was in far worse condition than it is today. Five dollars and $6 were the prevailing jobs, and take your pay in truck or store orders was the rule all over the country and in nearly all shops. Nothing daunted, we pushed ahead to our present magnificent standing of 51,000 members who owe allegiance to the international union.

We abolished the truck system, overcame the tenement house horror, drove out the Chinese, shortened the hours of labor to eight per day, reduced the percentage of those who die of consumption from 51 per cent to 24 per cent, increased the length of the lives of our members 15 years, six months and four days, increased wages from 10 per cent to 100 per cent and spent nearly nine million dollars in benefits for the relief of our members. And what's more, we will keep on till we completely organize the entire trade.

Despite the beneficent accomplishments of the international union, we still find men who say, "Oh, what's the use; the trade is going to the bad." Those who discourage the activities of the union and seek to belittle its indisputable, wonderful accomplishments are still with us. They profess to see no improvement and no hope, while knowing better.

They, or many of them, came into the trade after the hard work of years of sacrifice had made fair bills of prices and conditions thought to be unattainable a few years ago.

They tell us we have developed into a benevolent organization (we wish we had more benefits), and that we do not raise wages, etc. The facts are we have gone on raising wages in the organized towns and wherever unions exist, and otherwise improving conditions, a fact known to all except those who will not see or cannot understand.

The unions in all trades which pay benefits are the strongest and most stable. Cheap dues, like low wages, make cheap, weak unions and hopeless, spineless men. There is still a great amount of work to do. We must and will carry on the work and on the lines so successfully followed in the past until the trade is completely organized. The same undaunted spirit that blazed the pathway and carried us up to the present magnificent standing will, despite all obstacles carry on the work until it is done. We must, we can, and we will organize the trade under the banner of the international union. Don't be a quitter; be a booster.

We are informed that the International Typographical Union pays an old age pension to about 600 members, and that all told they have about 140 members in the home at Colorado Springs, Colo.

This includes the sick as well as the old men. Despite the fact that the printers have a "Home," they found it necessary to, and did establish the old age pension law.

We firmly believe in taking care of the old, faithful and loyal members, and agree with many with whom we have talked that the best way to do so is through the old age pension plan. Many of the old fellows and others with whom we have talked, unhesitatingly say they would prefer the pension plan. We have talked with a large number of printers and they, with few exceptions, say they prefer the old age pension plan to the "Home."

In the case of the printers they have the choice of going on the pension list or going to the "Home." If they go to the home the pension stops. The fact that over 600 are drawing pensions and very few in the home tells the story. It seems they prefer the small pension and the privilege of remaining among friends, old cronies, old associates and the old home environments to the alleged home at Colorado Springs.

We believe in taking care of the old members, but the best information we can obtain warrants us in saying the old members themselves would prefer the old age pension plan to the "Home" plan, and, after all, they should be consulted. Before we seriously consider building a home we could and should get the opinions and desires of those who are most concerned.

There is no argument, however, against the old age pension which is right from every standpoint, and should be adopted and put in force in the International Union. Our chain of benefits will never be complete until we do so.

The unorganized districts of Pennsylvania and elsewhere in places such as New York City, Detroit, Mich. Lima, O., etc., can and must be organized. The sooner this is done the better it will be for the well organized towns with fair bills of prices.

The cigars made in these unorganized cheap places enter into direct competition with the union made cigar in well or fairly paid places.

This is a work in which all who can should lend a willing hand. Finding fault and going about with a pessimistic what's the use expression, will not do the work.

A little courage, determination, encouragement and a belief in the ultimate success of the movement will do a great deal to assist the work of the regular and volunteer organizers.

Starting with a handful of members and about 30c in the treasury at the time of the re-organization, or a little before, we have come through to our present standing. Conditions in the trade at that time were worse, if anything, than they are today in unorganized places and justify our statement that we will finally succeed, and justifies encouragement, assistance and a belief in the ability of the International union to finally complete the work.

About 30 or 35 years ago the prevailing prices paid in the then unorganized condition of the trade was from $4 to $6 per thousand, a few jobs of course paid more, which is about the prevailing prices now in the still unorganized trades. We have shown what has been accomplished in another editorial and assert that we can and will do for the yet unorganized what we have accomplished for the organized.

Several years ago employers knowing that one of the best means to discourage organization, cripple and destroy unions was to raise the cry of graft and dishonesty among trade union officials, and they did so with a vengeance.

In this plot they were ably assisted by many of the daily papers which printed column after column of alleged grafting in the unions.

The public were told that the penitentiaries were going to be overcrowded with trade union officials.

After the smoke of battle had cleared away it was found that one certain business agent in a New York union had been sent to Sing Sing.

Trying their best, and after raking the country with a fine tooth comb, about three minor officials were found.

Through paid spies the work of showing up the grafters (?) was carried on in the unions, but may it be said to the everlasting credit of the trade union movement and its officials, the whole plot fell through because they could not find the grafters, they did not exist in the unions.

There is no institution on earth so free from grafters and dishonest officials as is the trade union movement, and we are greatly indebted to the employers for bringing this fact out although they hoped for a different result.

Pick up and scan the daily papers and note the alleged corruption said to exist everywhere in the political fields and compare it with the now known fact that it does not exist, with rare exceptions, in the trade union movement, and draw your own conclusions.

Since the amendment of Union 499, Trinidad has been defeated by popular vote the care of members affected with tuberculosis can, and CARE OF CONSUMPTIVES. should be discussed from every standpoint. Our worthy members affected with this preventable and curable disease should receive our consideration and the best advice and care possible within our reasonable power.

At the present rate of agitation, education and precaution now being taken by an awakening public this disease will be under control and practically stamped out within the next twenty-five years.

In the meantime it is our duty to do what we can to assist in this great undertaking.

A number of states, towns, cities and counties, as well as a number of individual associations and persons have established sanatoriums, camps, retreats and hospitals for the care and cure of tubercular patients.

Through these institutions it has been demonstrated that the disease can be treated just as successfully in one part of the country as another, by applying the same care and treatment, which consists of fresh air, fresh milk, fresh eggs and plenty of good, wholesome, digestible food, with absolute rest at first.

Several central labor unions have established camps and made arrangements for beds in existing places and at reasonable rates. At Naperville, Ill., near Chicago, we have a sanatorium which is controlled by the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute and which is practically self-sustaining. The charge is $10 per week, which includes all expenses.

The percentage of cures of those who go to this institution in the first stages of the disease is about 90 per cent, which proves that the disease can be cured here as well as in the high altitudes and what is of vastly more importance is that these patients are restored to their full working capacity. The percentage of cures of those who reach the institution in the second stages of the disease is about 40 per cent, and only about 25 per cent of these are restored to their full working capacity. This institution was founded by Mrs. Keith Spalding and presented to the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute about three and a half years ago. Dr. Theodore B. Sachs, Chicago, one of the best tuberculosis doctors in this country, is in charge. Similar institutions have been started in many other places which, with the state, county and city institutions erected for a like purpose afford a means right at home where this disease, if taken in time, can be cured.

In a subsequent issue we will give as near as possible the number and location of all such institutions, the prices charged, and such other information as may be helpful to any of our members.

Some steps should be taken to ascertain just how many members we may have who are suffering with this disease, and if the members will co-operate with us we will try to first find out just how many we have and what the probable cost of maintaining them in existing private or semi-private institutions will cost.

The task of carrying forward and completing the work of organization, while difficult, should be easier today than it was in the early days. We now have the experience of the past which is a valuable asset and should not be underestimated.

We have ceased to be an experiment; we are an actuality, a substantial proven successful reality and can push forward with renewed confidence, feeling secure in the knowledge that we know we are right and are bound to succeed.

When the fellow with an ax to grind or a desire to exercise an uncontrollable desire to knock, says we cannot succeed, and finds fault with everything and everybody except himself, just point to what has been accomplished and use it as a justification of your own optimistic belief and as indisputable proof that he is mistaken at least, if not something that is expressed in a "shorter and uglier" term.

Members will save the union, the international office, and their friends and relatives a great deal of time, annoyance and trouble if they will fill out the blanks provided and furnished free by the international union, designating their beneficiaries.

Van Cleave of Buck Stove & Range notoriety is dead.

Van Cleave, when elected president of the Manufacturers' Association started in to annihilate the trade unions; he has just died with heart failure.

All trade unions have been and are steadily increasing in membership.

HISTORY OF TRADE UNIONISM IN AMERICA.

Prof. Commons divides the history of trade unionism in America into five periods: 1. The formative period, reaching down to 1840 and including the ten-hour movement. 2. An organization period, uneventful but important, reaching through the Fourierite wave of utopian Socialism, to and including the serious times incident to the War of the Rebellion. 3. A period from 1865 to 1878, notable for great organizing energy. 4. The period of labor disturbance and revolt against low-wage oppression, including the rise of the Knights of Labor, and ending in the turbulent eight-hour struggle of 1886. 5. The present period, marking the rise and dominance of the American Federation of Labor, with a labor enrollment of our three million workers.

Labor organization in its beginnings in this country was outlaw. A master class dominance of government bruised it with an iron heel wherever it dared to raise its head. Toward the latter part of the eighteenth century, however, the wage-workers had begun to assert themselves in some trades favorable to formidable mass action. In fact, the first strike of wage-workers, that of the printers of New York, took place in the memorable year of 1776. The strike was for better pay. And it was successful. In 1786 the printers of Philadelphia also had to mass together to resist a wage cut. New facts about the subsequent history of trade unionism in this country are now accessible, thanks to the persistent investigation made by the American Bureau of Industrial Research.

Prior to 1827 the unions were secret. The ruling class did not freely concede the workers the right of organization. A union was a conspiracy. As early as 1896 there is a record of a trial of journeymen for conspiracy—that of the members of the Cordwainers' Union, which had been in existence to a certain extent since 1792. The first strike of sailors occurred in New York in 1803.

The real beginning of trade unionism in the country is set down to the years inclusive between 1827 and 1837. Modern trade unionism began, we are told, as an industrial and political force, with the coming together of previously existing labor societies to form central bodies. This form of representative body brought the individually helpless societies into united strength, and they could thus openly face "hostile governments and employers." And the fact is pointed out that the term "trade unionism" meant a union of trades, not a union within a trade. The individual unions were called "societies." The first union, in the proper sense of the word, was the Mechanics' Union of Trade Societies of Philadelphia. It lasted a year and then turned to the ballot as a weapon. Thus it became the first labor party in this country. Through it was started the first labor paper, the Mechanics Free Press. The labor party spread to New York, Albany, Troy, Boston, and then disappeared in 1831, the older parties have borrowed its planks and captured its leaders! This sad experience of labor leaders turning upon their class led to the cry of "no politics in the union," which was afterwards so mischievously used. New York formed a General Trades Union in 1833, and the idea of organization spread to every city of any size, so that it is claimed that in 1836 Philadelphia could show a larger proportion of the citizens organized than has been the case in this country since.

In 1834 the National Trades Union was formed and held three yearly conventions before it died. Labor papers of this period were the Daily Man, published by the New York union; the Workingman's Advocate and the National Laborer.

The Mechanics' Union of Philadelphia had sprung from a strike of the carpenters for a ten-hour day. Their slogan, "6 to 6," meaning a ten-hour day, was finally taken up by the other parties, and with such success, we are told, that in 1830 the American politician had learned for the first time "how to split the labor vote." The labor party had included small tradesmen in its enrollment. There was a good deal of labor politics in those days, the alignment being the "productive classes" against the "aristocracy."

By 1835-36 an intolerable national situation had developed. Prices had gone skyward and wages did not rise to meet the added cost of livelihood. Strikes were innumerable, and the unions multiplied and became powerful, only to break down a few years later through over-organization. The first appearance of "jurisdiction disputes" was here witnessed.

But meanwhile ground had been gained. Juries stopped bringing in verdicts for conspiracy. The ten-hour day became customary. Free schools were established. Imprisonment for debt became unpopular.

In 1844 another activity of labor developed, due to the agitation of the Fourierite Socialists, and a year later industrial congresses were held, in which men like Horace Greeley took part.

The high prices at about the time of the War of the Rebellion again forced union activity. The Locomotive Engineers were organized in 1863, the Cigarmakers in 1864, the Bricklayers and Masons in 1865, while numerous state federations, etc., were formed. In 1866 a National Labor Union, embracing them all, was in existence, and held conventions till 1872. Under it the first eight-hour agitation was begun. This led to the successful efforts of Wendell Phillips, who founded the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics of Labor, the forerunner of the present labor bureaus. The national union was also in touch with the Marx International, and sent delegates. At about this time the Knights of St. Crispin was formed, but was short-lived, owing to its opposition to the development of machinery.

The later history of the labor movement is too well known to need repetition here. The wonderful rise of the Knights of Labor, the growth of the American Federation of Labor, until it now represents three millions of workmen; the final success of the eight-hour struggle in many trades, all this is no news to the readers of a labor paper. Capitalism is reaching the zenith of its sway and labor from now on is to play more and more of a part in the affairs of men. Before it lie fields unconquered, yet sure to fall before its banners of humanity and economic justice as time goes on.—Exchange.

NOTICE.

June 19 the following monthly report blanks were mailed to all local unions:

- 12 fin. report blks.
- 12 label report blks.
- 6 O. O. W. and Loan report blks.
- 6 State of Trade report blks.

ORGANIZERS' REPORT.

Sonderton, Pa., June 5, 1910.

The economic and social conditions which surround the cigarmaker in the small towns of Pennsylvania, and apparently retard the progress of organization, will be overcome in due time. The causes can be classified as follows:

First—The enormous growth and development of the fraternal orders, with benevolent features in competition with the trades union. That the trades union protects wages and conditions, and pays out of work benefits in addition to other benefits, which the fraternal order does not, is either ignored or not understood.

Second—The fear of losing the little home, which is usually mortgaged, by the loss of employment.

Third—Owing to the scarcity of other industries in the small towns there is no trade union sentiment worth while mentioning; hence the sympathetic co-operation and moral support of other trades is an impossibility. The example set by other crafts in the larger cities in this state, in elevating their members financially, socially and morally, does not exert any influence in the villages from 500 to 1,500 inhabitants.

There are other causes which will be mentioned from time to time.

From Lansdale, Pa., to Allentown, Pa., and from Norristown, Pa., to Allentown, Pa., on two branches of the Reading railroad, running on almost parallel lines, there are more cigarmakers employed than in all the New England state. The principal factories are owned by Philadelphia manufacturers.

There are less than five per cent organized at present in this section, which is a part of the First Internal Revenue District. In some towns there is a larger percentage organized; in other towns a good deal less.

There is one town with 350 cigarmakers where three union men stick to their colors bravely and tenaciously; waiting for better prospects patiently. They certainly deserve credit in the face of adverse conditions.

Within a radius of less than ten miles from Quakerstown, Pa., there are employed in the aggregate about 1,300 men and women; over 90 per cent are making hand work, mostly Sumatra wrapped with two fillers mixed on the table.

The firm of Otto Eisenlohr & Bros. has five factories within this jurisdiction; it employs in the villages of Coopersburg, Skinnerstown, Finland, Trumbanerville and Richlandtown about 520 cigarmakers. It has eight more factories in other sections of the state. The output of these factories is sold to the small retailer for $35 per 1,000, with two per cent off for cash. The jobber, of course, pays a much smaller price. The average wages earned in these factories is from $9 to $10 for a week's work of 58 hours.

Another Philadelphia firm, Theobald & Oppenheimer, employs about 320 cigarmakers, in three factories located in Quakerstown, Milford Square and Trumbanerville.

While the cost of living has increased enormously, the same as in other sections of the county, rents are comparatively less than one-third that paid in New York city.

Richland Center, Pa., which, for all practical purposes is a part of Quakerstown, Pa., has one blue label shop, employing six cigarmakers. The product of this factory does not go outside of this state.

The factories of Otto Eisenlohr & Bros., heretofore mentioned, are located in Philadelphia, York, Lancaster, Reading, Boyertown, East Greenville, Skinnerstown, Coopersburg, Finland, Trumbanerville, Richlandtown, Sellersville and Sonderton, employing over 2,250 cigarmakers.

During the short time I have been in this part of the state I investigated conditions and formulated plans for future action. The holding of conferences with officers of the unions and discussions with members was one of the features, and endeavoring to impress them with the necessity of more activity in the future. One public meeting was held in Perkase, a small town employing more than 450 cigarmakers which, owing to a severe rainstorm was not as well attended as desired.

Guided by the experience of the past and looking backward barely a generation, it comes to my mind when the Cigarmakers' International Union of America had but sixteen local unions, with 1,016 members and a cash balance of $9.78 in the treasury, I feel confident that the cigarmakers of Pennsylvania will organize in due time, moving along under that economic force which underlies the entire labor movement of this continent.

Niagara Falls was visited by me and found dormant, depending on the opening of the summer season to bring it back to life and activity, by the tourists and sightseers from this country and all over the world. Like all large summer resorts the conditions are not favorable to union label products, but it certainly is no excuse on the part of the members of the local union for not taking a more active part in hustling for the union label. They do not attend nor are they affiliated with the central body, and they do very little work for the blue label, individually or collectively. I spoke to them at the factory where the largest number of the members of the union were present, urging them to do everything in their power to "boost" the label, etc. Whether they have followed the advice given to join the central body I am unable to state at time of reporting.

Lockport, N. Y., while all are at work, the union goes on in a way that bespeaks a lack of interest, excepting the secretary, who is very much alive and works energetically for the benefit of the local union. The central body has no life in its meetings, as frequently it has not a quorum at its regular gatherings.

Batavia.—There is a hustling little place. Just think of it, a central body composed of 500 members, and the cigar makers working in harmony, have succeeded, with the assistance of the different organizations in placing the Blue Label in a "top notch" position so far as being patronized. They are in demand in every store in town, brought about by the good work on the part of the members of the local union.

Rochester—Our business might be better, but on account of the machinist strike which was in progress while I was there, it was thought had some influence on the state of trade. However, after inquiring whether I could be of any assistance to the local union in any manner, I was informed that I could go to Palmyra and do some missionary work there. A shop existed there which had been an unfair shop for many years. Upon my arrival in Palmyra I sought an interview with the cigar makers. It was my intention of having a meeting of the non-union cigar makers and point out the great advantages of belonging to the International union. After a personal conversation I was informed that the non-union cigar makers had concluded that if I was successful in inducing the manufacturer, Mr. Williamson, they would gladly join the union. Next morning I had quite a long interview with Mr. Williamson. He informed me that he personally was not adverse to our organization, but that at present he could not be induced to turn his shop into a union one. He did not know what he might do regarding the matter in the future. He assured me that should that time come, he would not hesitate a moment in turning his shop into a blue label factory.

Geneva—Another hustling town. Blue label thriving and the members of the union doing well and apparently well satisfied with conditions as they exist in town and in the jurisdiction towns there is a slight increase in membership over the number mentioned in the last annual report, Jan. 1st.

Auburn—Our business is not brisk there. While the same number of cigar makers are employed, yet the trade is dull. There may be a reason for it. There are many non-union cigars sold in this place. Also Syracuse high-grade cigars, union made, are sold, and seem very popular here. Most of the jobs in Auburn are mould work.

Ithaca—Business good and the blue label is pushed in a way that is to be admired. When it is taken into consideration that there are 5,000 students in the city, and that many of them frequent places where cigars are sold, the agitation committees centered their attack on the owners of the places of hotels and saloons and their work has proven very effective, as the show cases in the places where cigars are sold speak for themselves. By a fine display of union-made goods too much credit cannot be given the agitation committee.

Cortland—I found everything booming in the blue label line; also discovered by the number of boxes bearing the label in several places that I visited that it has a very strong grip. I was informed that it was expected that business would pick up considerably this summer, so far as the local trade was concerned a very large percentage of cigars sold here are made in Cortland. Evidently there is a strong local pride existing.

York, Pa., June 6th, 1910.

Akron.—Attended meeting of Union No. 301 and gave some advice to the members of the organization committee, and hope to see some progress in the work of organizing the non-union cigar makers in their town and jurisdiction.

Rothsville.—Business is dull there, except in the Owl shop, a branch of the United Cigar Manufacturer's Co., run by Kingsports of Ephrata. Union No. 301 is not making the progress hoped for, and that could be accomplished if trade conditions improved. Much time was devoted since last report looking up and perfecting counterfeit or imitation label cases. Members should be on the lookout for cigars bearing Universal Union Label of a dual organization, which is a counterfeit of our label and looks like our label, and is readily mistaken for our label. The universal union is not affiliated with the A. F. of L. nor the Central Labor Union.

FORTY-THREE CHARGES AGAINST CIGAR MANUFACTURERS.

For Illegal Employment of Child Labor in Their Factories. — Plea of Guilty Entered by All.

Employment of minors under 14 years of age is strictly forbidden.

Schooling certificates for all minors between 14 and 16 years of age are required. On termination of employment of minor, school certificate shall be returned to person who issued the same.

Boys under 16 and girls under 18 years of age must not be employed more than 8 hours in one day, nor more than 48 hours in one week.

Boys under 16 and girls under 18 years of age must not be employed later than 6 o'clock in the evening nor earlier than 7 o'clock in the morning.

No minor under 16 years of age can be employed at dangerous machinery or where its health will be injured or morals depraved.

No female under the age of 16 years shall be employed at the tobacco trades nor at employment compelling her to remain standing constantly.

The above is a brief of the child labor law passed by the general assembly of Ohio, which became effective July 1, 1908.

This morning forty-three affidavits were filed against the Deisel-Wemmer and Tigner's Son Cigar Companies, charging them with violations of various provisions of the above laws.

The Deisel-Wemmer Company were made defendants in 38 separate charges, and when summoned appeared immediately and entered a plea of guilty before Justice Dempster. The court assessed a fine of $25.00 and costs in each case, which made a total of $950.00 in fines.

The William Tigner Son Company was the defendant in 5 cases and entered a plea of guilty when arraigned. The court assessed the same fine, $25.00 and costs in each case, which is the minimum provided in the statute.

The affidavits against each company varied in their technical causes, some charging the employment of girls under the age of 18 years and permitting them to work more than 8 hours a day, and others for employing boys and girls under the age of 16 in the tobacco business.

The affidavits against the Deisel-Wemmer Company were signed by Elizabeth Schauss, a member of the visiting board appointed by Chief Inspector Morgan, of the department of workshops and factories, and those against the Tigner Company by Ella Haas, who is also a member of the visiting board.

PRIVATE LOANS

Sec. 196. Local unions shall have the right to suspend members for non-payment of local indebtedness, and hold traveling cards until such indebtedness has been paid. See Sec. 106 also.

The following unions request the collection of private loans from the respective persons, and return same to union making the request.

Notice to secretaries of local unions where I am indebted for private loans: "I am still unable to work." Signed, C. P. Brown (120674).

Traveling members who secured private loans from Union 97, Boston, Mass., are requested to pay same at once or their names will be published in the July number of our Journal.

Notice—All members owing private loans to the J. A. B. of Chicago are hereby notified to pay a percentage on same by July 15, 1910, or the constitution will be enforced by suspension. By order of the J. A. B. John Clement, Pres.; Benj. Cohen, Sec'y.

Any secretary holding the card of Robert Klier (77510), please collect $26.50 private loan which he owes Union 313, Lima, Ohio, and forward to said union.

Members owing private loans to Union 94, Pawtucket, R. I., will please pay up if working. Union 406, Crawfordsville, Ind., notifies Samuel Williams (93750), to pay $2.50 private loan or stand suspended. Secretaries please take notice.

Any secretary holding the card of Frank Tschida (17152), please collect $1.50 private loan and remit to Union 498, Everett, Wash., or the constitution will be enforced. All other members owing Union 498, please pay up as we need the money.

Members owing private loans to Warren, Pa.: M. Miller (86206), $1.00; J. B. Welsh (52063), $1.00; H. J. Millon (66596), $1.00; J. Frei (35974), $1.00; Geo. Nagel (21287), $1.00; Jos. Members who drew private loans from Union 206, North Adams, Mass., prior to January 1, 1910, please pay up if you do not wish to have your names appear in next month's Journal.

LOST CARDS

Section 111. Any member losing or destroying his loan book shall not be entitled to receive any benefits or a duplicate loan book before the expiration of two months, and financial secretaries of local unions must notify the International President of such loss or destruction immediately, the same to be published in the Official Journal by the International President. The International President shall be the only person to issue a duplicate.

In reporting lost cards give:
1. Full name and number.
2. Date and place of initiation.
3. Place card was last deposited, or duplicate will not be issued.

Members who lose cards are not entitled to benefits until they secure duplicates. No duplicate cards are issued except upon application through some secretary, when the time limit of two months has expired.

Month after month unscrupulous men impose upon secretaries and members under the plea of lost cards. The constitution provides a punishment for lost cards. Its purpose is to stop the carelessness and the traffic made with full cards by permitting them to be held as security.

Don't issue letters to any member claiming lost card unless you know his actual standing.

Members who secure employment should be entered as admitted to the union.

Secretaries should be careful and enter all loans granted and repaid and all balances carried from one card to another in letters and figures. The issue of duplicates will be delayed in all cases where information is not complete.

Secretaries should examine due books where claim of lost card is made.

Secretaries will please notify this office as to whether any private loans are due on cards reported lost, otherwise they are issued with only the International loan account. This does not release members from their just obligations to the unions. The absence of the private loans, however, quite often causes members to overlook those loans and suspensions follow.

12024—Frank Batch, reported May 17 by No. 4, last deposited at No. 4.

6415—M. Reitzammer, reported May 19 by No. 32, last deposited at No. 4.

36195—Louis Newreiter, reported May 31 by No. 231.

83343—Ed. C. Thomas, reported May 19 by No. 283. This party owes $20 loan, but has not been reported as initiated since last suspended.

7640—August Plotz, reported June 3 by No. 107, last deposited at No. 17.

Frank Murphy claims lost card. Information as to date and place of initiation and place of withdrawal stamps same as fraudulent.

Secretaries should observe these claims closely.

Notes by 97, Boston: We have passed our 28th birthday, passing through the pangs of child birth, with all the vicissitudes attending the care and development and are to-day a lusty offspring.—Municipal lodging houses would be an improvement over police stations for men out of work.—Old age pensions would be better than a home; members would rather receive a weekly stipend in the city where they live and know everybody than go to Colorado, Arizona or New Mexico, where they don't know any one. Don't you think so?—Look for more interference with cigar industry by the government.—We have had our troubles with the phoney Spanish and the Sneringer Pa. label.—President Perkins was correct when he stated wherever you find the label well advertised look out for counterfeiters.—When will the coupon and trading stamp fends learn you can't buy a dollar for fifty cents?—Brooklyn has a new corporation known as the Druggists' Manufacturers' Association, incorporated for $50,000. 3,000 shares common stock; 2,000 shares preferred stock. President, George M. Faulkner; treasurer, Arthur E. Copp; director, Emeline M. Bellard.—The First Pennsylvania District made 5,767,460 more cigars in April, 1910, than in the same month in 1909, and the Ninth Pennsylvania 2,523,230. The Third Massachusetts District made 1,599,390 more in April, 1910, than in April, 1909.—Keep your eye on trust.—We have the best design for street signs in America, so says the general public. 97 knows how to do things.—We gave $150 to Jacksonville, Ill.—Tobacco crop of New England looks promising.—Cigarette smoking on the increase.—In reply to many inquiries as to work done by our label committee will try and have our ex-chairman print his report in Journal with consent of International President.

In studying a certain factory from the point of view of health, the director of the New York Museum of Safety and Sanitation ascertained that two men are employed to give their entire time to the cleaning and distribution of the spittoons; these receptacles are of steel and filled with sawdust. The cleaners are provided with tongs for emptying the boxes, which are then scalded and refilled with clean sawdust. In case that any of the workmen are tuberculous, the spread of the disease is somewhat lessened. In the same factory a force of nineteen sweepers and cleaners are specialists in that line; when not at work on the floors, they clean the windows, for it has been discovered that light and air are the best microbe killers. All this pays the industrialist. High grade labor, such as every employer wants, asks itself, "Where do I want to work?" and then selects the factory where the conditions are the best. This means permanency for both the worker and the employer, so that it pays each.

LOCAL FINES

Note.—Fines below $5 are not published in the Journal. See Sec. 195.

Sec. 197. Members having been fined by local unions shall pay such fines on the following basis: $10 or less, 10 per cent of weekly wages and benefits paid by union, or amounts more than $10, 15 per cent, aside from payments on loans, as provided by the constitution.

Union 7, Utica, N. Y., fined Charles Stetter $10.00 for working below their bill of prices.

P. H. Taylor was fined $5.00 for not paying a board bill of $10.00 he owed when he left. Any secretary holding his card please collect same and forward to Union 33, Indianapolis.

Juan Vasquez (115148) was fined $10.00 by Union 119, San Juan, P. R., for allowing himself to be suspended.

Union 259, Bloomington, Ill., fined Flen Dale (8453), and S. B. Anderson (8454), each $5.00 for allowing themselves to be suspended.

Union 98, St. Paul, Minn., fined Jos. Schroeffer (20185), $10.00 for working in the closed shop of Hart & Murphy.

Union 33, Indianapolis, Ind., fined Grace Murry (20200), $5.00 for allowing herself to become suspended.

Union 309, Rothsville, Pa., imposed a fine of $5.00 upon Sarah Shaar (97749), for allowing herself to become suspended.

Union 144, New York, N. Y., placed a fine of $2.00 on S. Silverman (91854), for refusing to show his due book to a shop president for examination and using abusive language.

Carl Nath (4649) was suspended and fined $5.00 for non-payment of dues by Union 196, Grand Island, Nebr.

A. Cooney (100792) was fined $10.00 by Union 278 London, for working against the interests of the union.

Union 437, Cairo, Ill., fined L. Carr (15571), $10.00 for allowing himself to become suspended.

Wm. Wythman (65890) was fined $5.00 for beating his board bill of $5.00 which the union stood good for. Secretary holding his card please collect and remit same to Union 33.

Le mouvement des associations ouvrières fut dès sa naissance une nécessité de vie ou de mort pour la protection et le progrès des classes productives. Il cherche à obtenir aujourd'hui une juste part de la richesse créée pour la destiner au service, bien-être et soulagement des masses. Les associations ouvrières ne se contentent pas d'adopter des résolutions couleur de rose glorifiant un avenir utopique tout en se laissant mourir de faim dans sa hâte à y atteindre. Elles insistent plutôt sur ce fait que l'ouvrier doit recevoir intégralement tout l'argent qu'il est juste de réclamer pour son service, progrès et bien-être. C'est le moyen naturel, logique et plus raisonnable par lequel les travailleurs peuvent protéger et faire progresser leur bien-être matériel, économique et social. Et dans ce but, les associations ouvrières ont plus fait que toutes les autres entreprises ensemble. L'unionisme ne sait, ni ne prétend savoir, ce que la situation dans l'avenir sera. Tout en espérant qu'elle sera meilleure que dans le présent, il porte plus d'intérêt, et avec raison, croyons-nous, à ce qui est meilleur pour lui-même et ses camarades dans ce moment même et aux meilleurs moyens pour l'obtenir. L'expérience et le sens commun enseignent, et tous les hommes qui ont un bon jugement le savent fort bien, que le mouvement unioniste et le mouvement de classe par excellence. On a également conscience de ses imperfections et de ses défauts et, virilement, ils cherchent à les corriger au lieu de vouloir détruire le mouvement lui-même. On sait aussi que le pouvoir de faire bien et d'aller de l'avant est contrariée, non par les unions ni le système, mais par les non-unionistes qui ne se sont pas mis en ligne et fait leur part de besogne dans cette entreprise si nécessaire pour le bien-être de tous les travailleurs. Tout unioniste digne de ce nom espère en un avenir où la vie matérielle sera meilleure et tout le monde sait que le mouvement des associations ouvrières pave le chemin qui conduira à une vie plus haute, morale, socialement, et économiquement, pour l'humanité tout entière. Le mouvement des associations ouvrières donnera raison aux espoirs les plus optimistes et aux prétensions qui paraissent les plus enthousiastes de ses partisans.

La question du "self-government" est une question fondamentale, démocratique et impartiale et n'admet aucune déviation à cause de sa justice. On ne saurait appliquer aucune demi-mesure à cette question, puisqu'elle est, ou complètement juste ou tout à fait fausse, et tout subterfuge mis en œuvre pour nullifier l'effet ou l'intérêt des principes du "Home Rule" (Charbonnier est maître chez soi, dit-on) est illégitime, mérite la défaite et la subira sans contredit. Le droit de self-government s'applique aux associations ouvrières avec autant de justice qu'aux nations et c'est suivant cette idée que l'American Federation of Labor fut organisée, garantissant à chaque métier un self-government positif et absolu.

Le plan d'accorder à chaque métier le droit positif de diriger ses propres affaires est aussi raisonnable que légitime et se base sur l'expérience et le sens commun, puisque aussi bien la plus récente analyse de la question ouvrière démontre sans réplique possible que personne n'est si bien qualifié à légiférer pour les intérêts de n'importe quel métier, que les hommes employés dans ce métier même. Nulle éloquence effervescente, qu'elle soit de qui on voudra, ne saurait victorieusement contredire la vérité de cette affirmation.

Toute institution, qu'elle soit politique, civile, militaire, d'église ou de travail, pour réussir pleinement, et de façon doit être permanente dirigée par des hommes honnêtes. Le "graft" ou système des pots de vin et l'ambition de pouvoir sont les plus grands traquenards où puissent tomber la bonne législation et le gouvernement en faveur des masses, que se soit dans une organisation ouvrière ou dans un parti politique. Toutes les organisations économiques ou de travail d'une façon générale, sont contrôlées par les membres eux-mêmes: ceci est particulièrement vrai dans notre propre organisation.

C'est du devoir des hommes dans le rang de toujours veiller à ce que des personnes honnêtes, sans peur ni compromis, droites et consciencieuses soient placées dans des postes de confiance, aussi bien locaux que généraux.

Un démagogue trop critiqueur ou fanfaron occupant une place de confiance dans une organisation de labeur peut faire plus de mal en une minute qu'une chambrée d'honnêtes gens en une année.

Un intérêt égoïste et purement local contrôle souvent les opinions d'hommes d'inclinations honnêtes: de là, il faut plus de courage en beaucoup de cas, de lutter en faveur du large principe du droit que de suivre les inclinations égoïstes de la masse.

Yes membres sans crainte qui sont pour le droit parcequ'il est le droit, sans égard des petits intérêts présents et locaux, sont ceux qui généralement réussissent au plus beau sens du mot. Ils ont raison à la longue et dans l'intrêt bien entendu de tous ceux que cela regarde, ils devraient être soutenus et appuyés dans toutes leurs justes actions.

Un honnête protestataire qui proteste sans peur et ouvertement dans le meeting parce qu'il pense qu'il a raison, est un membre utile à l'organisation. Il a le courage de ses opinions et accepte le combat virilement. S'il a raison et peut le prouver, il a par cela fait quelque bien au mouvement. S'il a tort ou s'il s'est trompé, la question est liquidée en plain meeting, et la justice triomphe généralement. Un protestataire consciencieux, si on lui prouve qu'il a tort, reconnaît généralement son erreur. Au contraire, un qui critique par envie, au coin des rues et derrière le dos de ceux mêmes qu'il critique, agit comme un couard et fait plus de tort au mouvement ouvrier que le protestataire au vu et au su tous. Un critiqueur de l'espèce poltronne agit comme un homme qui aurait de naissance une disposition à la lâcheté et à la dissimulation ou comme un qui, unioniste de nom seulement et l'étant parce que contracté et forcé, ferait tout son possible pour empêcher le développement de l'union.

Reconnaissez qu'il y a des millions d'opinions humaines qui diffèrent et que la vôtre n'est qu'une dans le tas.

Montrez un esprit de bonté non feinte qui fera d'un ennemi le débiteur de votre bonne volonté native.

Une patience qui supplante l'accusation en fournissant l'opportunité de découverte personnelle de la vérité.

Reconnaissez ce qui est l'habitude dans les différentes circonstances de la vie et acceptez la situation d'une manière gracieuse.

Soyez doux, joyeux et sincère—et ces vertus vous en donneront d'autres.

RAPPELEZ-VOUS CECI.

Gompers et son associé n'auraient jamais eu à être jugés si tout unioniste avait toujours exigé l'étiquette.

Le gouvernement américain n'aurait pas eu à combattre le trust du tabac si les unionistes n'avaient jamais acheté du tabac et des cigares du trust.

Le mouvement ouvrier gagnerait cent pour cent en force pendant l'année 1910 si tous les unionistes demandaient, comme un seul homme, l'étiquette.

Rassemblons-nous, discutons l'étiquette et exigeons l'étiquette.

Los periodos de decaimiento en las organizaciones obreras, son más frecuentes que en ninguna otra clase de asociaciones. Y ese resulta porque nuestras sociedades se constituyen casi exclusivamente al calor de ideas altruistas; los fines practicos y utilitarios solo constan en la formación de los nucleos obreros, como cuestiones secundarias, siempre desdénables ante la magnitud del ideal acariciado.

Generalmente, se parte de un error al fundar instituciones de trabajadores. Desdénase realidad de la vida diaria para dedicar la mayor parte de las energías a las sofísticas de un ideal siempre incierto ó por lo menos muy rectificable.

Los obreros, en casi todos los países fundan su felicidad en la quimera de algo que vendrá mañana traído por el esfuerzo de todos. Pero siempre acontece que cada grupo trabaja en diverso sentido, de lo cual resultan neutralizadas las energías, y, desvaneciéndose entonces las ilusiones, fórmase una montaña de inconvenientes que obstruye los mejores deseos de los organizaciones.

El tejer destejer que observar en ese asunto en todos los pueblos donde palpita la cuestión capital y trabajo, no tiene otro origen, si exceptuase la ignorancia, que la obsesión de llegar pronto a la felicidad, y precasamente nos separamos de lo poca que podríamos gozar actualmente, corriendo tras la imagen de la justicia dibujada en la imaginación de cada trabajador de manera diferente; con líneas y contornos tales, que la brillante invectiva de artífices soñadores ha convertido en deliciosos paraísos fáciles de conquistar.

Naturalmente, mientras los trabajadores se afanan en la conquista de esos mundos que tan asquibiles parecen; en tanto que dividen y subdividen sus fuerzas empleándolas cada grupo en tratar de sujetar a su gusto la ficción de su fantasía, viven los capitalistas completamente a sus anchas ocupándose de las realidades del presente que nosotros desdénamos con estupidez inconcebible.

Después, cuando un extremecimiento de la conciencia supone el retorno a la realidad, no hay energías ni fuerzas para contrarrestar las energías ni las fuerzas de los amos de riquezas, porque en las luchas intestinas hanse malgastado esas dos potencias necesarias para la defensa de nuestras mas caros intereses, cuyos son los que nos proporcionan el sustento diario, el pan de la prole; y si los atendíamos como merecen, producirían toda la suma de bienes que fuésemos mereciendo por nuestra cultura, por nuestra laboriosidad, y porque seríamos capaces de mantenerlos, desarrollarlos y ampliarlos, después de haberlos conquistado.

Cuando entretiénese el tiempo en escarceos interiores, no hay lugar para atender a los asuntos obreros que tienen relación con el capital, y éste aprovecha de nuestro descuido en beneficio propio, no solo sizando cuanto puede el producto de nuestro trabajo, sino tomando buenas posiciones para defenderse de nuestros ataques cuando le acometamos.

Que fuerza de resistencia ó de ataque podrá desarrollar una hueste que ocupa su tiempo en debilitarse de continuo?

Unicamente la negativa; la que favorece al adversario; la que tiende al enervamiento de la clase; la que produce el decaimiento del espíritu público; la que contribuye al fomento del descreimiento de las masas, creando la mayor, inconsciencia societaria; la que enerva las facultades del individuo hasta sumirlo en el desconocimiento del propio valer; la que favorece a la maldad de los hombres y fomenta de continua la ignorancia la que, siembra desconfianzas perniciosas y recelos eveneadores; la que, siempre engañadora, lleva consigo la maldita derrota que echa sobre la hueste que sucumbe la fría nieve de crudo desengaño, sembrando en derredor de la clase confusión y desaliento.

En este sentido, las agrupaciones de trabajadores están atravesando un período crítico, del cual habrán de salir ganciosas las que hanse ajustado hasta ahora a la realidad de la vida diaria, que no consiste solo en conservar el mendrugo de pan, como suponen algunos espíritus exasperantes, sino tambien en preparar a los trabajadores por diversos modos para la marcha evolutiva de los ideales de progreso.

Así es nuestra Institución. Así es la Unión

Internacional de Tabaqueiros de America, y por eso vive y se desarrolla en medio de un ambiente que no le es muy favorable. Por eso, por que se preocupa del presente y no desdén los ideales de unporvenir razonablemente evolutivo, es por lo que atraviesa los años esclavonándolos sin interrupción alguna en cantidad que monta a medio siglo.

Jest překvapujícím, jak málo lidí skutečně rozumí, zač vlastně dělnické unie bojují. Mnozí myslí, že je to boj pro kratší pracovní hodiny a lepší mzdu. To jest ovšem jedna z věcí, o které organizovaná práce zápasí. Avšak jest ještě mnoho jiných věcí po celé zemi. Muži a ženy práce bojují o povznesení všeho lidstva, a mnozí, kdož nemají statečnosti bojovati v řadách dělnických, těší se získaným poměrům. Mnozí v tomto městě i v jiných, kdož pracují pouze osm hodin denně místo desíti, musí děkovati uniovým lidem za tuto velkou privilej. Mnohý mrzutý den zahálky byl stráven chozením ulicemi. Mnohá žena a mnohé dítě pocítily muk hladu, zatím co dobytý chleba stávkovo pro osmihodinový pracovní den. My doufáme, že jednoho dne lidé, kteří sklízí tento prospěch, přidruží se k těmto vojům, jež daly jim sanitární poměry, které v tovarnách nyní existují, byvše dobyty v bojích dělnických unii. Zdravý, silný hoch nebo dívka, kteří tráví svůj čas hraním si, místo práce v některé tovarně, musí děkovati organizované práci, neboť zákon o dětské práci jest jedním z výsledků boje organizované práce, a přes to, že poměry byly zlepšeny, jest ještě mnoho zel ku nápravě, a tu bude v boji pokračováno, až budou napravena.

Pevná a vytrvalá důvěra v řemeslnicko-uniovém hnutí bude jistě následována konečným zorganizováním všech, kdož mzdu si dobývají. Přes všechny nesnáze, nepřátelskou opozici některých zaměstnavatelů a velkých kapitalistů a konečně, ne však nejméně, netečnost a často i nepřátelství některých z dělníků samotných, máme dnes v řadách přes 3,000,000 organizovaných dělníků.

Z malých, zarážejících začátků hnutí toto stále vzrůstalo v členství a prospěšnosti. Pionéři v tomto hnutí odmítli poddati se nebo nechati se zastaviti nepřátelskými soudci, zákazy, vězením, pronásledováním, nedostatkem, bídou a skutečným vyhladověním, svojí skutečnou vírou a vytrvalostí v hnutí tomto inspirovali naději a důvěru v myslích a srdcích dělníků, a tito opět přinášeli oběti zásadě, před níž stávají se takzvaní patrioti ve všech jiných poměrech života bezvýznamnými.

Muži s rodinami byli vyhazováni a vypuzováni z města, pokorováni a doháněni na pokraj zoufalství, avšak hnutí přece stále pokračovalo a pokračovati bude, až konečně všichni dělníci budou zorganizováni a lepší průmyslový a společenský stav bude zbudován.

Nedávný úspěšný boj živůtkářek jest důkazem, co bylo vykonáno, a další ukázkou, co lze vykonati v jiných řemeslech.

Důvěra v toto hnutí jest mnohem důležitější, nežli se mnozí domnívají. Všichni členové mají nejen v hnutí tomto důvěru míti, poněvadž výsledky takovou vírou ospravedlňují, ale mají také dávat jí na jevo při svém jednání a řeči. Máte-li důvěru a vyslovujete-li ji při všech příležitostech, má to účinek na všechny, s nimiž snad přicházíte do styku. Důvěra, tak jako jiné věci, jest nakažlivá. Lékař, který řekne pacientovi, že mu nic není, že bude v několika dnech zdrav, inspiruje v něm důvěru a vykoná tak pro pacienta více dobra, nežli jeho medicíny. Lékař, který krouť hlavou, hledí zasmušile atd., odstraňuje a poškozuje pacienta. Tak je tomu i v řemeslnicko-uniovém hnutí. Mějte důvěru v naši unii, neboť výsledky tak dalece potvrzují, že máte k tomu příčinu, a tím budete inspirovati i jiné důvěrou svojí. Je to potřebným ku vašemu vlastnému blahobytu a prospěchu, abychom zorganizovali řemeslo pokud možno nejdříve. Cím dříve zorganizujeme nezorganizované, tím dříve odstraníme jejich soutěž a učiníme cestu k zdokonalením poměrům přístupnější. Nebud'te pochýbovačem, mějte důvěru a buďte podnikavatelem pro svoje vlastní nejlepší zájmy. Za minulý rok získali jsme přes 4,000 členů; necht' zdvojnásobíme nebo ztrojnásobíme tento počet letošního roku. To vykonáno být může; pokusme se o to všichni. Důvěra v sebe a v hnutí pomůže.

Doutníkářská Mezinárodní Unie může právem bráti odpustitelné uspokojení ve faktu, že jest, prakticky řečeno, početně právě tak dobře zorganizována, jako kterékoli jiné čistě průmyslové řemeslo. Je pouze málo řemesel, která mají více členů, nežli my. Když vezmou se v úvahu okolnosti, obklopující řemesla, jsme při porovnání daleko v předvoji. Vezmeme si na příklad jednu nebo dvě stavební unie, které mají mnohem větší pole ku získávání členstva, nežli my; jejich řemeslo není konkurenční. Oni nejsou poškozováni ženami a dětmi a jsou chráněni silnou radou stavebních řemesel. My naproti tomu máme ženy, děti, trusty, konkurenční obchod a menší počet lidu ku získávání. Neříkáme to proto, abychom se chlubilili nebo snad zlehčovali jiná řemesla, ale proto, že je to faktum a abychom propůjčili povzbuzení našim loyálními a těžce pracujícími členům, kteří mají důvěru v naši unií, a v zájmu obnovení činnosti ještě více naše řady rozmnožit. Odvaha, důvěra a vytrvalá tuha práce zvíťazí. Necht' štěstí přeje všem ostatním uniím, necht' vzrůstají a prosperují, necht' všichni vzrůstáme v síle, užitečnosti a počtu.

Řemeslnické unie a řemeslníci unionisti jsou prostředky, kterými přivádí se všechny reformy, jež mají vliv na dělnictvo a pracovní poměry, nehledě na to, jsou-li dělníci zorganizováni či nie. Unie a unionisti první upozorňují veřejnost na poměry, které appellují na lidskost a svědomou stránku vzájemných se osvěceného lidu, a jednou probuzené inteligentní veřejné smýšlení ve prospěch spravedlnosti jistě nechá se počtiti.

Řemeslnicko-uniové hnutí a jeho věrní obhájcové byli kopáni, poutáni, týráni, pomlouváni, ohláváni a poškozováni více nežli kterékoli jiné hnutí a jeho doporučovatelé na světě, avšak přes to vše toto hnutí stále sílí.

Bez řemeslnických unií staly by se poměry vyrábějících mass v této zemi nesnesitelnými a beznadějnými.

Dobrou věc nelze udržeti potlačenu; a právě proto uniové hnutí jest nahore a stále vzrůstá.

Jede Institution, ob politická, občanská, militárisch, křesťanská nebo der Arbeit geweiht, muß, um ganz erfolgreich und von Nutzen und Dauer zu sein, von ehrlichen Männern geführt und geleitet werden. Westschlichkeit und Machtbegierde sind die Hindernisse, die Gesetzgebung und Regierung im Interesse der Massen erschweren, ob in einer Arbeiter- oder politischen Organisation oder einer Partei. Alle ökonomischen oder Arbeiter-Organisationen werden im Allgemeinen von der Mitgliedschaft kontrolliert, was in unserer eigenen Organisation besonders der Fall ist.

Es ist die Pflicht aller, also der ganzen Mitgliedschaft, immer darauf zu achten, daß rechtschaffen, ehrliche, furchtlose, treue, gewissenhafte Männer die verantwortlichen Ämter erhalten, die örtlichen wie auch die allgemeinen.

Ein heuchlerischer oder proklamer Demagoge in einem verantwortungsvollen Amt einer Arbeiter-Organisation kann in einer Minute mehr Schaden thun, als eine Halle voll ehrlicher Leute in einem Jahre wieder gutmachen können.

Selbstsüchtiges und örtliches Interesse beherrscht oft die Meinungen ehrlich veranlagter Menschen, und es ist daher in manchen Fällen mehr Muth nöthig, an dem Grundsatz des Rechts festzuhalten, als den selbstsüchtigen Neigungen der Vielen zu folgen.

Furchtlose Mitglieder, die das Rechte wollen, weil es recht ist, ohne Rücksicht auf augenblickliche oder örtliche Stimmungen, sind gewöhnlich diejenigen, die Erfolg haben. Schließlich findet man sie eben im Recht, und sie sollten, im besten Interesse aller Beitheiligten und als Ganzes in allen ihren gerechten Handlungen unterstützt und aufrechterhalten werden.

Die Cigar Makers' International Union kann mit verzeihlichem Stolz auf die Thatfache deuten, daß sie in praktischer Hinsicht numerisch so gut organisiert ist, wie irgendein anderes rein industrielles Handwerk. Es gibt ihrer nur noch wenige andere, die eine größere Mitgliederzahl haben, als wir. Zieht man aber die Verhältnisse in den verschiedenen Handwerken in Betracht, dann wird ein Vergleich uns allen voran finden. Da sind z. B. eine oder zwei Baugewerkschaften, die ein bedeutend größeres Feld um sich liegen haben als wir, denn sie haben mit keiner Konkurrenz zu rechnen. Sie werden nicht von Frauen und Kindern behindert und sind von starken Building Trade Councils geschützt. Wir aber haben es mit Frauen und Kindern, den Trusts und mit Konkurrenz zu thun und haben eine kleinere Zahl zur Verfügung. Wir wollen damit nicht prahlen oder andere Handwerke herabsetzen, sondern führen es als Thatfache an zur Ermuthigung unserer treuen schwerarbeitenden Mitglieder, die unserer Union vertrauen und um zu erneuten Anstrengungen anzusporren, damit unsere Zahl zunimmt. Muth, Vertrauen und beständiges Arbeiten müssen gewinnen. Unsern Glückwunsch allen anderen Unions, mögen sie blühen und gedeihen, mögen wir alle an Stärke, Nützlichkeit und Zahl zunehmen.

Die Gewerkschaften und deren Anhänger helfen beim Zustandekommen aller Reformen zum Nutzen der Arbeiter und derer Verhältnisse, ob nun die Arbeiter organisiert sind oder nicht. Die Unions und deren Anhänger sind die ersten, die die öffentliche Aufmerksamkeit auf schlechte Verhältnisse lenken und damit an das menschliche Gewissen der Befähigten pochen, und eine öffentliche Meinung, die immer aufgeklärter wird, kann gar nicht anders als sich fühlbar machen, wenn mal ihr Gerechtigkeitsgefühl wach gerüttelt wird.

Ohne Gewerkschaften würden die Verhältnisse der produzierenden Massen in diesem Lande untraglich und hoffnungslos werden.

Es ist unmöglich, eine gute Sache niederzuhalten, darum steht die Gewerkschaftsbewegung hoch und steigt immer höher.

Unerfüllbares und standhaftes Vertrauen zu der Gewerkschaftsbewegung muß sicherlich den schließlichen Zusammenschluß aller Lohnarbeiter ergeben. Trotz aller Hindernisse, der Feindseligkeit mancher Arbeitgeber und großer Kapitalisten, und zuletzt und nicht am wenigsten, trotz der Gleichgültigkeit und oft sogar Feindschaft mancher Arbeiter selber, haben wir jetzt 3,000,000 organisierte Arbeiter in unseren Reihen.

Aus keinem und trostlosem Anfang hat die Bewegung beständig an Mitgliederzahl und Nützlichkeit zugenommen. Die Pioniere der Bewegung gaben den Kampf nicht auf und ließen sich nicht einschüchtern durch feindliche Richter, Einhaltsbefehle, Gefängnis, Verfolgung, Mangel, Noth und den Hunger selbst, ihr Glaube an die Bewegung und ihre Standhaftigkeit begeisterten die Arbeiter und gaben ihnen Hoffnung und Zuversicht, sodaß auch sie ihrem Grundsatz Opfer brachten, im Vergleich wozu sich das Gebahren der sogenannten Patrioten auf allen andern Lebensstufen höchst nichtsagend ausnimmt.

Männer mit Familien wurden gerichtlich aus ihrer Stadt vertrieben, erniedrigt und bis an den Rand der Verzweiflung gebracht, doch hielt das niemals die Bewegung auf, die stets vorwärts geht, wird, bis schließlich alle Arbeiter organisiert sind und ein besserer industrieller und sozialer Zustand erreicht ist.

Der kürzliche erfolgreiche Kampf der Shirtwaik-Maker zeigt, was schon erreicht ist, und zeigt auch, was andere Gewerkschaften erreichen können.

Vertrauen in die Bewegung ist viel wichtiger als manche annehmen. Alle Mitglieder sollten nicht nur Vertrauen in die Bewegung haben, weil das bisher Erreichte dazu berechtigt, sondern sie sollten ihm auch durch That und Wort Ausdruck geben. Wer Vertrauen hat und es bei jeder Gelegenheit zu erkennen gibt, der wird auf alle, mit denen er in Berührung kommt, einen demgemäßen Einfluss üben. Vertrauen, wie so vieles andere, ist ansteckend. Der Arzt, der dem Kranken sagt, alles stünde gut, und er würde in ein paar Tagen gesund sein, gibt Vertrauen und hilft dem Kranken mehr damit als mit seiner Medizin. Der Arzt aber, der den Kopf schüttelt, ernst aussieht u.s.w., entmuthigt und schadet dem Kranken. So geht's auch in der Gewerkschaftsbewegung. Man vertraue unserer Union, weil alles bisher Erreichte dazu berechtigt, dann kann man auch dies Vertrauen auf andere übertragen. Für die Wohlfahrt und den Nutzen eines jeden ist es nöthig, daß wir die Handwerke so schnell wie möglich organisieren. Je baldere wir die Unorganisierten organisieren, desto schneller sind wir ihre Konkurrenz los und bringen wir das Ziel besserer Zustände näher. Kein Zweifler sein, sondern Vertrauen haben und zu eigenem Nutzen dies Vertrauen verbreiten! Wir nahmen im vorigen Jahre um 4,000 Mitglieder zu, es gilt, diese Zahl in diesem Jahre zu verdoppeln oder verdreifachen. Es läßt sich machen, also gehen wir mit vereinten Kräften daran. Vertrauen in sich selbst und in die Bewegung wird uns helfen.

Die Tagespresse hat es jüngst ihren Lesern aufgetragen, daß einige Korporationen „freiwillig“ die Löhne erhöhen. Es ist aber Thatfache, daß in jedem Falle, wo die Löhne erhöht wurden, die Ursache die Agitation war, die von den Unions ausging, und ferner, wo die Union schlecht organisiert war, da half die beständige und unermüdete Agitation der Gewerkschaften und der Arbeiterpresse gegen die unmenschlichen Zustände und schrecklich niedrigen Löhne, die in diesen Institutionen herrschten, und veranlaßten dieselben, wenigstens etwas Abhilfe zu schaffen, wenn sie's auch nicht gerne thaten.

NOTICE.

When a member changes from the 30c to the 20c list, or retires absolutely, all previous cards, in possession of the union, should be returned to the International Union.

NOTICE TO SECRETARIES.

On and after February 28 do not use any numbers from 20001 to 43000, inclusive, unless the numbers become vacant on your own books, except to give old numbers to members owing loans. Secretaries in need of numbers for new members not owing loans should send to the International Office for them.

The Constitution, twentieth edition, contains an error. The amendment of Union 97, Boston, reference accepting cards from foreign countries, took the place of the old law. Through mistake both the amendment and the old law are included. The last paragraph, or last twelve lines of Section 67, on page 20, is the old law and doesn't belong in the Constitution.

NOTICE.

Financial secretaries when granting loans should, as required by Section 104, enter loans in figures and letters. It is not necessary to punch cards.

The amendment adopted to Sections 76 and 77 does away with the issuance of retiring cards to all who continue to pay dues as beneficiary members.

Retiring cards are only for those who pay up and actually terminate all connection with the union in so far as the payment of dues is concerned.

Members who transfer from the 30-cent list to the 20-cent beneficiary membership list are simply changed from one class to another and deducted from one and added to the other.

Members who have not paid 30-cent dues for three years and quitting the trade under Section 76 and wishing to qualify for Section 77 as a beneficiary member should be kept on without any other change than to make a note of the intention on the ledger page. If such member desires to travel to another jurisdiction he should be given a transfer card and his intention to qualify as a 20-cent beneficiary member written on the transfer card. Such beneficiary members are not entitled to any benefits except sick benefits after one year's membership and whatever death benefits their term of membership entitles them to.

If you hold any loan cards of no further use send them to this office.

Before granting or accepting retiring cards secretaries and members should consult Sections 76 and 77 of the Constitution.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS AND MEMBERS.

In printing the nineteenth edition of the Constitution, an omission occurs in Section 77, on line 7. A comma and the words "and local assessments" should follow "International assessments." The sentence to read: "All International assessments, and local assessments levied for label agitation purposes." This amendment as published in another place is correct.

MEMBERS OUT OF WORK ARE NOT ENTITLED TO THE SIXTEEN WEEKS' PRIVILEGE IN DUES UNLESS THEY NOTIFY THE SECRETARY WEEKLY BEFORE THE EIGHTH WEEK. THIS INCLUDES TRAVELING MEMBERS, WHO SHOULD ALWAYS CARRY A CERTIFICATE AND HAVE SAME SIGNED WEEKLY.

Items for the Journal should be placed on separate slips of paper—not the backs of reports, etc.—in order to insure prompt publication, and should reach this office not later than the 10th of each month if intended for current publication.

NOTICE—How to duplicate Loan Cards.

It frequently occurs that new secretaries through error or lack of knowledge, transfer the amount a member "has coming" instead of what he owes. In duplicating a card, figure up all the member has borrowed and subtract all he has paid, and if there is a balance against the member transfer to new card in red ink and figures and letters the amount due the International Union. Also enter on new card all that may be essential that you find on the old, then sign and seal it. Send the old card to the International office.

Unions when notifying this office of change in secretary will please at once give the new secretary's address, if possible, so as to obviate delays, mistakes, etc.

In reporting deaths kindly comply with the following and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of member. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the records of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such card, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the latter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

If secretaries when ordering supplies will place the order on the regular blank, it will greatly simplify the work here and avoid unnecessary delay for those who order the supplies. We receive an average of 300 pieces of mail in the office daily. Sometimes an order is sandwiched into a two or three-page letter containing three or more different subjects, and there is danger in such cases of an order being overlooked. Hence we ask that in order to save unnecessary delay and annoyance you order on the regular blank, giving your name and address.

DECISIONS OF PRESIDENT

W. Schewe appealed against 187, Covington, for fining him $5 for allowing himself to be suspended. The union replied it was his fourth or fifth time. The appeal was not sustained.

E. H. Lewis and Chas. Young appealed against 39, New Haven, for levying an assessment of 70 cents of weekly wages on all members in aid of the general strike in Philadelphia, Pa. Appellant cites section 194 of the constitution, which provides that not more than 50 cents per week shall be levied in aid of another trade. The appeal was sustained.

V. M. Summers appealed against 114, Jacksonville, for fining him $50. The union recommended that I reduce the fine to $25. Owing to extenuating circumstances, the fine is hereby reduced to $15.

F. C. Toms appealed against 22, Detroit, for suspending and annulling his 20 cent card. The appeal was not sustained.

J. L. Feltman appealed against 33, Indianapolis, for refusing to compel C. Gaumer to take a retiring card. The union replied that Mr. Gaumer is secretary of the State Federation of Labor and of the Indiana State Blue Label League and that he devotes nearly all of his time to work for these institutions and in the labor movement. The appeal was not sustained.

H. H. Kupferman appealed against 97, Boston, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The appellant claims he paid 60 cents to the collector, which, through a mistake, was never credited to the account of Mr. Kupferman. Facts as stated confirmed by the union. The appeal was sustained.

Chas. Agensen appealed against 3, Paterson, for fining him $2.50 for leaving an unpaid board bill when he left town and for a long time thereafter. The appeal was not sustained.

A. Reachard appealed against 3, Paterson, for fining him $2.50, leaving an unpaid board bill when he left town. The appeal was not sustained.

B. Kopf appealed against 228, San Francisco, for fining him for non-attendance of at least one meeting a month. The appeal was not sustained.

J. J. Brosnan appealed against 326, Taunton, with reference to some alleged action or non action. The union replied that he had not brought the question up in the union. The appeal was not sustained. Should appeal first to the union.

Ed. Smith, a jurisdiction member, appealed against 238, Sacramento, for not allowing him postage. The appeal was not sustained.

H. B. Sanders appealed against 187, Covington, for fining him for refusing to lay off one full day and distribute circulars advertising the label. The appeal was sustained.

INTERNATIONAL FINES

The International Executive Board approved the application of Union 1, Baltimore, Md., to fine John H. Schumacher $50 for scabbing at Fry Bros.' shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Approved the application of Union 132, Brooklyn, N. Y., to fine Sigmund Newman, No. 18073, $25 for paying below the bill of prices. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Approved the application of Union 146, New Brunswick, N. J., to fine Marvin J. Rolfe and Joseph Curran each $25 for scabbing in H. H. Winter's factory. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

Approved the application of Union 440, Tampa, Fla., to fine A. Gonzalez for working in a shop not recognized by the union, but reduced the fine from $200 to $128.57. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 3; negative, 1, and approving a fine of $100, 3.

Approved the application of Union 32, Louisville, Ky., to annul the card of and fine Phil Mertz, No. 70688, $50 for going to work in an unfair shop. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 6. The other member disapproved the annulment of the card.

Approved the application of Union 132, Brooklyn, N. Y., to fine Thomas Martin, No. 111410, $25 for paying below the bill of prices. Following is the vote: Affirmative, 7.

ORGANIZERS' REPORT.

Kingston, N. Y.

One of the largest cigar factories operated by the American cigar trust is located here. It is a difficult matter to state positively the actual number employed in making cigars, as those who are in the office refuse to give the information or impart any knowledge pertaining to anything interesting to our craft. I attempted to gather some reliable information from one who is employed as a roller. While she appeared bright, she was woefully dull when the subject in reference to the factory was broached. To show you the difference in figures mentioned by individuals, it ranges 1,100 to 3,000 employed by the Cigar Trust Co., and after viewing the crowd when they left the factory in the evening I am inclined to believe that 1,100 was the nearest to the actual number employed, and that includes those in every department. Van Slyke & Horton have a force of over 300 and another shop which employs over 100.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Business is very dull in this place, as the largest factory is on stint. Very little agitation is done.

Newburgh, N. Y.—This city is under the jurisdiction of the Poughkeepsie Union. All at work. No agitation is done, consequently there is not much life in this place. I advised them to take the subject up and they would see results in a short time.

Hudson, N. Y.—Business is in a bad state here. There are no industries here that amounts to anything, in fact there is considerable less done here now than there was years ago. At that time it was known as a sleepy town. Draw your own conclusions.

Schenectady, N. Y.—This is a very busy city indeed. The General Electric Works are going full blast. It is said they employ 20,000 people. The Schenectady Locomotive Works have 6,000 employed. Everything is on the jump. A fine opportunity is presented to the Local Union to hustle and reap the benefit that certainly will be theirs by inaugurating a lively agitation for the blue label.

Amsterdam, N. Y.—While one of the shops was on a stint and yet the trade seemed fair or will be after the Fourth of July, so I was informed. This place is not very much alive to agitation.

Gloversville, N. Y.—This place is in a condition that the sooner they wake up it will be to their benefit, notwithstanding the efforts of the cigar makers and a couple of other locals they can not form a local body. That is the reason given why the cigar makers can not accomplish much by way of agitation.

Glen Falls, N. Y.—Very little or no agitation is done in this place. If any agitation is carried on they do not see any results. They, like many others, believe that agitation in fits and jerks accomplishes something. It does not. Take the agitation where it is kept up week after week and so on. That is the kind that counts.

Saratoga, N. Y.—The summer season is just about to begin and very large crowds are expected. I presume, that is, the annual expectation, the trade here is fair, and there is a lack of agitation that it seems at a standstill and has been for some time. There is a condition in Saratoga which will no doubt surprise a great many. There is an inclination on the part of the regular residents to co-operate and invite and induce manufacturing concerns to locate there, just the opposite what one would expect in a summer resort in a place which is world famous.

Akron—Attended meetings of 301, also organizing committee meeting. Trade is very dull here in both union and open shops and this retards the work of organizing.

Red Lion—Had conference with a number of the cigar makers here, some that work at Nyers & Adams' factory at York. They seem to want to have a union factory located in Red Lion to use the label just as soon as they would become members. They don't seem to grasp the splendid results that would follow organization by being able to raise wages in the open factories where the prices paid are miserably low.

Dallastown—Talked with a number of the cigar makers here and while there has been no actual results, I may be able to accomplish something at a future conference.

Reamstown—There are about 200 cigar makers here; the largest factory employs over 100 and turns out 5 and 10 cent goods and pays very low wages for the class of work required. This is under jurisdiction of Union 161, Denver, and they appear to want a union job as soon as they would become members. They can't understand that by organization they could raise wages and improve conditions in the non-union factories. Crafts that do not have a label have strong unions and have substantially improved their conditions.

Lebanon—Union 64 has got material that will be able to organize their city if they continue to put forth their best efforts to do so. At Moeckles', the largest factory here, they make a 5½-inch long filler, hand work cigar, for $4.50 per thousand. The job had previously paid $5, but about a year ago the firm reduced it to 4.50 and when the cigar makers accepted the reduction he bought a fine automobile. Some short time later he again reduced the job to $4. But this time a strike took place. Union and non-union quit together and went to the union hall led by leaders in the union they decided to resist the reduction. Mr. Moeckles finding they were determined, sent for a committee and finally agreed to restore the job to $4.50.

Union 64 added some members through this victory. And there is no question but that they will be able to organize that factory if the officers and members put forth their best efforts.

Lancaster—Union 257 has had a good staunch hard-working committee at work for the last four months who have constantly been adding members to the roll. If those who have been foremost in this good work will only hold out and receive the encouragement and assistance from all the membership, they will meet with greater success and should be able to organize their city.

York—Union 242 has not been meeting with the success hoped for, but if they will keep the organizing committee at work, now that the membership of the International Union have voted to assist these districts by granting us the 50 cent initiation fee, there will surely be an increase in their membership.

All members in these districts should show their appreciation of this special dispensation by going and getting members. Every local union should come to the front and show what they can do, now that they have been given this special opportunity.

We are about ready to proceed in the courts against officers and manufacturers of the Universal Cigar Makers and Packers' Union, a dual organization, with headquarters at Hanover, Pa., and who use a label which is a counterfeit or imitation of our blue label, which is being constantly mistaken for our label by brokers, dealers and consumers of cigars, and before this reaches the membership I expect the courts to take action to prevent the use of these labels.

CORRESPONDENCE

REMINISCENCES OF THE CIGAR INDUSTRY.

Kansas City, Mo.

Union No. 102 of Kansas City, Mo., was organized May 22, 1871. Talk about your closed shop organizations! Union No. 102 had them all skinned a mile. Switzer's cigar factory, employing 20 to 30 men, was the whole union. No one in their opinion was eligible to membership unless he secured a job in that shop or held a similar priced job in some other shop. Switzer made nothing but clear Havana filler hand-made cigars, and those jobs were a scarcity in the other shops. So the rest of us had to be contented with our $5 scrap mold work. In the year 1877 Kansas City, like other cities where I worked, was filled with $5 jobs. We worked until 10 or 11 o'clock every night, and when Saturday came we walked out of the shop with one-half of our wages in cigars under our arms and would start out and peddle them the best way we could. Of course the saloons were where we disposed of the most of our cigars. Then, in addition to this, I have seen the boss come in to the shop on a Friday morning and ask the boys how many potatoes, onions, eggs and various other things they could use at home, and if any of us did not take any that week the boss would be angry at us and the chances were we would be looking for another job the following week. Of course the boss would make a large profit off of this produce, buying same at wholesale and selling to us at retail for more than we were required to pay at our family grocery. The traveling fraternity were compelled to board where the boss sent them. The cost of same was always $1 more per week than the man who paid cash, and then if there was a saloon attached to the boarding house, and there invariably was, the boarder who paid cash got a drink or cigar when he paid his board, but the poor scrap who was actually paying $1 per week more got the icy stare every Saturday evening from the landlord. The cigar makers of that time certainly had a rough time of it. With the long hours, short pay and the taking of truck, is it any wonder that we had the blue Monday and the red Tuesday that was so prevalent in our trade in those days? It makes me stop and wonder sometimes if the cigar makers who have come into our trade in the last fifteen years who have been handed the eight-hour work day, the new scale of wages and the proviso on each bill that wages must be paid in cash weekly on a silver platter (so to speak), not to say anything about our sick and death benefit, our out of work benefit, loan benefit—if he realizes what some of our old scraps have done, what sacrifices they have made to bring these new results about and which have placed our grand old International Union second to none in the country. The cigar makers of today know nothing of the early days and some of them who think that the conditions of the trade today are something fierce should have put in a few years in the late seventies and early eighties, when the truck system was at its height. The same condition prevailed pretty much all over the country. Some shops paid no money at all; you had to take all your wages in cigars and turn them into cash the best way you could. There were towns where you could take your choice of a $5 job, wages to be taken in truck, or they would pay you $3.50 to $4 per thousand in cash. Of course you could work all the hours you wanted. Some shops would furnish light, while in other shops the cigar maker would have to furnish his own lamp or candle. It was no uncommon thing in those days to hear of cigar makers furnishing their own molds and presses, but a large majority of us balked on that. Some of the men were known to carry in the winter's coal for the boss at the shop and at his home. Now all of that has been overcome. The truck system has been eliminated from our trade forever, and where the $5 job used to prevail and the long hours we now have $8 and $9 low and an eight-hour work day. So, boys, quit your kicking and grumbling on the conditions of today. Think of the early days and let us get shoulder to shoulder and in time we can overcome all of the obstacles in front of us. Let us all follow the wholesome advice given by the international president in the June Journal. Get into the game right and we need not fear the United Cigar Stores and the American Tobacco Co. Remember the prison made, tenement house and sweat shop cigars, to a large extent are a thing of the past. We have the blue label now which was unknown in the days I speak of. So I say let us unite as one man and go down the line together and give our blue label all the publicity possible, demand all other labels, shop cards and buttons and the cigar makers affiliated with the Cigar Makers' International Union will stay in the foremost ranks of the labor movement of this country.

The annual report of the commissioner general of immigration last issued shows that 1,666 immigrant alien tobacco workers were admitted into our ports during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1909, while 686 emigrant alien tobacco workers departed from our shores during the same period.

The following table gives the number of immigrant and emigrant alien tobacco workers according to races of people:

	Admitted.	Departed.
African (black).....	147	16
Armenian.....	2	1
Bohemian and Moravian (Czech)....	2	2
Croatian and Slovenian.....	1	..

Comparing the above figures to those of 1908, we find that 331 more alien tobacco workers were admitted and 528 less departed from this country in the fiscal year ending June, 1909, than in the fiscal year ending June, 1908.

David Goldstein.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 2, 1910.

Reasons for the amendment by Union 149, Brooklyn:

1. Unions establishing a higher price for the sale of label goods in their respective localities (above the $20 as per Sec. 156) have found their way for higher wages.
2. Manufacturers receiving a higher price for their goods will not seriously object to saying higher wages.
3. The underselling by outside manufacturers working under the $20 clause and selling label goods at that price in localities where a higher price has been established should become a violation of label laws.
4. Underselling is followed by lower wages, lower wages require a lower standard of living.

5. Safeguard such places where a higher price has been established through the adoption of a higher price for the sale of label goods and you will stimulate a tendency for higher wages throughout the craft. Leave them unprotected, then the better paying districts will be forced down to the level of such districts where a manufacturer can sell his goods for $20 and still make a good profit.

6. Increase in the cost of living (see legislative reports) increase cost during the last eight years. Pork, 70 per cent; beef, 40 to 60 per cent; dairy products, 50 per cent; bread-stuffs, 30 per cent; clothing, 30 per cent; rent, 20 per cent, etc. How much did your wages raise?

7. Last but not the least to meet the present cost of living, we need higher wages; first step is to get the manufacturers a better price for their label goods, then your demand in the future for better wages will be justified. The retailer doesn't need 80 to 100 per cent profit. Let us have a little of it.

For the above reasons we kindly request you to support and indorse sub-joint amendment.

Secretary Union 149, Brooklyn.

Detroit, Mich., May 10, 1910.

To All International Unions:

The Detroit Federation of Labor desires to call your attention to the fact that the Detroit Board of Commerce, composed of members of the Employers' Association and open shop or non-union shop advocates, has been advertising widely and very extensively throughout New York, Ohio, Connecticut and other states with a most seductive but deceptive statement as to the ideal conditions existing here, with the intention of inducing workmen to locate in Detroit. Our cheap lodging houses and missions are crowded with men unable to secure employment, and at any of our automobile factories you may see from 25 to 100 men crowding at the gates every morning, and yet the Detroit Board of Commerce desires to flood the city, and with only one object, to eat into the vitals of trade unions. So our desire is to, through your office, send out a warning so that it may possibly be the means of saving some man or men from coming to Detroit with the almost certain possibility of being stranded or being forced to work for wages that it is impossible to exist on, much less live on.

The Detroit Federation of Labor,
Alfred J. Exton, Secretary.

Cincinnati, O., June, 1910.

To Organized Labor and Our Friends:

The Cigar Makers' Union No. 4 will celebrate their golden jubilee Saturday, August 6, 1910, at Reichrath's Park, Cumminsville.

We herewith invite your organization to come and enjoy the day with us.

The Cigar Makers' Union No. 4 has always favored the advancement of the labor movement.

Fifty years of existence is worth while to celebrate. Therefore we appeal to all brother members of organized labor and our friends to be with us on that date and help make this the grandest day of pleasure ever celebrated in Cincinnati.

The committee has done all in their power and spared no expense to make it the most pleasant affair for everyone who participates.

One thing we have in view, we all gather here and become more acquainted with one another.

Remember the date, Saturday, August 6.

Your card or button will admit you and your family.

Band concert in the afternoon and evening. A valuable souvenir will be given to every gent.

Take Clark street or Colerain avenue car direct to grounds.

Hoping to meet you, one and all at the fiftieth anniversary of our union, we remain

The Celebration Committee.

John L. Gilliam, President.

L. Levering, Secretary.

As you are fully aware that the moving picture shows are having a great run all over the country and gaining in popularity every day, I would respectfully suggest that the C. M. I. U. use them as a medium for advertising the blue label. We could get pictures portraying the different shops in their worst form, such as the child labor, trust shops, Chinese, tenement house, prison and other scab shops and then a nice union shop with a large blue label in evidence.

I sincerely hope you may give this your careful consideration and start the movement in time to get in with the Jeffries and Johnson big fight, as these pictures will draw largely on men who smoke.

No doubt it will take a good deal of money to run this, but I honestly believe it will be a paying investment, as our present way of advertising is very inadequate and far behind that of the trusts.

Perhaps this may have been suggested before, but if so I know nothing of it, and I find the cigar makers here with whom I have talked of the matter think it a good scheme.

LOCAL FINES

Note.—Fines below $5 are not published in the Journal. See Sec. 195.

Sec. 197. Members having been fined by local unions shall pay such fines on the following basis: $10 or less, 10 per cent of weekly wages and benefits paid by the union, or amounts more than $10, 15 per cent, aside from payments on loans, as provided by the constitution.

Union 339, Santa Barbara, Calif., has placed a fine of $5.12 against Wm. J. Lee (102458), which amount he appropriated to himself of the C. M. I. U. money while acting as financial secretary and treasurer for March, 1910, which was the only month he acted as such.

Mr. Wm. F. Hahn was fined $5.00 for allowing himself to become suspended. By Union 33, Indianapolis, Ind.

Union 132, Brooklyn, N. Y., fined Theo. Werner ($896) $10.00 for working below the bill of prices.

Union 331, Crookston, Minn., fined O. H. Bergstrom (77195) $5.00 and George J. Dahm (89624) $10.00 (second time) for allowing themselves to become suspended.

Union 444, Walla Walla, Wash., placed a fine of $5.00 against Alfred R. Yantis for refusing to pay International loan and local assessments.

Union 318, Chattanooga, Tenn., fined George Brenner (17104) $5.00 for allowing himself to become suspended.

Union 129, Denver, Colo., placed a fine of $10.00 on Steve Babich (111786) for failing to send $1.80 to the union for dues collected from E. J. Scanlon, May 25, 1910, while acting as town collector at Lead, S. D. The union also charged $3.60 to Mr. Babich for twelve dues that the union had to pay for in order to clear Mr. Scanlon's account and grant him retiring card which the $1.80 in question would have done had it been sent in at the time it was received by Mr. Babich.

IN MEMORIAM

In reporting deaths, kindly comply with the following and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of members. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the record of your own union. If admitted by card state when and where from, and in addition send in such cards, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the latter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

The following unions adopted resolutions of regret and condolence relating to death or deaths as follows, and ordered charter draped in mourning for thirty days:

Union 129, Denver, Colo.—John Shoup (109651), who died July 1st. Remains were taken charge of by Mr. Shoup's brother and returned to Lincoln, Ill., for burial. Gregorio Suarez (118543), who died July 5th. Funeral taken charge of by the union. Interment at Riverside cemetery.

REPORT OF INTERNATIONAL FINANCIER.

Toronto, Ont., July 5, 1910.

Since last report have examined the accounts of the following unions, viz.:

Union 22, Detroit, Mich.

The books and accounts here are in good order. Cash and stamp accounts balanced each week, also at the end of the month. Benefit cards, original bills and vouchers for expense all on file. Ledger indexed and posted to show actual standing of the members, date when benefit was drawn, etc. When the bank account was verified some interest was entered in the bank book which will be accounted for in the current month's receipts (June, 1910); corrected small difference in stamp account. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand August 31, 1908.....	$ 545.86
Receipts to June 1, 1910.....	16,380.45
Expended over percentage in 1908.....	22.36
Expended over percentage in 1909.....	108.71

Total	$17,057.38
Expense to June 1, 1910.....	16,479.54

Balance would be June 1, 1910.....	$ 577.84
Funds of Union—

Union 27, Toronto, Ont.

The books and accounts here are in excellent order. All benefit cards, vouchers and original bills for expense on file in the order in which they are entered in the expense account. Funds promptly deposited, etc. In case the index was used for all the members all the time it would be much easier for the financier to verify benefits, etc. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand June 1, 1905.....	$ 6,368.92
Receipts to June 30, 1910.....	39,471.23
Expended over percentage in 1906, 1906 and 1908	71.91
Expended over percentage in 1909.....	83.94

Union 61, La Crosse, Wis.

Corrected an error of six 30c dues stamps by entering an item in receipts for current month (June, 1910). Other than this the books and accounts are in their usual very good order. This examination was made because of letters received by the International President reporting money troubles other than ours and requesting an immediate investigation, reference the money belonging to us. I can say it is deposited in the savings department of the Batavian Bank and is quite correctly reported. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand February 1, 1910.....	$641.55

Deficiency of union, June 1, 1910.....	$ 33.00
This deficiency is amount not allowed for expense, June, 1908.

Union 284, Detroit, Mich.

The books and accounts are balanced at the end of each month. Cash and stamp accounts correct. Benefit cards all on file. Ledger posted to show complete standing of each member, when benefits are drawn, etc. But the ledger is not indexed; should be. The treasurer seems to have lost some vouchers for expense; the stubs show that vouchers have been made out. Original bills for other than benefits on file. Very nice. Statement as follows:

Union 304, Racine, nominated John Sheen of Milwaukee. Union 25 of Milwaukee says it has no such member.

LOST CARDS

Section 111. Any member losing or destroying his loan book shall not be entitled to receive any benefits or a duplicate loan book before the expiration of two months, and financial secretaries of local unions must notify the International President of such loss or destruction immediately, the same to be published in the Official Journal by the International President. The International President shall be the only person to issue a duplicate.

In reporting lost cards give:

1. Full name and number.
2. Date and place of initiation.
3. Place card was last deposited, or duplicate will not be issued.

Members who lose cards are not entitled to benefits until they secure duplicates. No duplicate cards are issued except upon application through some secretary, when the time limit of two months has expired.

Month after month unscrupulous men impose upon secretaries and members under the plea of lost cards. The constitution provides a punishment for lost cards. Its purpose is to stop the carelessness and the traffic made with full cards by permitting them to be held as security.

Don't issue letters to any member claiming lost card unless you know his actual standing.

Members who secure employment should be entered as admitted to the union.

Secretaries should be careful and enter all loans granted and repaid and all balances carried from one card to another in letters and figures. The issue of duplicates will be delayed in all cases where information is not complete.

Secretaries should examine due books where claim of lost card is made.

Secretaries will please notify this office as to whether any private loans are due on cards reported lost, otherwise they are issued with only the international loan account. This does not release members from their just obligations to the unions. The absence of the private loans, however, quite often causes members to overlook those loans and suspensions follow.

Cigar Makers' Official Journal

ISSUED MONTHLY.

G. W. PERKINS, Editor and Publisher.

Entered as Second-Class Matter, Nov. 28, 1894, at the Post Office at Chicago, Ill., under Act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price $1.00 per year. Single copies ten cents. Advertising rates furnished on application.

CHICAGO, JULY 15, 1910.

In another column of this issue we publish a letter by John T. Smith of Kansas City, Mo., which is full of interesting and instructive matter concerning the trade in the early days.

We personally know from experience that the statements made are not overdrawn. Five dollars and $6 jobs at long hours and take your pay in store orders, truck or cigars was the prevailing rule.

Imagine the boss coming in Saturday morning and saying: "Jake, how many onions do you want today, any potatoes and how much sausage?" Consider taking part of your wages, small at that, in groceries, some in cigars and a little, mighty little, in cash and you have some idea of conditions prevailing in the trade before the advent of the International Union.

Cigar makers often worked all winter taking occasionally a little cash and just enough "truck" store orders to live on or boarding house orders and leaving the balance of wages, stand with the boss to wake up in the spring and find the boss had skipped out, failed or otherwise unable to pay up.

These same good old times—for the boss—would prevail today if it was not for the unions. They do prevail in so far as wages, hours of labor, truck and many other adverse conditions in non-union shops. As evidence of this read the reports of the organizers printed regularly in the Official Journal.

We know of many instances in non-union shops where the makers get so many ounces of wrappers for a thousand cigars and if they fall short they are docked or charged for the cigars they are short. These unfortunates go to and return from work with a lantern.

All this has been changed insofar as the organized cigarmaker is concerned. He now enjoys the eight-hour day, fair wages, weekly payments in cash and is accorded something like fair treatment when compared with that accorded him before organization or to non-unionists of today.

The tenement house, prison labor and the Chinese peril which threatened to overwhelm us at one time have been abolished, due solely to the activity of the unions.

What the International Union has done for its members and the trade in general by way of improvement can and will be done for all cigarmakers. The work of organization will be carried forward with renewed vigor with no such word as fail in our minds.

The record of accomplishments of the past are before you and proves that what we have done for ourselves can and will be done for others. We are constantly sending out organization circulars to the workers in unorganized districts. Organizers are making a hand to hand, house to house canvass in the effort to get members and they are meeting with reasonable success.

We ask the earnest co-operation and assistance of all members in the effort to completely organize our trade. It can be done, it will be done. Have faith, get the fever and be a booster.

Over $15,000,000 annually is poured into the coffers of those who exploit and advertise fake consumption cures, according to a statement issued today by the National Association for the Study of Prevention of Tuberculosis; and for this vast sum the victims receive nothing in return, but are often permanently injured and in the majority of cases cheated out of the chance for a real cure. Worse still, most of this money is paid by those who can least afford it.

The National Association has investigated several hundred so-called "cures" and "treatments" for tuberculosis now being advertised throughout the country, and finds that more than $3,000,000 a year is being spent in soliciting the patronage of the public. On examination, it has been found that the great majority of these "cures" contain harmful and habit-forming drugs, such as morphine, opium and chloroform. None of them will cure consumption. The only cure for this disease that has ever been discovered is the combination of fresh air, rest and wholesome food. All of the "cures" that attempt to destroy the tubercle bacillus without these or to stop the progress of the disease in some mysterious way are branded as frauds and impositions.

No drug, gas or other material has yet been discovered which, when eaten, inhaled or injected into the body, will kill the germs of tuberculosis. Fresh air, which contains more oxygen than any substance known, will destroy the germs of tuberculosis, if it is breathed continuously for a long enough period, and if rest and wholesome food are employed at the same time to build up the body.

While there are many perplexing conditions confronting the trade today none are more serious than conditions which formally existed and which have been successfully overcome by trade union activity.

WE WILL FINALLY

At the same time none should assume a position of false security or fancy that things will right themselves. To successfully combat hostile conditions we must study the whole situation, and where necessary apply heroic measures. Under our system of initiative and referendum it is necessary for the membership at large, who make the laws, to thoroughly understand the situation and then apply the proper remedies.

The first essential to success is organization, after which conservative action. Ours is a competitive trade and the unorganized must be taken out of the way before the organized portion can hope to fully realize the full fruits of organized effort. There is no patent panacea that will solve the question, there is no one thing that will do it except complete organization. Some make the mistake of thinking the label will solve the problem. While the label is a wonderful help and power of strength to us, it will not do the work alone. The sooner we get over this notion and buckle down to the real task of organizing the trade the sooner we will realize the fulfillment of our hopes and aspirations.

The union has wrought a wonderful improvement in the lives and condition of its members, and the only reason it has not done more is because of the short sighted policy of those who still remain aloof.

Our system, hours, label, benefits, funds and general policy has, in the main, been proven right by the success so far achieved, and while we realize that self preservation is the first law of nature, and that it is the duty of the International Union to first consider and protect the best interests of our members, and we shall do so. Still one of the ways to do this is to push forward to the limit the work of completing the organization of the trade.

Let us resolve to organize the unorganized regardless of conditions of work or where found.

Anything to prevent the workers from joining the union is always the policy of the non-union employer. Otto Eisenlohr & Bros., who are the largest independent firm of non-union manufacturers in this country and who have eight or ten large factories scattered through Pennsylvania, have inaugurated an employees' relief association. The name of the association is "Otto Eisenlohr & Bros. Employees' Relief Association." The alleged purpose is printed as follows: "The object of the association is to raise a fund from admission fees, weekly dues and other sources to be used for the payment of sick and death benefit to members." The dues are 10 cents per-week, payable in advance and an assessment of 25 cents on each member whenever the funds of the association are less than $500. The benefits paid are sick benefit $5 per week for a period of thirteen weeks and $100 death benefit. This association was started by the bosses and is clearly an attempt to discourage their employees from joining the International Union, which pays not only sick and death benefits, but out of work and strike benefit, and offers what is of greater importance—protection in the matter of wages, hours of labor, etc.

The International Union is a voluntary association of men and women, organized first, last and all the time for the protection and advancement of the moral, material and intellectual welfare of its members and those engaged in the effort to obtain a livelihood in our craft. It positively recognizes no creed, color, race or sex, and is non-partisan. It extends the right hand of fellowship to the man or woman regardless of the accident of birth or where they may have been born. We say to you that regardless of your nationality, of your religious or political beliefs, or color or sex, that those who work at our industry in order to maintain present conditions or improve upon them, must lay aside all prejudices, all question of differences, remembering at all times that regardless of where you may have been born, regardless of what country you may have formerly owed allegiance to, that owing to unrelenting circumstances, you are working here and now at cigar making, and while the International Union recognizes your right to go to church where you may, your right to affiliate with any club, to vote as you please, your right to choose your own companions socially and otherwise, yet it says to you that while in the cigar factory, you are all brothers whose interests, regardless of questions of differences or preferences are linked together and can only be maintained by standing shoulder to shoulder in the united, just and fair demand for fair wages, reasonable hours and decent shop conditions.

Go to your churches, vote politically as you please, go to your social gatherings for recreation and social purposes, if you will and without restraint from the International Union, but once a week or two weeks, or once a month go to the meeting of your union, there to, and with your fellow workers, maintain conditions that bring about bread and butter and the sustenance of life.

There are some interesting figures and conditions surrounding the cigar industry which all members should know, CENTRALIZING THE CIGAR INDUSTRY. consider and then act. Statistics show there were manufactured during the calendar year of 1909, 8,017,119, 975 cigars. This includes both the large and small cigars.

Of this number 6,919,998,570 were large cigars on which $3 per thousand tax was paid, and the balance, or a little over 1,000,000,000, represented the little cigars, or the kind that pay 54 cents per thousand tax. This shows a wonderful increase in the cigar industry in the last thirty years.

While we, as the workers, the cigarmakers, the employes are not responsible for conditions insofar as the manufacturing end of the cigar industry is concerned, we, however as union men in establishing prices, length, sizes and other conditions, are in some sense indirectly responsible, although to a small extent, for conditions as they affect union manufacturers.

While it is true that we have increased the membership about in proportion as the industry has increased, there are no substantial reasons why we should not increase in membership faster than we have. One of the interesting things in connection with the trade is that in the last ten years the number of cigar manufacturers has decreased from 31,435 to 23,882 manufacturers.

This shows a decrease in the number of factories of 7,553, despite the fact that during that period the output of cigars steadily increased. We don't have to look far for one of the chief reasons for the decrease in the number of manufacturers, which everybody knows is due to the cigar trust, the American Tobacco Company and the consolidation of Kerbs, Wertheim & Shiffer, Hirschhorn & Mack and several other large concerns into what is known as the United Cigar Manufacturers Company. The annual output of cigars of this concern nearly equals that of the trust, the American Tobacco Company. About twenty years ago the output of the largest factory in this combine was about 25,000,000 cigars annually, while the output of this combination of successors to that firm today is said to be nearly 400,000,000, an increase of 375 per cent in twenty years. These big concerns are non-union.

They are able to buy cheap because they buy in enormous quantities. They pay less for making their cigars and are enabled to give extensive credit. If it was not for the Cigarmakers' International Union the cigar industry would have been completely monopolized by one or two big concerns long before this. In any event, the figures show that the number of firms are decreasing while the output is increasing. Manufacturers and members know some of the reasons why as well as we, if not better.

We have printed from time to time the facts and figures as they relate to the trade. The membership if they take occasion to read the articles and the editorials published from time to time are fully informed of conditions as they apply to the industry. The small manufacturers should carefully study conditions and to make improvements wherever possible and hustle. It is claimed that the old-fashioned shapes, lead pencil sizes, and the short 4 and 4½ cigars are rapidly going out of existence.

Thirty years ago the average length of a cigar was 4 to 4½, while today the average length has increased to at least 4½, if not 4¾, especially on nickel cigars. Twenty, twenty-five and thirty years ago, when the prevailing length was from 4 to 4½ and in rare instances 4¾, all the bills of prices of course started with 4 or 4½ or less—so much per M. While we have no authoritative figures, we estimate that fully eighty per cent, if not eighty-five per cent, of the 6,919,000,000 cigars are sold for a nickel or less.

If the cigar industry is ever completely monopolized or controlled by the few it will be a sorry day for the smoker. We, however, as working men and women can organize and through organization receive fair wages and conditions.

For the good of the industry, however, we hold that it would be much better that the industry is conducted as in former years by many manufacturers and through individual effort.

The production of cigars of the country as shown by the official statements of stamp receipts during the months of May, 1909, and of 1910, respectively, was as follows:

The first real agitation and protest against tenement house cigar making was started by the Cigarmakers International Union in 1873. The big strike of 1877 involving over 12,000 cigarmakers was partly due to the tenement house system of work. Many attempts to prohibit the system by legislation were attempted. We were successful in two instances, but in each case the court of appeals declared the law unconstitutional. The persistent agitation against this pernicious system was kept up by the International Union, and it is now practically a thing of the past.

The bunch breaking and roll up team system on both hand and mould work is the prevailing order and method of cigar making in all of the big non-union shops except in Tampa, Fla., and it will soon be introduced there if they don't organize and stick to the union.

Nearly all of the trust and United Cigar Manufacturers Company's shops are operated under that system. This makes it a serious proposition, and one that requires consideration, thought and study on the part of all members and unions.

Mr. G. R. French has resigned as organizer to accept a position as traveling salesman for a leaf house.

Boom the label; boost all labels; do your duty as a union man.

There is no hope for independent non-union manufacturers against being driven out of business by the trust except to join the union manufacturers and with the help of the unions put the trust out of business or compel it to pay fair wages. The trust is also non-union and pays the same low wages that the non-union independents do. In that respect they are on equal terms. The trust will cut prices and keep on crowding till they occupy the whole non-union field.

It is claimed that the entire building for the Ohio Valley Exposition which will be held in Cincinnati, O., August 29 to September 24, have been built by organized labor. Practically all of the work was done by day labor instead of by contract. Claud Hage, who has the matter in charge, says he has secured better results by this plan than he ever secured under the contract system.

To be entirely successful in the great struggle before us to completely organize the trade and bring about fair wages and conditions that all workers are so justly entitled to we should co-operate with fair minded well meaning union manufacturers to the fullest extent that will not interfere with our just rights, earning capacity, etc.

In the battles now being fought and those to come if a spirit of conservative fairness, conciliation, justice and arbitration if necessary is adopted, success will crown every effort.

Reward the hatters for the magnificent fight they made for the label and unionism by purchasing hats with their label sewed under the sweat band and urge all others to do likewise.

Mr. A. Zeitler of Albany, N. Y., was the first president of the International Union. Elected in 1864, he soon thereafter enlisted in the civil war and was killed on the field of battle.

The New Jersey State Federation of Labor meets at Newark, N. J., August 15 next. H. F. Hilfers of Newark, N. J., is the secretary.

We reprint herewith the arbitration agreement between the Danbury Hat Manufacturers' Association and the United ARBITRATION. Hatters of North America.

You will remember this arbitration agreement was adopted after one of the most prolonged and bitterly contested strikes this country has ever witnessed. The arbitration plan is interesting and instructive.

1. Agreement between the Danbury and Bethel Hat Manufacturers' Association, a voluntary association, having its usual place of business in the town of Danbury, county of Fairfield and state of Connecticut, designated as the party of the first part, the United Hatters of North America, a voluntary association having its usual place of business in the city, county and state of New York, to be known and designated as the party of the second part, and the Hat Trimmers' Union of Danbury, New Milford and Newburgh, having its usual place of business in Danbury, Conn., to be known and designated as the party of the third part, witnesseth:

2. That for the purpose of establishing working agreements and a method of peacefully settling all questions of joint concern, and in consideration of the mutual benefit to be derived therefrom, the said parties severally and jointly agree that any and all questions or controversies between the parties hereto, of whatsoever nature, which may arise in the future or which now exist, shall upon failure to agree, be at once submitted for settlement to a joint arbitration committee, except that the union label of the United Hatters of North America shall not be a subject for arbitration, and which committee shall consist of an equal number of representatives from each association, to be affected by their decision, and the findings and decisions of said committee shall be final and binding upon all parties hereto, and upon their respective members regardless of any constitution or by-laws of the said United Hatters of North America, the Trimmers' Union of Danbury, New Milford and Newburgh, or the Danbury & Bethel Hat Manufacturers' Association.

3. The arbitration committee above mentioned shall be chosen by the respective association of which the parties hereto are members, that is to say, in case of a dispute between the Trimmers' Union aforesaid and the Manufacturers' Association or any of its members, one-half of said committee shall be chosen by the Trimmers' Union which is a party to said dispute and the other half by the Manufacturers' Association, and in case of a dispute between the United Hatters of North America or any of its members, and the Manufacturers' Association the same rule shall prevail.

4. In the event that the arbitration committee shall be unable to decide by a majority vote, any question or questions which shall be submitted to them, under this agreement, an umpire shall be chosen, who must not be either a workman or an employer of workmen. He shall not serve, however, unless his presence is made necessary by failure of the committee to agree within five days after they have taken jurisdiction of the question or questions to be determined. The umpire when chosen shall act as presiding officer at all meetings of the committee and have a casting vote in case of a tie.

The final arbitrator, or umpire, in case the representatives of the respective parties to this agreement whose interests are involved, shall be unable, or fail to agree on some one, within five days after the submission of any question, shall be appointed at the request of the committee or of either party by the chairman of the board of arbitration of the National Civic Federation of New York city. In case the board of arbitration of the National Civic Federation of New York city shall not be in existence, or be actively engaged in carrying out its declared purposes, at the time when it becomes necessary, under the terms of this agreement, to appoint a final arbitrator or umpire, then said final arbitrator or umpire shall be appointed by the then governor of the state of Connecticut.

5. The duty of the committee shall be to consider such matters of mutual interest and concern to the employers or of the employees in this trade as may be referred to it in due form by either of the parties to this agreement, transmitting its conclusions thereon to each association as soon as reached. Either of the parties to this agreement shall have the right to call the attention of the other at any time to any infringement of the agreements, rules and regulations established under this agreement, or of any new rule; or amendment to the agreement which it is desired to have adopted, and ask for an immediate settlement of the dispute involved, if there be any such.

6. For the proper conduct of business, a chairman shall be chosen at each meeting of the committee, said chairman to be a member of the committee with equal voice and vote, but he shall preside only for the meeting at which he is so chosen. The duty of the chairman shall be that usually incumbent on a presiding officer.

7. A clerk shall be chosen at the first meeting of any committee appointed to hear and settle any controversy arising under this agreement, who shall not be a member of said committee. The clerk's duties shall be to attend all meetings of the committee, to keep a true and accurate record of the same and transmit all findings to the associations interested and attend to the usual duties of the office. Any expense incurred for arbitration shall be borne equally by the parties to this agreement involved in the dispute.

8. A majority vote shall decide all questions. In case of the absence or inability to serve of any member, the president of the association by which he or she was appointed shall have the right to appoint a substitute in his or her place. In case the individual interests of any arbitrator may be affected by the decision of any controversy before the committee, he shall be disqualified to act as arbitrator on said committee, and the side so affected shall appoint at once another arbitrator to act in his place.

9. The parties hereto also agree that this agreement shall not be annulled by withdrawal of either party or otherwise, except after date of expiration of working rules established or to be established hereunder, notice to be filed by either party so intending, with the other party to this agreement, at least three months prior to said date, and that no amendment shall be made to this agreement except upon like notice and concurrent vote.

10. The effect of the above agreement is understood to be that in no event shall strikes or lockouts be permitted, but that all questions and differences shall be submitted to the joint committee aforesaid, work to proceed without stoppage or embarrassment.

11. Any decision by arbitration shall be final and binding, and such decision if possible shall be rendered within thirty days after submission of the question in dispute to the final arbiter. When any given question of general policy in the relations between employers and employed has been twice decided in the same way (even though the cases have arisen in different factories) the same general question shall not again be raised in any factory during the life of the working agreement.

12. This agreement shall continue in force until June 1, 1920.

A state-wide campaign for the suppression of tuberculosis was set in motion when the former Illinois State Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, which has been practically out of existence since 1906, was reorganized and revived at a meeting held in Chicago Wednesday, June 15, at the call of a joint committee appointed for this purpose by the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute.

His honor, Governor Charles S. Deneen, was elected honorary president of the association, and Dr. William A. Evans, commissioner of health of Chicago, was made president. The other officers elected are: First vice president, Dr. T. O. Hardesty, Jacksonville; second vice president, Dr. George Thomas Palmer, Springfield; secretary, Frank E. Wing, Chicago; treasurer, David R. Forgan, Chicago. The members of the central committee are: J. W. Pettit, Ottawa; Dr. Theodore B. Sachs, Chicago; Dr. Ethan A. Gray, Chicago; Dr. George W. Webster, Chicago; Dr. E. M. Sala, Rock Island; Mr. G. W. Perkins, Chicago; Professor Wm. E. Watt, Chicago; Mrs. M. C. Bourland, Pontiac; Mr. W. M. Blair, Chicago; Mr. J. M. Barwell, Waukegan.

Trades unionism in Great Britain has grown to be a tremendous power, a power felt both on the industrial and political field. It has even triumphed over the aristocratic House of Lords, as in the Taff-Vale case. Some idea of its financial stability is to be adduced from the fact that last year over twelve million dollars was collected in the shape of dues and that a reserve fund exceeding thirty million dollars has been accumulated. The British unions believe in the dues and give substantial benefits, insure their tools, grant them a weekly allowance when unemployed, and in old age when the worker is no longer able to follow his trade his declining years are made comfortable and cosy by an old age pension. This all comes out of the union treasury. By the payment of high dues the British unionists have built up treasuries that have more than met all claims against them. While the played-out non-union worker is bundled off to end his days in the workhouse the union worker is assured of a manly independence when advancing years incapacitate him from manual labor. The trades unions alone have stood between the British workman and actual pauperism, for it is understood that only the non-union workers of the workhouse are inmates of the workhouse.—Industrial Banner.

SCRAPS.

By an Old Timer.

In these times of severe competition with the trust and big non-union manufacturers there are many little things that the unions can do without injury to themselves or loss of earning power to assist honestly inclined loyal union manufacturers, and we should not hesitate to do so.

There are still many old time shops in which the boss does not stand over the men with a club to exact the last ounce of workmanship, less stock, etc. These privileges should be and undoubtedly are appreciated by the great majority.

Leaf tobacco is dear and growing more so all the time. While no employer is justified in compelling the worker to cut beyond a reasonable point or where it will slow up his earning capacity he nevertheless is justified in asking that all workers be fair and reasonable in the use of stock. Fair treatment begets fair treatment and works both ways, as a rule.

Good workmanship improves any quality of tobacco. Good tobacco improperly worked detracts from the quality of the cigar. Fair tobacco if skillfully worked improves the quality of the cigar.

The more a cigar wrapper is stretched, polished and pounded when being wrapped on the bunch, the more it detracts from the quality of the smoke. The least handling when being worked the better for the cigar.

The nature of a cigar leaf is such that the more it is stretched and rolled while being worked the greater the injury. Manufacturers who want them polished up often stand in their own light and are working against their own best interest.

If tobacco, especially wrappers, could stand abuse such as bruising and stretching machines to make cigars would have been a success long ago. It is because of the nature of tobacco that it cannot be best worked except by hand, and the more skilled the hand the better for the finished cigar.

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

The following are the only alterations or amendments to the constitution adopted since the Detroit (1896) convention, and not published in the 21st edition of the constitution:

By Union 77, Minneapolis, Minn.:

Amend Section 219 of the Constitution by adding: "And if adopted shall take effect and remain in force from the first day of the month succeeding the official publication of its adoption."

Section to read as follows: "Each local union shall have the right to propose, through the columns of the Official Journal, amendments to the International Constitution. Each union is required to act upon every amendment at their meeting next following the receipt of the Journal, containing such amendments, and report to the International President. Unions failing to comply with this provision shall be fined $5. But no union shall be fined for not taking action on a proposed amendment, unless the same has been submitted by the International President by circular. Any amendment receiving the endorsement of at least twenty unions shall be submitted to a vote of local unions within thirty days, and if adopted shall take effect and remain in force from the first day of the month succeeding the official publication of its adoption."

By Union 316, McSherrystown, Pa.:

Amend Sec. 67 by adding after the word "adoption," on the last line, the following:

"And accept in the 1st and 9th districts of Pennsylvania, where the initiation fee for applicants for membership shall be 50 cents for a period of three months, beginning the first day of the month following the adoption of this amendment."

"That should the results in increased membership from the operation of this amendment justify an extension of time the International Executive Board is hereby empowered to extend the time for an additional three months or such additional periods as they may deem necessary."

Sec. 67, as amended, to read accordingly.

By Union 460, San Juan, P. R.:

Amend Sec. 210, by adding: wing:

A. The District of Porto Rico shall embrace the entire island and all Local Unions of the island, who shall elect a "Joint Advisory Board."

B. The "Joint Advisory Board" shall adopt rules of procedure, calculated for the best welfare of the Unions in Porto Rico, but not conflicting with the International Constitution.

C. The basis of representation shall be decided by the Unions in Porto Rico, but shall be not less than one delegate for each Local Union.

Sec. 210, as amended, to read accordingly.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED

At a regular meeting held June 28, 1910, the following amendment was adopted by Union 9, Troy: TUBERCULOSIS SPECIAL.

Sick laws not to interfere with present sick laws, the above to be governed the same as the present law.

1st. All tuberculosis members reporting sick and who place themselves under the care of a tuberculosis sanatorium or camp, or who are men of family and have the responsibility of a home, be allowed $10.00 per week.

2d. If the member be in sick benefit the amount drawn by said member of the present law, namely $45.00, should be drawn, the same to be credited as International benefit.

3d. Should the draw more than $45.00 the amount drawn to be credited as a deficiency in the union said member has his card deposited and the same to be reported to the International office, and the International President to levy an assessment on all 15, 20 and 30-cent members to make up said deficiency.

4th. The said tuberculosis members to receive benefit while they are sick or until they become cured.

5th. All members who are afflicted with tuberculosis, whether entitled to benefit or not in accordance to present sick law, shall be entitled to benefits under the Special Tuberculosis Law.

The amendment of Union 9, Troy, N. Y., as published in the May Journal, as follows:

Amend Sec. 166. Section to read as follows: "Local unions shall, wherever practical, organize State or Province, or District Label Leagues for state or district label agitation. Each local union in a state or district where a league exists, or thereafter be formed, must be a part thereof."

Same to take effect at once if adopted.

Received the endorsement of 316, McSherrystown; 91, Allentown; 141, New York; 231, Amsterdam; 72, Burlington; 22, Detroit; 213, New York; 280, Owego; 511, Auburn; 13, New York; 315, St. Cloud; 179, Bangor; 396, Northampton; 236, Reading; 2, Buffalo; 144, New York; 475, Fitchburg; 106, Ogdensburg; 44, St. Louis; 142, Lockport; 232, Sellersville; 12, Oneida; 202, Portland; 123, Warren; 140, St. Catharines; 278, London; 53, Elmira; 54, Evansville; 301, Akron.

Having received the required number of endorsements, will be submitted to popular vote.

Union 46, Grand Rapids, Mich., offers the following amendment to Section 156 of the Constitution: To strike out of Section 156 the last clause, as follows: "But in no case shall a manufacturer be permitted to use the label who offers presents as an inducement for the sale of his goods."

Union 481, Bayamon, proposes the following amendment to be published in the Official Journal: In Section 67, third line, after the words, "initiation of $3," it shall read: "Except in Porto Rico, where there shall be paid $1.50 for one year, payable in installments of 50 cents every two weeks."

Amendment proposed by Union 149, Brooklyn, N. Y.: Amend the Blue Label Laws, Sec. 156, by adding after the words (on page 42, fourth line): "This shall not debar a local union from establishing a price above $20.00 per thousand." Add the following words: "When a higher price has been established by any local union the same shall apply to all manufacturers or their agents selling label goods within the jurisdiction of said union."

Local Union 450, of Oklahoma City, proposes the following amendment to the Constitution: "The office of town collector of Hot Springs, Ark., is a position which requires as much attention as many of our locals require of their secretary, and as there is so many of our members there for treatment and some need and require the assistance of the town collector at all hours, for which he receives no recompense, the town collector of Hot Springs shall receive a salary of $10.00 per month, to be paid by the union paying the sick benefits, same to be paid out of the International Fund."

UNION NOTES

Important to Elmer A. Fisk (45970): The charges of conduct unbecoming a union member, of abusing and calling Financial Secretary P. H. Sheehan of this local vile names, and also charging him with being an absconder, to which you pleaded guilty at the Executive Board hearing on June 11th, and begged the mercy of the local, were read before the body at the regular meeting on June 13th. By vote of the body you were fined $1.00, and the secretary was instructed to submit same for publication in our Official Journal, and also reason for same. Secretary holding Mr. Fisk's card will please enter same. By Union 49, Springfield, Mass.

Union 406, Crawfordsville, Ind., writes: "Any cigarmaker accepting a job in Sweitzer's shop (Herman or Christ Sweitzer) will be fined by this union $25.00. By order of the union. They are both corrupt."

Dan De Lant is requested to send his address to the financial secretary of Union 483, Geneva, N. Y., before the next issue of the Journal.

Secretary holding the card of John Quinn (54951) please notify financial secretary of Union 233, Geneva, N. Y.

Vincent Miller (12527) is requested to remit at once the $2.15 room rent and board bill he left at 57, Champaign. Secretary please collect and remit.

Secretary holding the card of P. H. Taylor will please collect $10.00 for board bill and remit to Union 33, Indianapolis.

Secretary holding card of Wm. Wythman (6589) please collect $5.00 board bill and remit to Union 33, Indianapolis.

Charles Rausch (43842) was suspended by Union 162 of Green Bay for non-payment of dues in June, 1910.

Notice to Secretaries: The card of Earl M. Pope (106298) shows credit of $9.65 on International fine paid to Union 200, Galesburg, Ill. This is an error and secretary of union accepting said card please make correction by annulling said credit. The credit of $9.65 antedated by two years the present traveling card, issued July 9, 1910. Also notify Gus C. Rausch, secretary, Union 200, Galesburg, Ill.

H. S. Bender (73312) appeared before the meeting of Union 278, London, and was exonerated in reference to charges published in last month's Journal. Abe Lamper (92310) is requested to correspond with secretary of Union 94, Pawtucket, R. I. Very important matter.

Notes by Union 97, Boston: Reduction of insurance rates will give manufacturers money for other expenses.—I don't like coupon idea; cigars should sell on merits.—We will import less Sumatra in future.—Seventy-five million cigars have been sent to this country.—Cigars cannot be made for export in Manila between sunset and sunrise.—Great wealth in the hands of a few causes a decay in manhood.—We ought to employ 5,000 cigarmakers in Boston.—Boom the label.—Formation of label section in Central Labor Union due to work of 97.—Don't lose sight of old age pension.—The total amount contributed to hatters was $209,172.15 from United States and Canada. It ought to have been four times this.—If we would all pay our International and private loans promptly and keep dues right up to date it would swell our treasury sufficient to enlarge benefits.—If all moneys were centralized the interest would pay running expenses.—Reduce the hours of female labor. This is the key to the situation.—Let our watchword be: 5 hours a day, 5 days a week, $5 a day.—Every local should affiliate with their central body and with the state branch of A. F. of L.

PRIVATE LOANS

Sec. 196. Local unions shall have the right to suspend members for non-payment of local indebtedness, and hold traveling cards until such indebtedness has been paid. See Sec. 106 also.

The following unions request the collection of private loans from the respective persons, and return same to union making the request.

The member sowing private loan to Union No. 238, Sacramento, Cal., are hereby cautioned to commence payment at once, or they will find to their sorrow that the constitution was enforced.

Notice to secretaries of unions where I am indebted for private loans: "I am still disabled." Signed, Wm. Cosgrove (34923).

All members knowing themselves to be indebted to Union 33, Indianapolis, for private loans granted them, had better pay up or stand the consequences.

All members owing private loans to Union 118, Peoria, Ill., are herewith notified and requested to pay their amounts and by doing so will help us to a great extent, as part of our membership is on strike and need more financial assistance. Remember that this union helped you when you were in need and now it is up to you to return favors.

All persons owing private loans to No. 451, Bushnell, of over one year standing, please pay up as the local fund is low.

Secretaries holding cards of members owing Union 312, Livingston, Mont., private loans please collect same as soon as possible and remit to Union 312.

Secretary holding the card of W. F. Howard (95927) please collect balance of private loan, $5.50, and forward to Union 471, Macon, Ga.

Unions holding the cards of Herrick Johnson (69336) and Edw. Jackson (85337) please collect at once, $15.00 each, private loan. We need the money.

Union 357, Vancouver, will suspend the following members owing private loans if they do not pay up in the meantime: C. Williams (102152); 4; Ira Hartman (99076); 4; B. Bellevieu (9854); D. Burns (77776); 1; O. Mayrlich (49383); 4; W. J. Meek (111564); 4; P. Maloney (106375); E. O'Brien (97889); 3; W. Cristoll (109353); 3; M. W. Balfour (119065); 4; A. Anderson; 3; F. Schatter (10000); 4; E. Donlan (116677); 4; F. Timler (1047); 3; W. Mead (10940); 3; J. Narbuth (75275); 3; J. J. Lutzler; 2; A. H. Meyer (29021); 3; 25.

Union No. 129, Denver Colo., requests the members whose names appear here as owing this union private loans to make a little effort to send in this money. This union has been very lenient with them. If the constitution had been enforced the most of them would have been suspended now: B. J. Conroy (7272); 32.40; Arturo Hernandez (113461); 36; H. Korinek (53458); 30; E. B. Young (102647); 15; C. F. Beach; 35; Paul Knorr (44118); 35; F. Broomfield (3567); 32; E. Enright (73406);

Don't sneer at the efforts of weak unions; yours had to crawl before it could walk; you sneer at the efforts of your fellow workers when you retain your traveling card after striking a town where the local is a little weak. Deposit your card and add your efforts and wisdom to the little bunch of willing workers, and there will be fewer weaklings among the smaller cities and some of the big ones.—Mixer and Server.

Unions Must Fight For Justice.

Professor W. Z. Ripley of Harvard, speaking at the recent convention of the International Bricklayers and Masons' union in Boston, said: "This is a peculiarly critical time in the development of trades unionism in this country. In the first place, there has been economic depression caused by the panic of two years ago, and the employers have used the situation to eliminate wherever possible the organized men. The trusts have been tried by fire. Many have succumbed by reason of weakness or fraud or deceit in their organization. But some of the great combinations have become impregnable. They are now trying to destroy the trades unions, the only organizations capable of coping with them if there is to be even-handed justice and right."—The Artisan.

NECESIDAD DE LA UNION.

Métodos Suaves.

Toda Asociación obrera debe tender tenazmente a controlar su oficio de una manera efectiva. Su asperación mas constante debe consistir en atrear a su seno a todos los obreros que se empleen en las labores de su ramo.

Es harto sabido que la fuerza moral que se deriva de las Uniones tiene como base mayor huma de individuos, y que tanto más potente resulta esa fuerza, cuanto mas nutrido sea el núcleo creado.

Los ejemplos pueden verse en todas partes a poco que se examine.

A donde quiera que el observador dirija la vista, de seguro encontrará contestación a esta pregunta: ¿Cuales son los trabajadores que gozan de mayor respecto, de mas consideración y que obtienen mas remuneración por su trabajo?

Los obreros que se unen entre sí, los que defienden el interés actual é inmediato de todos, sobreponiendo lo al particular bastardo de uno ó de varios pocos, aquellos son las trarabajadores que mas grandes beneficios alcanzan dentro del régimen defectuoso existente, en el cual casi todo se subordina, como es sabido á procedimientos de carácter impositivo antes que á los dictados de severa justicia.

Un organismo fundado en la reunión gremial de todos los individuos que se emplean en la misma industria, arte ú oficio, es siempre respectable desde cualquier punto de vista que se le observe. Así mismo, es influyente en asuntos de gobierno del país donde radica aunque no se mezcle directamente en la política. Esto sucede así, por que nadie, ni siquiera los más poderosos gobiernos, desconocen la importancia decisiva que puede tener en momentos críticos la conjunción de varias voluntades de la masa obrera encaminadas hacia un objetivo común.

Ademas; ¿quien sería capaz de oponer resistencia á la marcha de Instituciones serias, que teniendo por objeto la conservación de los beneficios logrados hasta el momento actual, tomasen tambien á su cargo la tarea de preparar á los hombres para ese mañana que todos ansiamos, el cual si tarda mucho en llegar consiste en que no hay todavía la necesaria preparación para alcanzarlo? ¿Quien desconocerá el derecho que todos por igual tenemos á mejorar cada día nuestras condiciones morales y materiales, especialmente en sus aspectos físicos, intelectuales y económicos.

Nuestro Unionismo mantiene la acción permanente de reclamar mayores salarios y menor cantidad de horas por jornada de trabajo, y trata de conseguir esos deseos con el menor sacrificio posible de sus miembros.

Tales deseos y tal derecho, no habrá nadie que fueda desconocerlos en ningun caso, pero es preciso que todos comprendamos que solamente la gran fuerza de las Uniones gremiales es la que está llamada á ponerlos en ejercicio y a impulsarles, á objeto de que su mision sea cumplida y fructiferos los resultados.

Ninguno debe esperar por otros para crear y fortalecer las Uniones, las cuales nadie habrá de crearlas ni sostenerlas si no somos nosotros mismos, y una prueba bien manifiesta de que las Uniones que recomendamos son buenas, puede verse en el hecho de que los capitalistas, los industriales y los trusts, las combaten á muerte con las armas menos nobles.

La unión estrecha, la organización sistemática de los trabajadores de cualquier rama de la Industria, atrae sobre ellos positivas ventajas bajo todos los puntos de vista que el asunto se examine.

Desde el mismo instante en que es constituida una asociación de semejante clase, las personas que á ella pertenecen ganan en potencia y en dignidad colectiva mucho más de lo que se supone que pierden en libertad individual: Maxime, cuando la libertad individual, que muchos hombres creen poseer en la disgregación que propagan, es una libertad negativa, que nadie puede ejercitar; ya que los ciudadanos en tal caso, esclavos de cierta suma de necesidades que no pueden ser satisfechas dentro de un régimen sistemáticamente individualista.

Le rama de la Industria que logra reunir en una sola Union á todos sus obreros, mejora en el acto las condiciones económicas de todas las familias que dependen de ella; y es harto sabido, que, á la mejorita de situación económica corresponde siempre la relativa felicidad de los hogares.

Cuando prevalece la Unión, los salarios aumentan proporcionalmente a las necesidades de los obreros y a la prosperidad que alcanza el genero en los mercados. Desde el instante que se constituye aquella adquieren los trabajadores para sí una parte de los rendimientos del género, puesto que, atentos a los progresos de la industria, los obreros unidos reclaman los consiguientes beneficios con la debida oportunidad. En cambio, cuando los trabajadores yacen en la disgregación que vituperamos, no pueden obtener esa parte indicada de los beneficios, por que no poseen la necesaria fuerza para reclamarla, y, por tanto, toda la ganancia aunque llegue a ser fabulosamente excesiva, va a pasar a las cajas de los industriales.

Por otro lado, así como obtienen una parte proporcional de las utilidades de la producción, los trabajadores, con el solo hecho de constituir sus respectivas Uniones, también adquieren preponderancia en lo que respecta a los negocios públicos, tomando participación, siquiera sea indirecta, en todos los asuntos que afectan a la colectividad en general; de tal manera, que nada podrá hacerse en un pueblo de trabajadores unidos, sin contar de antemano con el asentimiento de ellos.

De todo esto hay demostraciones evidentes sin necesidad de recurrir a ejemplos determinados: Tómese como punto de comparación con la época actual, el estado en que hallábanse los obreros ochenta años atrás, y se comprenderá fácilmente lo que decimos. En aquel entonces hacia poco que los derechos del hombre habían sido reconocidos y proclamados; y no obstante ese acontecimiento los obreros seguían ganando mezquinos jornales. Trabajaban dieciséis horas por día y no se les tomaba parecer para cosa ninguna; ni siquiera cuando se les impulsaba hacia la barricada para servir los intereses de cualquier partido.

Estúdiense nuestra posición actual y se notará de seguida la diferencia que existe respecto de aquella época.

Ahora ganamos jornales elevados si se les compara con aquellos que cobraban nuestros abuelos. Son muchos los gremios que tienen adoptada la norma de ocho horas como jornada máxima de trabajo; otros obreros trabajan nueve ó diez horas por día, y son pocos los que actualmente tienen el martirio de estar pegados al yunque más de doce horas.

De manera sea, que además de la subida de jornales, que ha proporcionado algunas comodidades a los trabajadores de que antes no gozaban, se ha obtenido la notable rebaja de cinco horas como término medio en el empleo de nuestras diarias energías, la cual es ventaja de suma importancia, puesto que hace del hombre trabajador un ciudadano con tiempo disponible para su descanso y el necesario para higienizarse, recrearse ó instruirse.

Nadie podrá negar, por grande que sea su obcecación, que tales ventajas débense casi en su totalidad a la fructífera labor de las Uniones de oficios semejantes a la "Unión Internacional de Tabaqueros de América," la cual contiene en su programa y en sus leyes, cuanto es necesario para conservar conquistas realizadas, y también lo que mas precisa para llenar las aspiraciones razonables de idealismos practicales.

Así pues, propendemos a la completa reunión de todos los tabaqueros en el seno de nuestra Unión Internacional, porque de esa fusión de voluntades depende el progresivo bienestar de los obreros de este oficio y una relativa felicidad para todos. Pero deseamos que los no organizados vengán a nuestro campo por la conveniencia general y por propio convencimiento.

La imposición solo debe emplearse cuando un pequeño mantiene con su actitud la desmoralización y la miseria en la comunidad.

De otra manera, esto es, cuando un contingente numeroso y decidido rehuse estar al lado nuestra, resultara contra producente el empleo de la coacción impositiva y el daño vendrá a ser inmenso para todos puesto que producirá la más horrible de las luchas. La guerra intestina.

L'histoire enseigne que les organisations du travail, sous une forme ou sous une autre, existent depuis plus de cinq cents ans et un n'a pas besoin de posséder une puissance de perception exceptionnelle pour se rendre compte qu'aucune institution façonnée par la main de l'homme ne pourrait exister un aussi long temps sans qu'elle comporte des avantages pratiques aux membres qui la composent.

Les chaleurs de l'été ne devraient pas exercer d'influence néfaste sur l'enthousiasme d'un bon ouvrier unioniste.

La force acquise par l'organisation gagnera en définitive les individualistes.

La journée de travail plus courte signifie que davantage d'hommes seront employés: de là, une augmentation de consommateurs. Davantage de consommateurs exigent une plus considérable production; d'où, activité commerciale, c'est-à dire, prospérité générale.

Le meilleur placement qu'un ouvrier puisse faire, c'est l'argent qu'il paie à la Trésorerie de l'Union. Il rapporte un pour cent de profit plus considérable que n'importe quelle mine d'or et en même temps il lui est avantageux sur ces deux points spéciaux-ci: qu'il rapporte des dividendes, non seulement en argent, mais aussi en sécurité personnelle et respect de soi-même que nul autre placement ne rapporte.

Les organisations du travail sous une forme ou sous une autre, ont existé depuis plus de cinq siècles et il n'est pas raisonnable de penser qu'une organisation humaine aurait pu vivre si longtemps, à moins qu'elle n'ait fait quelque bien au monde.

Votre métier vous doit être aussi cher que votre réputation. Gardez-le contre les attaques de personnalités sans scrupules et mal avisées. Si vous permettez à sa qualité de descendre, vous laisserez de ce fait votre plus bel atout se perdre. Négligence et abus vous retarderont, bon soin et sagesse vous protégeront et, feront aller en avant, et en haut.

Votre plus haute ambition devrait être votre propre élévation et celle de vos camarades. L'organisation, l'éducation, la conciliation apporteront des résultats, quoique le sacrifice personnel soit parfois nécessaire.

La tâche de faire avancer et de compléter le travail d'organisation, bien qu'il soit difficile, devrait être plus facile aujourd'hui qu'il ne l'était au début. Nous avons à présent l'expérience du passé qui est un atout de valeur et ne devrait pas être diminué.

Nous avons cessé d'être une expérience; nous sommes une actualité, une réalité solide qui a réussi. Nous pouvons donc maintenant aller de l'avant, sûrs que nous sommes dans le droit et que nous DEVONS fatalement réussir.

Lorsque le type qui a une hache à aiguiser ou un irrésistible désir de "rouspéter" vous dira que nous ne pouvons pas réussir et trouve à redire à tout et à tous (excepté à lui même), vous n'avez qu'à lui faire remarquer tout ce qui a été déjà fait et servez-vous de cette démonstration comme d'une justification de votre conviction optimiste et comme une preuve irréfutable qu'il a tort, si vous ne voulez pas lui faire comprendre autre chose qui s'exprime par un mot qui signifie "qu'il-dit le contraire de la vérité."

Les membres épargneront à leur union, au bureau international et à leurs amis et parents beaucoup de temps et de peine s'ils veulent bien remplir les feuilles fournies gratuitement par l'union internationale, désignant clairement leur bénéficiaire.

Citoyens de l'étiquette unioniste.

Dans nos fabriques du Nord et du Sud, dans les "sweat shops" de New York, dans les fabriques de verre de New Jersey, aux mines de la Pennsylvanie et dans les moulins à coton des Etats du Sud, des milliers de petits enfants Américains sont écrasés et mutilés, et rabougrés et convertis en autant de pelts Chinois blancs. Nous devons changer tout cela. Nous sommes en train d'apprendre à exiger des vêtements, des souliers et des chapeaux fabriqués dans des conditions de travail convenables et marqués de l'étiquette de l'union. Ce que nous voulons maintenant, ce sont des citoyens de l'étiquette unioniste, tout autant que des marchandises à étiquette. Nos citoyens ne doivent pas être formés dans les "sweatshops" ni dans la fabrique: ils doivent être formés dans les écoles. L'école Américaine est le seul atelier de travail unioniste pour l'enfant Américain. Seul, le produit de l'école peut être estampillé de l'étiquette unioniste.

Aucune puissance humaine ne peut l'arrêter.

"Le pendule dans le monde du travail est en mouvement. Notre but, c'est d'organiser les travailleurs d'Amérique et aucune puissance humaine ne peut arrêter cela. Rien n'existe qui puisse défendre que nous atteignons le salut absolu du peuple et l'amélioration générale de sa vie.

"Les travailleurs se sont rendus compte qu'ils sont aussi les producteurs et les consommateurs et que l'homme qui produit et qui consomme peut, s'il dirige intelligemment ses efforts, se rendre maître de la situation."

Lidé bez kuráže a jinf.

Nikdy v celé době co pisatel pamatuje (a to se datuje přes 30 roků zpět neustálé činnosti jakožto člena mezinárodní unie) se nemohlo říci, že bychom byli neslyšeli malomyslné zehráni: "Co jest to všecko platné?" — že "řemeslo jest na psu" — a "naš se namahat — my se nezorganizujem." Přes všechny tyto pessimistické předpovědi, mužové nezlozných důvěry, srdnatosti a odhodlanosti se nikdy nenechali odstrašiti neb zastaviti ve své práci zbudování mezinárodní unii.

Před třiceti pěti či čtyřiceti roky nalezalo se naše řemeslo v daleko horším postavení nežli dnes. Pět a šest dolarové "džaby" převládaly a "vyberte si mzdu ve zboží, anebo na poukázku," bylo pravidlem po celé zemi a takřka ve všech kapech. Někdo se nelekajíc drali jsme se ku předu až k dnešnímu našemu skvělému výniku, čítající 51,000 lojalních členů mezinárodní unie.

My odstranili výměnný system, přemohli jsme hrůzy tenementních domů, vypudili číňany, zkrátili dobu pracovní na osm hodin denně, snížili procento úmrtí současnými na 51 procent na 24 procent, prodloužili dobu žití našich členů o 15 roků, šest měsíců a čtyři dny, zvýšili mzdu z 10 procent na 100 procent a vydali bezmála devět milionů dolarů na podpory našim členům. A co více, my budeme pokračovat, až docela zorganizujeme celé řemeslo.

Přes všechny prospěšné výhody, dosažené mezinárodní unii, najdou se mužové, kteří praví: "A co jest to všecko platné; řemeslo se stále horší." Ti, kdož oslabují činnost unie a usilují zmenšovat její nepopíratelné, obdivuhodné výmoženosti, jsou doposud v našich řadách. Ne-zdají se vidět žádný pokrok, nemají naděje, ačkoli ví, anebo měli by vědět lépe.

Oni, anebo mnohý z nich, přišli na řemeslo, až když po těžkém, dlouholetém strádání a odřekání mzdy zvýšeny a celkový stav od několika let za neudržitelný považovaný se příznivě zmé-nil. Vytýkají nám, že jsme se vyvinuli v pod-porující jednotu (přáli bychom si mít více pojistek), že nezvyšujeme mzdy, atd. Pravda jest, že my stále zvyšujeme mzdy v organi-zovaných městech a kdekoliv unie existují a jinak zlepšující postavení — skutečnost známa všem vyjma těm, kteří nechtějí vidět a rozumět.

Unie ve všech řemeslech, platící pojistné, jsou nejpříznivější a nejstálější. Nízké příspěvky, tak jako nízké mzdy, tvoří laciné, slabé unie a bez-nadějně, bezoporné muže. Dosud zbývá mnoho práce k vykonání. My musíme a také ji pro-vedeme dle zásad tak úspěšně sledovaných v minulosti, až řemeslo naše bude docela zorganizováno. Ten samý nezodolný duch, osvětlující naši cestu, nesoucí nás k našemu nynějšímu skvělému postavení, provede, vzdor všem překážkám, vytčený úkol. My musíme, my můžeme a my zorganizujeme naše řemeslo pod praporem mezinárodní unie. Nebud'te malomyslní, bud'te kurážní!

Povinnosti muže.

V nedávné přednášce občanského kroužku
Chicago Commons na téma "Povinnosti muže", prohlásil Dr. Abbott, že křivda učiněná jednomu člověku, znamená křivdu všem. Jest povinností každého námezdního dělníka přistoupiti k unii;
pravít' dále:

"Byť já dělníkem, nikdy bych nebyl bez uniové karty. Čím více jest člověk samostat-ným, tím více může pro sebe dokázat a tím více jest to jeho nejpřednější povinností přidati se k dělnické unii a vypomáhati těm, kteří jsou méně schopni sami sobě pomoci. Nemusí to býti bitva kapitálu oproti práci anebo třídy proti třídám, ale kombinace všech mocí za účelem dosažení vzájemného dobra."

Žádná průmyslová organizace nepotřebuje tak málo kapitálu jako řemeslnická unie. Pár dollarů každý a trochu lidového rozumu, jest vše, co dělníci k tomu potřebují. Trubl jest to, že většina neorganizovaných řemesel může sehnati daleko lehčejí peníze nežli rozum — a ten se nedá koupit — ten se musí vyvinout.

Poslání řemeslnických unii.

Budoucnost řemeslnických unii závisí u velké míře na stanovisku, jaké jich členstvo zaujme.
Systémem těchto unii probíhá sentiment, směrující k rozšíření prospěšnosti dělnické unie.

To málo býti docíleno nežli rozšířením vědo-mosti jednotlivých členů. Již nyní pozorujeme vývin této idee při debatách o velkých hospodářských otázkách a v blízké budoucnosti věnované otázce zákonů v národním i státním za-stupitelstvu.

Před několika roky to bylo dosti lehké prosaditi nedbalé zákony v kongresu i v státních sněmech bez vážných protestů lidu. Nyní jest však jinak a každým rokem to bývá obtížnější klamati lid stran hodnoty zákonů našimi zákonodárci přijímaných.

Unie zabránily přijetí více škodlivých zákonů nežli kdokoli jiný, což dokazuje, že řemeslnické unie mají další jiné velké poslání nežli pouze vymýšlet stávky a vydržovati bojkoty, jak ně-kteří redaktori našich denních listů sobě představují.

Až to, co zde praveno, jest pravdivé, jest neméně pravdou, že jest v našich organizacích příliš málo studentů. Dělníci nechtějí ten zájem v dělnických uních, jaký hnutí to zaslu-huje. Naše členstvo nestuduje zájmy organi-zované práce jak by mělo. Ve skutečnosti my nemáme dosti členů mezi našimi uniovými řemeslníky, abychom mohli učiniti pokrok, jaký hnutí to zasluhuje.

Vzdor tomu jest pozorovati, že se ujmá přemýšlení a vzrůstá pečlivá rozvážnost mezi na-ším členstvem. Semeno, jež má nésti ovoce, by moc organizované práce byla citěna po celé této zemi a nebyla obmezována na vyhrávaní stávek, bylo zaseto.

Vliv řemeslnické unie jest určen do jisté míry k formulování zákonů této země a při dalším několikaletém pokroku v tomto směru užijme lepšího druhu zákony v zájmu lidu jakožto přímý následek tohoto vlivu.

Dělnické unie mají úkol daleko vyšší nežli jich nejnadanější příznivci si směli představit
— a pomalu ale jistě si klestí cestu k vyplnění tohoto vznešeného poslání.

Die Ungebuld.

Nichts hat mehr geholfen, die Arbeiter unten zu halten, als ihre eigene Ungebuld. Männer, die fast ihr Belang nicht den geringsten Hoffnungsstrahl gesehen, müssen, wenn sie schließlich so weit ge-bracht sind, sich für gegenseitige Hilfe und Schutz zu organisieren, sofort Resultate sehen, sonst sind sie gleich wieder zum Aufgeben bereit. Sie nennen die Organisation wohl sogar einen Schwindel und sinken träge wieder in ihren früheren Zustand zu-rück, wo sie ohne Hoffnung leben.

Die Geschichte der Gewerkschaften ist voll von Beispielen solcher Ungebuld, die nur zu oft vom Fehlen gesunder Vernunft und rechten Fühlens kommt. Männer, die buchstäblich gedemütigt worden, organisierten eine Union und verlangten und erwarteten kraft ihrer Mitgliederzahl, die vielleicht einen Tag alt war, sofort eine Lohnerhöhung.
Auch verlangten sie Unterstützung in ihrem Kampf gegen Ungerechtigkeiten, die sie feige jahrelang ertragen, und wenn sie ihnen verweigert wurde, dann verschwand auch sofort jede Ähnlichkeit mit einer Union — so zerstört denn die Ungebuld die Hoffnung selber.

Die Ungebuld ist eine der schrecklichsten Waffen, die die Arbeiter gegen sich selber führen, und selbst heute gibt es Männer, die wirklich weiser sein soll-ten, aber die alle Anzeichen der Ungebuld zeigen.
Wohl möchten sie die Ungerechtigkeiten los sein, aber sie haben keine Geduld mit Verbesserungsverfuhren, die nicht sofort und augenblicklich wirken. Sol-che Leute würden beim Hausbauen Stein auf Stein legen, aber beim Hausniederreißen würden sie die
Träger niederstoßen und sich in den fallenden
Ruinen begraben lassen.

Wenn Gewerkschaften den arbeitenden Männern und Frauen zum Segen sein sollen, müssen sie ihre Erfahrungen machen und eifrig erprobt werden.
Die einfache Thatsache, daß man eine Union ge-gründet, beweist nichts, als daß organisiert wurde — wenn die Organisation wirken soll, muß enger Zu-sammenschluß und Festigkeit da sein. Eine Union kann vieles sein, aber nur nicht Einigkeit in Ge-danken, Handeln und Worten, wenn man sich nicht die Zeit nimmt, sie in vollkommene Ordnung zu bringen und auf eine gute feste Grundlage zu stellen, nicht nur finanziell, sondern auch bezüglich bestimmter Ziele in Sachen, die den betreffenden Beruf besonders interessieren.

Uebel werden nie vertrieben, noch Unrecht recht gemacht durch übereilte Anordnung oder leidenschaftliches Handeln. Jede Seite einer Beschwerde und jedes vorgeschlagene Abhilfsmittel sollten sorg-fältig besprochen werden, und wenn dann die ersten Versuche mißlingen, ist nicht die Union an sich da-für verantwortlich zu machen, sondern die einzel-nen Mängel und Fehler, die dann bloßzulegen und in der Zukunft zu vermeiden sind.

Die Jugend ist voll Leben, leidenschaftlich und ungebuldig, und sie wird folglich viele Unflugheiten begehen. Junge Unions, oder die, die jung an Union-Erfahrung sind, sollten sich aber vor Un-flugheiten hüten, wenn sie nicht sehr böse Erfah-rungen machen wollen. Es ist besser, wenn sie langsam vorgehen, aber ganz bestimmte Ziele fest vor Augen behalten, dann werden sie nur wenige Mißerfolge haben, während ihre Siege und Erfolge groß und bedeutend sein werden. — E.

Daß alle Vorurtheile und Feindschaften draußen, es du in die Union-Halle trittst. Sei Mann genug, die Tugenden deines Feindes und die Fehler deines Freundes zu kennen und stimme für oder mit deinem Feinde oder gegen deinen Freund, wenn dein gesundes Urtheil dir sagt, daß du damit der Wohlfahrt deiner Union dienst.

Die Gewerkschaften halten die Löhne hoch und schützen den Arbeiter.

Jeder Arbeiter sollte einer Union angehören.
Und in der ganzen Welt sieht man die Arbeiter mit Verstand und Thakraft sich den Gewerkschaften ihres Berufs anschließen.

Es gibt ihrer, die so bange vor den Unions der Arbeitgeber sind, daß sie sich nicht anschließen. Für die ist nichts zu hoffen. Sie sind der Slaverei verfallen kraft des Gesetzes ihres Wesens.

Die Hoffnung der Welt liegt in den verständigen und lebendigen Anweirtern, die am Aufbau der Gewerkschaften sind.

Was du nicht thun sollst.

Höre nicht auf die Trägen, werde sie lieber auf.
Warte nicht auf ein Morgen, das niemals kommt.

Warte nicht, bis jemand anders es anfängt, fang es selber an.

Halte nicht für unmöglich, was zehn Millionen
Arbeiter bewirken haben.

Du sollst nicht aufgeben, Beharrlichkeit gewinnt.

Behalte immer die Gewerkschaftsbestrebung im
Auge und thue alles, was in deiner Kraft steht, unsere Ausflüchte zu bessern. Eine sehr gute Regel ist es, beim Kauf von Waaren immer nach der Union-Marke zu sehen.

In Industrien, wo die Arbeiter muthlos sind, da sind die Zustände schlimm, die Stunden lang, die Löhne klein — man denke an die Schwid-den. Mit seltenen, wenn überhaupt welchen Aus-nahmen, hat die Organisation der Arbeiter bessere Zustände, kürzere Stunden und höhere Löhne zur Folge gehabt.

NOTICE.

When a member changes from the 30c to the 20c list, or retires absolutely, all previous cards, in possession of the union, should be returned to the International Union.

NOTICE TO SECRETARIES.

On and after February 28 do not use any numbers from 20001 to 43000, inclusive, unless the numbers become vacant on your own books, except to give old numbers to members owing loans. Secretaries in need of numbers for new members not owing loans should send to the International Office for them.

The Constitution, twentieth edition, contains an error. The amendment of Union 97, Boston, reference accepting cards from foreign countries, took the place of the old law. Through mistake both the amendment and the old law are included. The last paragraph, or last twelve lines of Section 67, on page 20, is the old law and doesn't belong in the Constitution.

NOTICE.

Financial secretaries when granting loans should, as required by Section 104, enter loans in figures and letters. It is not necessary to punch cards.

The amendment adopted to Sections 76 and 77 does away with the issuance of retiring cards to all who continue to pay dues as beneficiary members.

Retiring cards are only for those who pay up and actually terminate all connection with the union in so far as the payment of dues is concerned.

Members who transfer from the 30-cent list to the 20-cent beneficiary membership list are simply changed from one class to another and deducted from one and added to the other.

Members who have not paid 30-cent dues for three years and quitting the trade under Section 76 and wishing to qualify for Section 77 as a beneficiary member should be kept on without any other change than to make a note of the intention on the ledger page. If such member desires to travel to another jurisdiction he should be given a transfer card and his intention to qualify as a 30-cent beneficiary member written on the transfer card. Such beneficiary members are not entitled to any benefits except sick benefits after one year's membership and whatever death benefits their term of membership entitles them to.

If you hold any loan cards of no further use send them to this office.

Before granting or accepting retiring cards secretaries and members should consult Sections 76 and 77 of the Constitution.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS AND MEMBERS.

In printing the nineteenth edition of the Constitution, an omission occurs in Section 77, on line 7. A comma and the words "and local assessments" should follow "International assessments." The sentence to read: "All International assessments, and local assessments levied for labor agitation purposes." This amendment as published in another place is correct.

MEMBERS OUT OF WORK ARE NOT ENTITLED TO THE SIXTEEN WEEKS' PRIVILEGE IN DUES UNLESS THEY NOTIFY THE SECRETARY WEEKLY BEFORE THE EIGHTH WEEK. THIS INCLUDES TRAVELING MEMBERS, WHO SHOULD ALWAYS CARRY A CERTIFICATE AND HAVE SAME SIGNED WEEKLY.

Items for the Journal should be placed on separate slips of paper—not the backs of reports, etc.—in order to insure prompt publication, and should reach this office not later than the 10th of each month if intended for current publication.

NOTICE—How to duplicate Loan Cards.

It frequently occurs that new secretaries through error or lack of knowledge, transfer the amount a member "has coming" instead of what he owes. In duplicating a card, figure up all the member has borrowed and subtract all he has paid, and if there is a balance against the member transfer to new card in red ink and figures and letters the amount due the International Union. Also enter on new card all that may be essential that you find on the old, then sign and seal it. Send the old card to the International office.

Unions when notifying this office of change in secretary will please at once give the new secretary's address, if possible, so as to obviate delays, mistakes, etc.

In reporting deaths kindly comply with the following and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of member. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the records of your own union. If admitted by card, state when and where from, and in addition send in such card, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the latter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

If secretaries when ordering supplies will place the order on the regular blank, it will greatly simplify the work here and avoid unnecessary delay for those who order the supplies. We receive an average of 300 pieces of mail in the office daily. Sometimes an order is sandwiched into a two or three-page letter containing three or more different subjects, and there is danger in such cases of an order being overlooked. Hence we ask that in order to save unnecessary delay and annoyance you order on the regular blank, giving your name and address.

NOTICE.

We are repeatedly asked whether it is necessary in the event of death to issue a card and send it to this office. The request for cards of deceased members only applies where members have been accepted by card, and especially where cards show a loan account, as the account must be checked up and closed. No card need be issued to or for any member except he retires absolutely, when an Absolute Retiring Card is issued, or if a 20-cent beneficiary member wishes to change to another union's jurisdiction, then a transfer card is issued. Or if a 15 or 30-cent member wishes to travel then a Blue or Loan Card is issued in accordance with length of membership. But in no case need cards be issued to members simply because they are members, as that is a needless loss of time and in the aggregate entails considerable useless expense.

DECISIONS OF EXECUTIVE BOARD

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10, 1910.

In the case of the appeal to the Executive Board, C. M. I. U. of A., by T. M. Carroll, of Union No. 97, of Boston, Mass, against a decision rendered by the International President, the vote was as follows:

Affirmative—None

Negative—Tracy, Gariepy, Fitzgerald, Bradford, Hall and Gompers.

The basis of the appeal was: Mr. Carroll appealed against Union No. 97, claiming that said union had disregarded the decision of the International President in regard to paying unequal benefits to different members. The officers of the union claim that they had complied with the decision as soon as it was received. The International President decided that Union 97 had complied with his decision. The member thereupon appealed to the Executive Board against the decision of the International President.

The International President bases his decision upon substantially the following grounds: That as the union had complied with the decision as soon as received, no other decision could be made in this case. The claim of Mr. Carroll that the assessments were illegal had no foundation in fact, as the disbursement of these assessments was the only question at issue. That the International President can see no good ground for the appeal.

In accordance with the vote cast and above recorded the decision of the International President is sustained.

Fraternally yours,

Sam'l Gompers,
First Vice President.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10, 1910.

In the case of the appeal to the Executive Board, C. M. I. U. of A., by Union 129, of Denver, Colo., against a decision rendered by the International President, the vote was as follows:

Affirmative—None.

Negative—Tracy, Gariepy, Fitzgerald, Bradford, Hall and Gompers.

The basis of the appeal was Union 129 fined a member $25 for conduct unbecoming a union man and struck him out of a position of foreman. The member appealed against the fine. The International President sustained his appeal. The union thereupon appealed to the Executive Board against the decision of the International President.

The International President bases his decision upon substantially the following grounds: That the evidence clearly shows that the member resigned his job as foreman in order to avoid a strike; that the firm refused to accept his resignation and would have stood by him against the union, but that he insisted upon resigning, and refused to work and have a strike. That the evidence shows that the member acted while foreman in no way more antagonistic than the average foreman is forced by necessity to act, and that the fact that he lost his position is ample punishment under the circumstances. That there is no evidence that the member committed any crime that would justify the fine in addition to the loss of his position.

In accordance with the vote cast and above recorded the decision of the International President is sustained.

Sam'l Gompers,
First Vice President.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10, 1910.

In the case of the appeal to the Executive Board, C. M. I. U. of A., by Union No. 440, of Tampa, Fla., against a decision rendered by the International President, the vote was as follows:

Affirmative—None.

Negative—Tracy, Gariepy, Fitzgerald, Bradford, Hall and Gompers.

The basis of the appeal was Union 440 fined a certain shop collector the sum of $4.75 for being one day late in making his returns. The member appealed against the action of the union to the International President, claiming that this was his first offense and that it was through an oversight that he was late. The International President sustained his appeal. The union thereupon appealed to the Executive Board against the decision of the International President.

The International President bases his appeal upon substantially the following grounds: That the fine was excessive for the offense for which this member was punished. That as this was his first offense and he was only one day late in making this report, the International President is of opinion that a punishment of this magnitude was excessive, and for that reason reversed the action of the union.

In accordance with the vote cast and above recorded the decision of the International President is sustained.

Sam'l Gompers,
First Vice President.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10, 1910.

In the case of the appeal to the Executive Board, C. M. I. U. of A., by John H. Shuermann, of Union 92, of Worcester, Mass., against a decision rendered by the International President, the vote was as follows:

Affirmative—None.

Negative—Tracy, Gariepy, Fitzgerald, Bradford, Hall and Gompers.

The basis of the appeal was a member of Union 92 claims that a certain factory in Worcester was violating section 156 of the constitution in giving away presents with his cigars. The union states that this firm did not give away presents, but that the retail store selling these cigars had bargain sales in which presents were added; that this firm when notified of a technical violation of the law always complied with the demands of the union. The International President decided against the appeal of the member, who thereupon appealed to the Executive Board against the decision of the International President.

The International President bases his decision upon substantially the following grounds: That the evidence shows that the charges brought by this member against this shop was dismissed by an overwhelming majority; that this firm has been a strictly union shop for fifty years, and that whenever any local by-law or rule of the International Union had been violated, it was immediately corrected upon notice being given; that the presents complained of, if any were given, are in the retail store, which is a separate department, and even there, if any technical violation of the anti-present giving law was brought to the store's attention, it promptly made the correction; that in view of these facts the International President can see no good reason for reversing the action of the union.

In accordance with the vote cast and above recorded, the decision of the International President is sustained.

Fraternally yours,

Sam'l Gompers,
First Vice President.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10, 1910.

Mr. G. W. Perkins, President Cigarmakers' International Union, Monon Building, Chicago:

Dear Sir—A considerable delay was caused in the following cases:

Appeal of John H. Shuermann, of Union 92, Worcester, Mass.; Local No. 440, Tampa, Fla.; Local 129, Denver, Colo.; T. M. Carroll, Local 97, Boston, Mass.

This was due to the fact that Vice President Jerry Cronin died away from his home and the papers in these appeal cases were sent to his home postoffice address, where they laid for several months. This, notwithstanding the fact that I had written for the papers on several occasions.

Sam'l Gompers,
First Vice President.

DECISIONS OF PRESIDENT

J. W. Murphy appealed against 39, New Haven, for levying assessment in aid of the Philadelphia strike and against antedating the start of the assessment prior to the meeting at which it was levied. The appeal was sustained.

F. M. Schaerger appealed against 225, Los Angeles, for refusing to cause his reinstatement after being discharged. The appeal was not sustained.

M. Oppenheim appealed against 251, New York, for trying him and reprimanding him for refusing to give up papers of record belonging to the union. The appeal was not sustained.

J. H. Aberdeen appealed against 97, Boston, for suspending him for non-payment of dues. The appeal was not sustained.

J. A. Gonzales appealed against 57, Vancouver, for fining him. The appeal cannot be recognized; failed to appeal within the limit.

W. Costello, secretary, appealed against 112, Oneonta, for granting one day's out of work benefit to a member who had a job and could have gone to work. The appeal was sustained.

R. Alvarez appealed against 467, Arecibo, for suspending him. The appeal was not sustained.

N. Hohfet appealed against 208, Kalamazoo, for fining him for working in strike shop. The appeal cannot be recognized, having failed to appeal within the limit.

O. A. Sipple and four others appealed against 113, Tacoma, for levying assessments for label agitation purposes. The appeal was not sustained.

G. W. Keays appealed against 38, Springfield, for fining him $2 and holding him for unpaid board bill. The appeal was not sustained.

C. Tarnor appealed against 97, Boston, for suspending him. Appellant shows that he run over through sickness and being out of town and a misunderstanding. Statement agreed to by the union. The appeal was sustained.

A. Flotow appealed against 97, Boston, for suspending him. Appellant shows that he paid dues to shop collector, but that collector's wife died and he forgot to turn in the dues. The appeal was sustained.

ORGANIZER'S REPORT.

Terre Hill, Pa., Aug. 5.—Lancaster Union 257 is making every effort to build up their organization. They are adding new members every week and now have a membership of about 400. They have decided to establish headquarters down town where the financial secretary will be on Saturdays to transact business. Members of the organizing committee are divided in pairs and are making a house to house canvass to get members. New organization committee was appointed and not a member selected refused to serve and if the splendid work that has been done by the retiring committee is continued by their successors I feel they will in due time add another hundred members and be able to establish permanent headquarters.

Lebanon Union 64 has been adding members. At Meockles factory where the strike against a reduction on one job from $5.00 to $4.50 was resisted successfully about April 1st, they have organized all but 7 of the cigar makers and packers employed. About 3 weeks ago Union 64 decided to ask for an increase in wages of 50 cents on all jobs and after many conferences their demands were granted. It is now expected that the 7 cigar makers remaining outside the Union in this factory will become members.

This successful demand clearly demonstrates what can be accomplished everywhere in the cheap districts if the cigar makers will organize.

Terre Hill. There are about 150 cigar makers employed here working on jobs ranging from $2.75 mold work, to $5.50 hand work. An effort was made to organize a local here. Meeting was called and bills announcing same were distributed to the cigar makers by calling to see them at their homes. I was assisted by the members working in the union factory under 126 Ephrata also the one member in the open shops. We did everything we could. But the meeting was not a success. When we called on them almost all promised to be present, but failed to show up at the meeting. The Union members have promised to continue their efforts and when they secure a sufficient number to make a promising start, another effort will be made to establish a local there.

CORRESPONDENCE

Sawtelle, Cal., July 12, 1910.

To the Officers and Members of the C. M. I. U.:

Gentlemen—Persuant to a suggestion by the president in the editorial columns of the June Journal with reference to the Home, viz., "Before we seriously consider building a home we could and should get the opinions and desires of those who are most concerned."

I am living within a stone's throw of a home with 3,500 inmates, the wards of the United States, and am therefore in a position to form an opinion based on knowledge acquired right on the grounds.

And I am perfectly safe in saying that 90 per cent of the inmates of this home would much prefer a pension to a home.

Naturally the question arises, Why?

First—Because in the case of married men no provision is made for the wife, and a man who would desert his wife for a proxy home doesn't even deserve that.

Second—In spite of the greatest effort on the part of those in charge, favoritism will creep in.

Third—To take an old person away from his accustomed environment and place him among entire strangers is, to say the least, anything but agreeable.

Fourth—The average pensioner could make a dollar go farther outside of the home than the managers could make it go inside.

It seems to me that both a home and a pension would be best, giving the recipient the option.

Many of the veterans here are so averse to the Home that they have taken rooms outside, and eke out an existence on their pensions, ranging from $12 to $24 per month.

From good authority I am informed that it costs the government about $171 per annum for each inmate, and as the keep is nothing extra, I presume it would cost us fully as much, if not more, on account of the government buying its supplies in greater quantities. There is a great deal of complaint about the fare most of the time, and as cigarmakers are past masters in the art of kicking, and improve with age, the management would be put on its good behavior all the time, while with a pension they would have to arrange their own bill of fare. Nevertheless we should also have the home for single men, who would prefer it, and sick members without homes.

It has occurred to me that the article in our constitution covering the out-of-work benefit might be so amended as to cover the provision for a pension. If the union ever intends to extend a helping hand to its faithful old members, it is about time to commence. Every member certainly knows how difficult it is for an old man to get a job, and how hard it is for him to hold it when he is so fortunate as to get it.

Many of us old heads feel as competent as we ever did, but the world has little use for the aged. I for one have paid dues, assessments and voluntary contributions to the Cigarmakers' International Union for forty-six years, being a period after the suspension of so many local unions in 1873 and 1874 to 1879, when I paid dues to San Francisco local union, not then affiliated with the C. M. I. U. I am still holding my own, but I know of several of my old friends who cannot but are still paying dues and assessments with money earned God only knows how, living in hopes that some day the young men in the union will wake up to the fact that our union had pioneers who made great sacrifices and in many instances were blacklisted for organizing unions and advocating union principles. By all means, give those who are entitled to it the option of a pension or a home. Not next month or next year, but now. Fraternally,

F. H. Gill.

Tuberculosis Special.

Troy, N. Y., Aug. 1, 1910.

I wish to state in reference to the tuberculosis special amendment proposed by Union No. 9, Troy, N. Y., if said amendment be adopted I do not believe $1 weekly dues would be sufficient to meet the demand on the sick benefit fund that would be drawn by tuberculosis members. Under said amendment a tuberculosis member can draw $520 per year sick benefit. Look over the members in the local you are working under and if said amendment be adopted will be entitled to $520 per year. Said amendment reads in third section: Should he draw more than $65, the amount drawn to be credited as a deficiency in the union said member has his card deposited and the same to be reported to the international office and the international president to levy an assessment on all 15, 20 and 30 cent members to make up said deficiency.

Section 67 of the international constitution reads in part: Applicants that are affected with chronic diseases or that are over 50 years of age can become members by paying regular initiation fee and 15 cents weekly dues, but they shall not be entitled to any out of work, sick and no more than $50 death benefit.

If said tuberculosis special amendment proposed by Union No. 9, Troy, N. Y., be adopted, 15-cent members shall be paying assessments in a fund from which they would receive no redress, or the said amendment, if adopted, shall conflict with section 67 of the international constitution.

The proposed amendment reads in part: Sick laws not to interfere with present sick laws, the above to be governed the same as the present law.

In the fifth section of amendment proposed, reads as follows: All members who are afflicted with tuberculosis, whether entitled to benefit or not, in accordance to present sick law, shall be entitled to benefit under the special tuberculosis law.

The proposed amendment as it reads conflicts with itself. And as I stated before in this article the receipts of it would not meet the demand.

The amendment proposed by Union No. 9, Troy, N. Y., specifying $10 per week, or $520 per year, to tuberculosis member is unjust to members affected with other chronic diseases than tuberculosis, for which the international constitution provides for $5 per week for thirteen weeks, $65 per year.

W. D. Willson.

Decatur, Ill.

Union No. 20 has restricted the shop of Harry Schneider and demanded a $100.00 label forfeit for violation of apprentice law. Mr. Schneider readily complied.

Saloon license has again been granted in this city. At present writing about thirty are doing business, and we expect more to start every day. This has helped the trade much. Strangers catch on here regularly and at present there are jobs open. The United Cigar Store opened here July 23rd, and did a good business the first day when they gave away a souvenir with every purchase. We had one put over on us as we did not expect them to open till a week later. However the members here got busy, and by picketing and handing out cards advertising the label also pamphlets and a system of newspaper advertising, we will curtail the trade of this Rope Shop so that it will not injure the home trade or put any union concern out of business. They may, however, hurt some of the cut rate drug stores who have never been favorable to union goods and in this worthy project we wish them success.

The secretary of No. 20 will transact no business during working hours. He can be seen at Journal address at all other times.

Chas. Wright, Secy.

Kansas City.

Owing to an unexpected turn of affairs, I am compelled to withdraw from the race for the office of 7th vice president. Since the list of candidates was sent out to be voted upon I have been tendered and have accepted the foremanship of the factory in which I have been working for the past year and a half, which makes it necessary for me to take a 20-cent membership, consequently I will not be eligible to the office of 7th vice president.

I desire at this time to thank the membership at large for all past favors and especially those who have so kindly spoken well of, and voted for me for the office of seventh vice president.

I feel that even should I not stand much show of being elected, I am greatly honored by getting the votes I have.

It is a source of great pleasure to me to feel that after holding the office of financial secretary of Union No. 102, for 9 years and one month, I have the good will of most of the members of Local No. 102 and many others. I can only say I appreciate this to the fullest extent.

Whatever capacity I may fill or wherever I may be, I will stand by the C. M. I. U. and for the welfare of the C. M. I. U. let me take this opportunity to offer a suggestion or two.

I think there should be some means adopted to protect our label from unscrupulous manufacturers. In my opinion the C. M. I. U. should either regulate the goods that go under the Union Label or take over the cigar industry to itself and run it on scientific principles.

I believe our referendum system of making laws is good and I also believe that a convention every few years is good. With best wishes for the membership at large, I am

James E. Butler.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7, 1910.

The various schemes that employers of labor have put in practice during the last ten years, and are continually enlarging upon, are impositions, and should be exposed, as their object is to draw the attention of the workers from the benefits of trade unions and blind and deceive them as to their true interests. These schemes vary in name and character. They are masked and practiced under different titles, but all have the same effect and object—to expand the profits of the employer and shrink the earnings of the worker. A large number of employers have instituted what they term beneficial associations in their factories and shops. They tell their employes that they can obtain through these beneficial associations all that they can through trade unions and for less dues, and that they need have no fear of being involved in strikes and lockouts; that they, the employers, will grant all reasonable demands if conditions will permit, but of course they are to be the judges as to whether their demands are reasonable, or whether conditions will permit.

I am sorry to say this kind of bait catches lots of suckers.

Then we have the profit sharing scheme, which has about the same result. In exceptional instances it may be honestly administered, but in the great majority of cases is carried out about like this: Suppose me to be the employer and I should say to one of my men, "Tom, you have worked for me a long time. I like you and feel like doing you a good turn. I tell you what I will do. I have a nice pig pen. I will buy a young pig, and if you will buy the feed during the year, when I kill it I will share with you." Tom, believing it to be a fair proposition, accepts it. Tom comes around regularly with his bag of corn, anticipating that he will receive a fair share when I kill the hog. Tom comes around with a wheelbarrow to get his share of the hog, when I cut off the head, tail and feet and give to Tom as his share of the hog. That doesn't appear to be a very fair division considering that Tom has furnished the feed for a whole year, but that is about the size of the rake-off that labor gets from profit sharing.

Then, again, we have the very liberal employers, who are lauded every Christmas for their liberality to their employes. Some give them turkeys, some give them supper, and when they get them down to the table they tell their employes how good they, their employers, have been and how thankful their employes should be for having steady employment. Others hand out $5 or $10 gold pieces to their hands, according to the time they have worked for them.

M. O. Eisenlohr is one of those very liberal employers who are lauded by the Philadelphia public press for his liberality. Now in regard to Mr. Eisenlohr. I want to say that I worked for him over twenty years ago when he had fifteen hands employed. He then paid $8 for making the Cinso cigar, and made money, or he could not have established the large number of factories that he now controls. When he first started his factory in the cheap district of Pennsylvania he paid $5 for making the Cinso. Mr. Eisenlohr gets the same selling price for the Cinso that he did when he paid $8 for making. Now if he made money when he paid $8 per thousand for making them, and he evidently did make money, or he could not have expanded so rapidly and extensively, what must he make when he only pays $5 for them? In order to get hands away from other manufacturers he has made two more advances of 50 cents per thousand. He now pays $6.50. There are about 2,000 cigar-makers working in the Eisenlohr factories. They average about 1,500 cigars per week. That means at the present time that Eisenlohr is saving $2.25 over and above what he formerly paid. Now it seems that he could well afford to hand back $5 or $10 to each hand every Christmas as a blind to the public. He also runs those beneficial associations in each factory, and no doubt when Christmas comes he will present each association with a new gavel in order to have a resolution adopted by each association declaring Otto Eisenlohr to be the most fatherly and beneficent manufacturer in the country, not excepting old woman Post of Battle Creek, Mich. All of these schemes are designed to act as a magnet to attract the attention of the worker from the trade union movement.

A PEACEFUL STRIKE.

Kansas City, Mo.

One of the most peaceful strikes on record was conducted by the United Brotherhood of Leather Workers on Horse Goods in their efforts to gain the eight hour day. During the entire period of cessation of work no disturbances are recorded.

The hours of employment in the saddlery industry prior to the strike varied from nine to ten, and the wages the lowest received by any skilled mechanics, the average yearly wage being less than $12.00 per week.

While their efforts to establish the eight hour day proved unsuccessful, nevertheless, it resulted in putting into effect a universal nine hour day.

Notwithstanding the peaceful attitude of the Leather Workers during the entire trouble they were bitterly opposed by the National Saddlery Manufacturers' Association, who declared early in the strike that their doors would be forever barred to members of the Brotherhood. This, however, only had the effect of making the men all the more determined, and they decided rather than submit to such overbearing tyrants they would leave the trade, and no less than 1,000 secured employment at other occupations.

The Saddlery Association in order to get even decided to hire boys and unskilled labor and teach them the trade in three or four weeks; this, however, proved a dismal failure and the individual firms began to break over and offered a compromise of nine hours with a substantial increase in wages, which was accepted by the Brotherhood.

There are still a few firms holding out to their own detriment. An officer of the Brotherhood recently stated that they have only a small number of men still on strike, but that they felt confident that when business picks up they will also make terms with the organization, and a universal nine hour day will be the result of their efforts.

The Twenty-sixth Annual Session of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will convene in the Auditorium, City Hall, Fort William, Ontario, beginning at 10 o'clock, Monday morning, September 12th, 1910, and continuing on Tuesday and Wednesday, 13th and 14th September, in Fort William. On Thursday, 15th September, the Convention will convene in the Finnish Labor Temple, Port Arthur, and will continue in Session from day to day until the business of the Convention has been completed.

Among other matters calling for immediate attention are the following:

1. The Immigration laws.
2. The Belcourt Bill, to destroy international trade unionism, which may be brought forward again next session.
3. The Eight-hour Bill and its present position. Determined opposition has been made to this bill, and Labor must keep alive to secure its passage.
4. The Act respecting co-operation.
5. Effect of the amendments to the Industrial Disputes and Investigation Act.
6. The Technical Education Commission.
7. The Anti-Combines Bill in its relation to the trades-union movement.
8. Proposed Amendments to the Elections Act, to make election day a public holiday, etc.
9. Payment of wages on railways fortnightly, and many other features.

Never more than now has there been greater necessity for vigilance in safeguarding the rights of Labor. Organized bodies on every hand are contesting for their own protection, and in this regard Labor no longer has the field to itself. If Labor is to receive its portion it will have to keep watchful every hour of every day.

Send your best, most experienced and faithful men to the Convention, and elect them NOW. If you neglect to do so, don't complain that your particular interests have been overlooked or neglected. This is the time of prosperity, and Labor must keep up with the procession.

P. M. DRAPER, Secretary-Treasurer.

Indianapolis, July 11, 1910.

To all Organized Labor of Indiana—Greeting:

We desire to embrace this opportunity and take the liberty of addressing these few lines to the trade unionists of our State. An appeal, not for financial aid, but your moral support in behalf of the union cigar makers of Indiana.

We find on investigation that there are many union men, who whether thoughtlessly or as a matter of indifference, have not given us the support in return for the loyalty and sacrifices on our part to the cause of unionism. We know that while the rank and file of organized labor means well and has extended to us many favors for which we feel very grateful, yet, there is much more that could be done, and as we said at the outset there are quite a number who forget the duty they owe the other union man.

It has reached a point in the cigar industry—the union part of it—that conditions are such that we need the support and good will of the entire labor movement and its friends. We believe we are entitled to your moral support and we appeal to you to insist on your members when purchasing a cigar to see that the blue union label of the Cigar Makers' International Union is on the box or package containing the same. This union label guarantees that such cigar is made by a member of our organization at fair wages and under fair conditions.

The various cigar makers' locals of Indiana proposed to keep up advertising, agitating, etc., to keep up a constant demand for the union made cigar. In this you can be of great help to us. Will you give us that help? We believe you will. This is little favor without any extra cost to you.

The non-union cigar is no cheaper than the union made cigar. The union made cigar costs no more than the non-union made cigar. The union made cigar is made under fair conditions and the members receive the scale of prices fixed by the union, whereas the non-union made cigar is made at a price fixed by the employer which on the average is about one-half of the union scale and it is for this reason that women and children are employed by these non-union employers who pocket the profit saved on labor. In conclusion we again appeal to you for your moral support.

Thanking you in advance for any favors shown, and assuring you of our appreciation of past favors, we remain,

EMIL LEVY, President.

CLARENCE GAUMER, Secretary-Treas.

A MEETING OF CIGARMAKERS.

Held Here Sunday by Representatives of All the Unions in the First and Ninth Revenue Districts.

A conference was held Sunday afternoon at Central Labor Hall, this city, by representatives of all the sixteen cigarmakers' unions of the First and Ninth Internal Revenue Districts of Pennsylvania, which embrace Lancaster, Reading, York, Harrisburg and Philadelphia, as the most important cigar manufacturing centers. H. M. Tillbrook, President of the local union, No. 257, presided.

The object of the conference was to consider matters bearing on plans designed to improve the conditions of the cigarmakers of Eastern Pennsylvania, and to perfect plans for extending the unions, so that all cigarmakers would become members. The ultimate object is to secure a general increase of wages, though for the immediate present nothing will be done along this line.

The officers of the unions in these two districts say that lower wages are paid in these two districts than in any other parts of the country. A series of resolutions was adopted bearing on the work which it is proposed to do among cigarmakers in the line of organization. Another meeting will be held in the near future at Reading, at the call of the chairman.

Lancaster, Pa.

Every delegate present took part in the discussion of questions that were introduced and all were of the same opinion, that the time had arrived for all the unions of the two districts to combine and wage a forcible campaign of

This deficiency is the amount expended over percentage during year 1906.
The secretary-treasurer, Mr. Coyle, had an unusual amount of money in his possession July 1, 1910, anticipating some extra expense early in the month.

Union 142, Lockport, N. Y.

Caught the secretary-treasurer some behind with his work, but before I left town all entries had been made. Ledger correctly posted and cash and stamp accounts all right. Benefit cards and vouchers all on file. The accounts here have been kept in very good order. Statement as follows:

Balance on hand Oct. 14, 1908.....	$ 680.69

PRIVATE LOANS

Sec. 196. Local unions shall have the right to suspend members for non-payment of local indebtedness, and hold traveling cards until such indebtedness has been paid. See Sec. 106 also.

The following unions request the collection of private loans from the respective persons, and return same to union making the request.

The members who drew private loans from Union 331, Crookston, Minn., prior to April 1, 1910, please pay up if you do not want your names published in the Journal.

Secretary Mitchell of Spokane is preparing a list of members who owe private loans. Get yours paid at once if you don't want to be published.

Union 313, Lima, Ohio, would like to hear from Robert Kiser (77510), as to why he does not correspond with that union in regard to private loan of $26.50. If we do not hear from him by Sept. 1, 1910, we will take action.

The secretary of Union 20, Decatur, Ill., would like to hear from Leigh Hunt (65727), reference private loan of $1.50 granted Sept. 7, 1909.

All members owing Union 10, Providence, R. I., private loans, please pay up at once or the names will be in the next Journal.

Secretary holding the card of Duard Hiler (111635), will please collect $1.00 per week on the private loan of $19.75 he owes Union 77, Minneapolis, as the union will enforce the constitution if he does not remit.

The following members owe private loans to Union 483, Gloversville, N. Y. As there are other members coming through who need a little assistance, we request that those whose names follow will please remit: H. Allen, 50c; L. Duplain, 50c; T. Miller, $1.25; J. Purtell, $1.00; H. Mellon, 50c; J. Crowe, 75c; T. Clauss, 75c; E. Tangney, 75c; J. Dunning, 75c; A. Fischer, 75c; T. Glavin, 75c; M. Farrell, 75c; C. Struble, 75c.

Secretary holding the card of Ed. Hanlon No.

113173, please collect $1.80 Private Loan, and remit to Union 262, Dallas, Tex.

IN MEMORIAM

In reporting deaths, kindly comply with the following and you will save time and unnecessary work: Give full name, number, date and place of initiation of members. Has member held retiring card? If so, did he pay his dues? This information relates only to such as you can obtain from the record of your own union. If admitted by card state when and where from, and in addition send in such cards, but place on your letter the information necessary, as the latter is filed as a matter of record. Before paying death benefits study Sections 145 and 151, inclusive. Send in a death blank properly filled out for all death benefits paid.

The following unions adopted resolutions of regret and condolence relating to death or deaths as follows, and ordered charter draped in mourning for thirty days:

Union 6, Syracuse, N. Y.—James Dundon, of Corry, Pa., who was killed by the cars on Saturday, July 30, 1910. Committee of Union 6, Syracuse, attended burial, which was held at Syracuse on August 3d.

CHICAGO, AUGUST 15, 1910.

We have been asked several times what effect the settlement of the Buck Stove and Range case has on the jail sentence imposed upon THE JAIL SENTENCE AND THE BUCK STOVE CASE and Morrison for alleged violation of injunction issued and involved in this famous case.

The agreement reached by the unions involved in this case will be found in full in this issue.

It will be noted that the company agreed to withdraw its attorneys from further proceedings in the case. This, however, does not stop the court proceedings.

Long before the agreement was reached an appeal was taken to the United States Supreme Court and a hearing set by that court for next November. It is said that the National Boycott Association said it would furnish the money to carry the case up and see it through regardless of what the company or any one else may do.

The agreement reached does not and could not have any bearing whatsoever on the cases now in court, the law or the points involved.

The jail sentence still stands and our friends will have to do time unless the Supreme Court accepts our contention that Mr. Gompers et al still have a constitutional right to speak and write what they please subject to and responsible only to the written laws of the land.

On Aug. 6, 1910, Union 4, Cincinnati, Ohio, had the proud honor, distinction and satisfaction of celebrating its fiftieth anniversary.

GOLDEN JUBILEE

Union 4 has been in continuous existence since Aug. 6, 1860. It was one of the twenty-three unions which were present and helped found the International Union in 1864.

Several of the real old-timers who were members in 1860 are still alive and had the satisfaction of mingling with the younger generation at the celebration. It was a genuine pleasure to meet some of these old-timers who are hale, hearty and proud, and justly so, of their records.

Cincinnati, Ohio, in addition to holding one of the oldest, if not the oldest union charters insofar as continuous existence counts, has the distinction of being the place where the first union of cigarmakers was organized in this country.

It has been erroneously stated that Baltimore was the first place to know a union of cigarmakers and that the first union was in 1851. While the facts are that a local union of cigarmakers was organized in Cincinnati, Ohio, as early as 1843.

The celebration took the form of an old-fashioned outdoor picnic, where speaking, refreshments, dancing and fanning bees were the order of the day. It is needless to say that all enjoyed themselves and that along toward the heel of the evening many started cutting wrappers and making them in the way so characteristic of and inseparably associated with a bunch of good natured, merry making, union cigarmakers.

The celebration was an unqualified success and the union merited the congratulations, felicitations and manifestations of good will, best wishes and good luck heaped upon it.

The value of fair dues and a substantial chain of benefits is best demonstrated and proven by a comparison of FAIR DUES AND A CHAIN OF BENEFITS facts and conditions.

In a communication by the secretary of Union 4, Cincinnati, published in the Cigarmakers' Official Journal, May, 1877, he says:

"Cigarmakers in this place doubly equal the demand. Those that are out of work would be glad to take $1.00 or $2.00 less per thousand and take the jobs of those that are at work, while two-thirds of those at work are not making sufficient to keep body and soul together. Think of it, men with families make $3.00, $4.00 and $6.00 per week, with the rent of two decent rooms from $10.00 to $15.00 per month. In speaking to a cigarmaker last week who earns from $4.00 to $5.00 per week, and who has a wife and three children to support, I asked him how he managed to live on this pittance. His reply was 'I don't live; I am literally starving; we have meat once a week and the rest of the week we have dry bread and black coffee.' When pay day comes they pay the poor cigarmakers in poor cigars at the rate of fifteen per cent more than they charge their other customers. After working all the week for $6.00, on pay day you get two boxes of cigars for wages. You then travel from saloon to saloon trying to convert these cigars into cash. By the time you have spent $1.00 you take $4.00 home to your family, having sold the cigars for $1.00 less than they cost you, and many of the poor devils getting too much beer or whiskey and having lost all control of themselves wander from place to place until all is gone. The manufacturers manage to pick out the cigars that won't smoke, are off color, etc., to pay his hands off with.

In a letter dated Cincinnati, Ohio, 1878, the correspondent says:

"At the very lowest calculation there must be three hundred cigarmakers who receive their pay in cigars. Cigarmakers are working for $2.50 per thousand and taking their pay in cigars. One firm pays $2.00 per thousand and pays the men in groceries and notions. Major Rembey and John L. Everett pay $1.75 per thousand all in cash."

The foregoing portrays the conditions that existed in Cincinnati, Ohio, during the period of commercial and industrial stagnation which existed in the 70's and before we had a chain of benefits.

While we had a union there it was all shot to pieces, with no funds of their own and none in the treasury of the International Union.

We adopted the fair dues and chain of benefits in 1879. What was the result? During the panic and period of depression we had in 1893-4-5-6-7, which was just as severe, if not more so than the one of '73, Union 4, Cincinnati, Ohio, did not lose a member, and it maintained its bill of prices. Its members were not begging for jobs to ward off starvation. They went to the union and drew benefits which were theirs by right and not as charity. The best prevailing jobs in 1877 were $4 and $5 per thousand, and in some cases as low as $1.75 per M., and take your pay in cigars, groceries and notions. The lowest price there now is $8.50 for mold (nickle) work and from $12 to $15 for hand (10c) work.

In the first instance they had a union, but no money or benefits and lost practically everything.

In the second instance they had money and a chain of benefits and lost nothing in so far as the union, its membership and the scale of prices was concerned.

Cincinnati was not alone in experience of this kind. The same thing happened in nearly all other places.

The unions and bills of prices went to pieces in the panic of 1873-4-5-6-7 and 8 but since the adoption of fair dues and a chain of benefits in 1879 we have held our own in the panics that have occurred since, and we will continue to do so in the future.

We take some satisfaction in printing herewith the agreement between the American Federation of Labor, its ONE GRAND VICTORY allied unions and the Buck Stove & Range Co. It follows:

Buck Stove and Range Company in Agreement With A. F. of L.

A conference was held at the office of the International Molders' Union of North America, 707-712 Commercial Tribune Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, on the 19th day of July, 1910, in which the following participated: William H. Cribben and Thomas J. Hogan, representing the Stove Founders National Defense Association; Joseph F. Valentine and John P. Frey, representing the International Molders Union of North America; T. M. Daly and Charles R. Atherton, representing the Metal Polishers, Buffers, Platers and Brass Workers International Union of North America; Frank Grimshaw and J. H. Kaefler, representing the Stove Mounters International Union; George Bechtold, representing the International Brotherhood of Foundry Employes, and Samuel Gompers, representing the American Federation of Labor.

The conference was held for the purpose of considering ways and means for the adjustment of the dispute between the various organizations of labor and the Buck Stove & Range Co., of St. Louis, Mo., Messrs. Cribben and Hogan being authorized by the new manager of the Buck Stove & Range Co., of St. Louis Mo.

Messrs. Cribben and Hogan, for the new manager, declared that he is the supreme authority of the company; that he expects to be in the active management thereof, and as chairman of the Board of Directors is the highest official of the company; that every one of his associates in the directory and in the management of the company will be loyal to his views; that his position in reference to organized labor is that it is an institution which has come to stay for all time and that it has to be treated with wisely and conservatively and upon a friendly basis, and that these views and this attitude has always been his, and that the feeling and action of every one connected with the Buck Stove & Range Co. will henceforth be in this direction.

The representatives of labor express themselves as being in entire accord with these expressions and declarations, that there is no feeling of antagonism to the Buck Stove & Range Co., and that under its new management a friendly understanding may be reached and an agreement made by which all may co-operate to the mutual advantage of the company and organized labor. To that end the following memorandum of agreement is hereby made:

1. Within thirty (30) days the officers of the organizations herein named shall meet with the manager of the Buck Stove & Range Co. at St. Louis, Mo., for the purpose of determining wages, hours of labor, and conditions of employment of the workers in the departments which they respectively represent.

2. That the agreement in regard to wages, hours, and conditions of employment shall take effect ninety (90) days from the date thereof, based on wages and conditions existing in shops of competitors in the city of St. Louis, Mo., operating union shops, fair conditions being the purpose of this agreement.

3. That the labor organizations in interest herein named shall jointly make known and publicly declare that all controversy or difference with the Buck Stove & Range Co., of St. Louis, has been satisfactorily and honorably adjusted.

4. That the Buck Stove & Range Co., through its representatives, Messrs. Cribben and Hogan, agree that it will withdraw its attorneys from any case pending in the courts which has grown out of the dispute between the American Federation of Labor and any of its affiliated organizations on the one hand and the Buck Stove & Range Co. on the other, and that the said company will not bring any proceedings in the courts against any individual or organizations growing out of any past controversies between said company and organized labor.

5. That a copy of this memorandum and agreement will be published in the next issue of the official journals of the organizations participants in this conference, and in printed form placed conspicuously in the several labor departments of the Buck Stove & Range Co., and, as far as practical, every publicity be given to the satisfactory agreement reached between the Buck Stove & Range Co. and the American Federation of Labor.

For the Buck Stove & Range Co. and the Stove Founders National Defense Association, Wm. H. Cribben, Thos. J. Hogan.

For the International Molders Union of North America, Jos. F. Valentine, John P. Frey.

For the Metal Polishers, Buffers, Platers and Brass Workers International Union of North America, T. M. Daly, Chas. R. Atherton.

For the Stove Mounters International Union, Frank Grimshaw, J. H. Kaefer.

For the International Brotherhood of Foundry Employes, George Bechtold.

For the American Federation of Labor, Sam'l Gompers.

In the writings and speech of some men of labor I have noticed a vein of pessimistic discouragement which it seems to me is not warranted by facts or conditions as they apply to organized labor today.
